FRIENDS QUAKERS WIN HARD FOUGHT HOME COMING CONTEST FROM BULLDOGS FRIDAY

Bulldogs Take Ball Across for Counter in Steady March from Kick-off—Lead During First Half 7-5

BULLDOGS 7, QUAKERS 12

Morton's Long Runs Furnish Thrills for Crowd

Fri., Oct. 30—The Friends Quakers won a hard fought home coming football game with the McPherson Bulldogs here tonight by a score of 12 to 7.

The Bulldogs started off in great fashion showing the best offensive at the start of all the games played this season. Receiving the kick-off the Bulldogs marched down the field on straight football, scoring a touchdown before Friends had hold of the ball. On this steady march down the field Carpenter and Eugene Anderson did most of the ball-lugging with Carpenter going over for the counter. Wiggins kicked for the extra point.

Friends chose to receive and it was not long before Captain Morton of the Friends team began to show the crowd that they too had an offensive. Friends made a few good gains through the line and off tackle, then Morton, playing at halfback, took the ball around right end and ran forty-four yards for a touchdown. An attempted line plunge for the extra point failed and the half ended with the Bulldogs leading, 7 to 6.

The third quarter had not been long in progress before Morton again showed his speed and elusiveness to the crowd. This time he took the ball on his own twenty-eight yard line, skirted the Bulldog left end, and cutting back to elude the McPherson secondary defense ran seventy-two yards for a touchdown. The attempted try for point by a place kick was blocked.

The Bulldogs, somewhat demoralized by these dashing runs by Morton made another attempt to make a victory out of the game in the fourth quarter. McPherson worked the ball down to the fifteen yard line only to lose it on downs. At this point Friends took the ball, worked a couple of plays, and the game ended.

McPherson lost a game tonight that for the first few minutes looked as if it should be a win for the Bulldogs. The offense was functioning in great shape in that drive and if the team can keep that punch for the whole game it will be too bad for the foes the rest of the season.

WHY SAYS THERE'S A DEPRESSION?

That this is a time of great economic depression can not be doubted. Its effect is wide-spread and heart-rending. But we have ample evidence that, as concerns the students, the depression has not had an unfavorable effect, and has possibly exerted a stimulating influence. The observer will notice scattered about the dormitories and concentrated in a line east of Fahnstock Hall, a group of beautiful shining units of modern machinery, known collectively as automobiles, and Fords (excepting a few of doubtful parentage). Moreover, there are eighteen machines on display this year, which is an increase of 225% over the quota for last year.

These seventeen machines may be classified as: automobiles, 8; Fords, 7; and doubtful origin, 3 (probably foreign construction). Looking at the group from another standpoint, the group may be classified as: dark blue, 7; light blue, 2; black, 3; and miscellaneous, 6. Among those machines of miscellaneous hue, several deserve special mention. One is evidently of doubtful parentage, but it was surely the last word in sport roadsters seven years ago. It is a glossy little bus, being partly black, green, orange and partly Rocky Ford. Another machine of doubtful-origin and miscellaneous colors is lamentably crippled in the left rear quarter, caused possibly by its failure to fully recover since the journey to the last football game. The numerous abstractions and few additions to one machine put it in a class by itself.

The latest arrival in the group of machines is classified as Ford—black. Its owner is one of the few inmates of Arnold Hall which fully comprehend the operation of that complicated machine known as the Ford. This machine has been a valuable addition to the list of machines under the heading Fords.

Take one and all, the group of machines represents many varied aspects of modern automotive transportation. We believe that the college is quite fortunate in being able to have this group of machines on exhibit.

HOME COMING PARTY IS VERY SUCCESSFUL

Alumni Association Sponsors Social Saturday Night

PROGRAM GIVEN IN CHAPEL

Sat., Oct. 31—Alumni, former students, students, and faculty members gathered this evening for the all-school Home Coming party. Following the program which was given in the chapel, the group adjourned to the Y. W. C. A. room for the social period.

The program was under the auspices of the Alumni Association. Paul Sargent, McPherson, acted as master of ceremonies. An orchestra led by Charles Smith opened the program by playing two numbers. Those who played in the orchestra were Charles Smith, Burr Miller, Mrs. Helen Dean, Mrs. Glen Nigh, Noble Carlson, Kermit Johnson, Myrtle Hammann, and Dwight Lindholm.

