This conference is primarily one dealing with ministerial and educational problems. Addresses will give special emphasis to problems in this field.

The leading speakers this year will be Dr. D. W. Kurtz, former president of McPherson college and at present head of the Bethany Biblical Seminary of Chicago. Dr. Kurtz is a dynamic speaker and is well known as a speaker and lecturer. President W. O. Mendenhall of Friends University will also speak. Dr. Mendenhall is widely known in Y. M. C. A. circles, Student-Volunteer groups, and educational groups. Next year he will head Whittier college in California.

Other speakers that have been scheduled are M. R. Ziegler, secretary of the general Missions board of the church of the Brethren; C. E. Davis, pastor at Independence, Kansas; Ada Corell, an alumna of McPherson college; and Dean F. A. Replinger, Dean R. E. Mohler, Dr. Ray C. Petry, and Dr. J. D. Bright, all of the college faculty.

Music will be furnished by the music department of the college under the direction of Prof. Alvin C. Voran and Miss Lois Wilcox. On Sunday, February 18, the college Christian Endeavor organization will give a special program.

Chapel Programs Will Deal with Cultural Values of Reading

Library Week at McPherson college has been set for February 5 to February 10. Dean R. E. Mohler, Dr. J. D. Bright, and Miss Delta Lehman will give chapel speeches concerning books in several fields of learning.

Dean Mohler will speak on "The Reading Habit; how it is acquired, and what is its value," on Monday, February 5. He will also tell of books and other current library material in the field of natural science.

Dr. Bright will speak on "The Choice of Books," on Wednesday, February 7. He will give the criteria for judging reading matter. Books, magazine articles, and any other material of interest about social science that is in the library will also be reviewed by Dr. Bright.

Miss Lehman will give several reviews or sketches from books in the fields of language, literature, and arts, on Friday, February 9.

Books mentioned in the speeches will be on display at the library. On the day books are reviewed, they will be found on the browsing shelf. Later they will be in the case with the new books. Recreational reading of interest to various types of students will be placed on tables in the library. All books on display during library week may be checked out for two weeks.

According to Miss Margaret Heckethorn, M. C. Librarian, a large number of books for recreational reading were checked out between the first and second semesters. Library week is intended to further encourage this type of reading.

Lawrence Lehman who has been working for the Wear-Ever aluminum company near Eureka has recently been transferred to Dodge City, Kansas.

INDIAN SKELETON ADDED TO COLLEGE MUSEUM

Remains Found Near Conway Represent Valuable Find

The skeleton of an Indian, believed to be that of a squaw, was uncovered last week in the sand and gravel pit on the Hammann farm tenanted by John Akers, northwest of Conway, and was brought to the college museum. The excavation work was directed by Dean R. E. Mohler and Dr. J. H. Harny.

The discovery was made by workers while removing the sand from the pit in the process of making concrete. The McPherson college professors were immediately notified and were asked to excavate the skeleton. The skeleton was found in a sitting position indicating the narrowness of the grave, typical of an Indian burial. In the same layer of sand several pieces of charcoal were found. The bones were described as being those of a prehistoric Indian, probably those of a woman.

The skeleton was in a badly decomposed condition and crumbled with the slightest touch of the hand. When the bones were being shelved in an effort to preserve them they crumbled under the weight of the brush. The shellac was then poured over the bones.

In order to remove the bones safely a cement slab was placed under the remains and the entire thing was brought to the college where it is now encased in a plaster Paris mold.

The skeleton is believed to be that of a squaw since the bones were so small and since a pair of beads was found around one of the legs of the person. Then too the lack of any weapon or abundant jewelry that usually accompanied the burial of a warrior is evidence that the skeleton is not that of a man.

Dean Mohler states that these remains are probably older than most of those Indian finds in this part of the country. The teeth of the skeleton were worn down almost to the gums. The Indian was probably quite old. The lower jaw is missing and the upper jaw is damaged considerably. The trunk, however, is in a fairly good condition.

