TWENTY-FIVE STUDENTS ATTEND ENGLISH TEA

Social To Be Monthly Affairs For English Students

About twenty-five students of the English and modern language department were entertained at a tea Friday afternoon, October 13, at 3:30 o'clock in the Y. W. room.

Miss Della Lehman read the play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." This is a most interesting English play based upon the romance of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett.

Tea was poured by Miss Edith McGaffey. Members of the Shakespeare class acted as assistant hostesses.

It was planned to have a similar social once a month for those interested in literature and language. Miss McGaffey will probably give a book review at the November meeting.

SCHWALM VISITS STERLING IN PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL

Dr. Y. F. Schwalm represented McPherson college in the inaugural last Wednesday evening of the Rev. Hugh Alexander Kelsey, D. D., as president of Sterling college.

College officials from Kansas, Missouri, and Illinois participated in the program. The Rev. T. H. McMichael of Monmouth, Ill., gave the chief address. Chancellor E. H. Lindley of Kansas University also spoke.

Biology provides not one shred of observational evidence to support the spontaneous origin of living matter in the world today.—Dr. James Gray, Cambridge professor.

There is a very serious question as to whether our free education system can continue.—Belmont Parley.

Wherever we have learned new truth, sensed new beauty, improved taste, or found new ways to live, it has never been by the vision of majorities.—Dr. Robert Wicks of Princeton University.

ANCHOR YOURSELF DOUBLY, SAYS HESS

The college student in order to keep the highest morals should keep himself doubly anchored. This was the advice of Prof. M. A. Hess who spoke in chapel last week.

Prof. Hess stated that every campus had rocks of moral temptations. The student away from home must make good moral decisions or he will be lost in these rocks. Moral habits and customs that are learned at home should not be discarded until some better moral anchorage is found.

Lots Edwards gave a piano solo.

FRESHMEN ENTERTAINED IN KID PARTY

Games and Program Provide Entertainment of Traditional Event

The traditional freshman-senior kid party, in which the senior must entertain the freshman, was held last evening in the college gymnasium. The students came dressed as small children.

Immediately after 7:45 the students assembled in the center of the gymnasium where the freshman might shake hands with the lucky senior and win an all-day sucker.

The students were then divided into four groups where each was required to sing a nursery rhyme to the tune of some popular song.

Following this came the judging of costumes. The judges in this event were Dean F. A. Replogle, Irene Mason, and Sam Stoner. The winners in this contest were Spud Minear and Maxine Atchison. These two won a box of stick candy.

The regular program followed this. Wayne Carr sang a solo. Ada Brunk gave a reading, and Una Ring gave a toe dance. Carroll Kooz and Lois Edwards played a piano duet.

Four pictures were taken of the group.

Appropriate refreshments of ice cream, animal crackers, and suckers were served.

The committee in general charge of the program was made up of Wheeler Kurtz and Una Ring. Corinne Suter planned the games, Elizabeth and Robert Bowman planned the stunts and Corinne Bowers prepared the menu. Wheeler Kurtz acted as master of ceremonies.

SIXTY STUDENTS ARE RECEIVING SCHOLARSHIPS

Eighteen Hold Valedictorian Scholarships—Salutatorians Also Get Reductions

Sixty McPherson college students are being aided in their college expenses by one of the five kinds of scholarships which McPherson college offers. These scholarships range in value from one-half of tuition expenses to twenty dollars a semester.

Twenty-five of this number are taking advantage of scholarships offered to pastor's children. Only children whose parents are engaged in active work of the Brethren church are entitled to this scholarship, except in McPherson, where the denomination is disregarded. This scholarship has a value of one-third of all tuition expenses.

Three students have scholarships given to active ministers. This scholarship is worth one-half of the tuition. Eighteen students hold valedictorian scholarships, which is valued at twenty-five dollars per semester for the first two years after graduation. This scholarship is offered to students ranking first in their high school class.

Twelve people have salutatorian scholarships valued at twenty dollars a semester for the first two years after the student has finished high school. Students ranking second highest in their high school class are entitled to this scholarship.

Two students are being aided by music scholarships, of a total value of twenty-five dollars. This scholarship is offered to high school seniors winning the music contest sponsored by McPherson college every spring.

COLLEGIATE DIGEST MAY SUPPLEMENT SPECTATOR

The Collegiate Digest, a rotogravure magazine has been added to list of papers on the exchange shelf, in the library.

