

Seniors To Assume Shakespearian Roles Friday

Thompson, Hoffman Are Starred In Elizabethan Play

Heading the list of events for commencement week is one of the most ambitious productions ever attempted by a Macollege group, the senior class Shakespearian play, "The Merchant of Venice," which is presented in the college auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday.

William Thompson, Luther Harshbarger, and Opal Hoffman assume leading roles in the play that will feature such many other prominent campus actors and actresses. The play will be directed by Miss Vera Heckman with Miss Della Lehman as her assistant.

There will be a preliminary performance Thursday evening for those who cannot attend the famous drama Friday. Tickets for the main performance will be placed at reserve at Bibby-Lindsay drug store Wednesday morning.

"The Merchant of Venice" will be staged in Elizabethan style with three stages, the stage proper, an upper stage and an extended stage. Appropriate Shakespearian costumes have been secured from a Kansas City costume concern, and McPherson theatre goers are assured a night of fine entertainment.

"If it is romance you like in a play, see 'The Merchant of Venice.' If you enjoy comedy, don't miss 'The Merchant of Venice' or, if you are one who prefers the tragic element in a play, by all means see 'The Merchant of Venice.'" With these words the publicity chairman has described the play.

That this play is one long to be remembered is evidenced by the fact that some of McPherson's oldest citizens, who have seen it produced elsewhere, can describe act upon act of it, such scenes as the one when Shylock, played here by Luther Harshbarger, attempts to secure a pound of the flesh of Antonio, portrayed by William Thompson, without drawing blood, are never-to-be-forgotten. Lines from this production are frequently quoted by persons who may or may not know their source: "Gratiano speaks an infinite deal of nothing," or "If to do were as easy as to know what to do" etc.

The play is developed around three plots—the "pound of flesh," the "caskets," and the "rings." Central figures in the pound of flesh plot are Luther Harshbarger and William Thompson. Opal Hoffman, Addison Sathoff, Charles Sheller, and Emerson Yoder develop the plot of the caskets, while the plot of the rings concerns Gladys Shank, Opal Hoffman, Delbert Barley, and Addison Sathoff.

Minnick Is President

Elma Minnick, class of 1940, was elected president of the Thespian Club for next year during one of the organization's recent meetings. A veteran actress and reader, she will act as the guiding light of the dramatists on McPherson college campus.

Other officers elected were Margaret Davis, vice president; Virginia Kerlin, secretary; Raymond Flory, treasurer, and Dean Frantz, keeper of the cyclorama.

Class Day Exercises Saturday

What will the seniors be doing ten years from now? This will be revealed in the prophecy at the class day exercises on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. There will also be a history and will of the class of 1939, and musical numbers.

Those working on the class day exercises are Asta Outland, chairman, Virginia Harris, Evelyn Herr, Delbert Barley, and Gerald Denny.

Stutzman To Teach Music Theory Work

Will Fill Vacancy Left By Prof. Loren B. Crawford, Band Director

In a statement early this week, President V. F. Schwalm announced that Professor Ralph Stutzman has been hired by the board of trustees to teach music theory work next year, filling the vacancy left by the resignation of Professor Loren Crawford.

In addition to this class work, Prof. Stutzman will also direct the band and orchestra.

Professor Crawford plans to go to graduate school next year.

Paden, Koerber To Study For Degree

Administration Makes An Attempt To Increase Number Of Ph. D.'s Here

Dr. V. F. Schwalm said in a statement early this week that a vigorous effort is being made by the administration to increase the number of professors with their doctor's degrees.

In working out this plan, Miss Ruth Koerber and Professor Don Paden have been granted leaves of absence in order that they might work towards their degree next year.

A professor to take Paden's economics position has not yet been obtained, but several candidates with their Ph. D. degrees are being considered. Dr. Walter Naumann of Germany will be here to teach foreign languages in Miss Koerber's absence.

Miss Koerber plans to spend the summer traveling and then she will go to Chicago University next fall. Prof. Paden will go to school at Iowa university this summer, and expects to obtain his doctor's degree by this time next year.

