REGIONAL CONFERENCE ON McPHERSON COLLEGE CAMPUS BEGINS NEXT WEEK FEBRUARY 19 TO 24

Annual Meeting of Board of Trustees to Be Held at Same Time—Outstanding Speakers from Different Parts of United States to Be Present

TO PROMOTE INTEREST

Frantz, Editor of "Gospel Messenger" and Winger of Manchester to Be Main Speakers

Beginning Sunday morning and continuing until Friday noon, next week's events promise to be of extreme interest for McPherson College. The Regional Conference and the annual meeting of the McPherson College board of trustees, both to be held next week are outstanding events of the year's college program.

Participating in the Religious Emphases Week for McPherson College are outstanding speakers from different sections of the United States. Dr. Edward Frantz, former president of McPherson College and present editor of the "Gospel Messenger", and President Otto Winger of Manchester College are the chief speakers of the conference. Miss Ruth Shriver is from Elgin, Illinois. Other out of town speakers include the Rev. C. E. Davis of Independence, Kansas, former president of Mount Morris College, and the Rev. W. H. Yoder of Waterloo, Iowa.

The addresses and conferences will include all phases of religious subjects and Bible study. Dr. Frantz is offering two series of addresses: "What Would the Prophets Say" and "The Gospel For Our Time". This man is recognized as one of the foremost speakers in the Brethren Church. President Winger's topic, not yet announced, will probably deal with some phase of ministerial education.

This conference is an annual event, having been instituted to promote religious interest and to stimulate activity of the ministers of this region. The Rev. W. H. Yoder has charge of the conference for this region. Music will be provided by the Fine Arts Department of the College.

Also here next week is the annual meeting of the college board of trustees. The trustee meeting of Monday and Tuesday will include twenty-five men from nine states. The faculty reception to the trustees will be in the basement of the college church on Monday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock.

SCHWALM SPEAKS ON LIVES OF THREE MEN

Tells Under Which Case College Students Fall

President V. F. Schwalm spoke in chapel Wednesday morning, February 8. He based his talk upon the lives of three young men mentioned in the New Testament, the prodigal son, the rich young ruler, and Jesus.

Into which group do we as college students fall? In the first case, the son left home and went into a far-away country. When he lost all his friends, money, and character, he returned home. This young man manifested the wreckage of sin. Sin starts at low levels and is evident in some activities of collegiate life. "One always pays the price of living on low levels," Schwalm stated.

The question of the rich, young ruler was "What may I do that I may have eternal life?" He, like many people today, saw the gleam of the distant goal, but seeing the price of obtaining it, turned away. Oftentimes college students fail to pay the price for high character and achievement.

Jesus made the world over with His new principles. He was opposed and humiliated but became the world's greatest hero. He saw the vision, knew the price and paid it and became a victor. There is a religious need for victories today and this need can be fulfilled in the oncoming religious week.

BEAT BETHEL
MONDAY NIGHT!!!

COMING EVENTS

Friday, Feb. 17—Sophomore class party.

Sunday, Feb. 19—Regional conference begins.

Monday, Feb. 20—Bethel game here.

Tuesday, Feb. 21—Regular Y. M. and Y. W. meetings.

BULLDOGS ARE TO PLAY BETHEL MONDAY NIGHT

Coach and Team Expect to Turn in Victory to Make Up for Last Week's Loss

NEWTON HAS STRONG TEAM

Large Crowd Is Expected Since Game Will Be During Regional Conference

The Bulldogs do not have a basketball game this week, but on Monday of next week, the men of Binford will play host to Bethel College of Newton.

Neither Coach Binford nor the team seem to be very well satisfied with the way the Bulldogs played at Bethel last Friday when they were defeated 38-23, and expect to turn in a win here Monday night.

Bethel has a strong team this year, but the Bulldogs have the "stuff" in them to defeat the Newton cagers and Coach Binford and his team are determined to do it.

A large number of outsiders and friends of the college will undoubtedly attend this game as the Regional Conference will be in session here at that time. A fast preliminary game will be played at 7:00 o'clock with the main attraction at 8:15.

HEART SISTER WEEK CULMINATES IN TEA

Cosily arranged furniture, a new radio, and a general feeling of the heart sister mystery being solved all made the heart sister tea of February 14, a tremendous success.

At four-thirty nearly eighty-two girls who participated in the heart sister week congregated in the Y. W. C. A. room which had been artistically decorated by Margaret Oliver and Margaret Schwartz. After all of the girls had arrived Ruth Hobart took charge of the program in which each girl discovered who her heart sister had been for the past week. Gladys Riddell and Bernice Dresher passed to each girl a red paper heart and a matching white arrow. Then by each girl writing her own name on the arrow, and the name of her heart sister on the red heart and by the collection and distribution of the hearts and arrows the mystery was solved. Later Gula Hoover led in group singing.