This picture section contains news of the campuses of the nation. It is published by the Intercollegiate Press Association of which the Spectator is a member. The only compensation that the association asks is that pictures of our own campus be sent to them to be published.

There is a possibility that the picture section will be added to each copy of The Spectator.

FRESHMEN ENGLISH STUDENTS RANK HIGH

From Twenty-two Schools Reporting, M. C. Students Are Fourth

Of twenty-two schools who have reported their results of the freshmen English tests taken by students over the entire country this year, McPherson college freshmen ranked fourth. The results were compiled by the Emporia Teachers college and returned to the English department here.

The M. C. students' percentage score exceeded that of 64.5% of the 3,217 students for whom scores were reported. Of the nine Kansas schools reporting, McPherson ranked first. The State Normal School at New Haven, Connecticut, was in first place. Its score ranking 6.5% above the M. C. freshmen.

The scores in this test varied widely this year, and while all questions did not show the same degree of difficulty, no question was answered correctly by all the students. Six questions however, were answered correctly by 95% of the students. On the other hand two questions were answered correctly by less than 20% of the students.

MANY COLLEGE STUDENTS ACT AS ASSISTANTS

Several Earn Part of Expenses Working As Assistants or Secretaries

Several college students this year are earning part of their tuition and expenses doing secretarial and assistant work for the various members of the faculty.

There are seven assistants in the library this year. These are: Wanda Hoover, Ralph Sherry, Kenneth Weaver, Fern Early, Mrs. Wagoner, Bernice Drescher and Helen Webber. The first four are working in compensation for their scholarships.

The student secretaries are: Lois Lackey for Dr. V. F. Schwalm, Corinne Bowers for Dean F. A. Replogle, Edith Bechtelheimer for Dean R. E. Mohler, and Maurine Stutzman for Prof. J. H. Fries. Mildred Sellberg is an assistant for Prof. J. A. Blair and Faith Ketterman does some secretarial work for Dr. Hershey, Leonard Engberg and Jo Wagoner are assistants in physics. Dr. J. D. Bright's assistant is John Goering; Harry Frantz and Edwin Carlson are assistants in woodworking.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA STUDENTS ENJOY PICNIC

Went To The Sand Pit Last Tuesday Evening

Thirty members of the college orchestra and band went on a picnic at the sand pit last Tuesday evening, October 10. Though originally planned as a hike, all the students rode in cars, except two feminine enthusiasts.

Archie Lindholm, Audrey Groves, and Laurene Schlatter were in charge of the entertainment. James Reed, Pascal Davis and Corinne Bowers had charge of the food purchases which Velma Watkins had previously purchased with the twenty cents that was collected from each member.

PAUL HARRIS, JR., IS ON CAMPUS TODAY

To Speak to International Relations Club at 2:30—Addresses Chapel

IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Students Are Urged to Attend All Meetings of Student Leader

Paul Harris, Jr., youth leader and a firm believer in the power of men to overcome obstacles to his improvement, is on the campus today. Through lectures and speeches, Mr. Harris imparts an enthusiasm and inspiration which he has acquired through wide experience and study.

Mr. Harris will speak this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to the International Relations Club in the Y. W. room. At 6:15 he will speak to the city Rotary Club and at 7:45 a meeting will be held in the chapel. A joint meeting of the Y cabinets is being considered. The speaker is brought here under the auspices of the Y organizations of the campus.

Mr. Harris is the Director of the Youth Movement for the World Recovery, a younger peace movement encouraged by the National Council for the Prevention of War. This position requires a man whose outlook is youthful, but still has sagacity born of wide experience. He studied in the Kentucky State College and Vanderbilt and later on the National Staff of the Boy Scouts of America. From 1927 to 1930 Mr. Harris became associated with several organizations whose purpose was the improvement of man.

The recommendation of the speaker by the state Y. M. C. A. secretary closes with the following statements: "In the last analysis, Paul Harris is not so much the director of the Youth Movement for World Recovery as he is the imaginative force at the center of the Movement. He realizes that the enthusiasm of youth wants and needs more of the shoulder-to-shoulder drive than of direction. He understands how to let youth take the initiative, once his imagination has been stirred." It is urged that students attend as many of the meetings as possible.

"The Flower of Yeddo," which has its setting in Japan, a poet, Maxine DeBost; Musme (Saxhim), a dancing girl, Una Ring; Taiphon (Djowin), Nava Root; and Sainara, beloved of Kam, Agnes Bean.