John Wall, president of the Alumni Association, made a short speech welcoming the grade and former students. Clever stunts were then given by the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes, with the sophomores winning the prize for the best stunt. Students appearing in the freshman stunt were Margaret O'Leary, Grace Lerew, Eunice Vogt, Onelia Boyer, Othetta Clark, and Cleason Minter. Members of the sophomore class who appeared were Gulah Hoover, Lois Edwards, Louise Kenberry, Everett Fasnacht, and Blanch Harris. Ward Williams and Bernice Fowler presented the junior stunt.

The men's and women's quartets sang several numbers, and Mrs. Cleo Hill of McPherson gave a vocal solo. At the conclusion of the program the group was served a "depression lunch" consisting of doughnuts and apples. Thus concluded a very successful Home Coming party.

Japan could have done worse. She could have invited us to have a seat at the League of Nations and then pulled the chair out from under us.—Selected.

ATTENTION, CRUPE HANGERS

"If you want to be in the kind of a school Like the kind of a school you like. You need not pack your clothes in your grip And start on a long, long hike. You'll only find what you left behind For there's nothing that's really new. It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school. It isn't your school, it's you."

Real schools aren't made by students afraid. Lest someone else go ahead; If everybody works and nobody shirks. Old McPherson will never be dead. So if you do your personal bit And your neighbor does his bit too Old M. C. will be what you want it to be. It isn't your school; it's YOU."

TRYOUTS FOR BOTH VARSITY DEBATE TEAMS TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Indications Point to Sharp Competition for Places on Both Teams—Veterans Must Watch Step

INTERNATIONAL CLUB MEETING IS POSTPONED

Mon., Nov. 2—Owing to a number of conflicting activities tonight and tomorrow night, the regular meeting of the International Relations Club has been postponed until further announcement is posted by Herbert Eby, president. The club regularly meets on Monday evenings. The next meeting is to be mostly made up of musical numbers.

Y. M. MOVING PICTURE VIEWED BY GOOD CROWD

"Hell and the Way Out" is of Timely Nature

Sat., Oct. 31—A large number of students, faculty members, and others of the community were present this evening to see the five-reel motion picture, "Hell and the Way Out," which was given in the college chapel at six-thirty, preceding the all-school Home Coming social. The picture was one of the series being sponsored this year by the local Y. M. C. A.

Several students stated that tonight's picture was the best which has been given so far this year. It was divided into two parts, the first two reels portraying a dramatic human interest story which revealed the horrors of war, and the last part, "The Way Out," showing how international disputes are settled peacefully by the World Court and the League of Nations. This subject is of a particularly timely nature in view of the wide spread program of discussion on the problem of disarmament and World peace preparatory to the World Disarmament Conference to be held at Geneva, Switzerland, next February.

VALUE OF LEISURE TIME IS DISCUSSED BY C. E.

Ways of Utilizing Spare Time Are Pointed Out

Sun., Nov. 1—"The Value of Leisure Time" was the subject of the Christian Endeavor program tonight. The leader, Everett Fasnacht, led in devotional thought, after which, Orpha Beam sang a solo.

Kenneth Bittkofer gave the first talk, on "Amusements as Recreation," listing a group of tests which might be applied to a recreational activity in checking its desirability. Greta Wilma Griffin spoke on "The Value of Capitalizing Minutes," suggesting that two of the best ways one could use his spare minutes are in reading good books and magazines, and in cultivating good friendships.

Earle Brumbaugh spoke on life in Communist Russia, summarizing a magazine article. Mr. Brumbaugh pointed out that some authorities believe the crisis between democracy and Communism will be met in the next ten years.

TWO M. C. REUNIONS SCHEDULED THIS WEEK

Two McPherson College alumni reunions will be held during Teachers Meeting this week. Both will take place Thursday evening, November 5. One will be held at Wichita in the Allis Hotel. E. C. Wine, class of '22, is in charge of local arrangements. Mrs. Alma Anderson Moore, class of '20, of Newton, will have the program in charge.

The other reunion will be held at Salina in the Christian Church. Portia Vaughn, class '28, with the assistance of Hazel Scott, is overseeing the arrangements there. The theme of the evening will be "College Humor".

CAPITALISM IS SUBJECT

Carlson, Doyle, Williams, and Wollman are Veterans

Wed., Nov. 4—Tryouts for both varsity debate teams are to take place soon, according to announcement by Prof. Maurice A. Hess, debate coach. Men's tryouts will take place next Tuesday, November 10, in the college chapel at 3:30 P. M., and tryouts for the women's team will take place on the following day, November 11, at the same hour and place.

Each candidate will be asked to give a five minute constructive speech and a two minute rebuttal. Debators are instructed not to try to cover the material completely, but to demonstrate their ability to organize facts and to express them effectively. If they so desire they may go to other members of the faculty besides the coach for criticism of their talks and drill in effective delivery.

Yesterday afternoon at 3:30 the men drew for sides of the question they are to take, and this afternoon women candidates will do likewise, at 3:30 in Room D.

On the day of the tryouts candidates will meet in Room D to await their speaking turn, and pairings for each contest will be announced fifteen minutes before the time of appearance.

The debate question to be used this year is "Resolved: that the federal government should enact laws providing for centralized control of industry to supplant our present individualistic system."

Present indications are that there will be some sharp competition for places on both teams, and the first team veterans from last year, including Lillian Carlson, Mildred Doyle, Ward Williams, and Walter Wollman, will have to work to hold their places. The following have placed their names in Professor Hess's Little Red Book: Lillian Carlson, Mildred Nyquist, Mildred Doyle, Viola DeVillibus, Hope Nickel, Alice Ruehling, Lawrence Lehman, Samuel Stoner, Kermit Hayes, Milo Stucky, Milton Goering, Ward Williams, William Juhnke, Donald Brumbaugh, Walter Wollman, A. W. Hands, George Peeters, Arthur Staats, Lilburn Gottmann, Everett Fasnacht, Carrol Whitcher, Ruth Hobart, Mariene Dappen, John Goering.

PROF. MILTON S. DELL SPEAKS IN CHAPEL MON.

Tells Ways of Becoming Best Possible Men

Mon., Nov. 2—Prof. Milton S. Dell made his debut upon the chapel stage this morning with a talk pointing out means of becoming the best possible citizens.

Prof. Dell said that there were three types of men: the leaders, those who look forward to better things while making the best of present situations; the skilled group which usually sees only the significance of immediate attainments; and the untrained common workmen who do not have a clear conception of what it is all about.

He mentioned some of the motives which drive men to action, such as striving for gain, for service, for a reputation, or desire for self-expression, while the loafers and drifters seem to be without any motives at all. Some of the things which help men to accomplish their desires are honesty, industry, initiative, enthusiasm, and ability.

W. S. G. MEETS THURSDAY

Tomorrow night at six-thirty the World Service Group will meet in the Y. W. C. A. room for the regular bi-weekly meeting. The program will consist of a discussion by the group of the value of missions.

A GENTLE REMINDER

It is less than a month. Thanksgiving will be here and the Swedes will invade the Bulldog camp to do battle. As all upperclassmen know and the freshmen have probably heard, it has been a custom in years past for students at each school to attempt to mar each other's campus. Of interest along this line is an editorial in the "Bethany Messenger" for October 24, 1931, by editor Loren Sibley.

The following are excerpts:

Those days belong to the memories of the things which were and are no more, for students who could see little or no gain from such practices and who were courageous enough to suggest such a plan, drafted an agreement between the schools that no more should they enter upon those vandalistic enterprises. Those agreements made still exist. Temptation may come to visit our sister institutions, to smear on their buildings with the cement of spite, etc. The fellow who enters

Students Live in Different Kinds of Worlds

Wed., Oct. 28—"What is your address, and what is the kind of world in which you live?" were two questions asked by Miss Della Lehman in her chapel address of this morning.

In Miss Lehman's address on "Where We Live" she compared notes of the world of the present generation and that of the past generation. She explained that, stirring

SASSIETY COLUMN

The W. A. Acers have postponed Health Rules until after exams. Something like a blond Senior girl who decides to reduce after a Sunday orgy of chicken, etc. . . . Logic is crazy, but did you ever hear of rationalization?

Something must be done about these gullible Senior lads who actually believe that this campus sports a girl with an I. Q. of 145. (Have we a Shakespeare among us?) Seeing her is believing perhaps, but did you ever hear her?

Who's the new campus artist? She draws remarkably well.

And what does she draw, my dear? Girls and boys—a certain brunette Senior lad in particular. (Speaking of I. Q.'s, that of a punster is all according to the Best People).

Did you ever notice how much physical activity the cervical vertebrae of the fellows in the dining hall get? Must be that some of these tennis players want to save their tennis arms. That up and down motion of the spoon carrier is rather strenuous exercise.

The delicate attentions of a small, curly-haired fellow in a blue and yellow sweater is too exciting for several Senior Shrinking Violets—Namely? Aw, I haven't the heart to tell you.

There are some clever little Five-Foot-Two-Eyes-of-Blue Co-eds on this campus. But did you ever notice the Five-Foot-Six-Legs-Like-Sticks girls? A certain elongated Phys. Ed. pedagogue, for instance?

Speaking of the foreign element, how are we going to assimilate the football squad at our various, now-civilized dining tables? But you'll have to admit, that they have a darn good time together, Sour Grapes.

Why is it that some of the comely co-eds like to sit at the Round table in the library? Does the mirror in the south bookcase have anything to do with it?

Miss H.—I know something you could do about your library conversation, boys.
D. M. and L. M.—The world is too full of theorists, now.

Three-fourths of the college quartet and several other Teutons seem to have vaccinated the Institution (good old world) with that insidious disease called Pep. Order some more Teutonic bacilli, Doctor.

And speaking of pep, the class of '35 has a few germs, too. Witness the clever bulletins that they issued for the Home Coming Game.

You can laugh all you want at our illustrious and, yea, amusing faculty ornaments at the chapel platform, but did it ever occur to you that in their most convoluted convulsions they were laughing at you? Not such a comfortable idea—

I watched a monkey in a cage,
And laughed his antic ways to see.
I laughed until I saw his face
And discovered him laughing at me!

Did you ever hear of the word "gregarious"? Look it up and see if it isn't the chief motive for such large congregations in the library. Of course mid-semester exams may have had something to do with it this week, but from the twitterings among the studious (?) students Monday night the attendance might be ascribed to mere flock instinct. (And Miss H. was probably ready to offer a bounty on some of the magpies).

Which brings us to the next treatise and a sad one it is. Wonder what kind of quizzes the new Dean gives? Comprehensive, intensive, and expensive to honor points? That's the report so far and though it's only a report, isn't it encouraging?

Let's hope the midnight oil expended this week will prove profitable. But in these times of depression would it not be more profitable to save the midnight kilowatt hours, the reams of paper, the cokes and coffee, and just "for hard times" sake" abolish the mid-semester altogether? I know it's rather late to suggest that now since you'll have such nice questions made out, but the suggestion is still valid for semester exams. In fact . . . . .

And of course among current topics we mustn't forget Hallowe'en. 'Tis said that in years gone by some of the gentlemen who now adorn Faculty Row (who were young blades, then) devised the ingenious prank of spiriting one faculty member from his hearth and fireside and depositing him at the domicile of another (of the same profession) and picking the latter up to deliver to the next on the list. Sort of a relay, you know, and to say the least rather surprising to the wives of said faculty members. Almost as bad as the mixed baby case in Chicago, last year. But anyhow Forney wouldn't have had to return all that rubbish as he did this year's. Think up something original next year, fellows.

The feminine aggregation on the field between halves of the game Friday night were playing soccer (not Sock 'er) in case you didn't know what that odd commotion was. And if you think it's child's play just try chasing a ball, with your arms hanging helpless at your sides and your feet (the clumsiest part of most people's anatomy) trying to dribble that slippery pigskin. It takes real dexterity, no foolin'. The English are the original Soccer players (and they say the English lack a sense of humor). And the Army Soccer team beat Williams at West Point 7 to 0 last week. So we're right up there with the big bugs.

You didn't miss the moon last week, did you? It was lolapaloosa! And a certain Sophomore lad, formula W. Y.-C. A., class president, went around all week giving long discourses on the lunar influence. "In the spring a young man's fancy . . ." Or is it in the fall?

Poor "Clara" has acquired a bad reputation for carrying spirituous liquors somehow, but that's nothing to what was unearthed in the room of two model young ladies on second floor of Arnold Hall this week—one huge bottle of—well—grapejuice! Scout around, girls, there's still more left.

But these illusive odors of fudge and popcorn that never materialize are the despair of the four-year-dorm-dieteer. Is tantalize such an old word—or did it originate in Arnold Hall?

Oh, yes, and before we forget—how did you like our Quad proofs? If you say you like them we'll be insulted because we think they're unrepresentative, but if you proclaim against them too much we'll think you don't appreciate our face. Either way you'll be in the soup. Might be a good idea to scam when you see a Walker envelope, what?

"The proofs that photographers send
Are much more revealing than kind.
That's not how I look to myself—
I'm always retouched in my mind."

Or this one—
"I hate to look at pictures of myself.
I hold them yards away and squint my eyes,
And yet they show a most disastrous face—
I won't believe the camera never lies."

Are you ever discouraged at that simple, sleep-swollen countenance with which you rise to greet the rosy dawn? Try old Dr. Coue and instead of thinking "Oh! What a fact!" in terror-stricken accents, think "My dear, you're getting beautiful and beautiful!" . . . That is if you can fib so glibly that early in the morning.

Among the other important and pressing campus problems are these—(1) Which roommate's turn it is to get up for breakfast. (2) Just how long one can sleep after the six-thirty or six-fifty five bell rings and (3) Whose turn it is to dash out in the wintery breezes and put the window down. You may decide these questions for yourself by your own ethical code.

MILDRED DOYLE SPEAKS IN Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Says Disarmament Is Present Step, Nov. 3 of the World

Tues., Nov. 3—Mildred Doyle said in Y. M. C. A. this morning that the need today was disarmament, both in the form of material reduction and in the reduction of appropriations. The way to secure disarmament is to send our opinions to Washington in order that our representatives at the 1932 Disarmament Conference at Geneva will stand for reduction of arms and peace. Inform yourself, and then inform others. Let your Congressmen know what you think. Another war is unavoidable if we do not soon find a way out of the present world situations.

The Sophomore girls quartet furnished music.

M. C. STUDENTS GO TO NICKERSON SUNDAY

Take Part in Southwest Kansas Young People's Conference

The Southwest Kansas Young People's Conference was held at the Salem church in Nickerson, Sunday. Those from the college who took part in the program were Pres. V. F. Schwalm, who delivered the morning sermon, Lilburn Gottmann, who spoke in the afternoon program, and a quartet composed of Lois Edwards, Gulah Hoover, Harvey Shank, and Delvis Bradshaw, who sang in the evening service. The other college students at the meetings were Grace Heckman, Mary Lou Williams, Dennis Andes, Phillip Lauver, Royal Yoder, Clinton and Donald Trostle, and Charles Austin. Ruth Trostle and Harry Zinn, both graduates in the class of '31, were also there.

FACULTY MEMBERS GIVE MAGAZINES TO LIBRARY

The college library has recently purchased some new books. Among them are two on manual training, "Problems in Furniture Design," by Madsen and Lukowitz, and "Coloring, Finishing, and Painting Wood," by A. C. Newell. Hodges's "Background of International Relations" was also purchased.

Among other magazines, Dr. H. J. Harly donated some back numbers of the "Saturday Evening Post." Dr. V. F. Schwalm also gave some magazines to the library, including "Atlantic Monthly," "Harper's," "Good Housekeeping," "Woman's Home Companion," "Delineator," "Hygeia," "Ladies Home Journal," "McCall's," "Pictorial Review," and the "Forum."

HALLOWE'EN LEAVES FEW CASUALTIES IN WAKE

Chilly Weather Hinders Part of Usual Pranks

Hallowe'en seems to have passed off with comparative quiet and few major casualties as far as the college campus is concerned. Perhaps the chilly weather and the vigilant watch of certain able guardsmen of the property had something to do with the lack of original plans for celebrating the event.

Of course the old fire cart took its annual spin around the campus. A hay rack found its way upon the steps of Arnold Hall, and most of the charging sleds and tackling dummies from the football practice field were transferred to other localities. Rumor has it that a luckless goat was on its way to the upper regions of Arnold Hall when intervention came from unexpected sources. The usual supply of signs, tin cans, and trash was scattered about the buildings.

Another series of programs on a different subject will be started soon.

Last Wednesday's meeting was concerned with the problems of administration, finance, equipment, records and reports, enrollment, and selection and qualifications of teachers.

SWEDES HOLD COYOTES TO A SCORELESS TIE

No Conference Games This Week—Bulldogs Will Rest

Kansas Wesleyan received a big surprise when they played the Bethany Swedes last week. The Swedes held the Wesleyan team to a scoreless tie and also made more first downs than Wesleyan. Ottawa pulled a surprise in the conference by trouncing her traditional rivals, the Baker Wildcats, 14 to 12. McPherson lost a non-conference affair to Friends university, 12 to 7.

McPherson has no game this week, but plays the strong Ottawa team a week from today, November 11, at Ottawa. This is to be an afternoon game as an Armistice Day feature. Ottawa has a strong team this year, and with no game this week the Bulldogs should be in fine shape to show them a real battle on Armistice Day.

The schedule for this week—
Friday: Bethany vs. Friends at Wehita (non-conference).
Ottawa vs. Bethel at Ottawa (non-conference).

Saturday: Baker vs. William Jewell at Kansas City (non-conference).

K. Wesleyan vs. Phillips university at Salina (non-conference).

Kansas Conference standings:

	W	L	T	Pct.
Wesleyan	2	0	1	1.000
Bethany	1	0	1	1.000
Ottawa	1	1	0	.500
Baker	1	2	0	.333
McPherson	0	2	0	.000

— DRIPPINGS — from THE DOPE BUCKET

For the fifth time this season the Bulldogs have lost a game by a one-touchdown margin. Previous to the Friends game the ones to defeat the Bulldogs by one-touchdown margins were Hays, Baker, Phillips, and Hutchinson Junior college. We think that is tough luck—to come so close and still not win.

McPherson had an offense at the start of the game last Friday night; that made them look like champions. Carpenter was doing most of the ball-lugging and he surely did a nice job of it. The line was making good openings for Carpenter in this big drive. E. Anderson also contributed with some fine smashes through the line.

All due honor to the men on our football team and we have some good ones too, but we think this man Morton of Friends is a real speed merchant. Nearly everyone began to investigate as to who that man was when he began carrying the ball. We surely take our hats off to this man in that he is surely one fine ball-lugger.

At times in the game with Friends Friday night some really tough stuff was pulled. It looked as if there might have to be some long penalties, but probably the officials failed to see it. Doubtless we all can see more from the sidelines than we could if we were out on the field.

Hays Teachers college gave the Bulldogs credit for having a fine team. In their paper, the "State College Leader," last week. The Hays paper gives Carpenter the honor of being one of the hardest hitting, small backfield men that they have played against this season.

Ottawa had a great Home Coming and beat their traditional rivals, the Baker Wildcats, 14 to 12. Also, we see that our Scandinavian friends to the north are playing better football all of the time. This time they held the strong Kansas Wesleyan team to a scoreless tie.

The Dodge City "Dodger" lists these ten commandments for sportsmen:

1. Thou shalt not quit.
2. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
3. Thou shalt not be a rotten

4. Thou shalt not alibi.
5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantages.
6. Thou shalt not ask odds that thou art unwilling to give.
7. Thou shalt always be ready to give thy opponent the shade.
8. Thou shalt not underestimate an opponent, or overestimate thyself.
9. Remember that the game is the thing, and that he who thinketh otherwise is a mucker and no true sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playest, for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins even when he loses.

Captain Elmer Keck, a small but mighty football player who for four years has been one of the powerful factors in the strength of the Bulldogs line.

SPECIAL PEP MEETING HELD THURSDAY NIGHT

Thurs., Oct. 29—An unusual amount of pep was displayed at the special pep meeting held tonight in the college chapel upon a special call by Blanch Harris, men's cheer leader.