Dainty refreshments of coffee and heart-shaped cookies were served by Ruth Hyde, Pearl Walker and Lol-Lacey.

MRS. BINFORD GIVES PARTY FOR COACH ON BIRTHDAY

A week ago, on February 8, Mrs. Melvin J. Binford invited the basketball squad to a surprise birthday party on her husband.

Wednesday night after basketball practice Harold Johnston had a weak back. Coach, as a dutiful coach should, put a lamp on him, worked with him, and couldn't figure out why Harold thought up all sorts of excuses to keep Coach right beside him.

Harold's actions gave the rest of the basketball boys a chance to get over to coach's house, and lo and behold! was Coach surprised when he walked in and saw that whole mob of boys. Then he seemed to remember something about his having a birthday. They had a scrumptuous supper, but what seemed to make the biggest impression on Rock was Mrs. Binford's angel food cake.

The boys padded Coach after supper, limiting each fellow to three spots. The evening was spent playing rick and bridge.

FOURTEEN STUDENTS GET ON SEMESTER HONOR ROLL BY MAKING FORTY POINTS OR ABOVE

Eighteen Attain Honorable Mention with Thirty-five or More Points—Fifty-one Is Highest Score Made by Anyone

NEW BROWSING SHELF IS PLACED IN LIBRARY

Thanks to some remodeling done in the manual training department, a new set of bookshelves has been placed in the lobby of the library. On these shelves are displayed interesting books in various fields which may be checked out by the students for recreational reading. It is hoped that students will avail themselves of this privilege of becoming acquainted with books outside of assigned material for class reading. These books may be checked out for a period of two weeks at a time.

MUSICAL PRESENTATION IS GREATLY ENJOYED

A Capella Choir Gives Classical Program—In Formal Attire

Unusual in its presentation was the debut concert given by the McPherson College A Capella Choir, Wednesday evening, February 8, at the City Auditorium. The appreciative audience, however small due to the severe weather, enjoyed all the numbers as given by this recently organized musical group.

The informal setting formed a delightful background for the choir, all of the members of which were seated in davenports or chairs. To make the stage appear more homelike, forns, lamps, and tables added to the stage setting. Alvin C. Voran, director of the group, was dressed in a black swallow-tail dress suit, the lady members in dainty evening gowns, and the men in tuxedos.

The first group of numbers sung by the ensemble, "O Holy Father Infinite in Mercy", by Palestrina; "Low, How a Rose, E'er Blooming", by Praetorius; and "When Icicles Hang by the Wall", by Brooks received their due applause.

Curran's "Dawn" was the number sung by the male quartette whose personnel included Warner Nettleson, first tenor; Wayne Carr, second tenor; Harvey Shank, baritone; and Chris Johansen, bass.

The entire ensemble then sang Tchaikowsky's "Lord God of Hosts", and an eight part arrangement, "How Sweet the Moonlight Sleeps" by Fanning.

Gula Hoover, first soprano; Mildred Dahlinger, second soprano; and Lois Edwards, alto, composing the college ladies' trio, sang in a most pleasing manner "The Nightingale" by Weekles.

"The Legend", by Tchaikowsky; "Listen to the Lambs", by Dett; and "Gloria Patri", by Palestrina

SERIES ON CHARACTER OF JESUS IS CLOSED

"Patience" Is Theme for Christian Endeavor Program

The Christian Endeavor program Sunday evening closed the series of lessons on the Character of Jesus. The theme was "Patience".

The first topic, Humility, was discussed by Guy Hayes. In order to be humble, Hayes says we must be teachable, willing to serve, and forget our dignity. Grace Heckman told of the Courage of Jesus, bringing out the point that Jesus courage was of the nature of isolation, while that little courage we have is supported by groups which might be questionable.

The third topic, Indignation, was discussed by Carol Whitchee, who said that hypocrisy was the greatest thing that aroused Jesus "anger with scorn". Vera Burkholder told of the Reverence and Holiness of Jesus, stating that God is the only Holy One and that we are irreverent because we fear what our friends will say if we attempt to be reverent. The program was closed with the Christian Endeavor benediction.

ELMER STAATS HEADS LIST

John Goering, Grace Heckman, and Vernon Rhoades Follow Close Behind

An unusually large number of students have rated high in scholarship for the last semester, fourteen having made the honor roll, and eighteen having obtained honorable mention. Last year at this time only one person had enough honor points to be listed.

To get his name on the honor roll, a student must get forty honor points; to get honorable mention he must gain thirty-five points. A person receives three points for each A hour, two for each B hour, one for a C hour, and none for any grade lower.

Elmer Staats carries off the highest scholastic honors for last semester having received A's for all his seventeen hours of college work, which gives him 51 honor points. He is closely followed by another A student, John Goering, who has 50 points to his credit.

