

They Tell Me—

Several students have been suffering of late from calamities more serious than the common cold. For a week or so Harriet Pratt "got around" on crutches. Ralph Schlicht, sophomore, came down with the chicken pox, but has recovered and is attending classes. Inez Fike, Jim Burger, and Miles Albright, freshman students, suffered appendectomies have all recovered somewhat. But Jim Burger has now suffered an attack of the measles and is still in bed.

Two members of the basketball squad left school at the end of the first semester, but three more joined the squad at the beginning of the second semester. Thornton "Red" McDaniels and Russell Reinecker dropped school. The former would probably have been ineligible anyway, but the latter was an especially good student and was often on the dean's list.

Vernon "Duke" Holmes and Jake "Honey" Cramer, both former basketball lettermen of MacCollege, returned to school and were eligible to play at the beginning of the second semester. Both are on the varsity squad. Jack Vetter, all conference football star, played basketball on a town team the first semester, but has played for the college the second semester.

Several new students have been seen on the campus the second semester. Merle Lambly (if the spelling is wrong, Lawrence Lowber can correct it) comes to McPherson from Colorado. Connie Alfaro comes from New Mexico. Harold Keith Myers, a former student here, enrolled late, instead of returning to New Mexico as he planned to.

Marvin Atchison, prominent athlete graduated from McPherson High school, transferred from El Dorado Junior college here and will probably boost the hopes of the tennis team to untold heights if he is eligible to play on the squad. Two other new students are the Taylors, brother and sister, whose first names I can't remember for the life of me.

Almost all the students were surprised and several disappointed at the sudden action taken by the former editor of the Spectator in resigning at the end of the first semester. Many thought that the Spectator would be seriously crippled as a consequence.

In fact, he was not released from his position by the student council, and there was quite a little social pressure applied to him; but to no avail, since the steadfastly refused to continue. Given an adequate reason

Conference Is Outstanding Event Of Month

Macampus To Be Host To Talented Array Of Guest Speakers

Of special interest to all interested in Christian service and inspiration is the Regional Conference, to be held on the campus from February 23 to 28. An annual program which attracts speakers and church workers over a widespread area, the Regional Conference serves the central west area of the Church of the Brethren.

College students and the general public, as well as Brethren church workers, have intensely enjoyed the great speeches given in past Regional Conferences, and they have proved a great source of inspiration, especially to college students.

Listed as guest speakers at this year's conference are Albert Buckner Coe, Thomas Williams, H. L. Hart-sough, Paul H. Bowman, Annetta Mow, Raymond Peters, Ruth Shriver, and Paul K. Brandt. This is an outstanding array of talent, and the Regional Conference is expected to continue to be the inspiration it has in the past.

More Orators Should Begin Preparation Now

A number of candidates have already stated their intention of entering the peace oratorical contest, it was reported by Prof. Maurice A. Hess. "Others should enter both the peace contest and the anti-tobacco contest, it was stated, and it is important that candidates begin work on their orations right away.

The competition in these contests is often quite stiff. Last year an orator from Kansas Wesleyan university won the state peace contest held here and won also the national contest. But prizes are offered in all three divisions, national, state, and local contests.

Orations often require quite a bit of polishing and memorizing, and with an early start an orator is much better equipped to win a prize.

Dr. Thomas Williams

Thomas Williams, pastor of the First Methodist church of Wichita, Kansas, is a vigorous, forceful speaker. He has served on the faculties of Evansville college and Hamline college and was head of the bible department of Oklahoma City university for a time.

Set "Redemption" Date

The date for the presentation of the oratorio "The Redemption," to be given by the McPherson Choral Union, has been set for Sunday evening, April 29, at the City Auditorium.

The date was set after officials of the Union conferred with the Ministerial Alliance. The city ministers have agreed not to hold any church services on the night of the presentation and to cooperate in every way

Heard In Chapel

Dr. Schwalm Speaks In First Chapel Service

The beginning of the new semester is a good time for individuals to make a new beginning, with increased effort to strive for moral as well as scholastic success, said Dr. Schwalm when the second semester of college opened Wednesday morning.