Male Quartet Gives Concert In Chapel

Musical Foursome Are Popular With Macampus Student Body

The McPherson college male quartette, composed of Wesley DeCoursey, first tenor; Wayne Albright, second tenor; Gordon Yoder, first bass; and Keith Pierce, second bass, presented a varied program of constant interest in chapel last Monday.

Going from the "sublime to the ridiculous," the quartette first sang religious numbers, then proceeded with negro spirituals, folk songs, and novelty numbers. The numbers the audience showed they liked best were "The Tavern in the Town," "The Mosquito's Song," "Sourwood Mountain," "Short'nin' Bread," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," and "The Band."

The audience enjoyed both the music sung by the male quartette and the antics performed by some of them.

During the intermission, Dr. Claude Flory introduced his cousin, Dr. Walter Flory of Texas A. and M.

At the close of the program, Dr. Frantz announced the choice of the place vacated by Dr. Bright, and of Dr. Naumann to the place now filled by Miss Koerber, who will be on leave of absence.

Quad May Be Of All American Quality

The 1939 Quadrangle may be of All American quality, according to R. R. Maplesden, representative of the Burger-Baird Engraving Company, Quad engravers.

While commenting on the book, Mr. Maplesden said that it was one of the best that the company had worked with and that only faulty photography could possibly keep it off the top ranks.

Editor Gordon Bower may enter it into critical competition with annuals from all over the country.

Frantz In Recital

Dean Frantz was presented by the McPherson college music department in a vesper organ recital, Sunday, May 14. He was assisted by Mr. Keith Pierce, vocalist and a student of Nevin Fisher.

Frantz has been studying organ under the leadership of Professor Ralph Stutzman for the past two semesters. Besides this talent, he is a member of the A Cappella Choir and is business manager of the Spectator.

Flory Twins In Recital

Miss Vena Flory, advanced piano student of Miss Pessie Brown, and Miss Vera Flory, advanced violin student of Prof. Loren B. Crawford, gave an excellent joint recital to an appreciative audience Saturday night, May 13, at 8 P. M. in the college chapel.

Place Another Teacher

Lenore Shirik, senior, has been the person most recently elected to a teaching position for next year, according to placement bureau officials. Miss Shirik will teach home economics and coach girls athletics at Zenda, Kansas.

Campbell Directs Choral Concert

Choral Club Appearance Win Popular Approval

A concert given in a polished and skillful manner was presented under the leadership of Miss Francis Campbell by the college Choral Club, Sunday evening in the college church.

With power and precision the varied program displayed the versatility of the singers. Miss Estelle Bacon and Miss Virginia Kerlin were the soprano soloists, and Galen Allen sang a tenor recitative.

Miss Vera Flory, accompanied by her sister, Miss Vena Flory, artistically played the Spanish number, "Jota," during the intermission.

Dr. Francis Wayland Comes Here For History Spot

Trustees Appoint Bright's Successor For Next Year

Dr. Francis F. Wayland, appointed to succeed Dr. J. D. Bright in the Macollege history department, is a man with the highest qualifications.

He is built similar to our own Professor Paden, but is married and a little shorter. In high school he took a scientific course. Later in Bridgewater college he majored in history and also in foreign languages, receiving his A. B. degree.

In the University of Virginia in 1931 Dr. Wayland wrote his master's thesis, "Anglo-German Press Relations." In 1933 at the University of Pennsylvania he wrote his doctor's thesis, "Andrew Stevenson: A Political Biography." He is also a contributor to the forthcoming "Dictionary of American History," which is being edited by James Truslow Adams, and which will be published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

Besides being an honor graduate and valedictorian of his class at Bridgewater, Mr. Wayland was an intercollegiate debater, editor-in-chief of the college newspaper, manager of the varsity basketball team, president of the Student Government Association, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, and president of his class in his junior and senior years.

He is now in the American Historical Association and the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences.

