WESLEYAN DROPS WRENCH IN THE MACHINERY FOR NEGOTIATIONS FOR A NEW ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

Salina School Refuses To Join After Bethany And McPherson Signify Intentions—Further Negotiations Are Dropped For The Present

BOONE SPEAKS FAVORABLY

Agitation Started By Bethel, Friends And Sterling College

Last week it was proposed that a new athletic conference be organized among the small church colleges and universities in the central part of the state but with the refusal of Kansas Wesleyan university to leave the ranks of the Kansas conference agitation for the new organization was dropped.

The new conference was to include Friends university, Sterling college, McPherson college, and Bethel college, with the later addition of Hays Teachers, Kansas Wesleyan, Bethany and Southwestern.

McPherson and Bethany, the two north central colleges, promised to join the newly proposed conference if Kansas Wesleyan would do likewise. When this college refused the proposal, all further negotiations were dropped, at least for the present.

At a meeting of the Athletic board of McPherson college the matter of the new conference was discussed but no definite action was taken because of the absence of the President, Prof. G. N. Boone, a member of the board, expressed himself as being quite favorable to the new proposal. William Bigham, student representative on the board, was in favor of the new conference as long as it would include McPherson's old time rivals, Bethany.

From present indications it is altogether probable that all negotiations for the conference would cease at least until next year when the fight will be carried further by Bethel, Friends, and Sterling who are not members of any conference and who were dropped from the original Kansas conference a number of years ago.

COLLEGE CO-EDS WEAR THEIR HOSE WRONG SIDE OUT IN THE EAST IN SPORTING CLASS ROOM AND CAMPUS

Rose Hill, Va., Jan. 19—A hint to the wise is usually sufficient but since this particular group of hints is only intended to be amusing the wise may regard themselves immune and of course this statement includes the entire personnel of McPherson college—Amen.

"In the beginning"—no, this is not a chapel talk and it is not to be regarded as in any way related to the Bible. Another attempt is made to introduce the subject and take warning—the subject may be avoided at any moment.

These might be called "Style Hints" and no charge is made if some of the deliciously luscious co-eds of M. C. care to adopt a few of them.

The writer made a visit to a certain college (the hard shell variety) in a neighboring state and the following things were noticed about the campus. Girls one and all wore sport apparel on the said campus, to classes and each out-fit was complete even to matching wool hose. Oxford

LAUGH REVEALS MAN

Mrs. Bright Tells Of Seriousness Of Humor In Chapel

Mon., Jan. 19—Mrs. J. D. Bright spoke on "The Seriousness of Humor" in chapel this morning. "We know the degree of refinement," said Mrs. Bright, "of people by the things at which they laugh and the ring of their laughter. A man's laugh reveals the man. Laughter is caused by disharmony. The simplest is based upon sight. We do not laugh at a hat when worn on a man's head, but if he sits upon the hat we laugh."

MRS. SCHWALM TELLS EUROPEAN ATTITUDE

Feeling In England Against The United States

Tues., Jan. 20—Mrs. V. F. Schwalm gave a discussion of the European idea of America in Y. W. C. A. this morning. This marks the first of a series of discussions on International Relations to be given by Mrs. Schwalm.

In England there was somewhat of a feeling against the United States, Mrs. Schwalm remarked, because of the American attitude on the World Court and because of the high tariff. They did not severely criticize, only said, "They are young, they will grow up."

QUADRANGLE MAKING RAPID PROGRESS NOW

Three Hundred Copies To Be Printed

Fri., Jan. 16—It was announced today that the 1931 Quadrangle is making rapid progress in composition and it is being assured that the yearbooks will appear on the campus on schedule time during the last week of school.

The class sections have all gone to the engravers along with the athletic section and the opening pages of the book. It is interesting to note that only a very few students did not have their pictures taken this year and it is thought to be a record low percentage. Sections yet to be made up and sent to the engravers include the different organizations and feature sections. The editor and his staff are starting to make the write-ups for the different sections.

The manufacturers are now constructing the covers to the new annual. It has been learned that the dominating color of the cover will be purple while the design will be in a yellow bronze tint. Three hundred books will be printed.

Sat., Jan. 17—It was announced today by the Department of Music of the College that the Men's Glee club state contest would be held in McPherson Thursday, January 29, instead of at the Hays Teachers college as was previously planned. The place of the contest was changed because of the central location of McPherson. The contest is being sponsored by the McPherson Chamber of Commerce which has put up a guarantee of $100 toward the expense.

The contest is open to colleges and universities and to date seven have signified their intentions of coming to McPherson. Those coming include Friends university, Wichita; Sterling college; Hays State Teachers college; Bethel College, Newton; College of Emporia; Emporia State Teachers college and McPherson college. A number of other schools are expected to enter the contest soon.

