THE TEN HIGH POINTS IN NEWS OF THE COLLEGE LISTED IN REVIEW OF 1930

Each "High Point" Has Its Own Significance—Covers Athletics, Y. M. and Y. W., Instructors, Graduation Week, Endowment Campaign and Debate

1931 HOLDS ITS SECRET

To Go Down On Annals Of College History—Many Things Of Interest

Each year has its high points in the field of news and each high point of news has its significance. Nineteen hundred thirty is but a few days spent but a review of the activities upon the McPherson campus intimates that in that year many things of interest and vital importance occurred to be placed in the annals of College history. Under this classification the editor has placed ten events that he feels are the most important happenings of 1930.

1. Probably the first most important happening of 1930 was during February after the College trustees had met and it was announced that they had accepted the resignation of Coach George Gardner, who had coached Bulldog teams for five years. Along in the same announcement was the fact that Prof. Roy B. Beach, field secretary had resigned, and that Miss Della Lehman had been granted a leave of absence to study in England one semester. This august body also made it known that an extensive endowment campaign was soon to start.

2. Second in importance was the "Y" institute held on the McPherson campus, March 5, 6 and 7. This institute, sponsored by the Y. M. and the Y. W., was instrumental in bringing such speakers to the campus as Norman Thomas, the great present day Socialist leader, Clark Eichelberger, student on the League of Nations, Miss Margaret Read, of England, and Frank T. Wilson, negro speaker.

3. On the night of March 7 the McPherson cage team lost the Kansas conference championship title to the Bethany Swedes on the Lindsay court by a one point margin, 14 to 13. It was a "warm" contest and marked with thrills for both teams, but McPherson lost.

4. No man had been selected to take the place of Coach Gardner until March 25 when the announcement in chapel that Melvin J. Binford, of the Hutchinson Junior college, had been selected out of a large field to guide the laurels of Bulldog sports. Binford was to come to the College with an excellent record, both during his college days and while coaching in the Hutchinson college.

5. On a cold and wet day in the last part of April the College was host to the high school seniors from all over the central part of Kansas. In conjunction with this was held the state elimination track and field meet.

WRITER SAYS TO MAKE NEW RESOLUTIONS THEN ONE IS TO TRY TO AVOID THEM

Rose Hill, Va., Jan. 5—Another year is about to cash in its cheques and Old Father Time is doing his last few lock steps to the tune of "The End of a Perfect Year." He has developed the gout owing to the fever of the financial panic and has decided to retire leaving the field and its pit falls to the young but ignorant 1931 who tackles the problems of the New Year with the well known determination and tenacity of the ever famous Bulldog spirit. All together, Rah! Rah!

The rush and bustle of Christmas is over and Mother is taking down the holly and the Christmas tree is junked like a used T-model Ford of the vintage of 1920. All the Christmas presents you didn't want have either been exchanged or given away. The hose you gave Mother that purposefully were too small for her have been added to your wardrobe to take back to school to let the other girls be envious over.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE FIRST OF FEBRUARY

Speakers Of National Repute To Be On Campus

Plans are now underway for the annual regional conference to be held on the McPherson campus and in the Church of the Brethren during the week of February 1 to 6. A committee composed of Dr. V. F. Schwalm, Prof. Hugh Heckman, and Rev. W. H. Yoder, Waterloo, Iowa, are now formulating the plans for this conference of Brethren ministers.

An array of speakers of national repute within the Church of the Brethren have been secured for the seven days of the meeting. R. W. Schlosser, president of Elizabethtown college, Penn.; Dr. Schwalm, McPherson, and Rufus D. Bowman, and M. R. Zigler, both of Elgin, Ill. Several members of the College faculty are also scheduled to appear on the program.

BASKET BALL TEAM COMES BACK EARLY

Practice Week For Contest With Hays Teachers

Mon., Dec. 29—Coach Melvin J. Binford and his cagers returned from their Christmas vacation today and will go thru two practices daily in preparation for their game January 2 with the Hays Teachers college on the home court. This move was deemed necessary because of the strong opposition Hays is reported to have and the four days will put the Bulldog team in good shape again.