Many have found the first semester difficult because of the necessary adjustments which must be made to a new mode of living and because of various handicaps. "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence but if we cannot be successful where we are it is doubtful if we can be successful anywhere else."

During the coming weeks, Dr. Schwalm urged that each one strive to attain greater success in the scholastic field and especially in the field of moral conviction.

Dr. Metzler Speaks On "Business As Usual"

In the quiet atmosphere of worship Wednesday morning, Lee Nelson, a student minister, led devotions with the aid of the chapel choir.

Dr. Burton Metzler, head of the Philosophy and Religion department of the college, spoke upon the subject of "Business as Usual". The speaker enumerated such businesses as transportation, the defense program, home-life, the field of finance and government as businesses in which a constant change is taking place.

Compared to these are the "establishments of God's businesses" including God's relationship to the universe, the field of nature with its astronomical, physical, biological and chemical laws, and the moral and spiritual spheres which are constant and dependable—"business as usual".

Confusion and mutability, according to the speaker, may take place among men who too often fail to place first things first, but the laws of God remain the same and make for righteousness in the lives of men when they harmonize their lives with Him.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. To Speak At Booster Banquet

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., a world renowned lecturer, will be the guest speaker at the annual Booster Banquet. Dr. V. F. Schwalm announced this week. Vanderbilt, a prolific writer and adventurous globe-trotter, is a fearless intellectual.

At sixteen, he had dined with every crowned head in Europe and has crossed the Atlantic 44 times. Today, he is a democratic lioneloff, a scion of the American nobility who broke away from the group into which he was born.

Pres. Schwalm Meets With North Central Association

Pres. V. F. Schwalm will attend the annual meeting of the North Central Association at Chicago late next month. It was learned this week. There Dr. Schwalm will read a paper on the subject of the advantages and disadvantages of accreditation, especially pertaining to the liberal arts colleges and universities.

Previously Dr. Schwalm has served on the Committee of Evaluation in the North Central Association and has attended many meetings of the association.

Cosmetics Given Free

Through the courtesy of Constance Bennett, noted star of stage and screen, the Ritz Theatre will give a complete set of Constance Bennett cosmetics to each woman attending the theatre on Constance Bennett Days. Each week Constance Bennett Day is Thursday and Friday.

Ladies will receive a different item each week and may complete her set by attending each week until she has all eighteen of the Constance Bennett Beauty Aids.

These cosmetics are sold at exclusive prices at the Binky-Lindsay

Students Give One-Act Plays This Evening

Dramatic Comedies Represent Three Types, From Three Nations

This evening at 8 p. m. in the college chapel, eleven McPherson college students will present three one-act plays which represent not only three different types of plays but also three different nations.

The first play to be presented will be an American drama, "Gallant Lady". This play was written by the well known playwrights Florence Ryerson and Collin Clements and has been broadcast over the radio by professional actors. This comedy-drama is built around the problem that faces a woman when she discovers that her adored husband, missing for years, has been suffering from amnesia and is now living happily with another wife and their child. The brave and clever way in which the first wife handles the difficult situation proves her to be a most gallant lady. Betty Jean Sellers, Roy McAuley, Kathleen Brubaker, and Wayne Crist will portray the characters of this play.

From the novel "Cranford" by Mrs. Gaskell comes the second play "The Followers," which has been adapted by Harold Brighouse. In this costume play we find a once ardent lover returning from twenty-five years of adventure to ask again for his beloved's hand. The cast is represented with Marjorie Martin, Maurine Gish, Lenore Shoemaker and Alvin Klotz as the actors.

The concluding production will be a farce adapted from the Hungarian of Fritz Kariny by Perceval Wilde. There is a central European saying, "You're an ass! Go get your tation back!" and it is this that the playwright has developed into a delightfully hilarious farce. The teachers who once graduated Wasserkof are compelled to reexamine him, his object being to fail!