The work of preparing the find for exhibition in the museum is being done by Lester Pote and Alex Richards, seniors. The task of restoring the remains will be a slow and tedious one.

The exact date of the burial cannot be determined and a guess might far from correct due to conditions of burial. The skeleton was found on the side of a hill.

Dean Mohler is of the opinion that the find will prove a valuable contribution to the museum and that it will probably create more interest than the prehistoric sloth, sabre tooth tigers, and the mammoth that have been found in the same pit.

SCENES AT SOUTH POLE PICTURED BY LOFGREN

The lecture by Charles Lofgren on the "Human Side of the Byrd Expedition" with four reels of pictures taken at the South Pole formed what many believed to be the best number on the lyceum course so far. In his lecture, Mr. Lofgren, a member of the first expedition made by Byrd to the bottom of the world, told how the men lived in the Antarctic, what they ate, what they did for entertainment, how they conducted their exploring expeditions, and of the dangers they encountered in the ice-bound region. He was accompanied by a husky, called Tom Pratt, who was born at the Pole.

Mr. Lofgren is a retired Admiral from the U. S. Navy and a personal aide to Admiral Byrd. He gave up a second trip to the pole because of his contract to lecture on his first expedition to students in this section of the country.

MEETING ON RECREATION PROJECT TO BE CALLED

Following the interest of the students from the announcement in the last issue of The Spectator a meeting will be called the first part of the week to decide upon the proposed project for student recreation in Sharp Hall. The proposed room would require considerable work on the part of the students and as every effort is to be made to keep down expenses, the full cooperation of the students would be needed to carry out the plans. While no action has yet been taken it is urged that all students consider the expense, effort and benefits that would be derived from the proposal and attend the meeting when it is called.

Contrary to previous reports an admission of twenty cents for students and thirty-five cents for others will be charged. Irene Mason and Elizabeth Waggoner are captains of the ticket sale in which every member participates.

A unique staging effect is being used by Margrette Oberlin, Vern Traver and Prof. Voran. Wood-blocks for the attractive red, white and blue posters and stickers and silhouettes for the program are being made by Chet Colwell.

The women will wear evening dresses and the men have been measured for tuxedos.

The program which has been arranged will include numbers by the male quartet and the ladies trio with choir accompaniment. Selections of composers ranging from Palestrina of the sixteenth century to Noble Cain, present director of the Chicago A Cappella Choir which sings over the N. B. C. will be heard.

Tickets will be reserved at Birby and Lindsay's Drug Store on Monday and Tuesday.

A progressive party was given for the members of the sophomore, junior and senior classes in five faculty members' homes on Friday evening, January 26.

The fifty guests were divided into five groups, moving progressively from home to home every half hour.

At the Harny home, Mrs. Anna C. Tate, accompanied by Mrs. Rush Holloway, sang, and Floyd Harris, accompanied by Joy Cullen, played several cornet solos. Mrs. V. F. Schwalm and Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Harny were hosts and hostesses.

Games and contests were enjoyed at the Hershey home. Professor and Mrs. S. M. Dell and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hershey were hosts and hostesses.

At the Bowman home contests conducted by Dr. J. D. Bright, were enjoyed. Those present included Mrs. J. Hugh Heckman, Dr. Bright, and Professor and Mrs. J. L. Bowman.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Doty assisted Professor and Mrs. J. A. Blair at the home of the latter where the students enjoyed various games.

The groups were served refreshments at the last home which they visited.

SCIENCE TEACHERS HOLD CONVENTION IN WICHITA

The Kansas Association of Physical Science Teachers, of which Dr. J. Willard Hershey is president is holding a convention at Wichita on February 3. The meeting is in connection with the annual session of the Council of Administration of the Kansas State Teachers Association. A program of addresses relating to chemistry and physics has been announced by Dr. Hershey. Mr. C. H. Dreher, of the science department of the McPherson high school, will give a talk on "How I Teach General Science."

