PROF. BLAIR LEADS THE Y. M. C. A. PROGRAM

The Significance Of The Common Man Was Topic Of Discussion

The significance of the common man was given attention in Y. M. meeting last Tuesday by professor J. A. Blair.

The popular conception is that college trains for leadership and that the common man is a brake on the chariot of progress. The crowd often acts unwisely when ruled by mob spirit.

But despite the failings of some and the superiority of others, there is a use for the common man. Civilization depends upon him. Genius must wait on the common man even as a producer falls without a consumer. Edison or Henry Ford are great producers but they depend upon the common man. Reforms or success of inventions depend upon the common man.

Demand creates the supply. This is as true in the moral world as in the commercial. High thoughts and ideals will persist if the common man demands them. One's demands should call forth the best in associates even as did Christ's.

The producers of many movies, newspaper stories, magazines, filthy books, and low drama deserve much blame but they only supply the demand made by common man. Every time one of these is bought or attended, there is a vote cast in favor of its continuation.

A practical religion is the coveted earnestly of the best things an effort to be a good influence.

HORSE-SHOE TOURNAMENT

A new form of sport is adding more enthusiasm to the students on the campus. This new sport suggests another sign of spring. Students are now playing horse-shoe.

So much interest is being shown that a horse-shoe tournament is in progress. About forty or fifty have entered the contest.

BLUES

There are blues and blues and more blues. There are the "St. Louis Blues," "Wabash Blues" and "My Pickaninny Blues," but the blues we have on a rainy week end are the blues that break the camel's back. The jazz blues put you in a good humor so that you will lend your best dress to a girl you hate or else make you study when you know it isn't necessary.

The "Rainy Weeknd Blues" are the curse of the collegiate's career. They are the causes that wreck happy lives and romances. A blue Sunday ends in heart break and sorrow and that boy's girl dates some other boy who isn't as good looking or has less money than the other; or this girl's boy friend dates another girl and leaves his old girl to weep out her heart and to play "My Sweetie Went Away" on her portable for consolation.

Blue weekends make you want to be in other locations than a dormitory in a college town. You want to be where there are crowds and fun and laughter and movies instead of the everlasting drip, drip of the rain of the caves which is maddening and irritating. Someone comes in to see you and your conversation consists of wishing you were elsewhere, and of the rotten dorm food, and of the abominable way the grades were cut down this mid-semester.

The only amusement the stranded dorm students have on blue Saturday afternoon is to put on their gaily colored slickers and those tell-tale galoshes and go walking to town through all the pod-muddles. Then when town is reached the only thing left to do is to buy a "coke" and "slosh" back to the college. Such a life!

The wise people will reinforce themselves with something entertaining to read or to play. Now the magazines for a rainy weekend are "Murder Mysteries," "Ghost Stories," "Wierd Tales," "Black Mask," "Amazing Stories" or some other cheerful and elevating literature. You might even add "Cupid's Diary" or "Love Romances," "True Story" is a guaranteed dispeller of the blues with all the sob stories and other illuminating features. The appropriate music would be "Shall We Gather at the River" and "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder."

Dreary weekends are wonderful originators of that virulent plague of the college student known as homesickness. You want to see your mama and papa and your favorite kind of

HOBBIES WERE DISCUSSED IN Y. W. LAST TUESDAY

The Program Was Led By Bernice McClellan

The first of the series of programs for the Young Women's Christian Association on the subject of the "Life Beautiful" was led by Miss Bernice McClellan, the topic being "Hobbies," Miss Lila Eberly discussed hobbies in general and told a number of interesting hobbies that some girls have followed. She said one's hobby should be the thing that one loves to do; it should round out life and develop a more completely satisfying life.

Miss Lela Hultquist told "Why I Consider History an Interesting Hobby". The reasons were that it broadens one's viewpoint, and because it is real it is more interesting than a novel.

Miss Thelma Budge sang a vocal solo.

