Church Recreation Subject of B.Y.P.D

Naylor And Gibson Relate To Students The Conception Of Play.

Kurtis Naylor spoke on eational Program of the Church" in B. Y. P. D. Sunday evening. Helen Deane Gibson, in the devotional perlod preceding the talk, quoted from "Victorious Living" by E. Stanley Jones to show how recreation and religion should be related.

Kurtis showed first of all how cous, like all other children and Jesus, like all other children and young people, enjoyed play. Then he explained that the Church of the Brethren has unique beliefs concern-ing the recreation of young people. that it is opposed to commercialized amusementa and because of this, there has to be something to take the place of these forms of activity. The ability to choose wisely between these different types of recreation is one criterion upon which we base our judgment of young people.

The interest of the church is greatly increasing in training young people for leadership in recreation program building, both in the church and in our colleges. A well-balanced recreational program builds up the

Plans are being fogmed to build an industrial aris department building behind Kline hall with the valuable cement blocks taken from the old gymnasium.

New Boys' Dormitory

Also within a possible span of two years McPherson College will either have a completely remodeled men's dormitory dr a new structure. If the dormitory is remodeled the top floor will be torn off and the two lower floors will be done over and modernized. The basement will be made into apartments and the indus-trial art quarters will be moved to a new structure.

Also a committee under the direction of Dr. John Boltnott are plan-ning drastic curricula revision for next year. Plans are also underway to hire an extra librarian to aid in the increased library load. So with the present developments McPherson College can look shead with great expectation toward an even greater McPherson College