SECOND SEMESTER ENROLL- MENT SHOWS DECREASE

From information given out at the dean's office last evening the enrollment for the second semester shows a decrease of twenty students over last semester. The present enrollment by classes is as follows: seniors 26, juniors 45, sophomores 35, and freshmen 27. The greatest decrease in enrollment came from the freshman class which had 121 last semester.

It was stated at the office that several of the 28 students attending college last semester who did not enroll may do so in the near future. Eight new students began their work here for the second semester.

There is, however, a limit at which forbearance ceases to be a virtue.

SECOND TEAM DEBATERS TO COMPETE TOMORROW

Debate, Oratory, and Extemp Contest To Be Held At Hutchinson

McPherson's second team debaters, orators, and extemp speakers will compete in a debate tournament which will be held tomorrow and Saturday at Hutchinson.

This contest which is open to college students with not more than 60 hours of college credit includes both oratory and extemp. In the oratorical contest students may write on any subject which they desire. The extemp subject may be chosen from the following: "Permanent increase in the powers of the president," "Federal control and regulation of the radio industry," or a choice of one of the two subjects for the contest to be held at Winfield. Two men and two women may enter in each event. The oration must not be more than 1600 words in length. The extemp speeches must be more than six and not over eight minutes in length.

Those students who will make the trip to Hutchinson are Paul Boor, Paul Larkie, Paul Heckman, John Adrian, Galt Patterson and Francis Christian.

PING PONG TOURNEY BEGINS ON MONDAY, FEBRUARY 5

The ping pong tournament sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. will begin next Monday, February 5. In the singles' tournament twenty-four students have indicated that they will enter. Others who wish to do so should sign the paper on the bulletin board by noon today. Pairings will be made and the first rounds will be played on Monday morning. Immediately after the singles' tournament a doubles' tournament will be staged.

A new set of rules has been posted on the bulletin board in the Y. M. room. All students entering the tourney are asked to note the changes in previous regulations. The committee in charge of the tourney is made up of Eldred Mathes, John Goering and David Duncanson.

STUDENT RECREATION

Dr. Charles A. Beard, noted historian, in a recent book, "A Century of Progress," states that out of a century of development in our nation we have achieved much in the way of increased efficiency in production and in labor saving devices, but that the problem of leisure is gaining new significance. To meet this challenge the student should begin in college to form those habits of recreation that he wishes to carry over into later life. These habits should be formed now, consciously.

In forming leisure habits the idea that leisure means loafing should be rejected once and for all. Neither does it mean that our mind should be given a rest by devoting ourselves to physical pleasures. The new leisure must be met with the attitude that the added time is to be used in creative work. Here is an opportunity to develop personal friendships, an appreciation for art, a strengthening of mental and physical vigor, and for increasing our stability of character. It should mean an opportunity for reflection and the breaking of the monotony of the modern world. These are the aspects of the new leisure that challenge each of us to work on this problem in college.

The challenge of the new leisure should inspire the student to take advantage of the recreational facilities and do his share toward furthering this work. His success in later life will be determined as much by the education which he receives in this manner as upon his more formal work.

A YOUTH MOVEMENT FOR AMERICA

America, according to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, has never had a youth movement worthy of the name.

Of course, he is correct. We have witnessed and are continuing to witness sporadic outbreaks of youthful exuberance, ranging from student strikes and protests against Nazism to embryo crusades for peace. But taken all in all, the average college is pretty much a provincial institution, despite the variety of "broadening" courses which are offered to stimulate student interest in world affairs.

It is safe to say that there certainly are enough students with the mental equipment equal to the task of organizing—or perhaps, more correctly, participating in—a notable youth movement, but their forces, wherever exhibited at all, seem to be scattered. Those who are active are decidedly in the minority, and for that there are a number of very good reasons, including:

1. Students who presume to express more than purely academic or inviolate opinions are very often considered nuts.

2. Students whose interests extend beyond their local campus more often than not are regarded by the townspeople as "nuts" or radicals or upstarts who should be shown their place, or all three.

3. Students who start and join "movements" generally either are not taken very seriously or are taken too seriously, in which event they are frowned upon by the college administration and townspeople and socially boycotted by a large proportion of students.