Featured in this entertainment are John Mason, Keith Prentice, Donald Davidson, Richard Preece, William Gahn, Ralph Nicholson, Ronald Orr.

The plays are sponsored by the social committee and are directed by three Thespian members under the direction of Prof. Ralph Stutzman. The student directors of the respective plays are John Detrick, Donna Jean Johnson and Raymond Shifer.

Guest Speaker Hartsough

H. L. Hartsough is chairman of the General Mission Board of the Church of the Brethren. He is also the pastor of the Church of the Brethren at North Manchester, Indiana, the Manchester college church. He is a practical, careful thinker.

Editor Resigns; Student Council Takes Action

Setup Changed: Spectator To Have Three Editors Working Together

Chief topic of interest on the campus of late has been "What is the student council going to do about the Spectator?" The occasion for this question was the sudden resignation of Ernest Reed, former editor, at the end of the first semester. As yet, no permanent plan has been worked out under which the Spectator can continue to be printed weekly.

Dr. Albert Buckner Coe

Albert Buckner Coe, one of America's great preachers, is pastor of the Congregational church at Oak Park, Illinois. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the General Council of the Congregational and Christian churches. Dr. Coe, also director of the Chicago Union since 1931, comes to McPherson College highly recommended.

Feeling itself "put on the spot," the student council refused to release Reed from his position as editor, when first they met, four days after formal notice of his resignation. The student council took no definite action but a committee was appointed to look into the situation and look for a new editor.

Since no student could be found to take Reed's place and edit the Spectator under the same setup, the student council decided to take what its members considered drastic action to change the setup and lighten the duties of editing the Spectator. A plan was evolved so that three or four people would assume various titles and perform the duties formerly done by the editor.

Under the plan evolved, an editor-in-chief, a managing editor, and an associate or campus editor would be the three executives in handling the editorial problems of the Spectator. The editor-in-chief would have the responsibility of printing the Spectator and taking all the blame and criticism, and also that of formulating the editorial policy and probably writing the editorials. The managing editor, it was stated, would have the duty of editing all the copy and writing the headlines, etc. The campus editor would have the duty of getting all the copy in from the reporters and writing the copy which failed to come in.

After this plan was created by the student council committee, it was proposed in a board of publications meeting. The board of publications approved the plan and recommended immediate action under the plan and further recommended that the student council release the former editor, subject to suitable arrangement.

Slightly modified from the original, the plan now calls for a managing editor and a campus editor, it being decided that the Spectator would be run for the rest of the year without filling the position of editor-in-chief.

Quads Remain "On Sale" Till Wednesday

Quad Cover Co., Extends Its Deadline, Enabling Quad Sales To Continue

Because the Molloy Cover Co., the company which makes the covers for the Quadrangles, extended its deadline for cover orders till February 12, the Quadrangle is enabled to reopen its sales campaign and extend it until next Wednesday, announced Ernest Peterson, the business manager of the Quadrangle.

After next Wednesday, students will be unable to purchase Quadrangles, except at a higher price. Every student who has not yet purchased his annual will be contacted by a Quadrangle salesman before Wednesday. The sales campaign is managed by Ernest Peterson and S. G. Hoover.

Virginia Kerlin, Quadrangle editor, stated that he work on the annual was progressing rapidly and because of this fact, students might be privileged to receive their Quads early.

Women's Council Sponsors Heart-Sister Week

The Women's Council in a recent meeting decided to sponsor again the annual "Heart-sister" week next Monday to Saturday. This week of "actions speak louder than words" will be climaxed by the girls of Kline and Arnold Halls entertaining all off-campus girls with a slumber party Saturday evening following entertainment at the movies.