GIVES ART EXHIBIT

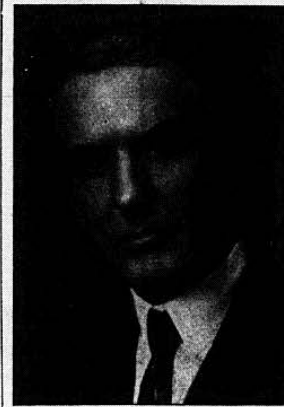

Work Done By Beginners Is Shown To The Public

Thurs., Dec. 18—Members of the Art department, under the supervision of Miss Clara Collins, this afternoon exhibited examples of the work they have done this semester. The display was placed in the art room on the fourth floor of Harnly hall. A large number of students visited the room during the day.

The work, a large part of which was done by beginning students in this field, consisted of oil paintings, pastel drawings, plaster of paris decorations, and basket work. An interesting feature was a small rug made of rags and scraps of cloth woven into an attractive design.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER IS WELL KNOWN

Dr. Alva W. Taylor, Nashville, Tenn., who will deliver the commencement address to the class of 1931, May 29, in the College Church, is widely known throughout the United States as a social leader, traveler, and a journalist of note.

DR. ALVA W. TAYLOR
Industrial, peace and inter-racial problems. He was a member of the investigating committee of the Inter-church World Movement into the steel strike of 1919, and director of inter-church rural survey in Missouri.

MEN RETURN FROM THE DETROIT CONFERENCE

Williams And Lauver Report On Student-Faculty Meeting

MANY NOTED SPEAKERS

Eight Hundred Delegates From Nation Are Present

Sun., Jan. 4—Ward Williams and Phillip Lauver, College delegates to the National Student-Faculty conference at Detroit, returned to the campus this week end. Mr. Lauver made the trip with Dr. V. F. Schwalm, but Williams going in his own car, accompanied by Marvin Borgess of Friends university, Wichita. Both delegates visited in Chicago before and after the conference, which took place December 27-31.

About eight hundred delegates from all parts of the United States besides a number of visitors from Canada, were present for the conference. They included approximately equal numbers of students and faculty members.

The principal speakers and conference leaders were Norman Thomas, George A. Coe, J. Stitt Wilson, Sherwood Eddy and Reinhold Niebuhr.

Each morning the conference was opened by a short worship session conducted by Pres. W. O. Mendenhall of Friends' university. This period was followed by an address by Reinhold Niebuhr, on the general theme of "The Present Day Interpretation of the Christian Faith." The next two hours were spent in meetings of six commissions who worked on definite phases of college problems, including administrative policy, the educational system, social life of the campus, present day morals, social attitude, and student counseling. The afternoon session was used by a seventh commission on "The Place of Religion and the Agencies of Religion in Student Life Today."

Each evening the conference was addressed by one of the outstanding speakers who were present.

While the final effect of the Detroit conference is yet unknown it will doubtless have a considerable bearing upon the place of religion and the agencies of religion in college and university life.

McPHERSON 32, FRIENDS 27

Hill High Scorer For McPherson, Casement For Wichita Team

Wichita, Jan. 5—McPherson college, playing a good passing game but being unable to hit the basket as freely as in previous contests, turned back Friends university here tonight in Friends gymnasium 32 to 27.

With the score shifting from one team to the other during the first part or the initial period the visitors led at the midway point 14 to 12. The second half opened with Hill, Sisk, and Jamison hitting the basket to pile up a slight margin over their opponents. With five minutes yet to play Friends threatened by cutting down the margin to three points but were unable to gain the lead.

Hill, McPherson forward, accounted for 11 points while Casement, Friends chucked up 8 points for the two high scorers.

SCHWALM SPEAKS AT MANCHESTER CHAPEL

To Return In February For Series Of Lectures

North Manchester, Indiana, Dec. 31—Dr. V. F. Schwalm, formerly dean of Manchester college, spoke in chapel this morning on the theme, "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts to wisdom." He emphasized the fact that time flies so fast that one should use their moments to the best advantage in preparing for a happy life twenty years from now.

Dr. Schwalm brought greetings from McPherson college to the student body. In February he will be on the campus for several days to deliver a series of lectures.

MRS. BOONE IN Y. W.

Gives Suggestions For New Year's Resolutions

Thurs., Jan. 6—Mrs. George Boone gave a few suggestions for New Year's resolutions in Y.W.C.A. this morning. She stated that they were good for the soul, even tho' not so strictly observed. Mrs. Boone said life is an exciting game, every once in a while we have to stop to get a new start. The first of the year is a good time to stop, take stock of our personality and make a fresh start.