Right on their heels are Grace Heckman and Vernon Rhoades with 48 honor points. Then there are Marcella Ledell with 46 points; Lilburn Gottmann, Maxine Ring, and Alice Urruh with 45; Verna Mae Severson, 43; Lola Hawkins, Herbert Replogie, and Ward Williams, 42; Greita Wilma Griffiths and Loren Rock, 41.

Those who have obtained honorable mention are as follows: Bernice Fowler, 39; Kenneth Moore, Ronald Vetter, Jo Wagoner, Pearl Walker, and Helen Webber, 38; Paul Booz, Margaret Schwartz, and Nareella Severson, 37; Edna Beungton, Marlene Dappen, Hope Nickel, Margaret Oliver, and Paul Sherty, 36; and Mary Jane Groves, Guy Hayes, Ralph Replogie, and Elizabeth Wagoner, 35.

These students are to be highly commended for having attained such a high degree of scholarship, because many hours of work and hard study were necessary to gain such grades. On the whole most of these students are those who are prominent in outside activities and school life.

ARE PLANNING PARTY

Sophomores to Have Social on Friday in "Y" Room

Plans are progressing for the sophomore party which will be held this Friday evening, February 17, at 7:30 in the Y. W. room.

Kenneth Moore, president of the class, appointed Grace Lerew, Margaret Oliver, and Leonard Wiggins, as general committee in charge of the party. Ruth Hobart and Helen Dagen will plan the entertainment, and Lola Hawkins, Elsie Lindholm, and Walter Weddle will prepare the refreshments.

The committee in charge is attempting to see each member of the class personally in order that there may be a good representation at the party.

MOHLER LIKENS JIGSAW PUZZLES TO HUMANITY

Tells in Y. M. C. A. Important Pieces to Personality

Prof. R. E. Mohler gave a talk in Y. W. C. A. this morning on the subject of Jigsaw Puzzles. One never knows when he sees the minute pieces of a jigsaw puzzle what the entire picture will be—usually it will be much more beautiful than one thinks when he sees the mass of seemingly unrelated parts. Human personality has many parts and one never knows what will be the product of that combination of parts.

Three important pieces to the jigsaw puzzle of personality are religion, education, and self-mastery.

Y. M. C. A. ATTENDANCE

Last fall at the beginning of the term of school many students pledged themselves to regular attendance at Y. M. C. A. and to increase the actual attendance if possible. Since that time attendance has dwindled and interest on the part of many has lagged.

It is not necessary or even desirous that all men of the college should become members and attend regularly. It is desirous, however, that many should participate and contribute to its weekly meetings.

The Y. M. C. A. is a student activity. Each should make his contribution and take a part in its programs. For the full benefit of everyone this organization requires that each contribute his cooperation and suggestions. This organization has the ability to solve many of the students' common problems providing the members give their support.

BOTH SIDES

At the age of 65 William Allen White of Emporia says that his motto has been "Ain't it grand to be bughouse?" "There is no sanity so devastating as utter sanity," he wrote. "Logic is an addition that drives men into acute melancholy and makes dumb bunnies of its devotees," which merely means that man should see and act on only one side of a question at a time.

All this does not imply that one should not weigh one argument against another in arriving at his decisions. The dullest of the dull, however, are those who see both sides at the same time and cannot act for lack of decision. The person who always sees "two sides" and is unable to decide will accomplish little.

What if Lincoln had paused to meditate the "side" of the South or the Revolutionists the British side? Why this state of affairs Adam might still be considering the other side of the question.

A great writer has stated: "Would you win success, choose a noble but unpopular cause." In our daily lives we should be devoted to our cause. Seeing both sides at once can lead only to vacillation, lack of despatch, and a zero in our thoughts.

HEART SISTERS

Every girl who has ever participated in heart sister week looks forward to it from year to year because of the pleasure it carries with it. There is a lot of enjoyment in receiving things without knowing the name of the giver, and much more pleasure in making life happier for someone else during the week. But why wait for heart sister week to be thoughtful and kind to someone else? Why not make each year a "heart sister year"?

The boys may think "heart sister week" is only for girls. Perhaps it is, but boys have the privilege of being helpful to their fellow men, also. For them, also, the week should be extended into a year, and then longer.

Another thing. A girl or boy should think of more than one person while he or she is being kind. It doesn't help much if a person is thoughtful of one individual alone; and takes no notice of anyone else. While making it a heart sister year, why not do it right, by being real heart sisters to everyone?

One boy recently made the remark that it should be so arranged that the boys could tell the girls what they thought of them, during heart sister week. If the spirit of heart sister week is carried through the year by everyone, the boys will have the privilege of helping the girls if they care to. Why not?—A heart sister.