Spectator Abbreviated

Because of circumstances beyond our control the special 8-page edition of the Spectator which was to be issued today had to be limited to four pages. This decrease in size has made it impossible to include several important news and feature stories.

Classes Elect Officers, S. C. Representatives

Oliver, Newkirk, Miller To Head Classes Next Year; 8 To Council

Members of the freshmen, sophomore, and junior classes recently elected officers for next year. The freshmen class next year will elect its officers next fall.

For the senior class of 1940, the present junior class elected the following officers: Jack Oliver, McPherson, president; Carroll Crouse, Adel, Iowa, vice-president; Elma Minnick, Hardin, Missouri, secretary; and Evelyn Amos, Independence, treasurer. Phil Myers, Lovewell, and Verda Grove, Kinross, Iowa, were elected to the college Student Council.

Officers of the sophomore class next year will be Roy Miller, Waterloo, Iowa, president; Bob Brust, Clarlin, vice-president; Kenneth Morrison, Gypsum, secretary; and Shirley Spohn, Windom, treasurer. To the Student Council were elected Doris Voshell, McPherson, and Wilbur Bullinger, Canton.

Audrey Hammann and Tony Voshell, both of McPherson, were elected to the Student Council as extra curricular activities representatives.

Dr. Francis F. Wayland, of Philadelphia, who is to fill the vacancy left in the history department by the resignation of Dr. J. D. Bright. He has been teaching at Drexel Institute in Philadelphia, and is a graduate of Bridgewater college, Virginia, a sister college of McPherson college.

Refugee Plan Is Success

Harshbarger Announces Plans For Selection

Luther Harshbarger, general chairman in charge of securing a non-Aryan student refugee for Macampus next year, has announced that the financial drive in connection with the project has definitely been a success and that a student will be secured.

Just who the student will be has not been determined, but dossiers showing qualifications and including pictures and descriptions of the refugees are expected any day here from the International Student Service.

The student will be secured through the American Friends Committee and the International Committee to Aid Student Refugees.

Only fifty dollars is lacking to complete the four hundred dollars that is necessary for the success of the project. The students, faculty, administration, and various service groups have made possible this effort to relieve racial tension.

Faculty Has Get-Together

Members of the faculty and the board of trustees who live here in town, and their wives, enjoyed their last get-together of this school year in the Brethren Church parlors last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock.

The tea was in reality a farewell for those professors who will not be here next year.

Speakers for the afternoon included Dr. J. J. Yoder, Dr. J. D. Bright, and Miss Jessie Brown, Mrs. V. F. Schwalm presided at the tea table.

Four Students Get $50 Scholarships

Sheffer, Stover, Fields, Sherry Are All McPherson High Grads

Winston Sheffer, Stephen Stover, Autumn Fields, and Esther Sherry will be awarded the annual scholarships given by the administrator to the high ranking juniors and sophomores at the end of each year.

Dean J. D. Bright, who made the announcement last evening, said that the students were yet to be approved by the administrative board.

Sheffer had 2.64 grade points per hour, while Stover had 2.38. Fields attained 2.68 points per hour to edge out Sherry who had 2.64. All four of the students are McPherson High school graduates and live in McPherson.

The scholarships are worth $50.

Famous Astronomer to Give Address Next Monday at 10

Fifty-First Annual Commencement To Graduate Fifty Seniors

Fifty seniors will graduate from McPherson college next Monday morning to end the school year. After marching in stately dignity to their seats, the seniors will listen as Dr. D. W. Morehouse, famous astronomer and president of Drake University, will give the address.

The program will be the fifty-first annual commencement of McPherson college. Dr. Morehouse will use as his subject, "200-inch Graduates." The academic procession will begin at nine forty-five, and the commencement exercises will begin at ten o'clock in the college church.