Each glee club will sing three numbers during the contest, besides the selection, "Feasting I Watch," by own choice and also their school Elger, each will sing a song of their song. All three songs will be considered in the judging.

The winners of the McPherson contest will go to the Missouri Valley contest to be held at Lawrence, Kan., Feb. 13, whence the victor will take part in a national contest at New York City, and the winner of the national contest to be sent to Paris.

Officers of the state organization of Glee clubs include Prof. Hobart Davis of Hays Teachers college, president, and Dean R. E. Hirscher of the College of Emporia as secretary and treasurer.

The contest will be held in the auditorium of Convention Hall of this city and is scheduled to start in the evening at 8:00 o'clock. General admission to the contest will be fifty cents and high school students will be admitted for twenty-five cents.

Two numbers will be sung by a chorus of 150 male voices formed by combining all of the participating glee clubs. At the beginning they will sing, "We Meet Again Tonight, Boys," and will close the contest with "Prayer of Thanksgiving."

SCHWALM AND YODER ARE BACK ON CAMPUS

School Teachers Are Best Givers Says Schwalm

Mon., Jan. 19—Dr. V. F. Schwalm and Dr. J. J. Yoder returned to McPherson during the week-end after spending the greater part of the last two weeks in the north and north east part of Kansas in the interest of the endowment campaign.

The two men were in the homes of many students and found that the general economic conditions are prevailing throughout the state. The farmers in the northeastern part of the state are suffering from crop failures and have a great deal of trouble in raising money for their taxes and interest.

"The best givers to the college," President Schwalm stated this morning. "Are the school teachers, for they have some ready money on hand." Dr. Schwalm spoke in several high schools during the last two weeks and conducted services in six or seven churches in the territory.

Cities that were visited by the two men include Navarre, Washington, Summerfield, Morrill, Sabetha, Overbrook, McLouth, Topeka, Lone Star and also attended a session of the state legislature in Topeka and visited with the dean at the University of Kansas.

TARIFF AND FARM BOARD HAVE KEPT WHEAT PRICE UP IN U. S. ECONOMIC INSTRUCTOR ASSERTS

Depression Has Reached Its Worst—Chief Cause Is Overproduction—Stocks Have Usually Been A Fair Barometer To Economic Conditions Of Nation

BY E. R. BOHLING
Professor of Commerce and Economics
McPherson College

The Machine Age has brought many complex problems. Of all these problems none are more pressing than overproduction and unemployment. The two are inseparable. One demoralizes with the burden of idle plant and capital, the other with idle men and women.

The overproduction of a commodity involves waste of capital, labor and natural resources. The over capacity of American coal mines forces the miners to work part time. If they operate at full capacity for any length of time overproduction results.

The oil industry has expanded to a point where the output of crude is vastly greater than the demand for it. Due to the effort of the companies to get as large a share as possible of the gasoline sales, distribution costs have mounted rapidly. As a result both producer and consumer suffers. With the price of crude ruinously low, gasoline is about as high as ever.

The present overproduction of wheat is a problem here in the Central West and it promises to continue for some time. The American farmer will not cut acreage. On the other hand the output per acre is increasing while per capita consumption is decreasing. The U. S. for the most part, cannot compete with countries like Canada and Argentina. The return of Russia to an export basis complicates the problem. If Russia can continue for a few years without repetition of internal disorder she will give many parts of the world something to think about. A protective tariff accompanied by the stabilizing activity of the Federal Farm Board has pegged the price of wheat in the U. S. far above the world price.

It is the excess of potential capacity in all our basic industries which constitutes the depressing factor in modern business. Because American business is optimistic and because of the possibility of profit, each producer increases his output to the limit without fire regard to total demand or the output of his competitors. The result is periodic overproduction.

Other factors than overproduction have contributed to the present state of economic affairs. Among these we shall list speculation in securities; reduced purchasing power abroad; unequal gold distribution, the past summer drought; political unrest and others too numerous to mention. All in all, business has dropped from a position high above normal in June 1929 to a point approximately 25 per cent below normal at the present time.

Although the production of manufactured goods is rather haphazard and subject to little unified control, consumption in the U. S. is fairly even and dependable. No one can accurately predict just when the depression period will reach its worst. Indications are that we are near that point at present. Consumption has been quite steady, but production has been curtailed in many lines. This cannot continue indefinitely. Stocks are running low both on the shelves of retailers, and in warehouses of manufacturers. Sooner or later, production must bring in many lines.

The stock market gives us some encouragement. Stocks have usually been a fair barometer of economic conditions. The break in stocks followed tradition in coming several months before the depression. The upturn likewise usually comes sometime before the recovery period. Common stocks have made great recovery, but are undoubtedly selling below actual worth in many instances.