GOOD ENGLISH

Do you think that a "Good English Week" would have much effect on the students of our college? Perhaps it might help. Such expressions as "I don't hardly think so," "He don't do it right," "I done," are incorrect and unnecessary, but don't they sound familiar? College B. A.'s have been known to use them. Some even say "Somebody learned someone else something". The first someone must have had great ability!

Colleges exist to help students become more fitted for positions later in life. They have rounded off the square corners of many a green country lad and helped to develop his ability. Of course clothes and good English are not everything in making a success in life, but they do play their part. Impressions go a long way. Let's try to take advantage of our opportunities in learning to speak, well, if not good English, at least good American.—Submitted.

PICK OUT A TROUBLE TREE

A very wise business man we know has what he calls his "Trouble Tree". It is located about a block away from his house, where he has to pass it every night on his way home.

"When I reach that tall poplar in the evening," he explains, "I leave all the troubles and worries of the day right there. Let them hang on the branches if they want to. I say to myself, 'I'm through with them for the day! And I throw back my shoulders and stir up a grin and get ready for a fine evening with my family."

"I used to take my troubles home to my wife, and often they would stay with me all night, and I'd get up next morning with a grinch. But no more. I hang them on the Trouble Tree and, five nights out of six, they have all blown away by morning."

This man has learned one of the most important secrets of living happily. He refuses to drag a roll-top desk home with him every night to spoil the family dinner and to interfere with his night's rest. He retires from business every night and starts in afresh every morning.

Try it on your way home tonight. If there aren't any trees on your street, pick out a telephone pole!—Selected.

PERSONALS

Margaret Hauser spent the week-end at her home at Marion.

Zelta Mae Oxley was ill several days last week.

Gordon Kraus was at his home in Tampa Saturday. He returned to the campus Saturday night.

Ellen Steinberg left Friday afternoon for her home at Lorraine. She hasn't returned yet because of illness.

Dorothy Bonham was an overnight guest of Alice Egbert Thursday night.

Several girls from town have been invited to the girls' dormitory for dinner by their heart sisters. Some of them are Dorothy Feary, Edna Bengston, Margaret Oliver, Erica Nickel, Marcella Ledell, and Laurel Pleids.

Marjorie Shank has been ill the past week.

Dr. J. W. Hershby has been confined to his bed the last several days.

Libburn Gottmann has been teaching Professor Heckman's classes during his absence.

Maxine Ring spent the past week at home in bed because of an attack of the flu.

Ward Williams and Everett Fasnacht went to the Bethel game-Friday night. After spending the night in Newton they went on to Wichita for a business and pleasure trip. On Sunday they went to Castleton before returning to the campus.

Harry Frantz, Arnold Taylor, Glenn Licht, Glenn Webb, Gordon Kraus, John Friesen, Dean Reptigke, and Lloyd Larsen attended the Bethel game at Newton Friday.

Friends of Ann Heckman were sorry to hear that her father, John M. Heckman, died at his home in Rocky Ford, Colorado, Sunday evening. He is the brother of Prof. J. Hugh Heckman and Mrs. Waggoner.

A number of boys went to Lindsay Monday night to see the Kansas Wesleyan—Bothany game. Among them were Melvin Landes, Wilbur Yoder, Walter Pauls, Leonard Wilgins, Orval Eddy, and Robert Bowman.

On Monday evening a group of dorm boys got together at 10:30 and made ice cream and ate apples. They were Lester Pote, LaVere Flora, Orval Eddy, Harvey Shank, Delvis Bradshaw, Merland Edwards, Charles Austin, Lawrence Lehman, Everett Fasnacht, Ward Williams, and Libburn Gottmann.

In Sunday School basketball practice last night Raymond Tice dislocated his knee cap. He was taken to the doctor who put it in place and advised him to stay off it for several days.

Among those who attend the Bethel game Friday night were Prof. and Mrs. Alvin C. Voran, Orville Voran, Ruth Hobart, Esther Pote, and Esther Brown.

CHOIR CONCERT ENJOYED

were especially impressive numbers presented by the choir.

Reappearing, the male quartette sang in a most commendable way Nevin's "Venetian Love Song" and answered with an encore, "Moequitos", by Bliss.

In closing, the entire choir sang Tachalkowsky's "Cherubim Songs", De Lamar's "A June Moonrise", and Cain's "O Watchers of the Stars".

It is interesting to note that the program was started with a selection from a composer of the sixteenth century and ended with a composition from a present-day writer, Nobel Cain, who is the director of the A Capella Choir in Chicago.

The title "A Capella" is taken from the Italian and means "unaccompanied". The covers of the programs were printed from illustrations cut which were made by Marjorie Barber.

Much credit is due Professor Voran and his choir who in such a commendable manner presented the entertainment of the evening.