All girls of the college were given the opportunity to "draw" the name of her heart-sister in order that she might do something for her each day. Identities of heart-sisters will be revealed at the slumber party Saturday evening. Girls should plan their Saturday's evening program to include this big slumber party of the

Five Teams Compete In Hutch Tourney

Underclass Debaters Spend Today, Tomorrow At Hutch Juco

Today and tomorrow ten underclass debaters will be in Hutchinson representing McPherson college in a well-sized debate tournament. About 50 teams will compete in the annual tourney, held at Hutchinson Junior college. Some of the McPherson debaters will also compete in extemporaneous speaking contests.

Ernest Peterson and Wayne Geisert, Dean Stucky and Charles Lunkey, Wilbur Linville and Harold Bowman are the three men's teams, and Betty Burger, and Lucile Horner, Jean Oberst and Maxine Ruehlein make up the two women's teams.

Both the debates and extemp contests will use the same subject, the varsity debate question for the year. "Resolved, that the nations of the Western Hemisphere form a permanent

Five Are Inducted Into Alpha Psi Omega

Johnson, Davis, Sherfy, Dannelley, Detrick, Join Dramatics Fraternity

Last Wednesday evening, five members of the Thespian Club of McPherson college successfully completed the initiation exercises prescribed by the Alpha Psi Omega Dramatic Fraternity and thus became charter members of the local Theta Epsilon Cast.

Those sharing in the honor are Donna Jean Johnson, Esther Sherfy, Margaret Davis, Paul Dannelley and John Detrick. Stephen Stover, a graduate of 1940 now attending Kansas University, was granted membership for the outstanding dramatic work he did during his career on McPherson campus. Miss Della Lehman and Prof. Ralph Stutzman also received membership into the organization as faculty members who contribute much to the dramatic life of McPherson college.

The purpose of the Alpha Psi Omega Fraternity is to provide an honor society for those doing a high standard of work in dramatics and to provide a wider fellowship for those interested in the college theatre. Membership is attained only by meeting the requirements set forth in the constitution of the fraternity.

Because the organization is an honorary society whose membership is based upon meritorious work in dramatics, it in no way takes the place of or minimizes the present Thespian Club of our campus. In reality, the presence of the Theta Epsilon cast will strengthen and aid in the progress of the McPherson college Thespian Club.

Following the private initiation, which was attended only by those holding membership in the fraternity, a formal dinner was enjoyed in the Pine Room of the Warren Hotel. Those present included: Margaret Davis, Donna Jean Johnson, Della Lehman, Sara Jane Olwin, Esther Sherfy, Paul Dannelley, John Detrick, Claxton Helms, Ralph Stutzman and Ted Washburn.

Dean Sprouse Is To Be Graduation Speaker

Claude W. Sprouse, dean of the Grace and Holy Trinity Cathedral, Kansas City, Missouri, will be the commencement speaker next June 2. It was announced by Dr. V. F. Schwalm.

Sprouse, who has been dean of the Grace and Holy Trinity Cathedral since 1931, is a member of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal church and is honored by being listed in "Who's Who in America."

Editor Resigns

It was stated that the experience of the former editor would be capitalized upon as much as possible and that no other student had the necessary experience.

Applications were called for and actively sought. Definite action was to have been taken upon the applications received, but the meeting of the board of publications took place after press time. So its action could not be reported.

Indications were that the Spectator would remain a weekly newspaper and not revert to a bi-weekly, as most of the newspapers of the Kansas Conference colleges. The task would obviously be a heavy task, but it was decided that it could be accomplished with the cooperation of many students.

They Tell Me

soms for his course of action was the desire to engage in study, sports, and other activities, which would be impossible for any editor of the Spectator, the desire to have his last semester more free from nervous strain such as that caused by editing the Spectator, and the desire to pursue actively such courses as Practice Teaching.

Brenda Says:

Brenda: "Say Cobina, from what I hear Leap Year Weekend isn't so far away is it?"

Cobina: "No, I guess it isn't by now—the days pass so quickly. That's always a lot of fun, but I do wish some of the girls and fellows wouldn't feel about it as they do."

Brenda: "What do you mean? I thought everyone enjoyed that."