People in the olden days kept diaries and wrote resolutions. It is more advantageous to write diaries and keep resolutions. Mrs. Boone said to believe in ones self, try for higher ends and to discriminate between values.

TO THE STUDENT YEARS

Returning from a holiday of leisure for some and toil for others, we are faced with the beginning of the year 1931. What the new year has in store for us none of the student body can readily suggest. For some it is going to be a year of prosperity and a spreading of good-choer among his fellow men while others will drink deep of the cup and reap the little things of life, not of their own accord, but because they have been misled by the influences of others.

To the student senior in college it means his graduation and his first venture into reality, or the practical living. From now until the 1930-31 school term closes the senior will have the increasing anxiousness of the young duck going for its first swim. He may strike the big swim and continue to swim or he will hit deep water and sink to obscurity. The senior has his "spot light" always ahead of him, his future. His "spot light" should be the never failing light and should act forever as a guiding light for things of higher accomplishments.

The junior who has entertained the senior will look to the "morrow" when he too with pomp and ceremony may stride after his forebearers of the crimson and white and with anticipation continue to march on after the never failing light of progress.

To the sophomore may come the greatest difficulty. He has come to the crossroad in his higher education. His class has been cut to one half by the failure of his freshmen to respond to the call of education. He has now had two years of college and two more years are ahead of him. He is balanced on the brink of advancement in his own mind and with the determination of a beginner he will continue to manifest content and look ahead to the day when he too will be given his roll of decorated paper tied with a ribbon.

The yearlings, with their first terrible year of contempt behind them, blessings be on thee little lad and always remember that to "spare the rod is to spoil the child." Freshmen always have an admiration for the sophomores for it is they that they follow to yield their force upon the incoming youngsters who are to be the seniors of another day. Live, grow, and remember the day when you were taught that the only color a freshman was to recognize was "green."

OUR PURPOSE—IS TO BETTER

Our purpose is not to create a new feeling of obedience to something that will not be obeyed but we do feel that it is our purpose to pledge ourselves to the support of The Spectator staff and endeavor to make it a still better college paper in the year 1931. We do not believe in New Year's resolutions but we do believe that resolutions may be made anytime of the new year and why pick on the new year, it is young and inexperienced. Let us make our pledges to endeavors and purposes whenever they crop up in our minds and then endeavor to see that we abide by their purposes.

It is the purpose of The Spectator staff in 1931 to make your paper better than during the previous year. We solicit your advice and suggestions in an endeavor to find out what you want—and how you want it.

Beware of the Unwary

Due to the economic conditions now existing it is very easy for some people to take things that do not belong to them. Some may be driven to this practice because they have been unable to possess the bare necessities of life, not mentioning the luxuries they see others more fortunate using. Such individuals in times of prosperity would not follow such a trend.

It is no news to anyone that college students are always "hard up" for ready cash. A large number of students at Bethany college, Lindsborg, have been seriously hurt, financially, by the falling of two banks of that city. It is intimated that some may be compelled to withdraw from their school work due to their losses.

We urge students, who realize the dire need of a liberal education, to be economic in every way within their power. Small losses may mean a great deal to you under the existing circumstances. Do not tempt the individuals who are seeking the things of others. Keep your rooms and homes locked when you are away and do not leave your valuables lying around to fancy the eye of the one who wishes it was in his possession.

A pessimist is one who makes difficulties of his opportunities and an optimist is one who makes opportunities of his difficulties. Remember that and you will get along.—Vice Admiral Mansell, R. N.

Yes, the intellectuals always have microscopes before their eyes—Professor Albert Einstein.

A single letter on a sweater does not constitute an adequate philosophy of life.—Ernest Match Wilkins.

You can get a lot out of life by just looking at it.—Louise Kennedy Noble.

Y. M. MEETING

Tues., Jan. 5—"Personal Relationship between the students and the Classroom" were analyzed in Y. M. C. A. this morning.

Libbaurn Gottman expressed in a talk dealing with the relationships found in the dormitory three ideas, namely: being Courteous one is helped to be Friendly which always includes being sincere.

Ward Williams discussed the relationships in the Dormitory and its faculty; the five points in the conditions at McPherson College; and the places for improvement in the relationships prevailing on the campus. Kermit Hayes led devotionals.