The twenty-seven members of the organization include Faith Ketterman, Elizabeth Holzemer, Margretta Okerlund Helen Holloway, Elizabeth Waggoner, Ellen Steinberg, Marjorie Barber, Clarice Evans, Jo Waggoner, Bernice Dresher, Leta Wine, Merle Fisher, Gulah Hoover, Mildred Dahlinger, Lois Edwards, Milton Early, Vernon Rhoades, Everett Fasnacht, Merland Edwards, Delvis Bradshaw, Raymond Tice, Charles Austin, Nowell Wine, Warner Nettleton, Wayne Cator, Harvey Shank, and Chris Johansen.

HEART SISTER WEEK BRINGS CLEVER GIFTS

Some Girls Receive Candy—Others Have Breakfast in Bed

Abe Lincoln has been a very popular man this week. An abundance of offerings has been laid at his feet only to be snatched away before he could get his bronze (or is it plaster of Paris) bones and muscles to percolating. Notes have been found in his ears, hands, and every other niche and cranny that would hold them.

Candy sales at the book store have picked up considerably in the last few days, also. As a consequence not a few heart sisters have had spoiled appetites at meal times. This is not so invariable, however, as shown by the extra table that had to be set in the dining hall for the dinner guests last Wednesday.

Esther Stogeman's heart sister made arrangements for working in the kitchen for her once, and Gretta Wilma called Tuesday to let her know she was thinking about her. One day Elsie Rump received a large box, and upon looking inside found one stocking; the next day she got a little box and found therein the mate. Some of the girls have been demonstrating their culinary skill—cake, cookies, fudge, and even strawberry preserves.

Some of the more common but none the less acceptable gifts are handkerchiefs, candy bars, stationery, dishes, notebook paper, candy men, joke books, flowers, kleenex, perfume, gum, bathsalts, and sachet.

Maxine Ring wrote a note on a valentine, cut it up and gave it to her heart sister to put back together again. Lola Richwine gave Elizabeth Holzemer a pajama bag, and Lola Hawkins got a wall motto. Dorothy Dresher's heart sister was practical and gave her a card with the heart pasted on it under which was a nickel for the Sunday School collection. Beth Bowman got the current issue of McCall's Magazine.

Margaret Oliver said she liked Italian Balm hand lotion and promptly received a bottle. Modena Kaufman needed an English Literature book, and through the efforts of her heart sister she is now the proud possessor of that object. Clarice Evans was sent on a wild goose chase and finally ended by finding her grades all listed for her.

Merle Fisher received an indescribably clever heart her sister made from paper hearts, and Bernice Fowler got a ticket to the A Capella Choir debut. Melba Webber gave a pair of butterfins made from tin foil and bubble gum. Elrae Carlson got a pushboard and cloth chair to be used for a handy sewing kit. Le-Nora Johnson got a silver pinray and several girls have been seen running around eating whole jars of olives.

Pauline Decker was sent from Lincoln to the keyhole of the second floor fire-escape door. There she found a note sending her to Mether Emmert's office where a pancake compact awaited her. When Ruth Hobart got home from the game "M. C." was written in candy hearts on her dresser and on her bed in like manner. "Your Heart Sister" was inscribed. On Sunday morning her heart sister arranged for her breakfast to be sent up to her.

Now that it is all over until next year, how many girls are saying, "I wish I had heard of some of those clever ideas sooner?"

Mandy had a check for $13.91, and presented it at the bank; and after receiving the money, counted and recounted it many times, blocking the line.

"Isn't it all there?" asked the teller. "Yassuh, it's all heah; but it jus' is," replied the dusky damsel.

TWO UNINVITED VISITORS COME TO McPHERSON COLLEGE CAMPUS FOR EXTENDED LENGTH OF TIME

On Monday evening, February 6, two uninvited guests visited on the McPherson College Campus. (At least we don't believe the president, student council, Y. W. C. A., or Y. M. C. A. requested their presence.) These two characters had no need to be introduced to the students, as everyone knew of their presence and who they were. The two successful intruders who trespassed at our college were none other than non-trustee members, Mr. I. M. Cold and Mr. Wild Wind. They made quite an extended visit in spite of Forney's trying to chase them away.

On Tuesday morning they succeeded in their first attempt at redecorating the campus. Wild Wind swept down a cover of white over the entire place, while Mr. Cold danced and pranced about to see if he could nip off our handsome men's ears and noses; and he delighted in pinching and tickling the fairer sex's toes, fingers, and faces. Indeed the sight was quite out of the ordinary.

Girls donned boots, mitts, anklets, etc., while boys discarded leather jackets for more leather jackets or for truly warm overcoats. Professors used apparel which hardly made them recognizable. Yes, 'tis so. Prof. Blair wore a different piece of headgear—a helmet—and spats. Whoops! Larsen's ears were really truly frozen; and Fasnacht's too. Esther Pote put on woolen anklets, together with mob of followers who did likewise. Classrooms were deserted and other rooms on the south walls were huddled. Indeed, it looked like these two strangers had come into our midst and ruled as kings for the day.

