Readers Must Use Discrimination

Daily, as we pick up a newspaper, we read stories pertaining to the war, Japan, Germany, Italy, England, China or any other country involved in this war. As we read we form an opinion—either we believe the story or we don't. Chances are, rather than disbelief, we probably have a belief in the truth of the statements therein.

Occasionally, however, we find ourselves becoming doubters. We don't believe anything we read. About each article we conclude, if it talks of war, that it is propaganda. Yet, we can read a neighborly news story, and if it criticizes the government, for one reason or another, that too, in our minds, has a bad taste because it is talking against our government.

On one hand we are mentally criticizing our government for putting out propaganda, and on the other hand criticizing the other fellow for trying to keep the people aware of what is going on

In our modern world with its many rapid means of com-minication, public sentiment changes rapidly. For this reason, the public must be kept informed and awakened to both its progress ad its mistakes.

Just because a story pertains to the government does not mean that it is propaganda. Likewise, just because a writer criticizes the government does not mean that he does not like his government. It probably means that his concern is great enough to spend time and effort on constructive criticism.

The reader, it is true, must use discrimination in his reading. He must not either accept blindly or reject blindly whatever he reads. Yet there is the danger of becoming too critical. How much easier it is to find fault than to correct it.

April 1st Has Excuse For Existence

This week men's foolishness was reemphasized by his observance of April Fool's day, the day when the average person becomes a practical joker and the practical joker runs rampant, making a fool of himself as well as of his victims. When and how the custom got started and who is to blame for it nobody seems to know, but the day is here after withstanding the test of time.

A love of fun is a natural characteristic that can be observe A love of fun is a natural characteristic that can be observed in every normal person from infancy to the grave. The teasing in grade school, the ribbing in high school, and the corny jokes of the college student (and his professors) serve as indicators of this instinctive nature. But the joker should remember that fun at another's expense is poor fun indeed. The only truely practical joke is the one that can be at least partially enjoyed by everyone involved. Practical jokes harm no one if they are tempered by common sense.

Perhaps April Fool's day is plessing to marking In these Perhaps April Fool's day is a blessing to mankind. In these times of stress and strain people need a vent for the mischief that collects within them. Laughter is good for the soul. A well-known clinic has the following motto: "A Laught a Day Keeps the Doctor Away." That statement may seem trite but it does have a moral. On April 1, everybody is given the chance and excuse for doing the fooling things he secretly desires to do at other times; but for reasons of etiquette and propriety he (usually) refrains from so doing.

Private Colleges Healthy Influence

The prospect of continued success for private colleges in the United States, in the face of the strangling effects of an all-out war situation, has become a frequently-discussed subject in educational circles. Three recent statements by college presidents seem to summarize educational opinion with regard to the outlook for these institutions:

dents seem to summarize educational opinion with regard to the outlook for these institutions:

Asserting that private colleges have proved a healthy influence on the life of the nation, the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, president of Fordham university, say: "it is significant that wherever absolute states have flourished they have depended for their support upon public, and therefore political, control of all education. Without criticizing or even suspecting any college or university in the country, we can face the fact that the elimination of privately controlled institutions or even their serious debility, would remove an obstacle from the path of a possible dictator in the United States."

Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette college, expresses a high degree of faith in the private endowed college is not free, that its future is problematical, that in a period of rapidly increasing government domination it may entirely disappear. This counsel of gloom I believe to be entirely without foundation, because the independent institutions train youth to meet the new industrial, social and political problems of each epoch. However, if our private colleges mast upon maintaining outmoded curricula, if they are timid and fearful in the face of crises which affect income and attendance, if they lower their standards and admit the unprepared,

Attacking national morals, he made this statement. "In this national crisis the greatest fifth columnist

"The unshakeable 'yes' has sound-ed to answer the terrible question," proclaimed Jones, and he proved his statement by saying that we have statement by saying that we have the will to live now because we are assurred of an unchangeable King-dem and an unchangeable Leader. "But only as you surrender to Him will you walk the world as a con-queror. I master the earth as I master myself," concluded Dr. Jones.

In answer to the question of how to master one's self he gave the fol-lowing ladder, built around the let-ter R: Review your life; Reverse your wrongs; Return to Christ; Re-mounce yourself; Restore for your misdeeds; Receive from Him; Re-late, your ernetimes to home about late your experience to those about you; Replenish your spirit; and Re-

Courage to supplant apprehension is called for by Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, president of Bucknell university. He agrees that "the privately endowed college faces some very puzzling problems brought on by war conditions," and adds that "every person, every institution, every business, is facing equally puzzling problems." He then goes on to ask: "Why should the college be exempt from worry, from readjustments, from sharp sacrifices? It is no time for a college to feel sorry for itself. Rather it is time for it to face its problems squarely, bravely and wish unselfish zeal for maximum service to youth, to freedom and to America.—(A, C, P.)