BOOST McPHERSON COLLEGE

PAUL HARRIS

Paul Harris, Jr., who is on the campus today represents the youth of America. He is a leader of the youth of our country. Having been associated with the younger generation from early life, Mr. Harris knows their problems and approaches them with a common viewpoint. Yet his wide experience gives him a sagacious outlook. His enthusiasm and wide experience should inspire the student to new goals and new imaginativeness. To the Y organizations which bring members of this type to the campus is interested in the welfare of the entire student body. This organization means to help not the few but the entire group. It is their desire that the students should prepare themselves, not only for a successful college life, but also for wholesome living in the future. The student should feel fortunate that we have these organizations on the campus. In return for their interest he should strive to make them successful in their campaigns for finance and membership.

YOUR PICTURE IN THE QUAD

The Quadrangle Staff is seeking the cooperation of all McPherson College students in helping to make the 1934 Quad a high-class annual. Students can aid materially by getting their Quadrangle photographs taken promptly when requested to do so. The Quadrangle is a book every student will want, and every student will want his own picture as well as those of his friends, in it. Have you ever stopped to consider the very good reasons why you should have your picture in the 1934 Quad? Don't fail to have your sitting for a picture soon—you'll want it in the Quad at the end of this year, but it'll be too late then.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN M. C.

The spirit of antagonism between the "M" Club members and non-"M" Club fellows is at the base of an incident which occurred on the campus last Monday after the noon meal; such an incident might easily cause an off-campus observer to question the sportsmanship of McPherson College men. An "M" Club fellow left the dinner table before the meal was dismissed. A group of "M" Club members followed, and gave him official birthday greetings, with their belts. The remainder of the dorm fellows soon emerged from the dining hall, expecting to have a similar opportunity. Several students unthinkingly attempted to persuade the fellow to run "thru the belt line" again; after some hot words had caused some hard feelings, the fellow ran through the belt line. If the fellow celebrating his birthday showed poor sportsmanship the fellows who unwisely argued with him did likewise.

McPherson college is noted for sportsmanship; sportsmanship in athletics, forensics, and in all other fields of intercollegiate competition. We are proud of our record of sportsmanlike attitudes toward other schools—let's show it on our own campus as well. Long live our fame as the School of Quality and clean sportsmanship!—Submitted.

A STUDENT'S PERSPECTIVE

The student, occupied as he is by the events of campus life, cannot be unconscious to the problems of the world. In looking about the great crime wave discourages him. The graft and corruption in local and state governments are equal to that of days of Boss Tweed. Four years of depression and little to look forward to after leaving school is sure to dim his hopes of past years. And finally when the hopes for world peace have grown dark the student is likely to lose hope and in despondency say, "What's the use?"

The student is likely to be more conscientious about these problems than the man engaged in some other occupation. He looks out from his narrow circle and tries to form opinions about the nation and the world. For this reason the student needs perspective. He should try to conceive of a way out despite the forces working against him.

But rather than do this many students are likely to try to elude these problems. This method is no solution and can only serve to postpone rather than solve them.

NEW FOOTBALL ETHICS

College students are doing their part to help the NRA, a survey of the camp reveals. From Maine to California, from Syracuse to Podunk, the students are showing themselves to be 99.9 per cent behind Mr. Roosevelt—the other one-tenth of one per cent being behind Mr. Garner, the Forgotten Man.

All of which is liable to lead to agitation in favor of a code of fair competition for the football industry. Washington State College students already are thinking of appealing to General Johnson. The Evergreen student newspaper, recently charged that one of Coach Jimmy Phelan's assistants at the University of Washington appeared on the Washington State campus in Pullman for the express purpose of inducing a potential grid star to change his registration to the Seattle institution.

Coach "Babe" Hollingsbery of the Cougars heard about the deep, dark plot, according to The Evergreen, and managed to frustrate it only after a wild auto ride, which resulted in the rival coach being run out of town. Coach Hollingsbery hereafter is going to post signs around the campus, reading: "No proselyting beyond this line."

He who seeks to lose himself in good thoughts never needs to defend his actions.

CAMPUS CHAFF

One of our young egotists who does her weekly washing in the college laundry—namely, the wash machine in the basement of the college gymnasium—had a sad experience. She took her clothes over there and prepared to wash. Then she changed her mind and decided to do the work a few days later. When she finally came back she found that the clothes which she had not bothered to take home had been food for a number of little varmints. They had become as the proverbial sieve!