Yet, on Wednesday morning they had shown no signs of disappearing. We found Mr. Cold's "fever" at 18 below zero when we made mad dashes for our mush. We lived through the tough battle today, even returning to our natural abodes in classes.

Thursday morning we had become quite accustomed to the newcomers. We even used some of Mr. Wild Wind's fresh air that he blew into our chapel, to expand our lungs and rid our systems of our ever-clinging Bulldog spirit. Evidence of this came from Kelly and Early who bravely discarded garments to help McPherson win. We braved the storm that eve by plowing and dragging through the snowstorm to watch the Braves and Bulldogs tangle.

After the game an hour's work proved useless to five boys who could not get their "buggy" percolating. Five fair maidens rescued them from perishing by pumping them down the main drag with their auto. Boy Scouts (those girls proved to be—Eh what?)

On Friday beauty reigned on the campus with Mr. Sun as governor. Mr. Sun was gladly welcomed into our fold and his attempts really proved that Wild Wind and I. M. Cold were our rejected suitors.

We hate to be so impolite to our visitors, but we are afraid Emily Post hadn't given us instructions as to how to handle these imposters. In other words we let our warm and cold sense receptors be our guide—instead of our conscience.

QUIPS AND QUIBBLES

Shank Incorporated has rented out Mother Emmert's bedroom since the Marjorie half of the company has gone abed with a pain in her head. Or we suspect that it might be her heart. Or maybe we are mixed up and it is the Harvey partner that has the pain in the heart—or did you say somewhere else?

McPherson College has gone jry with a vengeance. Even the fountain in the Ad building refuses to give up any drop of H₂O.

It was suggested that Bernice Fowler be run through the line and padded for not sitting in the rooting section at the last game.

One of the numerous "flu-cold" patients went extravagantly the other day and broke a thermometer. While trying to take her temperature her olfactory organ—plain "nose"—to you—began to itch. Nothing daunted she lifted a dainty finger with which to scratch the offending protrusion—and out popped the thermometer. And shattered. Only one measly dollar for a new one. Measly? Oh yeah!

The girls who don't date should quickly move in with those who do—before the candy or flowers they received yesterday are gone.

And that reminds us that yesterday was Valentine's Day. Had you unfrozen auto was unheard-of? Well, we were trying to find a way to go, and Molly said that she was going to meet some girls at the laundry. The laundry? That's a long ways out of her way, and to go there on a stormy wintry night like that! Well! We had our ideas of a girl who would make Molly come to her father's establishment to meet her. Molly waited at the dark, cold laundry, and finally went across the street to the Mary Ann, where the other girls finally found her. They couldn't understand why she hadn't met them in the lobby of the community building.

We were clear across on the other side of the auditorium, but we recognized Margaret Oliver's laugh. Even Dr. Schwalm tapped us on the shoulder and said, "Did you hear Margaret laugh? She seems to have a good time wherever she goes."

Too hee! Ygg, should have gone to Salina, though? Margaret had such a good time that her sister was embarrassed to death by her boisterousness. We didn't mind though.

Speaking of lobby-laundry. . . When Miss Lehman telephoned to Abilene to congratulate the broad-casters she said to the operator, "From McGaffey and Lehman." Then as an afterthought she added, "Make McGaffey plural." And the operator made it "Pearl McGaffey." We wondered from whence Pearl McGaffey had sprung.

Yesterday the Topeka Daily Capital stated that "Jig-Saw Puzzles are Sporting Goods." Perhaps that accounts for the late-burning light the last several evenings in the coach's room in the gymnasium, where such puzzles are fitted together.

Then the writer laid down his pen, raised his eyes heavenward and sighed, "Another Quip column finished."

HARNLY TELLS OF HIS EARLY EXPERIENCES

Speaks in Y. M. C. A. of McPherson College Forty Years Ago

Dr. H. J. Harnly, senior faculty member of McPherson College, spoke to the Y. M. C. A. group Tuesday morning, on "McPherson College forty-two years ago." Dr. Harnly came to McPherson College in 1892 and has been on the faculty ever since. Harnly exhibited early catalogues and publications of McPherson College. Among interesting items in the catalog was the fact that dormitory student expenses for board, room, and tuition totalled slightly more than $115 per year. Elocution and public speaking courses were emphasized; later under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fahnestock, the commercial department grew to be of paramount importance. One of the rules prohibited the chewing of gum. A later catalog points out that "Ladies and Gentlemen will not ride, walk, or play together without the permission of the President."

During the college's first year, Fahnestock Hall included both dormitories, the chapel, the library and all classrooms and offices.

UNKNOWN FRIEND DONATES RADIO TO Y. W. C. A. ROOM

Heart Sister Week was brought to an unexpected and happy climax by a large valentine received from a mysterious friend of McPherson College. This friend gave to the girls of the college a Philco radio that was installed yesterday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. room.

