TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT 10:00

The College is making preparations to entertain 250 high school seniors throughout central Kansas during the high school festival to be held Saturday. In conjunction with the festival a high school tennis tournament will be sponsored by the College.

Yesterday afternoon 40 entries had been registered at the Deans office for the tennis tourney, with indications that this total may swell before play gets under way Saturday morning. The College will give gold medals to the winners in both the singles and the doubles. The tournament is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock in the morning.

In the evening at six-thirty o'clock the College will act as host to approximately 250 high school seniors to a banquet that has become an annual affair for a number of years. Prof. J. Hugh Heckman will act as toastmaster and toasts will be given by John Lehman, president of the Student Council, and Dean R. E. Mohler. Mrs. Anna C. Tate will sing a vocal solo and Miss Margaret Shelley will conduct an orchestra that will play during the banquet. The Ladies' quartet of the College will assist with the program.

The banquet will be held in the parlors of the Church of the Brethren.

FORMER M.C. PROFESSOR TELLS OF METEORITES

H. H. Nininger Describes Stones That Fell In Mexico

In a recent pamphlet published by the Colorado Museum of Natural History, two previously undescribed meteorites are discussed by Prof. H. H. Nininger, formerly of McPherson college who is now connected with the Colorado museum in charge of the meteorite division.

The description covers two meteorites that Professor Nininger examined and classified for the Mexico City Museum last year when he visited that country in search of new finds. Professor Nininger is fast gaining national recognition as one of the best versed authorities on meteorites in the United States.

KEITH HAYES, SENIOR, WINS FIRST IN THE STATE PEACE ORATORICAL CONTEST

Awarded Prize of $60 at Contest Held at Ottawa University—Harold Hanner of Southwest Comes in for Second Place

RECEIVES UNANIMOUS VOTE

In Last Eight Years M. C. Has Won Four First Places—To Enter National Contest

Ottawa, Kan., April 17—Keith Hayes, senior at McPherson college, took first prize and a $60 award tonight in the state Peace Oratorical contest sponsored by Ottawa university.

Harold Hanner of Southwest college was awarded second place and a prize of $40. Entries of Bethel, Friends, and Sterling colleges finished third, fourth and fifth respectively.

Mr. Hayes' victory is convincing in that he was the unanimous selection of all the coaches for first place. The coaches of the colleges served as the judges, each coach being barred from voting for his own contestant. With Coach Maurice A. Hess not judging all the others gave the McPherson entry first place.

In the last eight years McPherson has won first place on four occasions, has taken two second places, and one third and one fourth. In the same number of years the College peace orators in competition with 21 states has secured first place in the national contest, won by John Lehman, '31, and national champion is based upon the grading of the orations on thought and composition. Mr. Hayes has entered his oration in the national contest.

HELEN DEARMAND HURT IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Sixteen Stitches Taken To Close Wound On Her Head

Sat., April 18—Helen DeArmand, freshman, was injured painfully but not seriously tonight in an automobile accident on East Euclid about 10:30 o'clock. Miss DeArmand was taken to the McPherson County Hospital where she was treated for her injuries, eight stitches being required to close the wound on her forehead and eight stitches on the back of her head.

The car in which Miss DeArmand was riding was going east on Euclid when a car in front of them either attempted to turn around or else drive into a drive way on the left side of the road without any warning to them. They were going at a rate which prevented them from stopping and they were forced to crash into the other car. In the crash Miss DeArmand went through the windshield and her injuries were sustained by flying glass.

Others riding in the car received only minor bruises. Neither car was damaged to any great extent.

Following the banquet the entire group enjoyed a campfire service.

The Sunday program continued the theme of "The Christian Quest," Dr. V. F. Schwalm gave another talk on "The Unsolved Needs of the World."

McPHERSON COLLEGE TO CONDUCT MODEL SCHOOL

Summer School To Have Third And Fourth Grades For Practice Teachers

MISS FEE TO BE IN CHARGE

Hess To Give Review For The County Examination—Offer Art And Handwork For Teachers

McPherson college will again conduct a "model" grade school during the summer sessions for the purpose of training prospective teachers. The number of children to be used this summer is limited.

