BULLDOGS WIN NON-CONFERENCE GAME FROM MENNONITES FRIDAY ON LOCAL GRIDIRON

Pass and Plow Through Bethel Line for Touchdowns in First and Second Periods—Carpenter Takes Ball Across Twice

BULLDOGS 13, BETHEL 0

Haws Is Put Out for Season by Dislocated Elbow on Second Play

Wed., Nov. 18—The McPherson college Bulldogs, paced by the flashy Carpenter, won a non-conference game from the Bethel Graymaroons here this afternoon by a 13 to 0 score.

McPherson received the kick-off and went through the Mennonite line for some nice gains, but were stopped about five yards short of the goal. Bethel punted out and Carpenter, Bulldog safety, caught the punt on a dead run and a burst of speed, sidestepping, dodging, straight-arming, along with fine interference on the part of his teammates brought about the first McPherson score. Wiggins kicked the goal, making the score 7 to 0 in favor of the Bulldogs.

The McPherson eleven continued its drive during the entire first half and in the second quarter the Bulldogs scored another touchdown. This time the ball had been worked into scoring position by the long gains made by Eugene Anderson and Carpenter, and by some pretty passes thrown by Wiggins to Rex Anderson and Binford. Carpenter went around end for the second touchdown on a five yard sprint. The try for point failed.

In the third quarter Bethel opened up with her passing attack and outplayed the Bulldogs throughout this period. Along with some nice passes the Mennonites made some good gains through the line with Stucky and Cunningham doing most of the ground gaining. Bethel never seriously threatened to score, but got to the eighteen yard line where the Bulldogs took the ball on downs.

In the last quarter the Bulldogs again took the upper hand and went through the Bethel line repeatedly for substantial gains. The McPherson passing machine was also working well. Binford made a number of good runs around the end and Eugene Anderson was going through the line for short gains. McPherson went to the three yard line where the ball was lost on downs. Bethel punted out, but Blame, substitute for Carpenter, returned the ball twenty yards. A nice pass from Wiggins to Moore was good for nine yards and the Bulldogs were in scoring position again. Some short gains through the line and around end made another first down and the game ended with McPherson in possession of the ball on the three yard line and first and goal to go.

The entire McPherson team played well and McPherson's passing attack proved about as effective as that of the Mennonites. Wiggins threw most of the passes with R. Anderson, Binford, and Moore on the receiving end. McPherson, by playing straight football, outplayed the opponents in all but the third quarter. Haws, McPherson quarterback, suffered a dislocated elbow in the second play of

BULLDOGS WILL MEET THE TERRIBLE SWEDES

Annual Turkey Day Classic Tomorrow at 2:30 P. M.

DOPE SHOWS EVEN MATCH

Swedes Will Rely on the Strength of Their Heavy Line

Tomorrow afternoon is the big football game of the season—the Annual Turkey Day grudge game between the fighting Bulldogs and the "Terrible Swedes." Enthusiasm on the campus is running high as the annual classic draws near.

The Swedes have a powerful team this year with their main strength lying in their line, which averages almost 190 pounds to the man. The backfield has been handicapped all season owing to injuries, but the Swede ball-luggers are in good condition for the Thanksgiving game. Captain Pedigo, an all-conference man last year, is fast at backing the ball and also a good punter. E. Anderson, a freshman on the Bethany team, has been held down by injuries and is considered a fast ball carrier and will be a threat to the Bulldogs. In the line the Swedes have two great defensive men in Toews, giant tackle, and Harsho, twice an all-conference guard.

Tomorrow's game will be the last game in which Captain Keck, Countryman, Mowbray, and Hochstrasser will wear the Red and White. Coach Binford stated Monday morning that there is likely to be some changes in the starting lineup owing to the activity of the team this week. Bulldog followers are expecting the Canine linemen to hold off the charges thrown at the forward wall, and are looking for the backs to show the Swedes a real offensive threat.

Dope in this game, as in time past, will mean nothing, but comparative scores of other games show McPherson and Bethany to be matched on fairly even terms as far as the dope indicates. All that can be predicted now is that if the Bulldogs are traveling in their best form the Terrible Swedes are destined to meet a great battle.

It is generally understood that the Bulldogs have worked out a new set of plays and if the field is in anything approaching good condition the spectators can expect to see the McPherson team flash some plays which are certain to haffle their opponents.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral services of "Friend Swede", who so recently passed away (death resulting from injuries received in his annual duel with Oscar Bulldog), will be held in the M. C. chapel this evening at 6:30, with cheer leaders Doyle and Harris officiating. Special music will be rendered by the audience.