"Current History Hobby and What It Can Do for Me as a Broadening Influence" was discussed by Miss Lila Fields. She said that reading current events helped one to keep abreast of the times which is necessary to become an intelligent citizen.

NOISY MEETING OF CHEMISTRY SOCIETY

Program Consisted Of Demonstration Of Explosions And Chemical Tricks

Last Thursday afternoon the program of the Chemistry Society consisted of demonstrations of explosives and chemical tricks.

Vernon Gustafson demonstrated the chemical trick of pouring different colored liquids from the same pitcher. Ross Curtis and Philip Spohn showed the explosiveness of a mixture of hydrogen and oxygen by producing soap bubbles with the gas and lighting them. The freak chemical reaction known as "Chemical Gardens," was shown by Daniel Johnson.

Philip Spohn explained the process of making gun powder. He demonstrated a home-made fire-cracker. Gun-cotton, burning pitch wire in oxygen, and freezing strawberries with carbon dioxide were demonstrated.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS BANQUET TOGETHER

Banquet Was Given By The Women's Missionary Society

SERVED BY COLLEGE MEN

Was Given Banquet In The Basement Of The Brethren Church

The College girls unanimously declared that they had a most enjoyable evening at the Mothers' and Daughters' banquet given Friday evening in the Brethren church. The banquet was given by the Women's Missionary Society and each member had as her guests two college girls. Many of the girls are away from home while in school and they deeply appreciated the interest taken in them by the mothers of the college community.

A little before 6:30 o'clock the girls and their mothers found each other in the church auditorium and from there they went to the dining hall which was decorated with spring flowers and lighted by floor lamps and red candles and filled with long tables. When all had found places at the tables Mrs. Anna Crampacker returned thanks for the occasion and the comradeship which it brought about.

The dinner, served by the husbands of some of the mothers with the assistance of a number of college boys, consisted of Frit Cocktail, Pressed Chicken, Mashed Potatoes, Peas in Timbals, Buttered Rolls, Radishes, Beets, Beauty Salad, Strawberry Shortcake and Coffee.

During the course of the meal Mrs. V. F. Schwalm as toastmistress very cleverly introduced the following entertaining numbers:

Piano Duet—Mrs. P. E. Sargent and Mrs. H. A. Yoder.

Welcome—Mrs. H. J. Harnly.

Response—Miss Lois Dell.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. J. H. Fries.

Talk—Mrs. G. D. Gardner.

Original Story—Mrs. W. C. Heaton.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. A. C. Tate.

In spite of the unpleasantness of the weather, every one responded pleasantly to Mrs. Schwalm's hearty good-night and the ladies and their guests parted but with a sense of having had a most delightful evening which would make the tie between the college girls and the mothers of the community more strong and binding. The college girls sincerely appreciated this effort to help them and to provide something as a substitute in the absence of their own mothers.

PROF. BOONE WRITES TEXT ON MANUAL ARTS

"Woodwork for Rural Schools" is the title of the manual arts text that Prof. George Boone has recently had copyrighted. It was prepared to meet a need for a course of study for manual arts in the rural high schools with the particular needs of such communities in mind. It has been in preparation for several years and meets a need for which there has been little done previously. The book came off the press last January. This publishers, Manual Arts Press of Peoria, Illinois, are the leading publishers of manual arts texts in the United States. Prof. Boone's book will be advertised and sold all over the United States and the author will be remunerated on the publisher's royalty basis.

SHOWER FOR MISS KITCHENETTE THIS AFTERNOON

This afternoon the Young Women's Christian Association is hostess at a shower given for Miss Kitchenette in the Y. W. room in Sharp Hall. All the college girls and the Cosmos club are to be guests. It has been rumored that Miss Kitchenette will be well ready to begin culinary duties after this afternoon.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER FRIENDSHIP

The spirit of fellowship manifested at the Mother and Daughter banquet last Friday evening seemed so wholesomely genuine and entirely devoid of artificial sentimentality. Everyone apparently enjoyed herself and entered into the spirit of the affair with an abandon. It seems to us that the mother-daughter problems, like lots of others, might meet half their solutions in just such an attitude. If the friction and difficulties were not emphasized and more whole hearted friendliness evidenced on both sides, the greater part of the so called problems would vanish. Occasions like this one are undoubtedly instrumental in creating that atmosphere.