We have been wondering just how long Warner Nettleton was going to be in possession of the extra fuzz on his upper lip. Last week we thought that it had shrunk a trifle, but it is still in evidence.

"The question nowadays seems to be 'to mistake or not to mistake.'"

If you should wander into the dramatic art classroom you might notice on the blackboard a number of mysterious looking marks with accompanying initials. The class was casting a play in which some of the girls are to take the parts of men. They couldn't tell just who were taller, because of the various kinds of heels worn, so Miss Lehman had them take off their shoes and stand up against the black board, while she marked the height and put the person's initials by it. Thus, it was necessary only to look at the board to pick out the "men" in the class.

After seeing the kid party last night, one would think that this was a college of exceedingly brilliant students. Such precocious pupils, not one a day over ten!

Everyone was so excited after the game Friday night that no one seemed to notice that we were singing the wrong song—not "All Hail to Thee."

The juniors can be glad they have a large class, for so many can easily entertain the few seniors. Pity the poor twenty-five seniors who had one hundred eighteen freshmen to care for last night. They had over five apiece.

After seeing some of the green upshoot around here we agree with Fatima—"What a whale of a difference a few sense makes."

The hash we have around here should be called "Character"—the sum total of all our yesterdays.

UNIQUE DESCRIPTION OF COLLEGE PAPERS GIVEN

Library Student Gives Meaning To Large Number of Papers There

The "State College Leader" of Fort Hays, Kansas, who was of the "Apostolic Faith" and the "Leader," of Kingman, Kansas, was especially interested in the "Christian Science Monitor," waited others to know more about "College Life" and "University Life." Consequently, they wrote the "Bulletin" of Friends Bible College, and the "Bulletin" of K. S. T. C. using the "Park Stylus" during "Our College Times."

When it grew dark, they tried writing an "Educational Bulletin" telling the month's radio program. "Is it 'New York Times'?" asked one. "No, it is 'Kansas City Times,' don't you realize it is the 'Kansas City Star' we're under?" said the other.

The two leaders planned a political meeting. They sent out the "Reformatory Herald" and the "Bethany Messenger" to advertise it, and gave the two individuals "Topeka Daily Capital" to finance the trip. Those who attended the confab were the "McPherson Daily Republican" and the "Evening Kansas Republican" from Newton. The "Spectator" was amazed when they both gave a "Democrat Opinion." The meeting was adjourned just before the "Spotlight" came on at St. Nobert Times.

The "Meloneer News" of Rocky Ford, Colorado, reported the gathering to the "Washburn Review," thus bringing it to the notice of the "Farthest North Collegian" of College, Alaska, and his friend the "Panama American." They had become acquainted by reading the "Collegiate Digest," a paper giving the national college news in picture and paragraph.

Word of the venture's success put a "B. C. Bee" with a "High School Buzz" in their bonnet. They decided it would be a "Lark" to have a party of their own.

They could decorate the "Ottawa Campus" in "Blue and White" and "Baker Orange." Someone mentioned "Red and Black" but because so many colors might clash, it was decided to save the last two for another time.

When the "Southwestern Collegian" of Winfield, Kansas, heard the plans, he suggested the use of the "Park Beacon" with the "B. R. C. Reflector."

The "Prairie Owl" hooted at several of the ideas and threatened to spoil the fun with "Cactus." Under the watchful eye of the "Wichita Eagle" however, all he could do was drop a "Sunflower" on the grounds. The "Haymaker" raked it away, so that there was no damage.

Finally, with the help of the "Abilene High School Booster" and the K. S. A. C. "Industrialist," everything was ready for the guests, who were the "William Jewell Student" of Liberty, Missouri, the "University Daily Kansan," of Lawrence, Kansas, the "Weekly Newtonian" from Newton, Kansas, high school, and all the others who have been mentioned.

Hilarity reigned until it made even "Ye Sterling Stir" in its resting place at Sterling, Kansas. Everyone departed at a late hour, with a cheery "Collegio."

"COLLEGE GOING" COW PAYS FRESHMAN'S EXPENSES

"Milk from a college going cow is more healthful." This is the advertisement of Charles Hager, freshman, who in order to pay his expenses through school, has brought his cow to school with him and is selling milk to defray expenses. His Holstein gives 20 quarts a day, which he sells to a downtown grocery store in the morning and to eight private customers in the evening.

Hager does chores for his board and room, and his cow pays for his tuition, books, and personal expenses. He plans to get his four years of education by selling milk, and intends to be a farmer, specializing in dairy cattle. Hager is from Chase, Kansas.