After the ceremony the mourners will go in a body to the burial ground just north of the campus where cremation will take place.

The public is heartily invited, yet respectfully urged to be present at this great and effective service. Bring your hankies and "Moan your Moaners!"

Certain thoughts are prayers. There are moments when, whatever be the attitude of the body, the soul is on its knees.—Victor Hugo.

PLANS MADE FOR FILMING MOTION PICTURE ON M. C. CAMPUS NEXT FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27

Will Reveal Results of Dr. Hershey's Experiments on Components of the Atmosphere—Covers 10 years of Work

W. S. G. CONTINUES ITS STUDY OF MISSIONS

Thurs., Nov. 19—The World Service Group continued its discussion of mission service, in the meeting tonight. It was brought out in a former discussion that, because they felt they did not have sufficient ability, a number of those present had ceased to consider a life of mission service. The validity of this reason was considered. The qualities and necessary abilities of a Christian missionary were also discussed.

DR. V. F. SCHWALM DELIVERS ADDRESS

Reviews Speeches by Prominent Educators and Statesmen

Fri., Nov. 20—During the regular assembly today President V. F. Schwalm gave brief reviews of speeches by Glenn Frank, John H. Holmes, and John O'Ryan.

Glenn Frank gave three features of today's civilization. There was a pre-war paganism which was not wholesome, but perverted, although the world claimed to be Christian. During the war the world indulged in spiritual idealism, a sort of death-bed repentance. People believed the war would bring lasting peace; a spiritual regeneration. Since the war there has been an epidemic of cynicism. People have lost faith in the adoption of nationalism. Lawlessness is the reaction to the humdrum living since the war days.

John Haynes Holmes, leader of the Humanist movement in America, spoke on "Russia and World Peace." He said that by now Russia is convinced that a communistic nation and capitalistic nations can exist, but although she herself is interested in peace she believes the capitalistic states are seeking to destroy her. Consequently they are fully armed but for defense and not aggression. As a movement toward peace, Russia should be recognized by the United States and allowed to come into the League of Nations on an equal basis.

John O'Ryan said that armament is progressing as never before and that the United States has increased her appropriations steadily since the war, along with other nations.

Dr. Schwalm concluded that it is highly probable that there may be another war in five or ten years unless some action is taken about disarmament. This problem concerns all young people to a great extent. This meaningful talk was followed by a saxophone solo by Charles Smith, accompanied by Pauline Dell. He played "Waltz Vauite," and an encore, "Memories of France."

NEW LITERATURE SERIES IS ADDED TO LIBRARY

New books added to the library recently are: "English Literature" by Garnet and Gosse with supplementary material by John Erskine; "Paper Finds Many New Uses," put out by the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment company; "New Discoveries Relating to the Antiquity of Man" by Sir Arthur Keith; "Modern Educational Theories" by Rode; "Social Behavior of Insects" by Imms; and "Mendelism and Evolution" by Tord. The last two are from the Dial Press Monographs on Biological Subjects series.

"English Literature" comes in four volumes and contains 1211 illustrations. This history begins with early Saxon and Norman documents down to Massfield and Yeats. Besides the new uses of paper explained in "Paper Finds Many New Uses," there is a brief but authentic history of paper.

The magazine "Mental Hygiene" is also a new addition to the library.

HERSHEY PREPARES PAPER

Will be Presented at Meeting of American Association, for Advancement of Science

Sat., Nov. 21—Next Friday, November 27, a motion picture is to be filmed on the McPherson college campus, according to present plans. The picture is to be taken in the private chemistry laboratory of Dr. J. Willard Hershey by E. C. Dent of the Kansas University Extension Division, a man who specializes in visual instruction work.

This film is to cover all of the experimentation and research work done by Dr. Hershey and his assistants during the last ten years on the components of the atmosphere. Most of the experiments relate to the rare gases and their relation to animal life. The film has been requested by the general secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, to be shown at the annual meeting of the society at New Orleans the week of December 28.

Dr. Hershey is to be aided in the making of the motion picture by the following chemistry students: Fern Heckman, Ralph Keedy, Attilia Anderson, Walter Wollman, Esther Brown, Vernon Gustafson, Walton Smith, and Mildred Doyle.

In addition Dr. Hershey has been asked to prepare a paper relating to his work on animal life entitled, "The Components of the Atmosphere in Relation to Animal Life," to be presented at the New Orleans meeting. This paper is to fit in with a symposium on gases which is being prepared by a number of prominent scientists. In it Dr. Hershey will give only the results of his more recent experiments along this line, whereas the film is to show all of the work which has been done in the McPherson college chemistry laboratories on the subject.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science is a national society of all the sciences, and thousands of papers are read each year at its meetings by outstanding men of science.

DEAN R. E. MOHLER GIVES HELPFUL TALK

Subject of Address is "Out of the Jungles"

Mon., Nov. 23—"Out of the Jungles" was the title which Dean R. E. Mohler gave to his chapel address his morning. He mentioned three particular kinds of jungles in which men find themselves, namely, the jungles of material things, intellectual jungles, and religious jungles.

Dean Mohler said that we are partly out of the jungles so far as material things are concerned, since modern science and discovery have lightened our tasks and pointed out new ways of achieving freedom. The intellectual jungles are mostly a matter of personal concern, as each one for himself must consider his intellectual welfare, and get out of the universal intellectual jungle by individual effort. The religious jungles are also more or less personal. Dean Mohler reminded students of the excellent opportunities they have while in college to cultivate spiritual values.

In conclusion he said, "The soul that finds itself living outside the jungles is worth ten thousand souls who still live within them."

CHOIR ENTERTAINED AT WILBUR HOME

Thurs., Nov. 19—About twenty-five members of the College Church choir met at the home of R. M. Wilbur on College Hill following the regular choir practice this evening for a social. The guests enjoyed a number of games, and light refreshments were served.

BUT WHERE ARE THE NINE?

Three hundred years ago a little band of pioneers gathered together on the New England coast to celebrate the first Thanksgiving service. According to our present standards these people had little to be thankful for. They had been driven from their homes and native country through severe persecution because of their willingness to stand by the dictates of their conscience. Finally as a last resort they had set sail for the new land in the west where they hoped to find freedom of spirit and conscience. Their struggles to set up and maintain homes in New England is a story of constant privation and sorrow, and far from the original number of pilgrims were present to take part in this first Thanksgiving celebration. The service itself had to be carried out under the ever-present danger of attack by murderous Indians. Nevertheless our undaunted forefathers gratefully praised God and thanked Him for the blessings of a good harvest, His protection over them, and the new freedom of spirit which they enjoyed.

Today America has changed. We are the richest nation in the world, and the sons of these poor pioneers are living, for the most part, in comparative comfort if not in luxury. We have everything for which these people gave thanks, and countless other privileges, possessions, and abilities of which they never dreamed. We can worship as we please, we can enjoy the advantages of public education, we have a republican government of and by the people, we can make use of all the developments of science. And yet, how many are truly thankful for these things?

We complain about the weather. We talk about a depression, and wonder if prices will ever go up again. Endowed with good health, we wish that we could play football or tennis like a professional. Gasoline costs too much for our automobiles. We have to study too hard, and the college doesn't furnish enough social events to keep us entertained. Stock prices go down, with the result that we must switch from thirty to fifteen-cent cigars. The government is going to the dogs, and we wish a change in the administration would restore prosperity.

Finally for one day in November we get together with family and relatives and say a few words of thanks for the food prepared, the blessings of the past year, health and strength, and straightway proceed to forget such things for a year.

We need to take stock of our situations daily, and while trying to make it better is possible we should be grateful for what we do have. After all, the Pollyanna attitude is often a rather wholesome way to look at life.

"And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, with a loud voice glorifying God; . . . and Jesus answering said, Were not the ten cleansed? but where are the nine?"

Y. M. C. A. THEME IS PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT

Every young man enrolled in McPherson college should be interested in developing the highest type of personality and character.

For the past two weeks we have dealt with the subject of Personality Development, and will continue the series for four more weeks. The subjects left for discussion are as follows:

1. Inferiority and Superiority complexes.
2. The Egotist.
3. The Fascinating Personality.
4. As a Man Thinketh, So Is He.

Two meetings in this series have already been ably conducted by Dean Regjole. The first was Social Ease and Poise, and the second on the Integrated Life.

These meetings will all be worth your while and should be of value in your personality development. Come out and see for yourself.—K. H.

"IF I WERE KING" A BIG SUCCESS

For many months, members of the McPherson Little Theater unit have been working faithfully on the great play by Justin Huntly McCarthy, "If I Were King".

Thursday and Friday, November 19 and 20, citizens of McPherson and surrounding towns were privileged to see the two casts under the able direction of Mr. Jack Oelrich, in this production.

The play was in four acts, three sets of scenery made by Mr. Oelrich, assisted by his cast, being used. The first scene was laid in an inn, with the king, his companion, Huguetta du Hamel, and Francois Villon playing the leading roles.

The second and third acts were effectively presented in the garden of the King's palace, and the fourth act was an outdoor scene near the gallows which were prepared for the hanging of Master Francois.

For the past few weeks, the two casts have been having alternate practices each night, and only through these faithful efforts of both Mr. Oelrich and his players was such a success possible.

The playmakers have received much approval not only from local townspeople, but also from visiting critics of other cities.

The Crossroad Playmakers is a dramatic organization which was organized only a year ago. It has been the cause of new interest in the study and presentation of dramatics.—V. D.

Y. W. WOMEN HAVE A QUAKER GATHERING

Tues. Nov. 24—The Y. W. C. A. meeting this morning was in the form of a Quaker gathering. Everyone entered quietly and proceeded to chairs which were arranged in rows in the center of the room. The benediction was spoken in unison. Dorothy Drescher, Leota Oakes, Odessa Crist, and Adelyn Taylor gave their reasons for being thankful. Attilla Anderson read a prayer of Thanksgiving.

Gulah Hoover, accompanied by Lois Edwards, sang "Thanks Be to God."

CRUMBS THAT FALL

"I'm glad that's over," said the kicker as the football dropped over the crossbar.

Experience is like all other teachers—she seems to have a lot of pupils who will never learn anything.

Happy indeed is the person who can obtain pleasure from the simpler things of life.

In life's advance,
This motto heed:

It is easy enough to make a noise in the world; getting an encore is where the rub comes in.

Too many people say it this way: "Get thee behind me, Satan—and push me along."

FOUR SENIOR MEN TO PLAY THEIR LAST GAME

Keck, Hochstrasser, Mowbray and Countryman Due to Graduate

Four senior men, including Captain Elmer Keck, Herbert Hochstrasser, Herbert Mowbray, and Orville Countryman, will be playing their last game with the Bulldogs tomorrow afternoon against the Bethany Swedes.

Keck has played hard for the team during the four years he has been at McPherson. He was fast on his feet and could tackle hard, and on the strength of his fighting spirit and ability he was elected by his team mates to lead the team this year.

Hochstrasser has been designated as one of the fastest ends in the Kansas Conference, and last fall was chosen as end on the All-Kansas Conference Mythical team. His ability to stab passes and his fighting spirit are additional factors in his value to the team.

Mowbray has proved to be a valuable asset to the Bulldog line by hard tackling and a consistent spirit to get in and fight. Last year, playing at center, he created for himself a berth on the first team by his accurate passes and ability to hold the opposing line.

Countryman last year started the season at guard and held the position throughout the season, and was voted the most valuable player by his team mates. This year he continued to fight in every game in his characteristic way, and will be a distinct loss to the Bulldogs after his graduation.

WESLEYAN NOW LEADS CONFERENCE STANDINGS

Ottawa Upsets Bethany Swedes by Score of 6 to 0

Mon., Nov. 23—The undefeated Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes now hold undisputed possession of the Kansas Conference football leadership as a result of last week's game.

Ottawa university defeated Bethany college Friday by a score of 6 to 0, putting Ottawa and Bethany in a tie for second place with each having a percentage of .500. Wesleyan lost a non-conference encounter to Rockhurst college 7 to 0. McPherson college was the victor of Bethel college to the tune of 13 to 0, in a non-conference game at McPherson.

Two Thanksgiving games this week complete the Kansas Conference schedule, Ottawa having already played all of her loop games. Baker meets Kansas Wesleyan at Salina Thursday, and McPherson and Bethany will fight it out at the McPherson field.

Kansas Conference standings:

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Wesleyan	2	0	1	1.000
Ottawa	2	2	0	.500
Bethany	1	1	1	.500
McPherson	1	2	0	.333
Baker	1	2	0	.333

BEAT THE SWEDS!

The Bulldogs sent the Mennonites home on the short end of a 13-0 score and did not have to use very many plays to do it either. McPherson was within the five yard line three times during the first half and failed to score. Twice the Graymaroons held the Bulldogs for downs, and once a McPherson fumble was recovered by Bethel. In the last half the Bulldogs were within three yards of the goal just as the game ended. This time the Bulldogs had four downs in which to put it across, but the timer's whistle brought a halt to this final drive.

Haws was injured in the second play of the game and will undoubtedly be unable to play in the Swede game. Binford, who suffered a broken nose in the game at Ottawa the week previous, went in at quarterback and played a good game. He carried the ball for some sizable gains and was also on the receiving end of some passes. Rex Anderson and Moore also received part of Wiggins' accurate passes.

Carpenter, Wiggins, and Eugene Anderson also played their usual good game in the McPherson backfield. When McPherson scored her second touchdown of the game, Zinn, big guard of the Bulldog line, had considerable to do with it. Just as Carpenter got to the line of scrimmage it looked as though either of two Bethel men would tackle him, but Zinn threw his big body into them and blocked them both out of the play. The entire line was playing a good game against Bethel. Over twenty men got into the game for the Bulldogs. Moore, Blume, Kim, and Gaeddart all turned in some nice plays while they were in the game.

Well, eight of the Bulldogs' opponents have been met and Kansas Wesleyan is the only team that managed to win over the Bulldogs by more than a one touchdown margin. However, the big game of the season is yet to be played. McPherson has met every opponent with steadily improving strength, and the climax of the season will be the Swede-Bulldog game tomorrow afternoon.

Dope in this game means nothing as games in the past have proved. The Swedes surprised the conference by holding the Wesleyan team to a scoreless tie some weeks ago and in the years previous the Swedes have always played their best football against the Coyotes and the Bulldogs. The dope (if there is any) puts the Bulldogs and the Swedes on about even terms, and we think that McPherson has the best chance to win that she has had in many years—BEAT THE SWEDS!

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN RECOGNIZES HERSHEY

Article on "Synthetic Atmospheres" Records His Experiments

Mon., Nov. 23—Dr. J. Willard Hershey has received the recognition of having an article concerning his work in the current December issue of the Scientific American. The piece is entitled "Synthetic Atmospheres".

It tells of the carefully conducted experiments by Dr. Hershey and his assistants covering the work of the last eight years, in which he produced a wide range of "synthetic atmospheres" and noted the effects on animals confined in them.

One of the surprising results of the tests is that animals confined in oxygen and nitrogen alone, in the normal proportions, cannot live but a few days, without carbon dioxide and the other rare gases, helium, neon, krypton, and so forth. On the contrary an atmosphere of 79% helium and 21% oxygen permitted animal life to exist even better than normally. A large number of experiments also were made with varying mixtures of oxygen and nitrogen. The article indicated the wide field of possibilities for the application of Dr. Hershey's discoveries in such things as deep-sea diving, mines, submarines, aeronautics, and ventilation of buildings.

DEAN REPLOGLIE SPEAKS ON "INTEGRATED LIFE"

Tues., Nov. 24—"The Integrated Life" was the subject of the second Y. M. C. A. program on personality development which took place this morning, with Dean F. A. Replogle as the speaker.

Dean Replogle said that integration was a process rather than a bond between various factors. He told of how a student's degree of integration in thinking is revealed by the kind of work he does. There may also be good integration or lack of it in activities, or in various other social areas.

The speaker said that there are different levels of integration, and gave pneumonia as an example of even negative integration. He said that religion is the basis and motive of most of our coordination and integration, and stated that Jesus was the supreme example of the ideal integrated life.

ANNUAL QUAD. SALE IS STAGED IN CHAPEL

Seniors Win Five Dollar Prize Offered by Staff

Wed., Nov. 18—One hundred seventy three Quadrangles were sold this morning during the chapel hour. This morning's chapel was turned over to the Quad. staff and their advisor, Prof. E. R. Bohling in the annual sale of the college yearbook. Donald Trostle is editor of the 1932 Quadrangle, and Verle Ohmart is Business manager.

Prof. Bohling gave a short talk describing the 1932 yearbook. He also stated that the yearbook grows in value as the years go by and that no student will be sorry that he purchased one of the 1932 Quadrangles. He said that when figured over a period of forty years, the yearbook will cost less than one cent per month. "Can you afford to be without it?"

The sale was carried on after the talk with representatives from each class acting as salesmen for their respective classes. The results of the sale was as follows: The Seniors bought forty-one books, twenty-six were sold to Juniors, thirty-two were sold to Sophomores, and sixty-five to Freshmen. Ten books were sold to Faculty members. This made a total of one hundred seventy three books. No class sold one hundred per cent to win the ten dollar prize offered, but the Seniors won the second premium of five dollars by selling yearbooks to eighty-five per cent of their members.

The 1932 year book has as its theme "cheerfulness". Besides the usual number and kind of divisions in the book there will be a new feature added this year and that consists of two pages being devoted to the "big laughs" of the year. Also