MEN—AND BANQUETS

Who said that the men were not capable of successfully attempting culinary arts? The efficiency displayed at the Mother and Daughter banquet last Friday evening by the waiters and cooks, all of the stronger sex, proves that they can. No one can dispute the fact that the piece of work done by the boys would vie with any attempted by girls for being well done. Some details were interesting however. The seriousness with which some of the waiters met their tasks seemed a little in contrast to the attitude generally maintained by certain individuals. But then ploughing through a foot ball line could not be expected to be as difficult as serving a three course dinner to over two hundred women. Although the room was not particularly warm the head waiter found it necessary to frequently wipe perspiration from his brow. Responsibility always does rest heavily upon him any way.

That college professors' minds do not always remain on books and their contents was suggested by the sight of one enveloped in an apron was one woman in the kitchen. Any way the whole affair was an example another of the absent minded group commonly worked with fossils and the like, he was not at all behind the times in the direction of a tea towel over the china ware.

We would not detract any credit due the men by telling that there was one woman in the kitchen. Any way the whole affair was an example of willingness and cooperation, and there is no doubt in our minds of the degree of efficiency which might be reached were there a Mother and Daughter banquet every week.

COLLEGE IS HOSTESS

Saturday McPherson College is hostess. Her guests will be high school students from all over central Kansas who have come to enjoy themselves at the High School Festival. It should be uppermost in the minds of all of us that we are responsible for some signs of hospitality. Let us not forget to make these people feel quite at home and see that they get to see the college and find their way about the campus.

Bulldogmas

Several people asked for something that tasted like a university joke—here's one:

Country Frosh: What makes cream cost more than milk?

City Frosh: That's easy. It's harder for cows to sit on small bottles.

For Home Ec. students ONLY: As ye sew, so shall ye rip.

Prof. Jamison: Have you done your outside work for rhetoric?
Windmill: No. It's raining.

Instructor: What's a cynic.
Nellie: That's what we wash the dishes in.

Students of McPherson College, especially those of the be-whiskered sex, do not take the article which appeared in last week's Spectator too seriously. Common horse sense will tell you that it is the futile raging of some outraged flappers who are sore on the opposite sex because members of said sex will not date them (the flappers) and so the flappers took to writing that scathing article as a means of venting their exasperation, as they plainly stated at its beginning.

Rome was not built in a day, neither do the traits and instincts of human life change during the momentary period of college life. Women still hold the championship for long-distance unadulterated gossip, and let us state right here, ladies, that even though we are capable, the desire to take it from you would remain farthest from our thoughts. Any college woman can tell you the actions past present and future of any other person on the campus, whether male or female, black or white, popular or unpopular. We boys of Fahnestock Hall obtain most of our information from the girls. If you would stop the river, would it not be wise to go to its course?

Do not pat yourselves on the back too soon, girls, as to your ability to put more of your number on the honor roll than there are boys. We have a sneaking feeling that the number of girls on the honor roll will decrease this semester. The time is here when you can no longer smile at a professor and get an A. You will have to work to place on the honor roll this time.

As for transforming yourselves into icebergs, girls, we advise you not to do it. You might get cold. If you think you can get along without us, why go ahead and try it. Such a thing has been tried before. If all of you would turn chilly, such a procedure might have some effect, but you do not see college boys purchasing wool skin coats in anticipation of the cold spell do you. Don't get impatient flappers. If you are good little girls and treat the boys nice, maybe one of them will date you come day.

Who on earth is making that gurgling noise?
"I am Prof. I am trying to swallow the line you are throwing".

News of the week: Chester Carter wore a size 38-39 overalls to school picnic.