A Just and Durable Peace

I do not share the attitude of a few who say there is no value in thinking and planning a peace while engaged in war. It is true that the details of the peace cannot be determined until the war is over, but the general principles which will constitute the framework or pattern of a just and durable peace can be and ought to be seriously considered by all who in any way are concerned with ridding our posterity of the scourge of war.

Some of us who were young men and women in the first World-Was prayed and worked that another like conflagration would never occur again. Now we have sons and daughters caught up in World-Way No. 2. Evidently we did not do a very good job. May it be that we depended too much upon verbal prayer and not enough upon work. It seems to me that basic to a just and durable peace are the following facts and principles.

1. War is not inevitable.

The way to peace is to disarm the hearts of men by teaching to our children among other things the following:

(1) There is one God, and the universe is His. (2) Human values are supreme values.

(3) There are no superior nations or races. Prejudices are acquired

(4) Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness are the inalicanable rights of all peoples everywhere.

(5) The innate tendencies of man can be directed to-ward the general welfare and the common good.

(6) Man is not innately immoral or unethical. He is potentially a saint much as potentially a sinner.

(7) The world does not owe me a living only a chance to earn an honorable livelihood. In earning my living I should be willing to render value received for all favors and opportunities.

(8) The morals other and these are I have a few and the control of the morals of the control of the control of the morals of the control of

(8) The morals, ethics, and theology of Jesus if under-stood and practiced will make all men brethren and the world a brotherhood. Nothing short of a common morality for the world will eliminate war.

3. The causes of wars, especially the last two, must be approached objectively and understood alike by all peoples of all nations.

4. The world is capable of producing the essentials of wholesome physical living for all of her inhabitants if her children become morally and socially intelligent.

5. Changes, as they affect large numbers of people, come slowly, but history furnishes many evidences of desirable social and cultural changes.

The above material is merely suggestive and in no sense intended to be complete.

Eight Lettermen Return To Track Squad

Only Three Scheduled Meets Because Few

Now that basketball season, is month gone by and track has been under way for nearly a week, maybe we should look over the prospects for a track squad this season.

We have back this year eight lettermen. Vetter will again appear in the role of weight man and quarter miler. At Miller will be in the this of javlin throwing and pole vaulting, Culver is back to cut the tape in the dashes, Unruh will, with Yetter, run the quarter mile gain, Sie will be crossing the bar in high jamp, and Pinfrock will be back on the two miles etreth of hacon had may perhaps initiate himself into the mile run with the absence of a year is back to run with Burger, his roommate in the two-mile event and perhaps in the half mile.

there are numerous prospects of freshmen and also aften wild have not been out for college track previously to this year. There is good prospects in Walt Buller as a weight man Dayton Rothrock may turn out to be a good half-niller. Mays and Dilmars are running the mile and Ronald Orr may run the half.

The pressure has not been put on as yet. We will find out what our prospective men can do on the day of Don't be surprised to see nother successful two mile relay team this year. Although three of last year's period place two mile team have gone leaving only Fintrock, there will be nearly seven half-miles to pick irom. However some of our other distance runners may be converted into a bair. This new group of four hooks are sent in installments about four times a year to small public libraries until the library receives 100 books. to be running very much outside.

We are in dire need of competition of a trip starting in Japan, north to this year due to the fact that Bethauy College dropped out and Bethel will have very little track. That leaves only Kansas Wesleyan, the Ottawa Relays, and Conference Meet sometime in May.

If there is enough interest some of the horse was triven in 1940.

Coach Hayden has been working with the boys regularly of late and he may develop a few stars good enough to win a few meets this year.

Tennis And Golf To Be Abandoned

Tennis and golf have been abat doned as intercollegiate sports at McPherson College this year. Mc-Pherson will have a track team this Pherson will have a track team this spring but by necessity its schedule will be limited. Bethany College, College of Emporia and Hutchinson Jr. College are all abandoning track and Bethel will put little emphasis on it. Baker, Kansan Wesleyan, and Ottawa will have track teams as usual. But it will be impossible for the Buildong to have dual meets with Baker or oftwa because of the distance.

It will be possible for Buildon at.

It will be possible for Buildog athletes to participate in the conference tenths fournament or conference gelf meet Coach Hayden stated, if the college thinks their ability merits the chance. But McPherson will not send teams as in past years.

Coach Hayden made it clear that this measure was taken only for this spring and had no bearing on tennis

Gleaned From The Teeming Brain

I'm in favor of a law forbidding all the show I might mention that people to study on such nice spring Robert Taylor, alias Johnnie Eager, they say say since the 9 weeks tests are enter when the fire stopped the picture.

The end of the semester—at least that's what I keep telling myself have done something to Richard the end of the semester—at least that's what I keep telling myself when I can't seem to find time to study. In a day or so, when the grades come out, we will know how crush is on Mary K. Silter and may much more we should have studied and we will also know which professors hold a grudge against us—or at least we can use that as an excuse for making a D or F in some class or other.

past week is the fact that Jim Burger past week is the fact that Jim Burger has been weakened so much by the lure of one of our red-headed coeds that he woke up Sunday morning and found himself securely clamped in her clutches (figuratively speaking) her clutches (figuratively speaking)—or in other words he is engaged! !
I suppose I have been disillusioned about Burger but I always thought he was a man of strong will and one who wouldn't fall for that line of the te sex but perhaps that red hair blinded him. Nevertheless here's hopblinded him. Nevertheless nere's nop-ing that they have a long and happy married life. Let this be a lesson to you other guys—If the army doesn't get you some gal will, so what's the difference?

There was excitement galore a week ago Sunday night at the Manor when "Johnnie Eager" was there. After the patrons had become quite interested in the picture (and Lana Interested in the picture (and Laiss Turner), the screen went blank agd someone shouted "fire". After the patrons were informed that the building was fire proof, they calmed down ad casually walked out as if nothing were burning. For the infor-mation of those who didn't get to see hensive examinations were last Wedther. The most astounding news of the ast week is the fact that Jim Burger has been weakened so much by the are of one of our red-headed coadmant he woke up Sunday morning and und himself securely clamped in the secure clamp mental giant, Paul (Hell-Driver) Dannelley, didn't turn out as por-trayed by Geisert and company last Saturday night, Of course, we would like to have him around, but the navy would probably object becau Sam needs men like him.

Poesy And Prose

Spring is here——how trite!!— nevertheless, it's here. But Spring this year finds atroubled world; one in which mingled emotions are being experienced. Such differing emo-tions have been expressed in these two "spring-time" poems.

LAUGHERS

The next poem, with an entirely different interpretation, was written shortly before the author was killed in action during World War I.

By Alan Seeger

I have a rendezvous with Death At some disputed barricade, When Spring comes back with rust ling shade

And apple blossoms fill the air— I have a rendezvous with Death When spring brings back blue days and fair.

It may be he shall take my hand And lead me into his dark land And close my eyes and quench breath—

I have a rendezvous with Death On some scarred slope of battled hill. When Spring comes round again this year And the first meadow flowers app

God knows 'twere better to be deer Pillowed in silk and scented down, When love throbs out in blissful sleep.
Pulse nigh to pulse, and breath to breath,

Where hushed awakenings dear

But I've a rendezvous with Death At midnight in some flaming town. When Spring trips north again this year.

And I to my pledged word am true
I shall not fall my rendezvous.

New Torture Committee Plans Hayden Freed Of Sadie Williams Bucks Increased Social Activity

LONG LIVE THE REVOLUTION:D

Only this morning another group of eliticenty revolted against the tyranny of Madame Shockley DeFarge, who has long held this galiant little body under her subjugation!

None other than the "Torture Committee" (committee threw off the shackles of Madame's domination and anosunced that from here on out this vital organization would be in complete harmony with the policies of the new Republique. The slogan "of, by, and for the elitizenty" will be en by, and for the citizenry" will be en-forced in every detail of future plan-ning by the "torture committee."

This branch of the revolution was led by Pierrot Kurtz Ebbert (did you led by Pierrot Kurtz Ebbert (did you know Kurtz was a hot-shot barn-dan-eer from a-way-back?), with the col-laboration of Pierrette Mildred Fries, which two red-heads functioned smoothly in over-throwing the royal Madame. The origin of this upheaval was at the instigation of La-twila Peck, whose recent comprehensive exams had resulted in the rather beserk, revolutionary theory which was so heartily endorced by Pierrot and Pierrette Red-heads fifth columnists, the revolution has revolted- - -but here's the inside dope on the revoluting experience--say, did you hear that citizen jim say, did you hear that citizen Jim-burger and bonnie bounte lou have speeded up the town's excitement by revolutionizing their lives, were you surprised jim- and just between us--have you heard what the rabbit said when he came out of a forest fire-you haven't-i've been "de-ferred"—cidon gus mcdowell has been seen quite frequently with a certain cute little high school galt-boys, her name is norma barngrower. boys, her name is norma barngrover ----and talk of the revolution--we —and talk of the revolution-we hear that ralph stutman had a revo-lution of his own, and his very own roommate, methinks margaret would be a fifth columnist—apeaking of the tall and short of it—mary kittell likes extremes; and we do mean doc mary had a little lamb his fleece was black as soot and every where that mary went his sooty foot he put and we continue, all you quizzlings, ---that the third floor gals and ten kline gals get open season on the dorn men, pienic is furnished as a reward for their efforts---the first and second floor gals claim that plutocratic parents nosed them outthe revolutionary grumbles and rum-bles have been shaking arnold hall over this plutocratic action, these rumbles threaten the guillotine for remotes threaten the guilotine for responds, goes, and tammed!——

What is real americanism?—the chinaman says." you melikans, funny people, you put sugar in drink to make it sweet-and lemon to make it sour-gin to pep it up-ice to cool it sour-sin to pep it up--ice to cool it down-you give a toast "here's to you" and then drink it yourself--gertle conner says that herbie ronk will be quite a man when he fills out, but we aren't so sure if he contin-ues keeping such ungodly hours, and if he continues dissipating his manly physique by insisting upon using the conner mobile so consistently--we don't see why the upperclassmen stand for such conduct from a fresh-man, are the upperclassmen revoluman, are the upperclassmen revoluman, are the upperclassmen revolu-tionists or royalists—if anyone suc-ceeds in getting the particulars of shorty orvelle long's vision (dream to you, you dope)—if might be well to inform this column because such ments of the government, for aimst sub-abversive activity cannot be allowed during our revolution, mebbe you'd rather tell us yourself, beautiful dreamer—everybody's hero especially the young ladies', that superman wait buller has disiluationed macceds by announcing his marriage will occur today, nige way to start our revolution, walt—bagger, why were you so exuberant when you learned of the third floor arnolidity victory—another major revolution on our fair campus, we hear that delbert brunton has stuck his neck out by lavting yers maurine hair to the methb banquet, v. maurine, could this be resplic for the sentor class play incident at which our vesta v beat your time, remember, vesta is definitely the domestic type—they say it pays—say, say girls, theres been enough heat or fire around this revolting college today, cool down, kindling point 150 degrees fahren-helt—hiskory dickory dock the mouse ran upi the clock, the clock struck one and Cokie got away sub-subversive activity cannot be alpulsory class attendance! Down with paganism, we want Easter vacation!" and "To heck with classes!" The students, among who were Belle Chapeau Kerlin, Madamoiselle Lena Belle, and Terrible Terry Linville, stormed the Ad building early today and, after finally overpowering a strong force of faculty henchmen led by Fearless Frank Forney, Francisco Waylanden, and other faculty henchmen, they succeeded in entering the building and capturing several of Mad with the lust for blood they began shouting "To the guillotine! To the Guillotine!" and were not ap-pease until DeSlatzy Beitnott's lanky peasd until Destaty Bottnott's lanky stature was shortened by about a foot, hawn from the upper portion. As the curriculum king stepped upon the execution block be turned and drawled to the crowd, "You cain't ex-pect to graduate effen ye do this to me," took one last bite out of his candy bar, spat out the tinfoil wrap-per, and went to his death as a true Virginian.

Financier Fries Relieved Of Duty

Klotz Instigates Revolt Against Exhorbitant Tax

After years of complaint against the despotic rule of Financier Fries and his deputy, Rambling Rock as minister of finance they have finally been ousted from office by the insurocen ousted rom office by the insur-rectionists and are at present at the Bastille awaiting triat, Conviction is almost assured as there has been growing resemment for yours against the high handed methods of doing business by the former incum-

It was indicated by "Ruthless Rogers, one of the leaders of the re-voit that exorbitant taxes have been charged for years yet long desired internal improvements could not be efternal improvements could not be ef-fected because of lack of money. "Ruthless" Rogers pointed out that modern lighting fixtures have been needed in Sharp Hall, seat of the ad-ministrative and legislative departments of the government, for almost two decades, but the treasury depart-ment repeatedly stated that no funds were available for the desired im-