GIRLS B.B. STARTED

Mon., Jan. 5—Five girls basketball teams with ten girls on the team are starting practice this week. The first practice was held tonight. Blanche Holgerson is organizing the teams under the auspices of the W. A. A. Tournament dates will be announced later.

SPECULATIONS OF A SPECULATOR

That Doctor, whom we engaged to meet us at the station when we returned from our Christmas vacation, was not there, but somehow we managed to get over the Christmas gorging in better shape than we had expected.

COLD WEATHER

The North wind doth blow And we shall have snow. And what will the girls do then? Poor things! They'll stay in the Dorm, And keep themselves warm, Angaze at their diamond (?) rings, Poop things!

Hard times? I reckon so! Just the other day, a boy said he'd hate to see it snow, 'cause he dreaded walking in the snow with holes in his shoes.

Now that I can again turn over a new leaf, I hereby resolve: To sleep better and longer—out of class.

To let my roommate get up first and turn off the alarm clock. This develops character.

To eat more and faster—this develops a personal technique.

To write home more often to the folks will know I still need money.

To cut out the slang that does not express my subtle meaning.

To admit information freely into my dense head, and thereby give the profs. a chance.

To study my lessons twice this semester—instead of the once last semester.

"Love making now is just the same as it was 2000 years ago," said a college girl as she laid aside the ancient history text. "This lesson tells about a Greek girl sitting and listening to a lyre all the evening."

"Jack, what is meant by the term 'diplomatic phraseology?'"

"Well, if you tell a girl that time stands still while you gaze into her eyes, that's diplomacy. But if you tell her that her face would stop a clock, that isn't."

POTWIN RELATES THE VALUE OF EDUCATION

Depends On Individual Says The Chapel Speaker

Wed., Dec. 17—Supt. R. W. Potwin of the McPherson city schools, spoke on "What Does Education Do for the Individual?" in chapel this morning. He described the Chicago Daily News building as an example of culture and education and less than a block away is the worst section of the city. Here one finds the Rufus Dawes hotel where one can spend the night for ten cents. A Catholic priest who is working among these people told Mr. Potwin that conditions are much better than before prohibition.

The speaker stated that the picture of the highly cultured and of the slum section are both products of our American educational system. One can go to most any high school or college and learn valuable and useful things, Mr. Potwin remarked, or we can sleep through classes and get our education on the streets. It depends upon the individual, there is always the two possibilities right across the street from each other. In concluding the superintendent said that it isn't the matter of how many educational systems we receive diplomas from, but the type of civilization we attach ourselves to while in these institutions.

A DORMITORY LAMENTATION

I don't want blueberry muffins, I won't eat tepid toast; I hate old soggy potatoes And dried-up water-proof toast. I just loathe paper napkins And dishes of wrinkled prunes; I can't stand pale, weak coffee And worn-off plated spoons. I dislike Waldorf salad; And as for cold, tough oat-meal, I shrink from a soft-boiled egg.

Bring me anything else, I beg. And whatever I eat, in future, Be it better or worse or good, I hope not to swallow another Morsel of that Dormitory food."

HOT SHOTS from the Days' Weekly NEWS

Yes, sir, the first thing New Year's Eve they began playing that popular piece, "Happy Days Are Here Again." Now we think that is getting pretty optimistic with the new year being so young. Besides, this song is one of the left overs from 1930—and look what 1930 turned out to be, it didn't make it very popular.

The other day we were talking to a man and he was telling us all about the hard times and how hard they were to him. He was describing the conditions in a nearby city and remarked that at a certain hospital each morning a line of hungry people would appear at the garbage can and devour its contents. We wouldn't want to take the risk—we might get ahold of someone's appendix.

In a nearby community there is a Ladies Aid that functions to the peak of efficiency. Just before Christmas they deemed it necessary to send a number of large packing boxes filled with second hand clothing to a certain Indian tribe in Arizona. One of the members, when going home and telling her husband what they had so nobly done, was asked what all they had sent, she replied: "There was most everything one could think of, most of it was heavy woolen underwear, heavy coats and such to tide them over the cold winter." The ever curious husband then asked her where they sent all this clothing, to which she replied that it had all gone to Yuma, Arizona. The holier-than-thou husband burst out in laughter, because Yuma is the hottest place in the United States, yes, even in winter.