HOARACE KOLLER

"EQUALLY CANDID"

This Is An Answer To Last Week's Candid Article In Spectator

Yes, we read the candid article in the Spectator last week to the effect that the boys in Fahnestock Hall were gossipers. Be it known that we would feel as though we were traitors to our sex if we did not take it upon ourselves to answer and repudiate the burden of evil words tossed none too gently upon our heads.

The evening was so thoroughly enjoyed that it was decided to effect a permanent organization of the group, to be known as the McPherson College Alumni of Southern California. Ray R. Cullen was made president of the new organization. Mrs. Harry Gilbert was chosen secretary and David Brubaker treasurer. Each person present registered his name and address. Regrets were read from several students who could not be present. An effort was also made to learn the whereabouts of other McPherson Alumni who are rumored to be in Southern California.

McPHERSON COLLEGE GRADUATES MEET IN REUNION

On Saturday evening, April 13th, about sixty-five McPherson College graduates, now residents of Southern California, met in a reunion at the Lincoln School of La Verne. A supper was served in the school cafeteria. Prof. Ray R. Cullen acting as toast-master.

Roll call by classes revealed the fact that several students were present from very early years. Mr. J. L. Miller who graduated from the Commercial Department in 1892 spoke of the days when the college classes were still housed under a single story of Sharp Hall. Dr. S. J. Miller reminisced delightfully of early disciplinary methods and of the clever pranks played by the students of his generation. Dr. J. Z. Gilbert spoke in more serious vein of the far reaching Christian influence of the institution.

Misses Marie and Nelle Cullen then entertained the group with several duets and Mrs. Henry Gilbert read "Danny".

The principal speakers of the evening, Dr. E. M. Studebaker and Dr. D. W. Kurtz, were then introduced. Dr. Studebaker paid a special tribute to the members of the McPherson College Faculty who steered the college safely through her most perilous years. He also spoke with gratitude of the great inspiration and help he had received from Dr. D. W. Kurtz, both as a student in his classes and a member of his faculty.

Before Dr. Kurtz's address the whole group of alumni stood to express their love and appreciation for Dr. Kurtz and his inestimable service to McPherson College. Dr. Kurtz responded very graciously, and said that whenever he thought of McPherson College, he thought not of buildings and equipment, but of folks. He expressed his faith and confidence in the contribution which the small Christian College could make and paid his tribute to the happy influence of his own Alma Mater.

The evening was so thoroughly enjoyed that it was decided to effect a permanent organization of the group, to be known as the McPherson College Alumni of Southern California. Ray R. Cullen was made president of the new organization. Mrs. Harry Gilbert was chosen secretary and David Brubaker treasurer. Each person present registered his name and address. Regrets were read from several students who could not be present. An effort was also made to learn the whereabouts of other McPherson Alumni who are rumored to be in Southern California.

Pres. Studebaker recommended that the McPherson College Alumni in California be more than a social organization, that they attempt to work out some constructive program for furthering the interests of their Alma Mater. Dr. J. Z. Gilbert suggested that they also lend their support to the sister institution, La Verne College, four members of whose faculty are McPherson College graduates.

HORSE THIEF CANYON

One can easily realize the appropriateness of Horse Thief Canyon for the business its name denotes. However, not much definite information can be secured concerning the history of the place, except the common rumor that the place was once a refuge for horse thieves.

The geological history is interesting. Several leaf fossils were found there which belong to the cretaceous period. This was in the age of reptiles before any mammals were on the earth. These fossils are millions of millions years old. Dr. Harnly found a natural charcoal formation which originated in the carboniferous age, many million years before the leaf fossils were formed. Accordingly none of us can correctly say we have been at a new place.

CHAPEL ECHOES

Miss Edith McGaffey spoke in chapel Monday. She impressed upon the students the value of seeking the truth in all its aspects. Life is a challenge to find the truth as it relates itself to our lives. Everyone should take charge of his own life.