Cobina: "Oh, they do, but lots of the girls would like to go and yet they don't go because of what they feel the fellows will think of them."

Brenda: "Why what do you mean the fellows will think?—I don't understand."

Cobina: "Oh some of the girls don't go and take anyone to the party or anywhere else for that matter, for if they ask a new fellow or one they have already dated, they are afraid he will think she has a secret crush on him and all that sort of stuff."

Brenda: "Oh is that what you mean?—Well, personally I think that is just a mix-up like this thing of a couple of dates for a new fellow and girl and then everyone seems to think they are going steady. If they would only get together on it, I think they would find that the girls dislike that as much as the fellows do."

Cobina: "Well anyway it all seems rather silly to me. Why can't we just have fun together and forget all about this 'love' and 'steady' stuff. It's a lot more fun."

Brenda: "I think so too. Well, I must be going, but we must get together soon and decide who would be fun to take to the Leap Year party."

Cobina: "All right. Let's go together though; it's a lot more fun when we go in a gang. So long, Brenda."

Hold Conference Here Next Month

Here on the campus, a teacher education conference for the entire state of Kansas will be held March 14 and 15. At this conference, the training of secondary teachers in liberal arts colleges will be discussed.

Planned jointly by the North Central Association and the McPherson college faculty, the program promises to be interesting and informative. Concerning this conference, Pres. V. F. Schwalm stated, "We expect delegates from all Kansas colleges."

Will Freshmen Achieve Vocational Goals?

Will the members of the freshman class all achieve their vocational goals? Time will perhaps answer the above questions and in the meantime it is interesting to know that a large number are interested in teaching, either in the elementary or high schools.

Various types of engineering appeal to a number of men while some phases of home economic preparation attract a number of women. The farm continues to offer promise to a considerable number of men and nursing inspires several women. Several men want to try the medical profession and few more women are sure that they want to be secretaries.

Working through the avenues offered by religion attracts four men, while three young ladies hope to market their abilities in music. Library work, sales work, mortician work, business, construction work, banking advertising, art, journalism are attractive to a freshman.

Browsing Corner Has Everything From Fiction To Higher Economic Theory

Containing anything imaginable from fiction to higher economic theory, a new feature of the library is the "browsing corner." The browsing corner is located in the northwest corner of the college library.

Although the corner is a collection of the most interesting books in the library, the books are allowed to circulate and be checked out for two weeks at a time. All fields are represented in this corner, where students may come and read a paragraph or two in a book, look through the books, "browse around", or check them out if they wish.

The browsing corner will probably be enlarged and many more interesting books will be added. At present about half of the books on the shelf are new to the library, 16 was reported by Claxton Helms, youthful librarian.

Several books in this corner contain interesting sketches of Kansas history. Lawrence Svobida, a Meade county farmer, is the author of "An Empire of Dust." "When Kansas Was Young" by T. A. McNeal and "Kan-

A Cappella Choir Prepares For Concert

In previous years members of the McPherson college a cappella choir have always started heavy, concentrated work at the beginning of the new year, in preparation for their one big event of the year, their formal concert. This year's choir is no exception, for it has already begun long hard practices, which will be climaxed this year on March 7, when it will give its formal concert in the McPherson High school auditorium. At present the members of the choir under the direction of Prof. Nerrin W. Fisher are having three one-and-a-half hour rehearsals a week in preparation for the concert.

Although only about half the size of last year's choir, this a cappella choir of 30 select voices is rapidly becoming a choir of quality and distinction and concert-goers may well be promised a very interesting, varied and pleasing concert in March, it was reported. The detailed plans for the concert are not as yet ready for publicity.

This year as usual there will be a patron list. By this list persons are given the privilege of paying a little more for their ticket and thus aiding the choir toward their spring tour. By paying $2.50 or more for two tickets these people will be on a patron list and will be given choice seats in the high school auditorium. The patrons will have the only reserved seats for the concert and will also have their names on the programs.