The girls greatly appreciate it and wish to thank this unknown donor for such a splendid valentine.

CHOIR ELECTS OFFICERS

A Capella Chooses Marjorie Barber President

After practice on Monday night, the A Capella Choir held a short business meeting in order to elect officers.

Marjorie Barber was chosen as president; Chris Johansen, vice president; and Newell Wine, treasurer. Falthe Ketterman, who has been secretary from the first of the year was retained in that position.

The choir expects to make several trips; so a transportation committee was selected with Chris Johansen at its head. The finance committee consists of Newell Wine, Chris Johansen, and Wayne Carr.

BULLDOGS SUFFER DEFEAT AT HANDS OF OTTAWA UNIVERSITY THURSDAY EVE BY SCORE OF 50-32

Braves Flash Fancy Shots and Brilliant Type of Basketball with Swift Passing and Sure Shooting

BRAVES LEAD 32-21 AT HALF

Score of 9-8 in First Half is Closest Bulldogs Ever Get to Ottawa

The Ottawa University Braves won a Kansas Conference basketball game over the McPherson College Bulldogs Thursday, February 9, at Convention Hall by a score of 50-32.

The conference leading Ottawa quintet took an early lead and lengthened it as the game progressed. The Braves scored first on a free throw and ran their score up to nine before the Bulldogs were able to register. The Bulldog scoring machine began to function at this point with the local team scoring eight points making the score nine to eight in favor of the visitors. This was the closest that the Bulldogs came to the Ottawa team.

The remainder of the past half was a free for all scoring game with both teams scoring heavily. Captain Rock came into the game for McPherson and kept the Bulldogs in the running with some set-up shots. But the entire Ottawa team was hot and they were sinking counters from all over the court. The Ottawa guards wrecked the Bulldog front line defense and drove through for shots or for passes. The half ended with Ottawa leading 32-21.

Ottawa continued with their fast passing and hot shooting during the last half and increased their lead over the Bulldogs. The Braves usually received the ball from the tip off and passed fast until someone could get a shot. The game got rather rough during the last half and numerous fouls were called.

Senter and Long each caged a half dozen field goals for Ottawa and Dillon made four with three charity-tosses. Captain Rock was high for McPherson.

BRAVES BETTER CHANCE AT CONFERENCE TITLE

Having defeated the champion Bethany Swedes twice within a week, Ottawa university has well-founded hopes of bringing the Kansas conference basketball title to Ottawa to rest beside the football championship.

Forerunning of the fall of the champions was given when the Swedes needed an over-time period to subdue last-place Baker university, 39 to 28, at Lindsborg a week ago Monday night. Bethany had managed to tie the count late in the game on two free throws by Anderson, a guard after trailing through most of the contest.

That victory sent the Swedes out of a three-way tie with Ottawa and Wesleyan, but Ottawa rejoined Bethany at the top of the standing Thursday night by defeating McPherson on the Bulldog court, 50 to 32. Senter and Long made half a dozen field goals each and Dillon, the other member of the Braves' star trio, poured in four goals and three free throws.

Baker, Ottawa forward, and Knapper, a guard, led the early attack that gave the Braves a 29-15 lead at the half in their game with the Swedes at Lindsborg Friday night.

The Braves wound up with a 9-point scoring bee in the last eight minutes and beat the Swedes 39-20, duplicating the feat they accomplished at Ottawa the previous week.

After an invasion of Nebraska on which they defeated the Kearney Teachers, 47-24, and Hastings college, 37-27, Kansas Wesleyan's Coyotes in the runnerup position, resumed conference competition in a game with Bethany at Lindsborg Monday evening and they play Ottawa at Ottawa Friday night and Baker at Baldwin Saturday, figuring in all three conference games billed for this week. On Monday the coyotes strengthened a hold on second place in the conference race by defeating Bethany 26-15.

Baker lost an exhibition decision to Washburn last week, 24-34, and McPherson was taken by Bethel, 23-33.

The College of Emporia, fifth place team in the Central conference, invades the Kansas conference this week for three games. The Presbites play Baker at Baldwin on Monday, Ottawa at Ottawa Tuesday and Bethany at Lindsborg Friday.

BULLDOGS LOSE GAME TO BETHEL BY 38-23

Graymaroons Lead 23-7 at Half—McPherson Better in Latter Part

The McPherson College basketball team went to Newton Friday, February 10, and lost a non-conference game to Bethel College of that city by a score of 38-23.

The defense that lagged considerably in the Ottawa game on the previous night was still poor against Bethel. The Bulldogs seemed dead on their feet at the start of the game and Bethel was extremely hot and scored twelve points before the McPherson team scored.

McPherson played listless ball during the entire first half and Bethel shot from all angles and scored consistently. Kennison, Bethel captain and center led the Bethel offense during the first half, caging five field goals. The half ended with Bethel leading 22 to 7.