Last summer the campus school accommodated 30 children selected for the second and third grades. It is the present plans to enroll children for the summer session who are eligible for grades three and four.

The model school proved one of the most interesting as well as one of the most popular extensions of the summer session curriculum. Miss Mary Fee, the supervisor and critic teacher of last year, will again direct this phase of the educational department.

Prof. Maurice A. Hess will give a review of the common branches, preparatory to the county examinations. There will be available the usual handwork and art for teachers as well as a liberal offering of regular college courses under some of the most capable college instructors.

WET WEATHER SLOWS UP TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Gottman Leading In Upper And Binford In Lower Bracket

Because of the inclement weather during the last few days the men's tennis tournament has been slowed up considerably and it will be a few days yet before the courts are dry enough to play on.

In the singles in the upper bracket Gottman is leading and in the lower Binford is taking the lead, Gottman having advanced to the semi-finals. In the doubles Fleming and Gottman have advanced to the semi-finals in the lower bracket, the upper bracket not having been completed.

DAN CUPID, A. B.

Rita S. Halle, who writes of American college life, while on a tour of educational institutions last year noticed the number of apparently happy marriages among the alumni. Like the reporter she is, Miss Halle became curious and set out to find some facts.

She found that while in the past 29 years there has been a rapid increase in the divorce rate—it having increased from one divorce in twelve marriages in 1900 to one divorce in every six marriages in 1929—the divorce rate among college alumni has remained fairly constant at one divorce in 75 marriages.

The divorce rate in Kansas in 1929 was one divorce in 5.1 marriages. Among the matches made on Kansas college campuses, there is only one divorce in each one hundred. Thus the records of Kansas colleges seem to justify their nickname of "match factories." At least, the matches made in them have nineteen times better chance of proving successful than off-brand matches made elsewhere.

There is nothing magic about the college atmosphere. College education is training for a marriage, as it is training for life of which marriage is a part. The majority of successful marriages are among men and women with similar backgrounds, similar tastes and interests, and mutual friends. Thus it happens that marriages made in colleges are usually happy ones.—Washburn Review.

STUDENTS MORE CONSERVATIVE

During the school year of 1930-31 the students of McPherson college have been conducting a more conservative program in regards to the activities of the year. Such a program has been deemed necessary in order that students might better face the economic conditions that have hindered many of them throughout the term. Banquets have been abandoned that students might save a little money. Class dues have been lowered, in some cases, that students might meet them. Such moves on the part of the student indicates their ability to meet conditions as they are.

AND THEN THERE WERE TWELVE

The reigns of sovereign rulers throughout the world have met with depression along with business. The roster of sovereign rulers grows shorter with abdication of King Alfonso of Spain, and each year sees new trends toward democracy.

Today we have but twelve major monarchy heads left. The most well known of this group is probably King George V of England. Others include Albert of Belgium, Victor Emmanuel of Italy, Gustaf of Sweden, Haakon of Norway, Christian of Denmark, Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, Carol of Rumania, Hirohito of Japan, Boris of Bulgaria, Prajadhipok of Siam, and Ras Tafari of Abyssinia.

Down through the centuries sovereign rulers have not fared so easily. Wars and civil strife have brought about abductions of kings. Pomp and ceremony has been the dignity and the habitual custom of the kings court. In later years kings have sort of held the place of an ornamental decoration, to receive guests of foreign countries and to be a factor in hero worship in the eyes of their subjects.

ON BEAUTIFYING THE CAMPUS

As the flowers begin to bloom and the trees to green, one feels a new thrill of life surge through his veins as one revels in the beauty that surrounds him. The campus becomes a living, growing thing, its beauty more apparent than ever. The color of dainty spring dresses and the vigor of white shirtsleeves accentuate the pulsing beauty of springtime. One cannot help but admire the beautiful campus, and one wishes that more could be done to increase its beauty—yet we neglect such a small thing that could so easily be done.