We made one new year's resolution the first think when we got back. That was to clean our room. Yes, we had to get into it.

There is one thing nice about a Christmas vacation and that is that students come back with altogether new jokes and stories.

Columbus took a chance—now look where he is.

Not even the thrill of finding a 50-cent piece compares with that of finding a new golf ball.

ETHEL AND POSEY JAMISON ARE BOTH REPRESENTATIVE STUDENT LEADERS ON CAMPUS

When In Grade School It Was Miss Jamison's Ambition To "Throw" All The Smaller Boys—Posey Required Approval Of His Parents

By Ruth Trostle

It just seems to run in families. Not only producing good students, but as well, good teachers, athletes, farmers and strong dependable citizens.

Last year two from such a family enrolled in McPherson college. These two, Ethel and Posey Jamison. Miss Jamison entered as a junior and Mr. Jamison as a sophomore.

In many ways they are alike, both dark, both rather quiet, both were graduated from the Quinter, Kan., high school, and have both lived on the farm. Naturally, as one would suspect, they have their own individualities. When Ethel entered the grade school her ambition was to be able to "throw" all the smaller boys in the school. When Posey reached the same stage he seemed particularly determined to use a certain kind of language not approved by his parents. After Ethel graduated from high school with honors, she decided to continue her schooling and then teach. She entered McPherson and remained one semester but transferred to Hays Teachers college for the second semester. She taught in her home school for two years with much success. Later the family moved to California for the winter and Ethel attended LaVerne college, sister school of McPherson, ranking as an honor student. She entered the McPherson a year ago last fall and this year was elected president of the W. A. A., also secretary of the Y. W. C. A. This fall she was voted by her class as the most representative woman in the senior class.

Posey also attended Quinter high school and played basket ball for three years, was in many school activities, including plays, student council, and male quartet. In his senior year he was given a place on the citizenship cup. His freshman year in college was spent in LaVern. There he played on the freshman many activities. A year ago last fall he enrolled at McPherson and during that time he has been elected to several school activities. This year he is assistant to Coach Melvin J. Binford, and also assistant in the Manual Arts department.

Mr. Jamison's sportsmanship is very outstanding and this fall he was elected by his class as the most representative man.

When students as the two Jamison's come to the campus, their influence is readily felt. Their scholarship is justly deserved, their type of sportsmanship is admired, and their attitude toward college life is of the highest type.

DEPUTATION TEAM AT WORK DURING HOLIDAY

Five Students Go To Missouri For Musical Programs

There are ways and ways of spending the Christmas holidays, but five students, who were out as deputation team from the College, are sure that they chose one of the most interesting ways of all. The team consisted of Grace Early, Lois Edwards, Christine Mohler, Lawrence Lehman, and Charles Austin. These students gave programs at ten churches in Northern and Middle Missouri, and at the Ottawa Church in Northeastern Kansas. They also assisted in several programs at the Holland Church, of which Mr. Lehman is pastor.

Each one had his duties to perform which Miss Early, as captain, assigned. Mr. Austin, the treasurer, took charge of the collections and doled out money for expenses. Mr. Lehman, custodian of the car, took the team to each church safely and always set up the jiggly easel for the chalk talk. The boys took turns in giving the sermons, so that the programs were varied. Miss Early got things started. She told a story to the children, and filled out long report blanks about each meeting. Miss Edwards, as accompanist, took care of the music, and entertained the audiences very capably, although the quality of the pianos varied greatly. Miss Mohler, the scribe, wrote appreciation notes to the various churches, kept a full diary of the trip, and gave chalk talks.

The team found that times were hard in most places. Many boys and girls do not even expect to finish high school. However, there were a number of other young folks who were much interested in coming to McPherson College.

The weather was fine; the roads good; the audiences were responsive and appreciative; the people were hospitable. If eating heartily is considered complimentary, there should be a number of good housewives in Missouri and Kansas who feel distinctly flattered by the compliments paid their cooking by the team.

CONCERT FOR BENEFIT

Glee Clubs, Quartets, Musicians Singers and Readers To Assist

Mon., Jan. 5—Mrs. Anna C. Tate announced this evening that the College Men's Glee Club would give a benefit concert Friday, Jan. 16, in one of the churches of this city. They will be assisted by the College Women's Glee Club, the Ladies quartet, Miss Margaret Shelly, Miss Fern Linenfelder, and Miss Lucile Crabb. The Men's Glee Club plan to take part in the state contest at Hays, Kan., in the near future.