The complete program of the Commencement is as follows:

- Processional. March from "Tannhauser" Wagner
- Miss Jessie Brown, Pianist
- "Omnipotence" Franz Schubert
- Varsity Women's Quartette
- Invocation Rev. W. H. Yoder
- Audante from "Spanish Symphony" Lalo
- Prof. Loren B. Crawford, Violinist
- Address Dr. Morehouse
- "Open Our Eyes" W. C. Macfarlane
- Varsity Male Quartette
- Presentation of Candidates for Graduation Dean J. D. Bright, Ph. D.
- Conferring of Degrees Pres. V. F. Schwalm, Ph. D.
- Announcements
- Enediction Dr. Schwalm
- Recessional, coronation March from "The Prophet" Meyerbeer
- Miss Brown

IRC Elects Officers

In the final meeting of the year at the home of Dr. J. D. Bright, the International Relations club last week elected the following officers: Raymond Coppedge, president; Dale Stucky, vice-president; and Ramona Fries, secretary-treasurer.

The out-going officers are Don Newkirk, president, and Doris Dreshler, secretary-treasurer.

Kinzie, Diehl, Amos Head Pep Club

Last week in an election, members of the Pep Club elected the following officers for next year: Marjorie Kinzie, president; Eddie Diehl, vice-president; and Evelyn Amos, secretary-treasurer.

Audrey Hammann, Eddie Diehl, and Gordon Yoder were the respective officers this year.

Stucky, Fries, Voshell Head Young Demos

Dale Stucky and Harold Fries succeeded themselves as president and vice-president, respectively, as elected by the Young Democrats club last week.

Doris Voshell followed her sister, Lorene, as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The Spectator Sees

Retrospectus

"To evade no issues in accurately reflecting campus affairs, preserving them as permanent history," (from Prospectus, first issue of this year's Spectator) even to the extent of printing an occasional "hell", for which we got an official reprimand.

"To give a chance for student literary expression." Witness "Song of Sick Sense" by Charles Sheller, the excellent parody on Thomas Moore by Asta Ostlund, the poems of Flora Mae Duncan, and the impressionisms by Winton Sheffer. Not to mention the numerous columnists that have lived the paper by their verbal combats.

"To make for a better McPherson college, whatever that means." Evidently the good intentions of the publication have gone amiss. Witness: attempts to wire chapel seats. The Hughey and Enns four o'clock sneak. A bomb under Hess's hood. The infamous Wednesday chapel.

"The Spectator makes no apologies for using, at times, the college vernacular in recording campus affairs." We still make no apologies, otherwise we should have to apologize for this, the absolute epitome of asininity, which has no right to appear in any editorial column.

Much more seriously speaking, we would like to say that off-campus readers should not become alarmed over any "incidents" that occur on the campus and are reflected in the publications. They are noticed because they are exceptions, and student publications tend to magnify their significance.

The Spectator this year has printed much of happenings that have been decided accomplishments in the college, and the college students have grown in intellect and insight during the past year. Reviewing the files of the 1938-39 Spectator, one may find much progress in McPherson college, a school of Christian liberal arts, teaching men and women to be useful, progressive citizens.

Within These Walls—

By Donna Jean Johnson

Did you ever see so many boys wearing straw hats? Even William Hobbs wears his to school. May Day—and what a day! Robert Rice was fencing with a little boy on Main street after the parade was over. Glennis Doll, Margaret Davis and the rest had to walk five blocks on bare feet and all because the car ran out of gas. Kirk Naylor won a statue of a horse at the carnival but broke because he attempted a juggling act. Worst of all was Richard Horn. He took his girl to the carnival, but was afraid to ride on the Loop-O-Plane so his girl went by herself. The other day biology class was interrupted by a loud noise. The teacher remarked that someone was awfully windy. Just about that time Frances Campbell's laugh was heard in the hall. Have you heard the story about Qly? I really don't see how you could help not hearing it. Isn't it funny to write the expression "You're a swell kid" get to be when Quad-writing time comes around? Margaret Louise Kagarice seems to have suffered most from the junior retreat. Worry no more, my lads, for Stucky's hat is found. Elizabeth Ann Mohler found it and remarked that she didn't like the hair oil in it. Keith Pierce may be able to sing, but this statement he made in Principles of Speech just doesn't make sense: "The fog is so thick that you run into people before you get to them." Can it be that mental telepathy is all the rage now? Really, though, all of you teachers and students who won't be here next year will really be missed; so do come back and visit old Mac, won't you? Happy summer! :)