Friday morning Rev. Worden of the Christian Church addressed the students. Among the things he stated was that in pursuing an education the acquiring of facts is not merely enough but the ability to use these facts is essential. As we climb the hillside of learning our vision becomes larger, and we realize the small part we play in life's scheme as an individual. Our education must be spiritualized and not all materialized. We can accomplish nothing if love does not rule our lives.

The students enjoyed hearing Mrs. Tate sing in chapel Friday.

By The Way

Miss Floy Brown spent Saturday at her home near Hutchinson.

Mrs. Will Flory and daughters, Maurine and Elizabeth, and small granddaughter, Donna, all of Carleton, Nebraska, are visiting Miss Sylvia Flory here since last Friday.

Keith Hayes visited Miss Viola Bower at Manhattan Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Hazel Ratliffe of Rocky Ford, Colorado is visiting campus friends here this week.

Misses Helen Hudson and Orpha and Olive Weaver were dinner guests at the A. Curtis home Sunday.

Glen Bowman of Carleton, Nebraska visited his brother Lester here last week end.

ALL-SCHOOL PICNIC IS A BIG SUCCESS

Picnic Will Probably Be An Annual Affair From Now On

Classroom cares and curricular worries were forgotten by faculty members and students alike when a holiday was declared last Wednesday and the campus population transferred itself for a day of fun and frolic to the picturesque locality known as Horse Thief Canyon some forty miles northwest of McPherson.

At eight o'clock students and faculty members met in front of the Administration building and each found his place in one of the automobiles and truck provided for the occasion.

In spite of the fact that a number lost their way and arrived late every one was in high spirits which were not dampened by the light shower in the morning threatening for a short time to spoil the day's fun.

Upon arriving at their destination the members of the group divided themselves into a number of parties each composed of from two to twenty individuals, and dispersing in every direction set about exploring the region. Caves, hills, canyons, and rocks were discovered and explored. Agriculture and biology students were especially interested in the soil formation, rocks, birds, flowers, and snakes. After the wanderlust had been somewhat appeased and the sun neared its zenith the parties instinctively gathered at the place in the shade of the rocks and trees which had been designated as the general headquarters.

Signs of the noon day meal had hungry appetites keener, but as dinner was not yet fully prepared, the restless crowd was admonished to be patient. In order that time might pass more quickly, Mrs. Anna Tate led the group in singing several peppy songs after which Miss Mildred Swenson gave the reading "Jane" by Booth Tarkington.

The announcement of dinner was greeted with alacrity and soon everyone was busily devouring buns, weenies, pickles, fruit salad, baked beans, and coffee. Ice cream and cookies followed. A bystander might have been moved to remark that college people must indeed have unlimited capacities.

A stunt by a number of boys followed the close of the meal after which various occupations claimed the attentions of various people. Baseball, horse shoe throwing, more exploring, chatting, and stunts were all very popular as was the pickle jar and the cookie box which had not been emptied at noon.

At about four o'clock everyone boarded his vehicle of transportation and left the place which had furnished such keen enjoyment for all as was evidenced by the happy expressions on the face of each. The majority of the crowd returned to McPherson immediately, a few drove to see the mushroom rocks near Carneiro, and a number went home via Salina.

It was a happy though weary crowd who returned to the campus Wednesday evening, but the holiday had been a refreshing one whether an all-school is profitable will be determined by the after effects of the occasion.

Misses Jessie Churchill and Ethel Mae Meisker, and Irvin Rimp and Roy Franz were Sunday dinner guests at the R. E. Mohler home.

Miss Mildred Swenson spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Constance Rankin at her home.

BRAIN FODDER
A man's true value is not always determined by his face value.
Anticipation
The happiness and pleasure that come to the owner of a convenient well arranged home, are not derived entirely from living therein. They are enjoyed in the process of building—in drafting the plans—laying the foundation—selecting the materials—measuring the many parts and dove tailing them together. Life is that way. Its greatest joy is in the anticipation of each day's accomplishments, with a view of showing an improvement over that of the previous day. Truest contentment comes in the realization of a task well done.