But, within, it is quite possible that within a short time under the "New Deal" we may witness the development of a youth movement that is worthy of the name—one that represents wholesome interest in and participation in world affairs and one that is not regarded either as an incipient Communist revolution or as a glorified football rally.

WAGES AND THE NRA

"The trouble with the NRA is, of course, that practically every feature of it runs exactly counter to accepted economic principles—principles based upon past experience. Business recovers by cutting costs enough to make profits possible even with the existing low level of prices of products."

"One of the heaviest costs of business is the wage bill. Therefore, one of the most effective ways of cutting costs is to lower wages per hour and increase the hours per week."

Unbelievably puerile as it may seem, that is the quoted statement of a college professor—of Professor Willard I. King of New York University. Any freshman knows the answer, and if he doesn't, any fair-minded economics professor can give him an earful.

What we are worried about is not the validity of Professor King's statement, because its thoroughgoing ridiculousness in a time when even the profit system itself is being questioned by our best thinkers (to say nothing of our best statesmen) is patent; nor is the absurd narrowness of such a viewpoint in the face of a near-disaster caused by past application of Professor King's theory; nor are we defending the NRA, BUT—

We ARE worried when any university professor, who should be a person of much more than average intelligence, makes a statement that sounds suspiciously as if it were not dictated by his own intelligence and his own conscience, but by other considerations basically selfish.

If, as true, as has been rumored, that in this day of the "New Deal" men of high academic standing are being used to spread selfish propaganda entirely contrary to their own findings and beliefs, then the day of complete academic freedom is indeed remote. We are not charging that Professor King was intimidated, nor that he has been guilty of a violation of an academic trust, but we are willing to wager that were he employed in some part of the country more remote from Wall Street, his astounding statement—assuming it is correct—would never have been made.

And if Professor King's statement DOES represent his idea of "accepting economic principles," then thank God the NRA violates them!

Campus Chaff

We managed at the last minute to go to Newton the other night to see the game. We thought it was a real game even if it was non-conference!

Suddenly somebody told us that a girl on the other side of the court had been with a carnival. You could just hear her saying, "Step right up—ten cents a throw," whenever she yelled at the Bethel team.

I wrote the above and decided that I couldn't be funny—that is no funnier than I naturally am—which reminds me that one of the funniest and most interesting persons who ever lived—not someone from this school—was told by her practice teacher—who lives quite a sum of miles from here also, but I found out anyway, and you don't have to believe me if you don't want to because I could hardly believe it myself, but it's true anyway because this person always tells the truth—that this student—the person who can tell the most uninteresting incident in a way which will make you hold your sides from laughter—that he had—and this was the reason he was not getting a better grade presumably—that he had no sense of humor!

I started to enroll the other day—as no doubt a number of you started to do so—and maybe some of you have had the good luck to finish, even up to getting past the business office, but I haven't got my mind completely made up—I started and then found that I must take what I didn't want—as no doubt you did—so I filled out my pedigree and filling—probably you did—and well, I'm tired and possibly you can guess the rest.

The school's pet black cat has hung around me so much lately that I can no longer walk straight, because I've gone in circles so long trying to keep away from its path.

EDITH BECHTELHEIMER GIVEN INFORMAL SURPRISE SHOWER

Miss Edith Bechtelheimer was given an informal party and surprise shower, Tuesday evening, January 30, in honor of her approaching marriage to Kermit Hayes, class of '32, by the girls of Arnold Hall.

The girls gathered in the parlors of the dormitory at 8 o'clock, where they played games and ate taffy and popcorn which had been prepared by a committee before the party began.

A new game was announced shortly after 9 o'clock. The players were asked to close their eyes and guess what would appear in the circle. When they opened their eyes, a red and white trimmed basket of gifts was in front of Miss Bechtelheimer.

Gifts were small, and varied from a skillet and a pot holder, through green glass mixing bowls and salt and pepper shakers, to a tray and six sherbet glasses. An unusual coincidence was that the girls gave things which would harmonize with the rest of the new home. All the colored gifts were green, the color Edith had planned to predominate in her kitchen.

WALLACE DESCRIBES NEW YOUTH MOVEMENT

"Must Be New, Vital, Adventurous Approach," Secretary States

Washington—(CNS)—Amplifying his previous statement that "America has never had a youth movement worthy of the name," Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace this week predicted that vital youth movement of some kind will arise as a definite part of the "New Deal."

He pointed out the "New Deal" itself is, in effect, a form of a youth movement, since the men who are primarily administering it are attempting to put into practice new and essentially youthful ideas that will provide a mechanism for social justice by balancing production with consumption and by guiding the nation in a "decent, sensible way" in its relationship with other nations.

"It seems to me," he said, "that youth instinctively believes in the doctrine of the New Deal as against special privilege."

"The depression of the past three years should create a genuine youth movement. Hundreds of thousands of boys and girls who thought they were going to slide through college on father's money now know that either they will have to work their way through college or they can't go at all. Thousands of students who have recently been graduated can't get jobs."

"Of necessity, therefore, hundreds of thousands of young people are asking these questions: 'Why should this great grief have come to us? What has suddenly gone wrong with civilization? What can we do to fix it up?'

"A true youth movement must be a new, vital, adventurous approach to the potentialities of coming of age. There has never been anything of this sort in the United States, because hitherto our youth have seen fit to disagree with their elders only on superficialities."

"Our college life has expressed its vitality in such rackets as organized football, or college activities of the sort which remain essentially the same from generation to generation."

Secretary Wallace predicted a tremendously increased interest in politics on the part of youth when American political forces ultimately express themselves through a conservative and a liberal party.

REGENTS RE-AFFIRM COMPULSORY R. O. T. C.

Los Angeles—(CNS)—Re-affirming its previous stand, the Board of Regents of the University of California this week was on record denying the petition of student leaders from the Berkeley campus of the university, who asked that compulsory military training be abolished as a policy of the institution.

The petition was presented at the Los Angeles meeting of the board and was signed by Wakefield Taylor, president of the Associated Students at the University of California at Berkeley; James McCollum, editor of the Daily Californian, and Bruce C. Yates, who was editor of the paper last year.

They declared that sentiment against compulsory R.O.T.C. courses was widespread among student groups at Berkeley and asked that the rules which force freshmen and sophomore men students to enroll for military training be relaxed.

After the petition had been presented to the board by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the university, and the board refused to alter its previously expressed policy, the regents asked Dr. Sproul to determine whether or not the petition represented a preponderance of student sentiment at Berkeley. The president was instructed to make a report at the next monthly meeting.

The regents sometime ago declined to allow two students of the University of California at Los Angeles to remain in school, although they refused to enroll for R.O.T.C. The students then appealed to the State Supreme Court, but lost the decision.

EFFORTS TO WIPE OUT DEFICIT IN CAMPAIGN

McPherson College Financial Drive to Begin in Near Future

McPherson college will soon stage a financial campaign during which it is hoped that the deficit created in the last two or three years will be wiped out, according to an announcement made recently by Dr. V. F. Schwalm.

The reduction in revenue resulting from the widespread economic depression has made it extremely difficult for the college to operate. The curtailment of income has taken the form of reduced gifts, the failure of investments, and the lowering of student payments.

Dr. Schwalm and Dr. J. J. Yoder, treasurer of the board of trustees, recently appeared before the McPherson Chamber of Commerce and reviewed the financial situation of the college. Their appeal met with the hearty endorsement of that body.

Dr. Schwalm, viewing the situation made the following statement:

"The past four years have been very difficult ones for all kinds of schools. Higher educational institutions have suffered especially. In many private colleges a major share of the decrease in income has been borne by the faculty in the form of reduced salaries.

"In order to meet the accumulating deficits many private colleges in Kansas have, during the past few years put on heavy drives for funds among their friends. Washburn, Ottawa, Emporia and Kansas Wesleyan as well as others, have all had drives, some for $12,000; some for $34,000, $26,000 and even to $100,000.