Crawford Leads Orchestra In Season's Climax Concert

Vena Flory, Gladys Shank Aided Instrumental Group In Program

As the first of several scheduled events of the commencement season, the McPherson College Orchestra, conducted by Prof. Loren Crawford, presented its spring concert Friday night in the college chapel. The program was the most ambitious attempted by the orchestra in the last three years and was enthusiastically approved by the music lovers in attendance. Soloists were Miss Vena Flory, pianist, and Miss Gladys Shank, soprano. Both of these student artists are well known on the campus, and their ability has been demonstrated on numerous occasions. Miss Flory, who recently appeared in recital and impressed her audience with her mature interpretation and clean technique, again was impressive. Miss Shank, who has been prominent in choral music especially as an outstanding member of the well known college a cappella choir, showed skill and beautiful voice. Miss Flory is a student of Miss Jessie Brown, and Miss Shank is a student of Prof. Nevin W. Fisher. Both appeared with the orchestra as an accompanying medium.

The program included the first symphony penned by the great Beethoven, the Concerto in A Minor for piano and orchestra, by Grieg, Carl Selve by George Frederick Handel, and the nationalistic tone poem, Finlandia by Sibelius. The symphony was played in its entirety, four movements comprising the work, and the first movement of the Grieg concerto was played.

The concert will close an unusually busy season for the orchestra. Last December a winter concert was given, and in addition appearances were made at the Hooster banquet, and the McPherson High School Junior-Senior Banquet.

Prof. Loren Crawford has been highly praised by local musicians for the effective work he has done during the years he has been at McPherson, and comments following the concert voiced the general opinion that the orchestra advanced much during recent years.

Council Adopts By-Law For Publications

Committee To Study Spec, Quad Problems Next Year

In one of its most important meetings of the year, the Student Council last week adopted a by-law forming a publications committee to act as an administrative agent directing the student publications, the Spectator and the Quadrangle.

Bill Thompson, Student Council president, has said that the by-law was passed contingent upon further action next year. The group will make a comprehensive study of the publication problems of Macampus and will better the relationship between the council and its organs.

The committee, comparable to a board of publications, is the result of much study on the part of active members of the council and the heads of the publications this year. It will consist of the president of the Student Council, the treasurer of the Student Council, three student members of the student council, not less than two of whom shall be women; the dean of the college, the editor and faculty advisor of the Spectator, the editor and faculty advisor of the Quadrangle, and one Alumnus member.

Another provision of the action makes the editor the head of the entire staff, editorial and business, with an autonomous business manager subordinate to the editor.

"Another by-law, necessitated by the first one, provides for continuity in the student council personnel. This is to be brought about by the election in each class of one member to the council who has been a member in the previous year.

Schwalm's Give Reception To Graduating Seniors

The seniors were graciously entertained with a formal reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. V. F. Schwalm last Saturday evening. Music by Vera and Vena Flory was played as the guests were arriving.

After refreshing drinks of punch, the guests were honored with a very entertaining and inspirational program. Mrs. Leland Moore, Newton, a graduate of M. C. in 1924, gave two very excellent readings, "Alyr, Fairy Lillian" and excerpts from the play "The Fool". Miss Margaret Fry, Omaha, who was a classmate of the seniors in 1935-36, favored with two selections, "Swiss Echo Song" and "The Time for Making Songs Has Come". Professor Loren Crawford played a violin solo, "Meditations", after which Mrs. Moore delighted the guests with a hilarious story of "Mandy's Organ" and an appropriate reading, "The Man in the Shadows."

Delicious refreshments were served, with Mrs. J. D. Bright assisting at the table, after which the group enjoyed a social hour together. As a token of appreciation and regard, the senior class presented Dr. Schwalm and his family with a gift.