CALIFORNIA REGENTS UPHOLD R. O. T. C.

Officials Rule That Students Must Enroll for Military Training

Los Angeles, Oct. 18—"Sign up or be signed out!"

Such, in effect, is the ruling of the Board of Regents of the University of California which has been sent to officials of the University of California at Los Angeles with regard to the cases of two students who have refused to enroll for military training courses.

"Compulsory military training is simply a form of physical exercise which has been part of the university's activities for years," declared George L. Cochran, a Los Angeles regent, following a meeting of the board at which the ruling was made.

"It is working no hardship, on the contrary, it has been highly beneficial, and we believe in its efficacy. We are reaffirming our conviction that it is worthy and that it will remain an academic function."

"Students who do not conform will have to go elsewhere."

John Beardsley, attorney, had appeared before the board on behalf of the two students, Alonzo Reynolds, Jr., and Albert W. Hamilton, both of whom are ministers' sons and "conscientious objectors" to military training, to ask that the rule requiring all freshmen and sophomores to enroll for R. O. T. C. be set aside. This the regents declined to do, however, on the ground such an action would be contrary to the charter of the university.

Beardsley immediately announced that he would institute a court action on behalf of Reynolds and Hamilton in an effort to force the university to allow them to attend without taking military training courses. This case will be carried to the State Supreme Court, he said.

The students are members of an assertedly pacifistic organization known as the Green Shirts. They are also being supported in the protest against compulsory R.O.T.C. courses by Methodist ministers in this vicinity.

PROCEDURE FOR SCHOOL SOCIALS ANNOUNCED

Henceforth the students, when planning for a picnic, party, or other social affairs, should follow a definite procedure. Such a procedure, it is thought, would avoid conflicts and save the organization trouble by reserving a future date for the activity.

The procedure as announced is: (1) Consult school calendar for conflicts, which is in charge of Prof. J. H. Fries. (2) Get a permit from social committee, Miss Della Lehman is its chairman. (3) Reserve a date on the college calendar in the business office.

LINGENFELTER STUDENTS PLAN C. E. PROGRAM

STUDENT COUNCIL FILLS OFFICES IN MEETING

The student council in its first meeting of the year chose Bob Bowman as vice-president and Jo Wagoner as secretary for this year. A social chairman is yet to be chosen.

The council also adopted a temporary budget for this year, but as it is not definite, it is not being published as yet. The Spectator this year, if it makes a profit, must apply it to the deficit of former years.

DR. HERSHEY MEETS BABE RUTH ON RETURN TRIP

While on his way home from the convention at Chicago, Dr. J. Willard Hershey had the good fortune to meet Babe Ruth and talk to him. Dr. Hershey was able to get not only the autograph of the home run king, but also those of his wife and little girl. Dr. Hershey had quite a little talk with the Babe, in which he learned that Ruth is going to Honolulu, where he intends to play his beloved baseball.

'FRIENDSHIP' IS TOPIC OF C. E. MEETING

Friendship was the topic for discussion in the meeting of the college Christian Endeavor Sunday. The first talk was by Willard Fleming on "Hindrances to Friendships." He mentioned a few of the things that hinder friendships such as the time required, selfishness, and mental attitudes towards friends.

Bernice Keedy spoke next on "Essentials of True Friendships." She pointed out that a true friendship is the product of a gradual growth. Included in a true friendship is loyalty and a love for each other.

Esther Howers discussed the question "Should We Choose Friends With High or Low Standards?" She said that if we are weak in character we should choose friends with high standards who can help us, but if we have high standards we should choose friends that we can help.

Joe Zueck gave the last talk which was the difference between true friends and "fair weather" friends. He stated that we could tell the difference by their attitude toward us when we are in need.

Leonard Love was the leader of the meeting. Warner Nettleton gave a vocal solo.

BURRESS SCORES TOUCHDOWN TO WIN HARD BATTLE WITH WESLEYAN COYOTES FRIDAY

Bulldogs Score in Second Quarter After Forty-One Yard March Down Field—McPherson Makes Eleven First Downs To Six For Wesleyan

SCORE THREAT FAILS

Wesleyan Makes Desperate Attempt To Score In Final Quarter

The McPherson college Bulldogs won their first Kansas Conference football game Friday night at Salina when they defeated the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes, 6-0.