Hokanson Plays To Large Crowd

Randolph Hokanson, young American pianist, was well received when he presented the last concert of the Cooperative Concert association sown here January 29. A large crowd was present at the Senior High school auditorium, cut only slightly by the bad weather.

Particularly outstanding was Hokanson's presentation of "Rondo: Allegro," by Beethoven; "Waltz in A Flat, opus 64," by Chopin and "Tocatta from 'Le Tombeau de Couperin,'" by Ravel. Hokanson's encores included numbers by Brahms, Chopin and Debussy. Hokanson played 16 numbers during his concert.

Fahnestock Folly

"Change partners" seems to be the theme of Macampus as the first semester romances are liquidated and new partners are chosen on the until-summer-vacation-do-up-part plan. This is hardly news because it is an historical fact that college students from Adam and Eve to Franklin and Eleanor have been negotiating partners and dearests at mid year.

Flash! Flash! History has been made! The inevitable has occurred! Professor Hess, famous for his amazing accuracy and efficiency in hitting the library key hole, inserting the key, opening the door, and entering the library in the same deft motion and without slackening his pace, missed the key hole! Yes, he actually made two tries before getting the door open! His embarrassed glance about him to see if anyone had witnessed his momentous blunder added to the humor of the situation and a group of onlooking students were both amazed and amused.

The adventures of Finny Finrock were the chief topic of discussion at the recent Booster club meeting. An investigation of his current activities proved that he was sadly in need of discipline. Finny received said discipline to the extent of being campused for a period of one week, and according to the same rules as the Arnold Hall inmates are subject to. If anyone would like further information on these rules they might ask Katy Brubaker. In view of Finrock's past record this must have necessitated a very great change in his daily schedule.

Ho! Ho! Pardon my boisterous laughter, but every time I think of Ralph "Chick" Schlicht missing the first week of school because of the chicken pox, I almost die laughing. The Chicken Pox! Ha! Ha! Ha! Perhaps, if Ralph is very careful he will survive the remainder of the semester without getting the whooping cough or the croup.

Not so funny is the plight of "Calamity Jim" Burger. Just recovering from an appendectomy operation that kept the doctors guessing for more than an hour at the operating table because they couldn't find the blamed thing, Jim's exuberance was squelched by a severe attack of the German measles. German measles, Himmum, sounds like subversive activities! Even though fate seems to have it in for Jim, it can't drown his broad grin and jovial spirit. Sincerest wishes for a speedy recovery, Jim!

Well, so-long boys and girls. I'll be back in a flash with some more trash!

Men's Council Wins First Prize

Stunt Night, which was sponsored by the Social Committee of McPherson college, was held in Sharp Hall, January 28, Tuesday night. Contestants for each stunt were made up of members of the different clubs here on Macampus. Cash prizes were awarded to the three highest by Don Newkirk, who was in charge of the evening of fun.

First prize of $2.00 went to the Men's Council. This group, being judged by members of the faculty, was considered to rank the highest in the group. Their stunt was a presentation of a Dr. X program. Second prize was awarded to the Women's Council, who received $1.00. The S. C. M. took third place and was awarded with fifty cents.

Much fun and an all around good time was had by those who attended.

"POSSESSIONS WITH OUR NEIGHBORS"
As a college christian, do I understand the meaning according to God's will as it is written: "And he said unto them, Ye are they which justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts, for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God." Also: "for as high as the heavens are above the earth, so are God's ways above man's." Pharisee peace of mind is not sufficient in 'LOVE' IN SPIRIT and IN TRUTH.

Fire Department Style Utterly Baffles Cagers

Coyotes Outplay Bulldogs Last Night To Win 72 To 39

Disappointing many local Bulldog sports fans who had journeyed to Salina last night, McPherson college lost a baffling basketball game to the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes 72 to 39. The game was expected to be close for various reasons.

McPherson had supposedly improved in material and style the second semester, after pushing Wesleyan to the limit in a previous engagement. Wesleyan had supposedly lost ground in losing its star center, Robert Hunt. Dope went haywire, Coyote cagers went hot, the Bulldogs were baffled, and the sports fans were disappointed.