Why must the campus have cars lined up all about the driveway which circles in front of the Administration building? They are not attractive. They give that part of the campus which should be most attractive the appearance of a business street or a fair ground. Why aren't parking grounds furnished a short distance away and then everyone park at this definite place? Why can't the driveways be beautified by removing the wall of spare tires, trunks and rumble-seats which line it? Other colleges do it! Why doesn't McPherson? —Enthusiastic Scribe.

ON THE PREMATURE SLAMMING OF BOOKS

One of the chief things which mark the cultured person is courtesy. It is a character trait which exemplifies the higher ideals of McPherson college.

However, courtesy, like the culture of which it is a part, cannot be donned and doffed according to circumstances. Once acquired, it ought to become permanent.

In most cases upon the sound of the closing whistle students suddenly lose interest in anything which the instructor or a fellow student may be saying or doing, close their text books with a bang, and assume a position on the edge of their chairs, as if their lives depended upon getting out of the room within ten seconds.

Why not do the courteous thing, and be a less precipitate in our escape from class rooms?—D.R.

Some people have found the key to success but haven't located the key hole.

A high hay may get you by in New York, but in a hick town they insist on knowing what's under it.

When water becomes ice, the greatest change is in the price.

King Alfonso says he hasn't lost a bit of his power. He only left town because he can't use it any more.

The mind of the truly good changes often; but the heart never.

SPECULATIONS of a PECULATOR

According to Dan West it is what a man does after 7:00 p. m. that makes or breaks him, and we "Spec" he is about right.

Professor Blair was trying to arouse the reasoning powers of his School Ad class as to why we needed changes is present day life.

"Now my mother did not know anything about balanced diet or vitamins or the like, and we seemed to have developed pretty well."

The class laughed in agreement. "Well, you may laugh," continued the professor, "but I'm the smallest one of the bunch."

We "Spec" things have not been so green since the Freshmen came last fall. Of course, we are referring to their caps.

Is it any wonder that most of us are nervous wrecks? For instance, a class on Friday had the following interruptions:

Class for 10 minutes. Knock at door. Professor goes to door, and goes out. Some could hardly see the President outside. Conference. Professor returns. Miss X goes out. Class recitation several minutes. Door opens and Miss X returns to her place. Class picks up interest again. Knock at the door. Professor goes to door and opens it. Students can't tell who is there. Professor comes back. Miss X goes out. Class barely gets started off again. Door opens. Miss X returns to her place, but she looks slightly worn out. Class tries to take up thread of thought again, but can't quite do it. Here one girl has to enter and leave the class three times in one hour, while the students are exhausted by curiosity. Is it any wonder we are nervous wrecks?

If you are a Senior and feeling snooty you may hear the following:

"Have you got your school yet?"
"Sure, that was easy."
"How much do you get?"
"I get $175, and I get to teach just what I wanted. The school buildings keen, and the school board was easy to talk to, ah—"

Then your best friend will punch you in the ribs and you'll try to answer the question that was fired at you by the teacher, who does not appreciate what a good time you were having.

DIRECTOR OF BRETHERN YOUNG PEOPLE SPEAKS

Dan West Uses Chemicals To Illustrate His Chapel Address

Mon., April 20—Dan West, director of the young people's work in the Church of the Brethren, spoke in chapel this morning. For illustrative materials he used an iron ring, two bottles of chemicals and two pieces of balling wire.

"Some people's thinking is like an iron ring, small and bounded; quite narrow," said Mr. West. "There are some advantages of this type of mind; it has poise; a narrow stream cuts deeply. Learning breaks the ring. Do not despise the ring."

"Others have the chemical reaction minds. When placed together the chemicals produce a gas which passes off into the air. This type of mind has freedom, it can go any where, but it does not have poise. It's a poor trade to trade poise for freedom."