McPherson scored on the first play of the second quarter when Burress plunged over from the 1-yard line after a long march which started from almost mid-field. The Bulldogs threatened to score on two other occasions while Wesleyan's only scoring threat was in the fourth quarter when they advanced to the six-yard line.

The first part of the opening quarter was played on even terms with the ball in midfield most of the time. Robinson, Wesleyan punter, booted a good kick and Wiggins kicked one back that went over the Coyote safety and was good for 70 yards. A few running plays failed to gain much so Robinson punted and Carpenter brought the ball back 18 yards, putting the ball on the Wesleyan 41 yard line.

Two plays brought no gain and on the third down a pass from Burress to Hann was good for 7 yards. A Coyote was offside on the next play, which gave the Bulldogs a first down. Carpenter went around the right side of the line for 8 yards and on the next play Burress hit the center of the line for 3 more and a first down.

With the ball on the 19-yard line, Hann gained 7 yards, Burress 2, and then Hann 7 more, placing the ball on the 3-yard line with first and goal to go. Carpenter gained 2 yards as the quarter ended and on the first play of the second quarter Burress smashed through for the lone score of the game.

At the start of the third quarter Carpenter gained 10 yards on the first play and for a few minutes the Bulldogs showed an offensive threat, but the Coyotes soon held. Backed up to the goal, Wesleyan was forced to punt and Hayes blocked the kick and Pauls recovered on the Wesleyan 10-yard line. The men of Mackie held the Bulldogs for downs and Robinson sent a long kick down the field to get out of danger.

Wesleyan started a drive in the latter part of the third quarter that proved to be their only real threat of the game. Enslie and Robinson did most of the ball lugging and made three first downs.

The start of the fourth quarter found the Coyotes still driving for the goal. Robinson raced 11 yards down the field on a reverse, placing the ball on the 6 yard line. Two more plays lost a yard and on the next play Pauls recovered a fumble on the 2-yard line. Wiggins punted 51 yards and the threat was over.

The Bulldogs showed their drive again toward the latter part of the game. Robinson got a kick off to the side and Binford returned it and the Bulldog backs took turns lugging the ball until it was placed on the 5-yard line. The Wesleyan line held and on the fourth down an attempted place kick barely missed.

During the remaining few minutes the Coyotes tried desperately to score. They tried several passes but none were completed and some fake reverses gained only a few yards. The game ended with the ball in the middle of the field.

SPORT LIGHTS

What a game that was with Kansas Wesleyan! Boy, did Coach Mackie's Coyotes ever go back to their dens with beaten hopes dragging behind them? — They did!

Right now, McPherson's chances look the best in years, with their three victories stored away and the entire team clicking nicely.

And that boy Pauls certainly snagged one beautiful pass in Friday night's game, when he leaped high in the air, barely taking a long pass away from a Coyote man.

Kauffman, the only substitute sent in by Coach Binford, held up his part of the line nicely and played a dandy game at center while he was in there.

Now the biggest problem facing the Canines is disposing of the tough Baker Wildcats who will be in the city next Friday night to pay their respects to the Binford crew.

Baker likewise has a backfield that is composed largely of freshmen grid men. But they are a backfield to be watched every minute of the game.

Sports writers over the state are liberally praising the Bulldog backfield which has been functioning so nicely in their games.

The student body will be needed in their fullest strength out to the game when Baker and McPherson meet, as that is the way the team can do 40 per cent better than their best, in the words of Nera Root, our salty new cheer leader.

The men students in McPherson college average two years older than the women students.

BULLDOGS MEET STRONG BAKER TEAM FRIDAY

Lead in Kansas Conference Will Depend On Outcome

Friday night the McPherson college Bulldogs will tangle with the Baker university Wildcats in what promises to be the hardest game the local team has encountered so far this season.

At present these two teams are tied for the leadership of the Kansas Conference with one victory each. Baker defeated Bethany 27-0 last week while the Bulldogs won from Kansas Wesleyan, 6-0. This game will feature the play of the conference schools for this week-end.

"Dopo in this game seems to be fairly even, and an advantage, if any, should probably be given to Baker. Last year the Wildcats won from the Bulldogs by a score of 20-0. Baker's advantage this year is probably given to them because of their emphatic victory over the Swedes, not only in score but in every other department of the game.

The Binford-Selves aggregation came-out of the Wesleyan game badly bruised but the men are coming out of it and it appears as though the entire squad will be ready for action against Baker.

The coaching staff is using every precaution in preparing for this game