The Bulldogs played a different brand of ball during the last half, but never seriously threatened the big lead that Bethel gained during the first half. McPherson started the second half with some fast playing and ran their total up to sixteen and Bethel still had their twenty-three points. This was the closest that the McPherson quintet came to the Bethelites.

At this point the tiring Bulldogs began to weaken and Bethel started on another scoring spree. Cunningham, a fast Bethel forward, went wild and scored three baskets to lead the Bethel offense for the second half. Both teams played rather roughly during the last half and there were many scrambles for the ball during the latter part of the game. Rock led the scoring for the Bulldogs while Kennison of Bethel was high scorer of the game.

The box score:

| McPherson (23) | FG | FT | P |
|----------------|----|----|---|
| Rock f | 3 | 3 | 1 |
| C. Johnston f | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| H. Johnston f | 2 | 0 | 1 |

BULLDOGS WILL GO ON ROAD TRIP NEXT WEEK

The latter part of next week the Bulldog cagers will tour the eastern part of the state to play two conference games and one non-conference game. On Thursday Feb. 22, the Bulldogs will play the Baker University Wildcats at Baldwin. The following night McPherson will tangle with the conference leading Ottawa Braves at Ottawa. Then on Saturday night the Bulldogs will be in Atchison to play the Ravens of St. Benedict's. This last game is a non-conference affair.

This road trip will probably be very strenuous for the Bulldogs because they will be playing three very good teams. Their games with the one with Bethel here on Monday night makes four games in six nights for the Bulldog cagers.

DRIPPINGS from THE DOPE BUCKET

The Bulldogs had what could be termed a good defensive record until last week, but since last week the record could almost be classed as "rotten". Some of the men who had been looking good on defense weakened considerably and were caught flat footed several times in the games last week. Well, those games are over and the Bulldogs have several hard games which they must look forward to.

Coach Binford seemed to realize that the weakness of his men in last week's games because Monday's practice session was spent almost entirely on defense. And believe you me Coach surely did work those fellows, too.

While Bethel was defeating the Bulldogs Friday night, the Swedes were taking a defeat from the fast traveling Ottawa quintet. The Braves have only lost one game in the conference and that was to the last place Baker team.

Monday night the Swedes received another set back at the hands of Kansas Wesleyan. Bethany annexed fifteen points while the Wesleyan five scored a total of twenty-six points. Bethany held a scant lead of one point at the half, but Wesleyan was too much for them in the last half.

Rock led the scoring of the Bulldogs in both games last week and it appears as though he has found himself, and will be able to continue his fast pace. Harold Johnston has been scoring consistently since he joined the squad at the beginning of the second semester and also has been doing a good job of ball rustling.

Next Monday night Bethel will play a return game with the Bulldogs and Binford and his men seem determined to win this game. It was very evident that McPherson did not play the game they are capable of playing when they played Bethel last week and want to redeem themselves.

Several other hard games remain on the schedule and only by hard training and good support from the student body can the Bulldogs come through in these games. The Swedes came here to close the season for the Bulldogs and this should climax the season.

RELIGIOUS GROUP PUTS ON PROGRAM IN CHAPEL

Various Students Take Part in Giving Numbers

Several members of the committee on religious life were responsible for the chapel program Friday. They were Edith Bechtelheimer, Ward Williams, Bernice Fowler, and Everett Fassnacht.

Without announcement different students who were seated in the back of the room gave their parts in the program.

The opening and closing music was played by Bernice Drescher. Then after the first number, from the back of the room came Edith Bechtelheimer's, voice, reading, "Tell Me What Is Poetry?" "Statement No. 1" was given by Lester Pote, followed by Genevieve Crist's reading, "The Great Lover." "Statement No. 2" was given by Guy Hayes. Poems were then read, such as "Builder", given by Margaret Oliver, "From Columbus", by Mary Miller, and "A Little Word", by Carol Whitcher.

The ladies' trio sang a sacred song, followed by a poem by Orval Eddy, "So He Died for His Faith". After Charles Austin had directed prayer, a silence followed, which was broken by soft music by Bernice Drescher.

FRESHMEN HAVE PARTY

Work Jigsaw Puzzles and Listen to Radio

About thirty students attended the freshman party Friday evening, February 10. The party was held in the Y. W. C. A. room.

The evening was spent in working jigsaw puzzles and listening to the radio. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, Modena Kaufman, Lois Fry, and Esther Stegeman.

Two waiters were standing by a table on which Eugene Maguire, after a hard day's work, had fallen asleep.

"I've already wakened him twice," said the first waiter, "and I'm going to wake him a third time."
"Why don't you wake him and suggest he leave?" asked the other.
The first waiter shook his head artfully. "Nothing doing," he whispered. "Every time I wake him up he pays his bill."