However, the game was an excellent portrayal of the fire-department style of basketball played by the Coyotes. The style featured a baffling, rushing defense, fast breaks with all sorts of freakish setups—obviously the specialty of the Coyote cagers, plus a good percentage of goals made from their freakish attempts.

The box score:

Steady, Slow Ball Wins 35-26

Bethel Falls To Superior Floorplay, Teamwork of Canines

With "Duke" Holmes playing his first cage game with the Bulldogs this season, and leading his mates in their offense for the entire evening, the Bulldogs encountered little difficulty in vanquishing the Bethel college Graymaroons in a cage affair at Newton, Wednesday, January 29.

Holmes was the high scorer of the evening with a total of 13 points, and Rousell was Newton's high scorer with 9 points to his credit. McPherson held a 23-14 advantage at half-time and their lead was never seriously threatened.

Reserves Play Games Almost As Thrilling As Varsity Games Which Follow

Proceeding practically every varsity game played so far this season, the fans have been very interesting and colorful struggles between the McPherson second team and various other teams. It is in these games that the fans have been able to watch the stars in the making, high point men of the future.

From the standpoint of action and the amount of scoring done, the second teams have been almost as entertaining as the main events. With a large amount of reserve strength to pick from, Coach Hayden has been able to put a strong reserve five on the floor for each preliminary.

McPherson's seconds led the Kansas Wesleyan seconds for a large part of their encounter, but faltered late in the last half and bowed to the Coyotes, 49-40. In this contest, Eddie Leonard led in individual scoring with a total of 18 points to his credit. Sles, McPherson guard, also turned on the heat and took second honors with a total of 10 points.

The second team's next opponents were the Bethel seconds in a game at Newton. In this game the Bulldogs held a comfortable lead which was only threatened in the closing minutes. McPherson's high scoring forward, Bob Burkholder, who had

Baker Slips Past Cagers To Win 36-35

McPherson Forces Baker Into Overtime, Yet Loses Thriller-Diller

Baker university maintained its undisputed leadership of the Kansas Conference by defeating McPherson college 36 to 35 Tuesday night at Convention Hall, but not until after the Bulldogs had forced the game into an overtime period.

Junior French, forward, sank a long goal with 10 seconds remaining in the regular game period to tie the score 31 to 31 for McPherson. In the overtime period Baker scored two field goals and a free throw while the Bulldogs sank two fielders.

McPherson probably played its best game of the season with the team working together splendidly. The Bulldog passing was accurate and fast and the ball handling was the best seen here this year. McPherson scored three more field goals than the Baker Wildcats but missed many free throws while Baker accounted for 10 charity shots out of 12 attempts. McPherson missed six chances from the free throw line.

The score was tied three times during the first part of the opening half and then McPherson started barraging the goal to pull away into a 19 to 12 lead. The half ended a few seconds later after Hersch scored for Baker with the Bulldogs still leading 19 to 14.

Baker started cutting into the Canines' lead early in the second half, catching up and tying the score at 21 to 21. McPherson regained the lead, 23 to 22, and then went into a 27 to 24 lead, only to have the score tied at 29 to 29 with less than one minute remaining to play. Arnold scored a field goal with 30 seconds to play. McPherson took the ball out and on passing in Baker knocked the ball out of bounds. McPherson called time out with 10 seconds to play. Coach Tom Hayden sent Calvin Jones in to replace Lee Unruh. Jones passed the ball in to French on the side of the court and with two Bulldogs blocking off Baker guards French arched a long shot that went through the ring to tie the score 31 to 31.