COLD WEATHER

The north wind doth blow And we shall have snow, And what will the girls do then?

Poor things! They'll stay in the dorm And keep themselves warm, And gaze at their diamond(?) rings. Poor things!

Just to show that we are not partial and do not expect big Christmas presents, we'll say that to understand men, women must have faith, hope, and charity—especially charity.

The first thing after we all got back another of those cleaners' wars comes along. Boy we believe in disarmament now. Give us peace among all cleaning agents.

We "Spec" there are some freshmen from the South who are pretty much thrilled about their "First Snow."

The following news item was clipped from a daily paper: "While they were chasing the bandits, Police Hank was shot in the arm, and Officer Ezra was shot in the hip. Mr. H. W. Earl, a bystander, was shot in the excitement."

Here's wishing you much Christmas joy, and hoping that the New Year will bring bigger and better "Speculations."

The typical college boy is so generous that he'd give you his roommate's last shirt off his back.

It seems to us that it is harder to find a man who bears good fortune well, than one who bears evil.

After Prof. Earl Bohling's most eloquent speech last week we are of the opinion that both the students and faculty will be glad to hear him many more times during the year instead of only the once. Oh ah, prof, you did get in bad that time.

Another thing we have noticed and that is that there's more to running a drug store than you would imagine. For instance, it's not good business to place the weighing machine too near the lunch counter.

Headline: "Students Entertain in the 1930 Revue." We can see no other way in which it could be no other way which it could be no more than entertainment, especially for stronger sex.

Trust men and they will be true to you; treat them greatly and they will show themselves great, though they make an exception in your favor to all their rules of trade. —Ralph Waldo Emerson.

INDIFFERENCE TO WEALTH

"Would you marry for money?" "No," answered Miss Cayenne. "I have already refused two men who boasted of being among the most prosperous bootleggers in the community."

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER IS WELL KNOWN MAN

The Tennessee professor has traveled extensively in both North America and Europe; the last trip to Europe was since the war to investigate conditions among the masses of the people as a result of war and to study industrial conditions. He was a delegate to the Institute of Pacific Peoples in Honolulu, July, 1925. Dr. Taylor was on special mission to attend inauguration of President Calles in the City of Mexico, and conducted a special good-will mission to that country in the summer of 1926.

At the present Dr. Taylor is editor of "Social Trends," one of the leading magazines in the country in this field. Along with his editorship he is professor of social ethics at the Vanderbilt university in Nashville.

THE TEN HIGH POINTS OF NEWS IN 1930

In which 35 high schools were entered. Class A honors were carried off by Manhattan while Sterling copped the class B honors.

6. Again on May 3, McPherson college received national recognition due to the fact that Prof. H. H. Nininger had retrieved the world's largest stony type meteorite in the hills near the little Arkansas town of Paragould. This massive meteorite, weighing more than 800 pounds, was brought to McPherson by the professor.

7. Closing the school year for the class of 1930 with the dramatic production of "John Ferguson" and the graduation of 52 seniors, who this year, more than half their number are in school rooms over the middle-west. The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Elmer Guy Cuthshall, Denver.

8. Following the opening of the school in the fall with a slightly increased enrollment over the previous semester two important announcements came from the administrative board in relation to the endowment campaign. First it was made known that Dr. J. H. Hamby and wife had deeded Texas land to the College, valued at $10,000, and soon afterwards from the chapel platform came the fact that Miss Jessie Brown, professor of music, had endowed a professorship of music with a contribution of $15,000.

9. Again on Thanksgiving Day the Swedes were triumphant over their old rivals, but this time on the gridiron. With high hopes of winning this last conflict the McPherson eleven journeyed to the Swedish stronghold but were turned back by a 19 to 6 defeat.

10. To close the year of 1930 with distinction Coach Maurice A. Hess took his august body of debaters and entered the Southwestern debate tournament, emerging with two third places, one for the men and one for the girls. More than 100 teams were entered from a number of middle-western states. This was the team's first appearance, and marked the beginning of a successful season that is to follow.

What 1931 has in store, one has yet to surmise.

MAKE NEW RESOLUTIONS THEN TRY TO AVOID THEM

Resolve:

Not to have clocks made with alarms—they insist on one's meeting that college plague, the eight o'clock class.