Money is available in unlimited quantities on good loans. The U. S. has the lowest rate on money in the world. The failure of hundreds of banks is no cause of alarm. On the other hand it is a desirable weeding out of the least efficient banks of which we are over supplied. The banking system is in an exceedingly strong position, capable of loaning unlimited amounts when the time is ripe. The more optimistic favor the view that we are on the verge of recovering. Others look for slight improvement in the last quarter of 1931. Still others have predicted good times for 1932. These predictions have been made mostly by business men who are by nature optimistic.

My own opinion is that recovery will be very slow. Agriculture is facing a problem that will take years to adjust. The American farmer will not have easy going for some time. The machine revolution is coming. There will be many readjustments in agriculture during the next ten years. The same is true of other extractive industries such as oil and coal.

There will be many false starts and many retrenchments before business is again humming at normal. With over expansion in many industries, any increase in demand can be quickly met. Because business will have to be figured on narrow margins of profits in the future, let us hope that the recovery will reflect more conservatism, and the elimination of many items of overhead which in former periods of recovery and prosperity were unnecessary burdens on business itself as well as the consumer.

The boys of course dress like all boys—pants, shirt, etc. Nothing can be said about them except that they all wore coats to meals which trait was noticeably lacking at M. C. (No offence meant boys. I know sweaters are uncomfortable in that over heated dining room in Arnold).

Now M. C. co-eds would think they were disgraced for life if they wore their sex wrong side out but east is east and west is west and never will they agree on especially sox. But 'tween us it is lots of fun to wear a new dress to class or anywhere just to show it and besides you see Him in class oftener than any other place so wear your prettiest clothes to school if you want to since Dad is one of those birds with a long bill like the stork and the policeman.

These two classes include the freshmen and sophomore boys and girls of the College. Those who attend are promised an evening of games, merriment, refreshments, and numerous other means of entertainment.

SCHWALM LEAVES AGAIN

Tues., Jan. 26—Dr. V. F. Schwalm left this morning for Indianapolis to attend a meeting of a committee, of which he is a member, to study the educational problems of the Church of the Brethren. Dr. Schwalm will be back on the campus again Saturday.

STUDY SAYS THUROV MEN NEED HOME EC.

Believes Men Need Dormitory Rules Too

Tues., Jan. 20—"College men should take a course in costume designing," said Miss Mildred Thurov, head of the home economics department of the College in a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. this morning. Miss Thurov's talk before the men of the organization was concerned with the relations of men and women on the campus, proper etiquette, and many things a young college man should know.

It was the speaker's opinion that a double standard should be maintained between men and women and that women should hold their places along with men.

In discussing the long existing question of whether men in the dormitory should have regulations as well as the women Miss Thurov stated that she was in favor of regulation in the men's dormitory in which case the women would need fewer rules. Not only should men take a course in costume designing but they should also take a course in foods, the speaker asserted, so they will know how to eat what the women prepare for them.

MEN DEBATORS WILL OPEN SEASON FEB. 20

16, and the state contest being held March 13, with four colleges represented. Prizes for the state meet will be $35, $25, and $5.

Local peace oratorical contest which is open to all students, is booked for March 8; the prizes ranging from $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50.

Considerable interest is brewing in anticipation of the Old Line oratorical contest. Any subject may be used by the orators entering this contest, which will take place after the debating season is closed.

On February 21, debaters from six class A high schools will convene in McPherson for a debate tournament on the College campus.

Prof. Maurice A. Hess, debate and oratory coach, is reticent in making predictions as to the possible victor in the debating field, but he says that the varsity teams this year have had rather more experience than in previous years.

NEW UNIVERSITY TO BE FOUNDED SOON

New York, Jan. 19—A university without rules for its students, lacking impressive looking buildings, and with its entire work centered about a small but distinguished faculty is to be established here.

It is the Institute of Advanced Study, made possible by a gift of $5,000,000 endowment made last June by Louis Bamberger and his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld.

The aims of the new university, which will bear many of the aspects of the original university of the Middle Ages in its form of organization, was outlined here by Dr. Abraham Flexner, director of the new institution, who gave four general principles on which it will be established.

"The first of these," he said, "is that there shall be no intrusion of those collegiate ideas and practices that are necessary in a college but hampering in a university. I mean by that, that we shall have no rooms or time for athletics or extra-curricular activities, and no attempt will be made at paternalistic control of the student body.

"Secondly, we will make no attempt at great size. Quality will be the first concern. The faculty will co-operate in the management of the institute and have places on the board of trustees. We hope that the remuneration of our faculty will be more fully commensurate with the importance of the positions."