IN ARNOLD HALL—

By Billie Hubbard

And it's exams again! Worry, worry! study! yawn! and then a headache! But brighter days are coming, wait and see!

But some of the juniors exposed themselves to the sunshine a little too long. Burned backs, legs, and noses are the agonizing results.

Mickey Miller has been keeping things from us. On Mother's Day she received a lovely bouquet of roses. Or could it be just plain old romance? Confession is good for the soul, Mickey!

Kerling and Wiggins entered their room on night, and found it quite disarranged, as usual. It wasn't until they noticed the absence of their dresser that they realized their room had been stacked.

Burnetta and Berger have discovered that crime doesn't pay. One lovely evening they desired an ice cream cone, but they didn't want to walk. So they took the car of friend DuBois. But DuBois resented their taking his car, and when Burnetta and Berger got ready to return to the college, the car would not budge. Burnetta and friend were almost too late.

Visitors of Dohn Miller, while he was in the hospital, found him in the highest of spirits one evening. When questioned, Dohn revealed that Evelyn Amos had been at his bedside for at least two hours. Well, Amos? (I wonder if she slept).

When Miss Lehman suggested that Nerissa (Gladys Shank) walk coldly away from Gratiano (Delbert Barry), Gladys replies, "Well, he clings." Would you have guessed that Delbert is the "clinging vine" type?

Evelyn Herr and York were sitting in the parlor Sunday. (Not really.) York was complaining that his neck hurt and was trying to discover why. Suddenly his face lit up and he said, "I know why, I didn't have any neck-ill yesterday!" That's what he said.

And now "It's Time To Say Aloha." I've enjoyed writing this column for you this year, and hope I haven't been too snooty. I'll be missing you next year! Carry on, Bulldogs!

Marvels At Skill Of Home-Builders

Mohler Says College Is Testing Ground For People

Humans are tested for qualities and weaknesses in the home and in the school much in the same way that automobiles are tested for good points and defects on the testing grounds of a large manufacturing firm. This was the general idea of a stimulating paper, "Testing Grounds," which Prof. H. E. Mohler recently read in chapel.

Once people bought things at a risk because there were no testing grounds in operation in all fields of manufacturing. Automobiles, for example, are tested before being offered to the public for sale.

People are also tested. The home is one testing ground where ability to cooperate is determined, and families learn the "safe speeds and unsafe speeds for some family situation." Mr. Mohler said, "I marvel at the skill of great engineers, but I marvel more at folks who build great homes."

College is a testing ground. Attitudes are determined, and, said Mr. Mohler, "attitudes react in physical make-up." "As an auto man tests his product and knows its weakness, so must a great soul."

The ladies quartet made up of Gladys Shank, Opal Hoffman, Evelyn Amos, and Lillian Pauls sang four numbers. "In My Garden," "When a Maid Comes Knocking," and "Love is Like a Firefly" were followed by an encore, "Old Mother Goose." Nevin Fisher accompanied the girls at the piano.

Don Davidson was at his home in Lyons last weekend. Reba Gibson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Murray and Lola Murray to the Chester Murray home in Monitor on Sunday.

"Kitty" Mohler Is Tops Says Crooner-Actor Bing Crosby

Campbell, Nickey, Kimmel, Davis Share Spotlight

While Kansas Staters were busy electing blushing 200 pound Elmer "One Man Gang" Hackney, national champion shot-putter, as the most glamorous inhabitant of the Manhattan campus, students of McPherson college last week were oh-ing and ah-ing over the beauty section of the new 1939 Quadrangle, where charming and vivacious Katherine Mohler reigns as Quad Queen. Her picture was selected as most beautiful from a group sent to Bing Crosby, famous Hollywood crooner.

Sharing a three page spread with "Kitty", the freshman queen from Leeton, Mo., Francis Campbell, senior; Edith Nickey, sophomore; Miriam Kimmel, senior; and Margaret Davis, sophomore.

Say Quad Is Best Ever Made
Macampussans were enthusiastic in their praise of what many believe to be the best year-book ever published for McPherson college. Since the books have been released students are busy autographing the annuals, thus making a permanent record of never-to-be-forgotten college days.