"During the past three years McPherson college has raised some money to help with the current expenses of the college through the Booster Banquet. But these were comparatively small sums. They have not been sufficient to prevent the college from running up a deficit each year. Due to this fact, and the fact that returns from investments and other sources of income and collections from students have been very bad this year McPherson college plans to put on a campaign to raise a much larger sum in McPherson and McPherson County during February and March. Alumni of the college throughout Kansas have contributed rather generously already this year. The Brethren Churches will be called upon to give on McPherson college Day, April 22nd. The campaign in the McPherson community will end with the Booster Banquet on March 23rd, but will be of much larger proportions than the usual Booster Banquet Campaign of the past."

ORCHESTRA CONCERT FEB. 26

The college orchestra has set February 26 as the date for its public concert to be held in the chapel, it was announced this week by Miss Lois Wilcox, director.

The regents sometime ago declined to allow two students of the University of California at Los Angeles to remain in school, although they refused to enroll for R.O.T.C. The students then appealed to the State Supreme Court, but lost the decision.

Glen Seitz and Beulah Bickenshaft both former McPherson college students were married recently and are now located at El Dorado, Kansas, where he is in the aluminum business.

C.W.A. WORK FOR STUDENTS OBJECT OF COLLEGE HEADS

An extensive move is underway by the college heads of this district to obtain CWA funds for work to aid college and university students. Several weeks ago Chancellor E. H. Lindley of Kansas University appeared before a committee at Washington in defense of the project.

United States Commissioner of Education, George F. Zook, in a recent letter to Harry L. Hopkins, CWA administrator, pointed out that at the present time many colleges have students who are doing this type of work. To this would be added the privately controlled institutions of the nation. The project is believed to have the approval of Administrator Hopkins and pressure is being brought on the president for his opinions.

Chancellor Lindley in a letter to Dr. V. F. Schwalm states that he believes "there is an even chance that the project may get through."

JARDINE NEW HEAD OF WICHITA UNIVERSITY

Dr. William M. Jardine, educator and diplomat and at present state treasurer, has accepted the position as president of Wichita University. The announcement was made Saturday. Dr. Jardine was one time United States secretary of agriculture. He will assume his duties on March 1.

NEW FORM OF COLLEGE BUL- LETIN ISSUED QUARTERLY

McPherson college has recently begun the publication of a new type of college bulletin to be issued monthly, excepting the months of July and September. The publication will carry news of general interest to the alumni, parents, and friends of the institution. The January issue contained 1,800 copies.

The bulletin was formerly issued quarterly.

STUDENTS ARE ELI- GIBLE FOR CWA JOBS

Washington, D. C.—(CNS)—According to George F. Zook of the United States Department of the Interior, no rules against the employment of students under the Civil Works Administration program exist.

He added, however, that local CWA officials have wide discretion in the matter of choosing projects and governing working conditions. Students desiring CWA jobs would, of course, be required to satisfy the usual requirements for all other workers, he said.

To Stay In Running For Championship

Tomorrow night the McPherson College Bulldogs will oppose Kansas Wesleyan university defending champions of the conference, on the Convention Hall floor.

The Bulldogs must win from the Coyotes tomorrow night in order to stay in the running for the conference championship. Wesleyan has several members of the last year's championship team back in this year's lineup.

Last year the Bulldogs dropped both games to Kansas Wesleyan, once losing by a wide margin. This year the Coyotes have not been faring so well and the Bulldogs are rated as having more than an even break in this game.

Tomorrow's game will be the fourth conference game for the Blufford coached team and the squad is set on turning in a victory. A large crowd is anticipated with many planning to come from Salina.

BULLDOGS LOSE CLOSE CONTEST TO EMPORIANS

The Bulldogs lost a rough and tumble game to the league-leading College of Emporia basketeers at Emporia Saturday night by a score of 33-27.

The score was close with the Emporians having a slight edge all the way. The victory leaves College of Emporia alone at the top of the conference with no defeats marked against them. Barb led the scorers with 11 points. Pauls of McPherson scored 8.

SCHWALM RETURNS AFTER WEEK SPENT IN EAST

Dr. V. F. Schwalm returned Tuesday evening after spending a week in Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania, and other parts of the East. Most of the week was spent at the Thirty-Fifth Annual Bible Institute of the Brethren at Elizabethtown college. Dr. D. W. Kurtz also spoke.

Dr. Schwalm spoke on two series of lectures. One dealt with modern problems of a social, political and economic nature. The second series centered around the subject, "Lessons in the Sermon on the Mount." He gave a total of seventeen addresses. The meetings were well attended. Some of them gained an attendance of 1,400.

After leaving McPherson, Dr. Schwalm attended a meeting of the Association of American Colleges at St. Louis. He also preached with Dr. Kurtz at Danville, Ohio, and visited Juniata College.

Y CABINETS EXCHANGE PERSONAL CRITICISMS

The student Y cabinet organizations have recently been following out a plan of giving personal criticisms of each of its members at their meetings. The Y. M. cabinet carried out the plan first, the group discussing the faults of each of its members separately. This was followed by an exchange of criticisms between the two cabinets.

The two students ousted from the University of California at Los Angeles have indicated they will appeal to the courts.

SPORT LIGHTS

The Bulldogs had a little hard luck against Emporia, but we're still looking champs.

Pauls just couldn't seem to get going in that disastrous game of last Saturday night, but he'll get "hot" some of these days yet!

M. C. still has a good command of the League outcome if they can only get back their earlier game punch. Here's hoping that they do so, and at a real early date, too!

Kansas Wesleyan will furnish the opposition Friday evening of this week when the next conference game of the season comes off.

K. W. U. had rather tough sledding so far this season, but they can always be looked for to put up a plenty stiff battle.

The Coyotes have defeated Bethany once, but they did this in a close battle, while Ottawa walloped them badly!

McPherson has beaten the Swedes twice by large margins, and they have taken a pair of games from Bethel, and one from Ottawa. This does points to the Canines!

Come on out and help them turn in a win!

Lillian Sandy, '24, Ethel Sherfy, '32, and Grace Heckman, '33, who are teaching school at Hillsboro, Chase, and Marion, Kansas respectively spent the holidays in their homes at McPherson.

SWEDES AGAIN DEFEATED BY MCPHERSON QUINTET

The Bulldogs won for the second time this season over the Bethany Swedes in a hard-fought, defensive basketball game. The score this time was 28-21.

Before the Christmas holidays the Bulldogs won over the Swedes in a non-conference exhibition game by the top-sided score of 42-14.

The second game seemed much closer than the score indicates, with the Bethany quintet putting up a great scrap during most of the contest. The Bulldogs held a slight edge during the entire game and toward the latter part of the second half they pulled away to a comfortable margin.

METHODISTS WILL BE EXCUSED FROM R. O. T. C.

Lincoln, Neb., (CNS)—Methodist, as well as Quaker and Mennonite, students will be excused from military training classes if they so desire, Chancellor E. A. Burnett of the University of Nebraska announced this week.

Formerly Quaker and Mennonite students were the only ones allowed to escape compulsory R. O. T. C. courses, because of religious convictions, but in view of a resolution denouncing war and adopted by the general conference of the Methodist church last year, the new policy will be placed in effect, Chancellor Burnett said.

His announcement followed a meeting of the Board of Regents, at which three Lincoln pastors appeared to protest against the application of the university for "federal public works funds with which to construct a new armory on the campus. A resolution of protest against this project previously had been passed at a mass meeting of students, faculty members and pastors. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes was asked to disapprove the building of the armory.

We may neglect the wrongs which we receive, but be careful to rectify those which we are the cause of to others.—Dewey.

A joint fraternity meeting at Pittsburg proved so successful that more are planned in the future. The fraternities holding the meeting were Alpha Gamma Tau, the physical science fraternity, and Lambda Sigma Kappa, the biology fraternity.
