

Librarian Cries For Return Of Overdue Books

Remoans Fact There Are No Substitute Volumes

"A horse! A horse! My kingdom for a horse!" A horse is a good substitute in times of gas and tire rationing. Rayon and cotton can be substituted for silk and nylon. "Sams" groceries, and home economists suggest syrup and honey for sugar substitutes, but no one, not even Archibald McLeish, Librarian at Congress, can convince college students that the information they seek from particular books is to be found in any other books. The library staff is anxious to assist students in finding the books needed, but, quite frequently, books are missing from the stacks and the reserve section, but no cards can be found in the files to indicate who has them. For these books missing there are no substitutes.

Think over the following new semester resolutions, and "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you!"

- I shall cooperate with the library staff by:
- Signing the orange card whenever I use a reserve book in the library.
- Returning reserve books to the desk instead of the shelves.
- Signing the white card whenever I use a book from the stacks.
- Asking the librarian in charge for a date-due slip and stamp when taking books from the library.
- Maintaining library atmosphere so that others may be able to study, even when I am not in the mood.
- Returning books on time.

Search your rooms! Look in every class room! Find that missing library book, and return it at once, so that there need be no substitutes.

Coeds Hold "Jam Meet"

What new games are needed in the S.U.R., how to overcome inferiority complexes, what is and is not good taste in dating—these questions along with many others were discussed in the all-girls' meeting Tuesday evening.

The meeting, which was held in the form of a "jam session." Kathleen Brubaker, the chairman, encouraged the girls to contribute ideas and questions.

The Women's Council sponsored this session in which both personal and campus problems were discussed.

As You Like It Or Lump It

"Quiz Time" is over again, and once more we prepare for a new semester. Vacation is over, "kids," so throw away that old apple and start polishing a new one.

Speaking of quizzes and all that, I overheard many conversations quoting thus: (looking at their grades) "Merely prejudice!"

Nowadays you can do practically anything for fun; at least Wayne and Ernie seem to think so. Mary Hutchinson gave an excellent and super-duper program, didn't she, Wayne? How we love to dawdle over a "Pepsi" for an hour and then ride in a small coupe (no more room). Oh me life is interesting at times isn't it? Even when one rushes into the hotel rooms, Wayne. You know the saying, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

So far as I know seven nights in a week would be enough for me. But it seems that Dick McRoberts wants to change the calendar for the whole year. Reason? A certain little freshman girl seems to think that at least one night must be taken out for a little shut-eye.

Well how do you feel, freshman? Free, white and ready to stay out until 10:00? A word to the wise is sufficient and we needn't say more.

We don't know what to do with Delores L. these days! She's so quiet on third that our proctor is going mad with nothing to do.

The "little childish" girls are becoming "little ladies" as a result

The Spectator

Service Men's Pub

News from near and far received by the Spectator and relayed to you by your service men's commentator—Jack Vetter has turned from athletics to the Navy Air Corps. At present he is learning the ground work with the C.P.T. at Bethany in Lindsborg. His address is unknown even to Millie Fries who says "It really doesn't matter for he is close enough to come down all the time." Jack will be remembered for his "All Star" athletic performance.

Then from sunny California we hear that Milford Voth is well and happy but he has seen only one Maccollegian since he has been in that state, and so he would appreciate a letter from ye fellows and gals! His address is:

Sgt. Milford Voth
2953 Ordnance Co.
Chico Army Flying School,
Chico, Calif.

Don Mishler, who before going into the air corp was a chemistry major here in college, is now located in Texas.

Lieutenant Addison Saathoff, an outstanding graduate of McPherson College, c. '39, recently received his wings. He was one of six who were retained as flying instructors. Lieutenant Saathoff's address is A.N.T.S., Mather Field, California.

of our successful charm chat, commonly called "The Jam Session." At least we want to help the certain "opposite sex" who sent in the following note: "Why do some girls have to be so childish at times?" Tsk! Tsk!

The burning "torch" has lost its flame. Old man winter and Jack Frost have arrived and with it no power in the "torch." What will we do, Connie?

These freshmen are becoming so datable that they are even willing to give them away. At that they want to give them to the sophomores! Why, Helen, Elizabeth really doesn't care!

Bob Mays, the hero, came to the rescue the other evening in the S.U.R. and became the delivery boy. The only trouble was there wasn't enough food to go around, and poor Joyce had one pint of ice cream to divide. Chivalry, blessed chivalry.

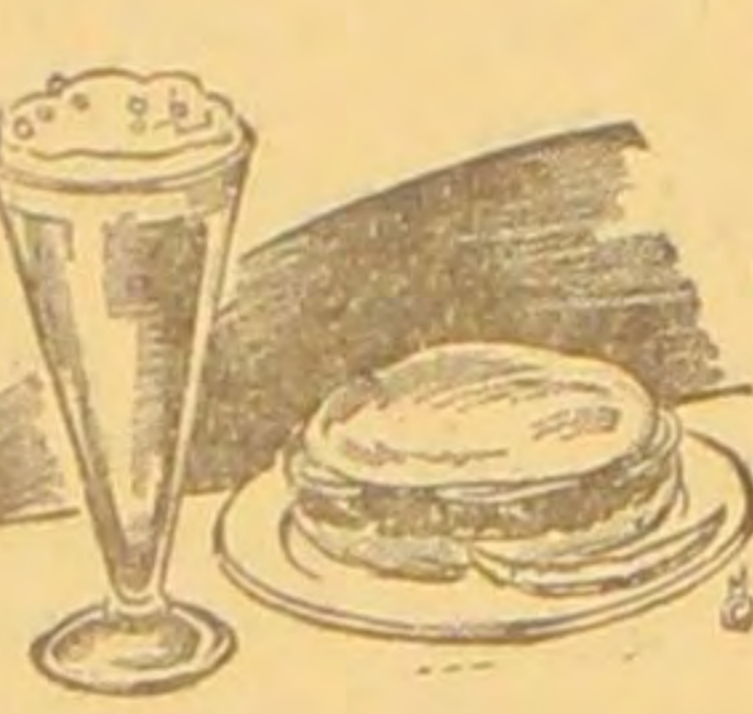

Our well-known debate team seems to be doing all right for itself. Kough and Geisert are quite well known for the "gift of gab, for even the opposing team had to give up. Wayne was so enthusiastic that one of his approving spectators spontaneously cried "yes, that's right" and fairly danced with glee (well—practically). What do you think of that for team work?

The way the "kids" rush to the "mush-room" one would think that the mush they serve there is a part of the meal. This is a statement quoted by one of the charter members of the "I don't like it club." Complaints, complaints, and more complaints, but who cannot sympathize? Give the mush its walking papers and let us sign a contract for wholesome entertainment. It is a challenge to you, student body! Bring out that enthusiasm.

Yours for a lasting and better semester.