THE DOPE BUCKET

When you are standing on the sidelines watching a track meet in which the Bulldogs are entered and during the 440 yard dash and the mile relay you will be certain to notice a McPherson contestant who at the start of the race is behind all his competitors. For nearly three-fourths of the way around the track he will be last man. And then on the last curve he takes the lead by passing his man on the curve and wins the race by at least ten yards. The winner is certain to be McPherson's new find, a Tennessee lad by the name of McGill.

In looking over the Kansas conference track and field records in the past, those that are still standing, one finds that McPherson holds two records that have not as yet been bettered. The records as they now stand are:

- Mile—Hoygard, Baker, 4:25.2, made in 1927.
- 440—Lidlkay, Baker, 48.3, made in 1925.
- 100—Puckett, McPherson, 1:19.1, made in 1928.
- High Hurdles—Walker, Baker, 15.4, made in 1930.
- 800—Holsington, Wesleyan, 1:58.5, made in 1928.
- 220—Puckett, McPherson, 2:24, made in 1928.
- Two Mile—Wharton, Baker, 14:9, made in 1928.
- Low Hurdles—Walker, Baker, 25, made in 1930.
- Mile Relay—Baker, 3:25.5, made in 1926.
- Pole Vault—Wolcast, Ottawa, 11 feet 10 inches, made in 1930.
- High Jump—Barnes, Bethany, 6 feet, 3/4 inch, made in 1924.
- Shot—Lange, Baker, 45 feet, made in 1930.
- Discus—Lange, Baker, 133 feet 2 inches, made in 1930.
- Broad Jump—Wolcast, Ottawa, 22 feet, 7 3/4 inches, made in 1927.
- Javelin—Young, Baker, 170 feet, 7 inches, made in 1928.

YOU CAN'T GET BIG BY THINKING SMALL

Have you stopped to think why some men are great
While other men just stay small?
The big men think big, and then they do big—
It's just how you think, that's all.

If you think Success, you'll have success—
Provided you also do,
And follow your thoughts with the kind of work
That is going to make it true.

But you can't get big by thinking small,
And you can only go as far
As your constant thoughts and daily deeds
For just as you think—you are.

For the men who rise in the things that count
Have an inspiration true
And keep their thoughts on the goal ahead—
Then work with that end in view.

So watch your thoughts and watch them fit
Whatever you'd like to see
For as you think you are bound to live,
So whatever you think, you'll be.

M. C. TRACKSTERS MEET BETHEL COLLEGE HERE

To Journey to St. Mary's on Tuesday, April 28

Tomorrow afternoon the McPherson tracksters and racket yielders will pit their strength against the teams from Bethel college, Newton, on the McPherson field.

Yesterday McPherson was scheduled to have a track and field and tennis meet with Bethany college, but due to the inclement weather the meet was called off. It is not known yet if the dual meet is to be held or not, but if it is held it will probably be only the tennis matches.

Next Tuesday Coach Melvin J. Binford will take his track and tennis teams to St. Mary's for a dual meet with the Irish. Last year the Bulldogs defeated St. Mary's on the McPherson field. Just who will make this trip is not known yet.

NEW W. A. A. OFFICERS IN MAY 4

Mon., April 20—At a meeting of the W. A. A. tonight it was decided to have the installation services for the officers of the organization for 1931-32 at the next regular meeting, which will be Monday night, May 4.

THE WAY TO WIN

It takes a little courage
And a little self control
And some grim determination
If you want to reach the goal;
It takes a deal of striving
With a firm and stern set chin,
No matter what the battle,
If you're really out to win.

There's no easy path to glory
There's no easy road to fame;
Life, however we may view it,
Is no simple parlor game;
But its prizes call for fighting,
For endurance and for grit,
With a rugged disposition,
And a "don't-know-where-to-quit."

You must take a blow or give one.
You must risk and you must live.
And expect that in the struggle
You will suffer from a bruise.
But you mustn't wince or falter
If a fight you once begin.
Be a man and face the battle—
That's the only way to win.