To spend time at the library—as little as possible. To do all outside reading before being due—at least ten minutes before.

To be friendly with all people—those who can write thems better than yourself so you can borrow them.

To sit on the front seat in class—so you won't be called on to recite.

To get a new girl—since you quit the other one long enough before Christmas that you didn't have to buy her anything.

To have Forney to short circuit the lights in the "Ad" building—spring is coming on.

To make "a" in all my subjects—"a" passing grade.

To seem brilliant—though dumb by nature.

Yours till the disintegration of the first New Year's resolution. —Sea-see. Mrs. W. R. Grabel.

LOCAL CAGERS WIN OVER STERLING CREW

Hill, McPherson, Scores 11 Points For High Man

McPHERSON 50, STERLING 24

Jamison And Binford Each Tally 8 Points

Thurs., Dec. 18—McPherson college won its first basketball game of the season tonight, defeating the Sterling college quintet by the decisive score of 50 to 24. Sterling, taking an early lead, was unable to match the goal shooting ability of the Bulldogs and were outplayed in nearly every department of the game.

For McPherson, Hill, forward, accounted for five field goals and one charity shot to rank highest among the scorers and for the visitors Clay shot three field goals for high honors.

Overcoming an 8 to 1 lead in the early stage of the game the Bulldogs led at the half 24 to 13 after a spree of basket shooting. Both Jamison and Binford, playing an excellent game, tallied four field goals each with Jamison going from the game late in the last half on personals. This is the first time Jamison has left the court on account of personals.

AND SO GOOD BYE

A little work, a little play
To keep us going—and so, good-bye!
A little warmth, a little light
Of love's bestowing—and so, good-night!
A little fun, to match the sorrow
Of each day's growing—and so, good-morrow!
A little trust that when we die
We reap our sowing—and so, good-bye!

THE SCOTCHMAN HAS A GREETING CARD INGENUITY

Scotchmen are always original—they are compelled to be because of their strict economy, but a Spectator reporter believes he has found not only the Scotchman but also the product of his ingenuity.

The Scotchman might have learned to swim with the advent of the toll bridge, and kept his children out of school because they wasted time, but the new idea of the season is his idea of Christmas greeting cards. In rummaging through the halls of Fahnstock a new style of card has been found. It is headed as "Scotch Greeting Card" and bears a colored picture of a red nosed Scotchman holding out his hand. Following the heading is the statement—With Best Wishes For (check items desired), Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, Happy Birthday, St. Patrick's Day, Happy Easter, St. Valentine's Day, Wedding Anniversary Day, Thanksgiving Day, Armistice Day, April Fools Day, Halloween, and Decoration Day, and two blank squares for ones that were missed. At the base of the card it is urged that the recipient "Please receipt and return using pencil so it can be used again." On the reverse side of the card it merely says, "This Space Free."

To the college student: Sleep is good for everyone—but see that you aren't caught napping.

FIRST PEP RALLY OF THE YEAR TOMORROW

Every Student Is Urged To Be Present And Give Support

The first pep meeting of the year will be held tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock in the chapel auditorium. Cheerleaders Doyle-Larsen-Weaver will be in charge of all ceremonies and each loyal Bulldog booster is urged to make their appearance at this big pep rally in anticipation of the first Conference game of the ensuing season.

The moral support of every student is needed to give McPherson a winning team and from all indications it is quite likely that McPherson is going to have a winning team.

REPORT ON CONFERENCE

Tells Of Unemployment Situation Of The Nation

Mon., Jan. 5—Philip Lauer gave a report in chapel this morning of the National Student-Faculty conference which was held at Detroit during the Christmas holiday.

Mr. Lauer stated that the big thing about the conference were the outstanding problems discussed, personalities of the leaders. There first, problem of religion, second, problem of race, and third, the economic situation. In religion one cannot prove all things, but one must proceed on faith. Many delegates seemed to have no assurance of vital religious realities stated the speaker. The race problem was a very concrete problem as there was some discrimination against some delegates at the hotels, Mr. Lauer remarked.

In dealing with the unemployment problem the conference dealt with it as a real problem. It was brought out that the trouble does not lie in the fact that the country lacks food, clothing, or shelter; it is that the nation has too much and no money with which to buy. Some distinctive advance of the past were the Christianizing of the institution of religion, christianizing of government and the respect for the body.