Edited by Gordon Bower, and managed by Russell Kingsley, the book was published by the Student Council. Photo Editor Arthur Baldwin did good work with the camera, and associate Editor Marjorie Kinzie was one of the most active women on the campus this year because of her work on the annual. Assistant Business Manager Lyle Albright helped make the year-book a financial success.

Flory Is Adviser, Sponsor
The faculty adviser and sponsor of the Quadrangle was Dr. Claude R. Flory who did much to assist the editor in his work.

Staff photographers included Charles Baldwin, Dave McGill, Herbert Mitchell, and Joelle Letkeman, besides many others who contributed pictures.

Contributing writers included Raymond Coppedge, James Crill, Autumn Fields, Rilla Hubbard, Donna Jean Johnson, Ernest Reed, Esther Sherry, Dale Stucky, Gladys Wiggins, Dr. Claude Flory, and Marjorie Kinzie.

Directing Quad sales were Lyle Albright, Wayne Albright, Frances Campbell, John Detrick, Raymond Flory, Audrey Hammann, Rilla Hubbard, Miriam Kimmel, Marjorie Kinzie, Joel Letkeman and Dave McGill.

Organizations that contributed to the work on the book were the Men's Council, the Women's Council, the B. Y. P. D., the Recreational Council, and the Forensic Club.

The Quadrangle was printed by the McPherson Republican, and the engravers were the Burger-Baird Engraving Company from Kansas City.

From the cover, artistic and beautiful, to the last page, the clever idea of a motion picture reel motif was carried out. The staff did an excellent job to get a well-balanced unbiased picture of 1938-1939 college life on Macampus.

Bright Gives Farewell

To a sad chapel group of students and faculty, Dr. J. D. Bright gave his farewell address last Friday evening. Dr. Bright, after teaching in McPherson college for eleven years, will go to Washburn College, Topeka, next fall where he has accepted a position in the history department. Dr. Bright said, "I am not stamping the dust off my feet when I leave, but a shall carry the gold dust of experience and friendship."

The first of the tributes paid was to Dr. V. F. Schwalm who was Dr. Bright's history teacher and advisor at Manchester college, a fellow faculty member in McPherson college, and a friend. Dr. Maurice A. Hess, Dr. Bright said the phrase, "a friend in need is a friend indeed," best explained his feelings. To all of the faculty he paid his respects. A tribute to Mrs. Bright stated that she was the best dear of women ever found.

Students and quadrangles er varied—a member of S. C. M. each year, World Service for two years, Church Choir two years, and in his sophomore year he went out for track.

He majored in Biology and intends to make a master farmer some day.

Frances Campbell—a girl with personality plus—plus voice, vigor, and violin if you want to say it like that. I like to hear her sing and equally well I like to watch her sing. Frances attended Parsons Junior college during her freshman year, but for each of these last three years at McPherson she has been in the A Cappella choir and the ladies' varsity quartette. This year she was the conductor of the Choral Club. With her violin she has played in the orchestra, violin choir, and string choir.

Frances is not only a musician—she has been in the Thespian Club all three years, she has worked on the Spectator, served one year on both the Student Council and Women's Council.

As a result of these things in addition to her scholarship, her name was this year written in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges".

Frances is majoring in public school music methods.

Arthur Baldwin—a man who's been around. He was a freshman at Manchester college, Indiana, a sophomore at Modesto, California, a junior at Bethany Biblical seminary at Chicago, and a senior at our McPherson college. Yet he gives his home address as McFarland, California. He clerks at J. C. Penny's, his wife declares that he is a good carpenter, and he has "got" many of us this year with his camera, being a Quad photographer. He also takes part in intramural sports.

Art is a student pastor, and is majoring in philosophy and religion.

Opal Hoffman—a name often on the honor roll, this year inscribed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges". An intellectual beauty. It would be easy to imagine Opal on the stage of the Metropolitan, poised and dignified, with her classical profile and all but her plans for the future follow a much different course.