Mack Men Lead At The Half 11 To 5 But Fail To Rally

FRIENDS 23, McPHERSON 20

Reserves Defeat Alden High 14 To 12 In Hard Fought Game

Fri., Jan. 16—After holding a small lead over their opponents but failing to rally at the last minute as the Bulldogs teams of previous years have done to win many of their games, McPherson college lost their return game with Friends university here tonight after the visiting team gained a three point lead during the last four minutes of play. Friends won 23 to 20.

Leading 11 to 5 at the end of the first half the Bulldog cagers came back in the last period to play a game of ragged passing and a loss of their basket shooting ability. Anderson, McPherson guard, was high point man of the game with 10 points and played a splendid game. Casement, of the visiting team, was high scorer for his team with nine points, seven of which he secured in the last half.

McPHERSON TO PLAY OTTAWA BRAVES FRI.

Ottawa One Of Strong Teams In The Conference

With no home game for nearly a month Coach Melvin Binford will journey to Ottawa Friday night for his second Conference game of the season with the Ottawa university team. It is understood that the Coach will take eight or ten men with him.

Ottawa has one of the strongest teams in the Kansas conference this year, however, they have not won any Conference game and have lost two games. Ottawa has Kepner, who is going to be one of the high scorers of the Conference this year and who at the present time is second to Larson. Bethany.

Next spring we are going to make a very intensive study of the unemployment problem. We graduate them.—Exchange.

— DRIPPINGS — from THE DOPE BUCKET

McPherson's defeat at the hands of Friends university last Friday night was all uncalculated for because the Bulldog team was superior in nearly every aspect of the game but due to some misplaced complex for that one night it seemed that the Bulldogs were just unable to hit the basket more times than their opponents. . . Anderson, McPherson, played a good game but it seemed that his teammates were unable to keep up with him. He was hitting the basket consistently and made good all of his charity shots. . . Casement, Friends' captain, seemed to have the Canines "buffaloes" to a certain extent, or something was wrong, for he chalked up seven points in the last half. . . We had one consolation, however; in the Friends game. . . It wasn't a Conference game. . .

It must have been some game at "Sweden" Friday night when the "flaxen-haired" crew walked off with the Ottawa Braves to the tune of 29 to 21. Larson, Bethany, was high point man with 16 points and the "much written about" Kepner of Ottawa accounted for 10 points. Both Larson and Kepner went out on personals along with Crilly another star of Ottawa. Bethany made six fouls and Ottawa made five of their charity shots count while Ottawa made 12 fouls and Bethany only made seven points out of it. . .

Larson, Bethany, is now the leading scorer in the Kansas Conference with a total of 31 points for the two games. Kepner, Ottawa, is second with a count of 16 points. . .

Jamison is now leading the McPherson cagers in individual scoring with a total of 43 points in the seven games. Hill is second with 37 and Anderson third with a total count of 35 points. A great deal of Anderson's points came from his free shots with a total of 17 to his credit which is a high average for the seven games.—L. L.

THE LIBRARY TO HAVE 10,500 VOLUMES SOON

Late Additions Swelling Total Number Of Books

"There will be 10,500 volumes in the College library by the beginning of the second semester," stated Miss Margaret Heckethorn, librarian, who has kept a careful record of all incoming books. Students will remember that the 10,000 goal in a campaign for additional books was reached before last June.

Two recently published books now in the library are, "The Second Twenty Years at Hull House" by Jane Adams, and "Solving Life's Everyday Problems" by Gilkey.

A sample copy of "The Unemployed," a monthly magazine published by the League for Industrial Democracy, has come to the Library. Heywood Brown, Norman Thomas and H. E. Fosdick are the prominent contributors in this interesting and timely publication. The cartoons, by Art Young, can hardly be equalled. Also, a sample copy of "The International Digest," a monthly review of foreign affairs, and an entirely new publication, has been sent to the library. A recent number of the "Economic Review of the Soviet Union" is on the magazine rack. It is published semi-monthly by the Amtorg Trading Corporation of New York, the Russian commercial house.

NOW YOU TELL ONE

by Scrib, the Campus Scat

We, the undersigned do hereby wish to express our sincere wish for everyone a very happy examination week.

Signed, (Two who expect to flunk).

After listening to Miss Thuro's interesting talk in Y. M. yesterday morning, Lloyd Larsen remained awake in government during the entire period, fearing that the fairest of fairs might get word of his shortcoming, thus losing her respect.

NOT EVEN SERIOUSLY INJURED

A cowpuncher ordered a steak at a restaurant. The waiter brought it in—rare—very rare. The cowpuncher looked at it and demanded that it be returned to the kitchen and cooked.

"Tis cooked," snapped the waiter.

"Cooked—" said our friend the puncher. "I've seen critters hurt worse than that and get well."