NORTHWESTERN'S NEW PLAN OFFERS A CHALLENGE FOR ONE'S SELF-DEVELOPMENT

New Plan to Affect the Entire University—To Take Effect This Fall—"We Need Opportunity, Not System," Says President Robert M. Hutchins.

BY EDNA NYQUIST

Is college a place "where pebbles are polished and diamonds are dimmed" as the Daily Northwestern quotes Robert Ingersoll as saying?

There certainly won't be any deliberate dimming in the new Chicago university plan which will probably start next fall. Pres. Robert M. Hutchins of the University said, "We need opportunity, not system" and that is exactly what they are attempting to give their students.

The University will be divided into five divisions and the professional schools. The divisions will be the college, humanities, and the social, biological, and physical sciences.

The aim of the college will be to give the student the general knowledge and the background necessary to enter one of the other divisions or a professional school. He will be given comprehensive examinations any time after he has been in school one quarter of a term. The average student will probably be able to pass the tests after he has been in college for two years, the brilliant student sooner and the slow student later.

Preparations for the examinations will be made in the manner best suited to each individual. He will not be required to pass any courses and he will not be graded. If he chooses, he may attend classes, which will usually be lectures built on the same lines as the four upper divisions. The instructors and the dean of the college will keep records of his progress and he may have all the advice he desires. He will be given a general idea from the beginning as to the examination questions and they will serve as a challenge and guide so that he will not waste time.

The examinations will include at least three types, multiple choice, and short answer, essay type, problem type, and in doubtful cases a supplementary oral examination.

A student may take the examinations several times, in fact as many times as he desires until he becomes what they call a "nuisance."

After passing the examinations he may enter a professional school, one of the upper divisions or make an honorable exit from the school. In order to get the bachelors, masters, or doctors degree in the new plan, it will be necessary that the student have the recommendations of the whole division, not just one department as heretofore. The professional schools will also be affected in that the length of time taken to complete the course will depend on the capacity of the individual.

Thus the plan will affect the entire university. It has not been completely worked out as yet but will genfeller, and Miss Margaret Shelley, all of the department of music of the College.

The first award in voice, piano and violin in the adult division will be a $25 music scholarship. Second award will be $12.50 scholarship.

The first award in the juvenile division is an $18 scholarship and a $9 scholarship for the second. Each contestant will receive a 10 percent reduction on any music course he enrolls in in the College.

"There were 29 contestants last year," said Miss Jessie Brown, head of the piano department, "and prospects are that there will be more this year."

LOST BOOKS

The fact that so few books are really lost, speaks well for the spirit of co-operation among the users of the library. This spirit is especially appreciated by the library staff and it is because we believe in this spirit that we venture to make this appeal. Some have evidently become careless about signing cards for books. While this takes but a moment it may save hours of search on the part of the library staff and of your fellow students. In addition to a number of books missing among the short stories there are two books which a concerted effort on the part of the student body should bring to light. They are Shepherd's Historical Atlas, and Meanwell's Science of Basketball for Men. Both of these have been missing for some time. A book out of place is a lost book. Will you help us to find these books?
MARGARET HECKETHORNE,
Librarian.

KINDY AND AUSTIN REACH SEMI-FINALS

Upper Bracket In Horse-shoe Tournament Is Nearly Played

The horseshoe tournament like the tennis torney has been hindered a great deal by the wet weather. In the upper bracket Kindy and Austin have advanced to the semi-finals, but Austin is away on a quartet tour and will not be back until the first of the week. Those still in the play in the lower bracket are Bitikofer, Yoder, Nelson, Williams, McAvoy, O'Brien, Bowers, Hutchinson, and Larsen.

STUDENTS TAKE FIRST

Students of Miss Floy Brown, B.S. '29, who teaches in the science department at Ellinwood, won first place in a scholarship contest in physics conducted in the high schools of Lorraine, Pawnee Rock, Holyrood, Clifton, and Ellinwood. One of Miss Brown's students took first place, another second, and the median of her class was highest.