For four years Opal has been a member of the A Cappella choir and the last two years she has sung in the ladies' varsity quartet in addition to her solo work. Hers was the first recital this year. She has also sung with the Church Choir.

For two years she has served on the Student Council, this year as its secretary. In W. A. A. each year, International Relations club and S. C. M. three years, and Chemistry Club one year. Opal has also worked for the Spectator two years.

Her majors are history and Latin.

Elmer Baldwin—Another one of those married seniors. Elmer and his wife seem to prove that people marry opposites—as far as looks are concerned anyway. Baldwin spent his first two years at Modesto Junior college in California, his junior year at Bethany Biblical seminary at Chicago, and this year he graduates at McPherson. Like his older brother he played in intramural basketball this year.

He majored in sociology.

Gladys Shank—Don't you like to think of Gladys as a pretty little songbird? She has been in the A Cappella choir only three years simply because that is all the longer it has taken her to get through college, with one summer school at Kansas University and one summer at McPherson. She has sung two years in the ladies' varsity quartette, and last year played a violin in the orchestra. Her major is in music.

Other than her music Gladys has worked on both campus publications, the Spectator and the Quadrangle, and has been a member of the Thespian Club and the Pep Club for two years, S. C. M. all three years, this year on the cabinet. The last two years Gladys has served on Recreational Council and Women's Council. She is a Young Republican.

All the while she has been carrying 18 or 20 hours of class work—besides being in love. In many ways Gladys is a true representative of the ideal McPherson college girl graduate.

Anton Meyer—Tony is that tall, blonde, handsome Dutchman who grins a lot, and who works out at the Globe refinery. Besides being a full-fledged basketball hero, Tony holds the McPherson college record for discs throwing. With all this, to say nothing of his flashy new cars, he manages to keep the girls' eyes open.

Each year of his college life Tony has belonged to the Chemistry Club, S. C. M., "M" Club, basketball, and track. This year he became a Young Republican.

Tony is majoring in Chemistry.

Lillian Pauls—an intelligent and capable senior who can do just lots of things—enough to have her name registered in this year's edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges". She can give campaign speeches, sing solos, scale the top of the honor roll, or play the part of a gracious and correct hostess. She is even a mathematician.

She attended one summer school at Emporia State teachers' college. Her years at McPherson have been a little scattered, but she has been in the A Cappella three years, this year in the ladies quartette. When a freshman she sang in a trio and a mixed quartette. This year she was head proctor of Arnold Hall, a member of the Women's Council and the P.P. Club.

Lillian is majoring in Music and Mathematics.

Paul Prather—a milkman—sparsely settled on top. He doesn't participate so much in the extracurricular activities of the campus, yet he has made many friends among the students in the science departments; his hearty laugh and congenial nature. He plays intramural basketball and they say he keeps himself over all the court at once.

Prather aspires to look down in the mouth (dentist). His majors are in science and Education.

Edna Kessler—One of those Bethany students. She spent her first three years of college at Bethany Seminary school of music. She came from Minnesota originally. Tall, dark, smiling, a friendly sort of individual interested in good music, likes to read.

She is a member of S. C. M. Edna is majoring in Psychology.

Dwight Horner—a longhorn from down south, what Texans call a man. When he laughs he laughs all over. A man not afraid to say what he thinks, and it's usually worth listening to. He has been pastor at the Windom church the last two years.

Dwight spent his first year of college life at Bethany Biblical seminary. He has been a member of S. C. M. each year here at McPherson, and the last two years he has been influential in International Relations Club, World Service, Recreational Club, Oratory, Thespian Club and Spectator ork Last year—he dated. He's had lots of classes under Miss Lehman.

His majors are history and philosophy and religion.

Hazel Bodine, Jack Vetter, and Floyd Garretts were at the C. T. Lindgren home in Canton for dinner Sunday evening.

Avis Heckman, who graduated from this college last year and is now teaching in Lyons, visited the campus over the week end before returning to her home in Polo, Illinois.