After a 2-minute rest the 5-minute overtime period opened with Brust dropped in a long field goal for McPherson to give his team a 33 to 31 advantage. Seymour, Baker guard, cut McPherson's lead to one point

Hold Business Meeting

Attention Wahoos! Tuesday evening, February 11, members of the W. A. A. are to meet in the gymnasium at 6:30 for a short business meeting. Plans for this semester will be discussed; they include the much looked forward to formal banquet to be given April 5. Girls who are active members in the W. A. A. are invited to attend. They may also bring escort, if they so desire. However, any girl may come by herself. Plans are being made to hold the banquet at the Country Club or at one of the downtown hotels.

Dues Are Due

With the closing of the first semester comes the plea for second semester dues. Of course, W. A. A. girls never forget their obligations! But just in case there has been a "slip-up" and girls have forgotten any officer of the W. A. A. will gladly accept your pecuniary of fifty cents for the semester.

New Club Organized

Maxine Ruehlen heads the newly organized club in the W. A. A., the Basketball Club. Regular meetings are on Monday and Tuesday nights at 6:30. Any girl is invited to come and the meetings are still open for those who plan to be an active member in this club.

Although the ping-pong tournament is still progressing, the Recreation club is taking up badminton at their new unit. Members who do not own rackets and birds may use those of the department.

Outers Have Skate

Outers of the Outing Club enjoyed a "sack-lunch" and a skate recently at the skating rink. Tragedy reigned, however, when Harriet Pratt had the misfortune of falling and hurting her knee. For a while Harriet had to hobble on supports.

Revising Constitution

A committee headed by Edith Spengler is in the process of revising the club constitution. When all revisions are completed it will be given to the executive committee to act upon. However, before the final acceptance of the new constitution is made, it will be presented to the club at large.

Many were the stiff joints of the girls in Tumbling Club, headed by Leta Beckner, after their first few "work-outs". A more convenient time has been arranged for the meetings. Instead of Friday at 7:50, the club will meet on Wednesdays at 4:00.

Plan Play Night

Although no definite time has been set, Doris Voshell, president of W. A. A., announced that plans are being made for an all-school play night which will be sponsored by the W. A. A. More plans will be revealed later.

when he made good a free throw attempt on French's foul. Hersh, center, sank a fielder and Arnold, forward, another, to put Baker out in front 36 to 33. With less than half a minute to play Brust tossed another long goal to boost McPherson's score to 35. The game ended a few seconds later after McPherson fought desperately to get possession of the ball and shoot.

Popee and Arnold, both Baker forwards, and Brust, McPherson guard, shared high scoring honors of the game with 12 points each.

for the ball and elbows were flying for a good part of the contest. That the Bulldogs were not badly beaten is evidenced by the fact that they made exactly the same amount of field goals as their opponents, 21 in all. Their charity tosses proved their downfall, however, for they made good only three out of 13 attempts.

McPHERSON REPUBLICAN

Coyotes Defeat Bulldogs 56-45

Free-Scoring Affair Excellently Illustrates Fire Department Style

By Dean Stucky

McPherson silenced the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes' biggest big gun, Vic Ebaugh, holding him to a total of two points for one evening of play, and in general, gave the Coyotes from the Johnson camp one big scare, be-just been bothered with flu, led his team in scoring and shared high point honors with Goering of Bethel. Each scored seven points. The final Burkholder again took individual scoring honors in the return game with Bethel on the Convention Hall maples. The Graymaroons turned the tables however, and managed to take home the bacon and even the score with the Bulldogs. Coach Unruh used a total of thirteen players in this game and pretty heavy scoring kept the Graymaroons in the lead for the greatest share of the game. Jack Vetter, newly acquired Bulldog, and Richard Prentice, tall center, also zipped the net for six points apiece. The score was 40-25.

In the preliminary game before the Baker game the reserves had no little difficulty in defeating the Galva High school first team, which will play here this week in the county tournament. The college seconds won 24 to 17. The college led 8 to 6 at the end of the first quarter, 12 to 8 at the half and 14 to 8 at the end of the third quarter. Galva kept pushing the college lads all the way. Bamber, tall Galva center, was high scorer of the game with 10 points. Vetter and Burkholder, with eight points each, were high for the seconds. The box score:
