Council Passes Quad Assistants

Aurell And Naylor To Work On Yearbook

At the weekly meeting of the Student Council, Freda Aurell and Kent Naylor were approved as assistant business manager and assistant editor respectively of the Quadrangle, McPherson College's yearbook.

Both students are very highly recommended by the Board of Publications. Naylor, prominent junior, assists Editor Mary Beth Loshbaugh with the journalistic end of the Quadrangle and next year he assumes the responsibilities of editor of the college annual.

Freda Aurell is a very capable young lady with plenty of vim, vigor and vitality. Hailing from McPherson, Miss Aurell is well acquainted with the business men of McPherson and is expected to be a very able assistant to Charles Dumond, business manager of the Quadrangle.

Frosh Initiated Last Friday In Gym

Talent Is Displayed By Greenies

For the first time in many years the traditional all school watermelon feed was not held under open sky. Instead, the sky opened up and all had to rush for shelter of the gym. The walls and the ceiling cramped the usual free for all style characteristic of this annual event. Nevertheless, fun and melon were partaken of by all.

But to go back to the beginning—the evening started out on the right foot of fun with community singing led by able Dave and his 'Albright' grin. Keith (his sidekick) Burton held down the piano keyboard.

The program started. Avis Erb won the hearts of the upperclassmen as well as her fellow classmates with her bashful grin, twenty-nine pig-tails (one could hardly call them braids) and nimble fingers as she played a number on her accordion, only to bring down the house and be clapped back for more.

Dorris Murdock, another able frosh from Iowa, sang a clever song (typically Iowan), with Dave at the piano.

Phyllis Strickler sent the audience into gales of laughter as she scolded solemn Avis 'fer stealin' green water-millions'.

The trio, Es Fillmore, Ev Metzgar, and Jo Riddlebarger, was obviously from Idaho. You know — way out west.

Eulalia Crist and Alice Ruth Bailly made a splendid showing in the name of Kansas. Eulalia's reading was the cleverest thing on the program, and Alice Ruth showed exceptional talent in music.

The only frosh fellow who showed himself on the program was that Willis Unruh. He played a flute solo accompanied by Waneta Drennin.

Gerald Hutchinson and Joan Fin-frock both 'have Plans' as they bashfully revealed with other choice bits of information when called for by the crowd. This part of the program concluded with Dave (again) leading everyone in the school song.

And then to the gym. The poor frosh were properly initiated into the sacred ranks of college men and women in rather unique manner. They all proved themselves excellent sports, and will henceforth show more respect when the family car gets its yearly clean-up.

For the end of a swell day, see the first paragraph.

Mohler Urges Students To Act Consistently

Professor R. E. Mohler was the speaker at the Sunday evening BYPU, September 24. He entitled his talk, "I Didn't Know You Were That Way." Speaking from his past experiences, he said that some people do not act consistently. When they are at home, they act one way and when away from home, their behavior is entirely different; however, he added, one should always put his best "foot" forward, and it will never be necessary for others to say, "I didn't know you were that way."

Spec. To Appear On Saturday This Year

Change Is Due To Labor Shortage

The practice of adherence to tradition is splendid as long as it does not retard progress, but when tradition becomes a hindrance rather than an asset, it is time to cast tradition aside and find some better method to take its place.

It has been customary for the Spectator to appear on the campus each Friday noon, but in viewing the facts, which are explained in the following paragraphs, the Board of Publication has decided that it would be best to publish the Spectator on Saturday morning.

During the past two weeks the Spectator staff has been striving to meet the Republican schedule. Under that plan the Spec staff must have all copy into the Republican before three o'clock. Those of you who have worked on the Spectator realize that to edit, rewrite and take copy to the Republican before three o'clock is impossible, especially when all the reporters do not meet the deadline.

As you all know, these are critical times. Young men and women have been called to the service, causing a continual drain on the labor supply. People have moved from small rural communities to industrial centers where they have better jobs at higher wages. Many business firms and publication houses are short of experienced help, thus impairing their efficiency.

The Republican, which has printed the Spectator for a number of years, is no exception when it comes to a labor shortage. Their staff has been considerably reduced. Within the last year two pressmen have left, and in the next few weeks one of their men will leave for the service thus causing another vacancy to be filled.

The business manager of the Republican states that in regard to these conditions the Spectator would come out on Saturday most of the time. Thus it is our privilege to cooperate with this organization which has served McPherson College faithfully for many years. Therefore, to avoid confusion and criticism, the Spectator will be released each Saturday morning.

After the war when conditions return to normal, if the student body so desires, the Spectator could be published on Friday.

Dr. Peters Counsels With Freshman Girls

Dr. Peters gave a friendly and helpful talk to freshman and new girls Wednesday night in the S. A. R. Dr. Peters, who was introduced by Gertrude Conner, president of Woman's Council, welcomed town girls as well as dorm residents. He stated that he hoped both groups would enter into college life, reaping enjoyment for themselves without risking the cost of someone else's happiness.

Dr. Peters urged that we develop into "law-abiding citizens" of both dorm and campus. Girls of McPherson College should abstain from gambling, smoking, drinking, dancing and similar questionable pastimes on the campus. "Develop a sense of values and get satisfaction out of the high and the beautiful," said Dr. Peters. "I am genuinely sincere in hoping you will be at home with both me and the college."

Preceding the program Catharine Little, a freshman from Kansas City, played La Czarine, a piano solo.

Island Culture Is Topic In S.C.M.

Language Professor Taught In Puerto Rico

Last Thursday, Professor M. I. Weinreich of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages, gave a talk to a S. C. M. meeting, entitled: "Puerto Rico-Cultural Aspects of an American Colony".

Dr. Weinreich, who taught for three years in the University of that United States possession, described the "culture" of the island, that is to say its general pattern of life—individual and collective—which includes the political, socio-economic, and historical conditions. To this the speaker added the cultural peculiarities, in the strict sense of the word: the intellectual, esthetic, educational and religious heritage of Puerto Rico.

After presenting the results of the impact of two civilizations—the Latin and the Anglo-Saxon—Dr. Weinreich suggested the means by which the botanically flourishing isle of the Caribbean could also become a humanly, flourishing abode of human beings. He urged the application of the principles of Democracy, Equality and Justice among peoples.

College Students Elect S.S. Teachers

In accordance to the tradition established last year of dividing the college Sunday School group, the election of group officers and teachers presiding for 9 weeks and 3 weeks respectively, was duly carried out.

Class No. 1 elected Dale Brown as teacher, Kent Naylor as chairman, and Irene Schraml as secretary.

Joyce Mays has been chosen as chairman for class No. 2. Kathryn Little as secretary and Mary Beth Loshbaugh as teacher.

Jerry Tharrington was elected teacher of class No. 3 with Betty Elrod as secretary and Jo B. Brooks will act as her assistant.

Student Body Votes In Close Election

Freda "Twitter" Aurell and Patricia "Pep" Kennedy came out on top of a close cheerleader election on Wednesday. Bob "Sur-bet" Mays completes the cheerleading trio which will lead the fighting Bulldogs to another victorious year for old M. C. The election was supervised by the Student Council and the polls were located in the S. U. R. Bob is a senior and both of the other members of the team are sophomores.

S.C.M. Drive For Members Begins

Swank And Ikenberry Are Chair men Of Drive

The Student Christian Movement membership drive commenced Monday morning when Professor Berkebile, advisor of the SCM, addressed the student body in chapel.

Prof. Berkebile spoke of the three main purposes of S. C. M. First it should take the place of the devotions in the home, which so many students were used to, by means of the Thursday evening worship programs. Another aim of the organization is to show the omnipresence of God. Students should realize that worship is not confined to church only, but that it can take place during studies and activities as well. To encourage personal devotions for each of the students whenever he feels a need, was the third purpose that Professor Berkebile mentioned.

After Professor Berkebile's talk, the cabinet members of the S. C. M. presented a symbolic service of lighting candles. Pamphlets explaining the S. C. M. were given out at the doors.

During the next two weeks members of the S. C. M. cabinet will contact every faculty member and student on McPherson College campus.

Dues for membership in the national Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A., of which the S. C. M. is a branch, are one dollar. Any amount of money for membership in the local organization is acceptable. All students are urged to join this Christian organization.

Eunice Swank and Susan Ikenberry are in charge of the membership drive.

Budget Hearing Conducted Last Wednesday Eve

Student Council Listens To Claims Of Various Extra-Curricular Activities

Convening in a regular session last Wednesday night, the Student Council under the leadership of Blanche Geisert, conducted the annual budget hearing. At this meeting, treasurers from various organizations presented from various organizations presented their claims for allotment from the student funds annually apportioned by the Student Council among extra-curricular activities.

Noting the relative reasonability of various claims, and comprising them with allotments of previous years, members of the Student Council will vote on these appeals at its next regular session, Wednesday evening, October 4, at 6:45 p. m.

Committee Discusses Dining Hall Problems

The Dining Hall Committee met Tuesday noon in the Conference Room with Dr. Mohler as the chairman. Lois Kauffman was appointed secretary of the committee. A few of the dining hall problems were discussed, but no motions were made. It was decided to meet again Friday afternoon at 3:00. The members of the committee are Miss Selk, Miss Neher, Pat Kennedy, Lois Kauffman, Yo Takehara, Dale Brown, Professor Dell and the chairman, Dr. Mohler.

"Twitter" has been very active on the campus this past year. She gained membership in the Thespian Club and gave a very spirited performance in the one act plays given last spring. She is also interested in forensics and was a member of the debate squad.

Pat was an active girl on the campus last year as she is this year. Her interests are many and varied. She was a member of the debate squad as well as other campus organizations.

Bob was a member of the cheerleading team last year. He is president of the M Club and an all around go-getter on the campus. He has been active in Thespians as well as in sports. He was on the Student Council last year and is on that governing body again.

The other contestants in the nomination race who are still going to be out there cheering are Joan Finfrock, Rosetta Reed, Grenelda Sprengel, all of whom are freshmen.

The stump speeches were held in the S. A. R. during activity period on Wednesday. Blanche Geisert, president of the Student Council, was the chairman of the meeting and Keith Burton, armed with a M Club paddle, enforced the ruling that the speeches were to be limited to three minutes. Mays, Ronk, Markham, Ikenberry, Naylor and Albright did the verbal campaigning.

Music Department Totals Over 125

Miss Jessie Brown, head of the music department, reports a large enrollment in that department totaling over 125, college and pre-college included.

There are 98 students registered in the piano department. Miss Brown instructs 50 students, 19 pre-college and 31 college students. Miss Minnie Mugler teaches 30 pre-college students and Mr. Jack DuBois has 18 pre-college pupils under his supervision.

In the voice department under Professor Nevin Fisher there are 37 pupils enrolled. Two of these are pre-college students. Professor Fisher also directs the A Cappella Choir of 28 members and the Oratorio chorus of 93 members.

Miss Maude Arnette, instructor of organ, has five organ pupils at the present time.

Mr. Jack DuBois will direct the band this year. His band now numbers 18 pieces, but there are prospects for more members.

Professor Fisher and Miss Mugler also teach theory class in music. Miss Mugler has a Music Appreciation class of three members. Professor Fisher has a Fundamental Theory class of ten, a Choral Conducting class of two and Methods of Teaching Music in Elementary Schools class of three.

In the past six months the music department has added three pianos to its present list of 16. There are quite a few other pianos on the campus in the dormitories and other social rooms. The three pianos added were a Chickering grand to the chapel stage donated by Mr. Miller, a piano added to the downtown studio, and another practice piano in the practice rooms in Harnly Hall bringing the total of practice pianos to seven.

Miss Brown predicts a very promising year with a great deal of new talent among the new students.

So Saith the Forest

Although Confucius is listed among the ancients, his counsels have worth today. He was a scholar among the scholars of his day, yet we hear of him today. These are a few of the requirements he set up for his own guidance. Listen and follow in his footsteps in the future which will some day be your past.

"A scholar, whose mind is set on truth, and is ashamed of bad clothes and bad food, is not fit to be discoursed with.

"The superior man, in the world, does not set his mind either for any thing, or against any thing: what is right he will follow.

"The superior man thinks of virtue; the small man thinks of comfort. The superior man thinks of the sanctions of law; the small man thinks of favours which he may receive.

"He who acts with a constant view to his own advantage will be much murmured against.

"I do not know how a man with out truthfulness is to get on. How can a large carriage be made to go without the cross bar for yoking the oxen, or a small carriage without the arrangement for yoking the horses?"

The days of using my trees for carriage wheels and the year of the horse and oxen are past, but the truth of these wise words of the great sage of Cathay, is yet certain. "Learning without thought is labor lost; thought without learning is perilous." If we are going no direction, we will get nowhere. Choose your goal high that you may reach high. Then study with diligence, and you will arrive at your goal.

Confucius said, "Yew, shall I teach you what knowledge is? When you know a thing, to hold that you know it; and when you do not know a thing to allow that you do not know it; — this is true knowledge." This I heard from the court yard pine, aged and knarled. Listen for they are words of wisdom, so saith the forest.

Campus Clubs Tell Purpose In Chapel

letters on some of their desks you'd realize the lady voters aren't kidding either.

A good many Congressmen already have motto cards hanging above their desks among the "Keep Smiling" and "We Live to Serve" types. The new motto card says, "Never underestimate the power of women"—and we suspect several of our learned legislators have sent framed mementos expressing a similar sentiment to the War Department, hoping a few little seeds of human understanding may take root even on that stormy ground.—Between the Lines.

Sponsors Elected By Classes

Slifer Is Treasurer Of The Senior Class

During the past week the different academic classes met to elect sponsors for their classes. Dr. J. W. Boitnott is the sponsor of the freshman class. The sophomores chose Dr. Metzler as their advisor and decided that dues were to be $3.75 this year.

Sponsoring the junior class is Professor Berkebile and Professor Hess is to direct the senior class.

Meeting Thursday to fill the class treasury vacancy, the seniors of McPherson College enacted several bits of business. Mary Kay Slifer was elected treasurer of the class.

Plans were discussed regarding a senior-freshman kid party. The president, Glen Swinger, appointed a committee to be in charge. Those serving on the committee are Eunice Swank, chairman; Geraldine Tharrington, and Mary Kay Slifer. Tentative plans were made for the drawing up of the senior class budget for the present school year.

Future Fashions

Ever since the fall of France, American dress manufacturers, designers and milliners have carried on a determined effort to see to it that the center of fashions remain in New York and not return to Paris. However, did you notice that as soon as Paris was liberated American news correspondents took one look at the French girls and cried "Whoops, look at that cute dress; and they sure know how to wear a hat!" The New York designers have already given up and are standing in line for a seat on the first plane abroad.

But what the average American

Educational Concepts Discussed By Dean

Speaking in chapel Friday, Dr. J. W. Boitnott told students about the two conceptions of education.

The ivory tower is one concept of education. An ivory tower is a college in which the students live somewhat apart from the world with the sole purpose of storing up knowledge.

Dr. Boitnott said that critics of the German educational system say that was one of the faults of the German University. The university preceding the war was guilty of following this ivory tower policy and forgot to see what was developing in Germany.

The watch tower conception keeps an eye on changing economic, political and social life. It emphasizes helpful and useful education. Dr. Boitnott said that knowledge must have a function to perform in current life.

Dr. Boitnott believes that we should have a compromise of the two conceptions. It is necessary to have knowledge of the past and present. It is fun to know, knowledge is power, correct habits depend on it. Attitudes and ideals are changed as we obtain knowledge, said Boitnott.

Dr. Boitnott stated that students must act, teachers only stimulate action.

He closed his speech with several quotations from the book of Proverbs.

Wartime Romance

All hushed up from public notice is the fact that one little American citizen has caused more trouble to our official propagandists and war morale builders than several dozen Nazi agents. Our officials realize that what the women of America—the sweethearts, sisters and mothers of the men in service, to say nothing of their wives—think and feel is very important. Public morale can go bingo there faster and more devastatingly than on any other psychological front.

Well, little cupid is the unpredictable, uncontrollable mischief-maker who has furrowed the foreheads of prominent Washingtonians. American boys are incurably romantic. They fall in love, and girls of all nationalities fall in love with them—in Australia, Iceland, Ireland, England, France. You have no idea how tightly our censors have held down the lid on all reports of romance among the American forces scattered abroad. In all the quantities of war fiction in magazines and books involving the inevitable love plot, stories are rarely told about the handsome young American lieutenant and his Irish sweetie or Australian flame. If there is anything that would bust up the steady calm of the home front, so largely governed by feminine hearts, it would be the idea that the lads are having a whoopsie good time—with lasting results—with the blondes and brunettes of the other United Nations.

When finally the inevitable happened and a shipload of brides and their babies was ready to go to America so the girls could visit their new in-laws and settle down in the land of the milk and honey until their husbands were through with war, the headaches and travail in official Washington censorship quarters were really something. Some of these officials who could completely suppress about the love cargos. But the boys who knew news when they saw it just laughed and said, "If you think you can suppress a story like that—a whole shipload of brides and babies—you'd better just give up and go shoot yourself." And some of them nearly did—for that story couldn't be suppressed, the very winds would tell it.

Now the situation is getting even worse! The Army wants it clearly understood that we must expect the boys to stay in France and Germany and elsewhere a long time after the war—there must be none of this silly talk about bringing the boys home by this Christmas or the next Christmas. Frantic congressmen are already calling the War Department and saying, "If you let another shipload of brides and babies land on this sacred shore, you're going to have to bring home that whole darned Army and find a new one someplace else." The Congressmen aren't kidding, and if you could see the basketful of

Attention Servicemen:

This letter was written by Jonathan Hamersley, a student of 1940.

"Altho I am not in the service myself I would like to occupy a bit of this column to extend to those in the service an invitation to make use of any help that I might be to them while they are passing thru New York City. Perhaps some will be returning from overseas thru New York City at the end of the war in Europe. I have no residence telephone but I can conveniently be telephoned at work during week days at Hanover 2-5200, extension 780 or 129, which ever extension is not busy. My mail and telegraph address is 129 West Twelfth Street, New York, 11, New York.

I have had many visits from Norman L. Krueger, c '41, now pharmacist mate first class, stationed at the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Maryland, and Anton A. Meyer, c '40, recently promoted from lieutenant junior grade to lieutenant, who attended Naval Ordnance School in Washington, D. C., during July."

Lt. (jr.) H. G. Hayes, who is at the Ohio State University writes;

"We're having a very fine drizzle, but it would take much more than this to wash this city clean. I won't go into that except to say I wouldn't care to live here long and fight the soot and smoke. Housekeeping would really be a chore here. I prefer the dust of Kansas.

Larry has the jump on McPherson kids. He has already had one week of school, but I question whether it is as good a school as Mc's system.

Last Saturday we visited the RKO Bldg, Columbus' sky-scraper. We took a fast elevator to the 37th floor, too fast for me, then transferred to a better one — it was slow, for the next 10 stories. The view is wonderful but it surely gave me a dizzy feeling. I don't think it would have been so bad if there hadn't been moving objects below us."

Chris Jordan, stationed in the Marianas Islands writes: "I am now on one of the Marianas Islands, and it will probably be my home for too many months to come.

The island itself is really pretty, and when fixed up again, it ought to be nice. However, instead of handling pills and needles; I have been acquainting myself lately with the use of the pick and shovel. But enough about me."

Is Cupid Ever Busy!

It seems that weddings are the latest fad in Kansas this month. Three of McPherson's former students will have repeated the vows on September 30.

Kathryn McRae, better known as Katie, was married to Harold Emil Carlson of the Navy at Corpus Christi, Texas. This marriage took place June 15th, the announcement was just received this week.

Paul Dannelly, now employed by the "Wichita Eagle" will be married this afternoon at 4:00 to Miss Delaine Cook at the St. James Episcopal Church in Wichita. Paul's brother will be the best man, and Miss Cook will be attended by her sister, John Trosle, a former student of McPherson, will serve as usher at this ceremony.

Tom Doeppner, formerly of McPherson, was joined in marriage to Miss Marjorie Ann Sloan of Selden, Kansas, on September 18. The ceremony took place at the Methodist Memorial Chapel in Manhattan, Kansas.

Both Tom and his wife received their degrees at Kansas State College. He has reported to Fort Leavenworth for his induction into the armed forces.

Mail G. I. Joe's Xmas Present Before Oct. 15

Observe Postal Rules For Mailing Gifts

"I'm sorry, Miss, but that package is too large." Don't let that happen to you. Regard the simple overseas mailing rules and avoid this delay.

Your package must not exceed 5 lbs. in weight or be more than 15 inches long or more than 36 inches in length and girth combined.

The morale of your serviceman depends upon the condition in which his package arrives; therefore make a special effort to make your package substantial. Mass handling, storage and transfer may prove too much for an ill-constructed or poorly-wrapped package. Use either metal, wood, solid fiber-board or strong corrugated cardboard; and tie it with strong twine. Use heavy paper for outer covering.

A few suggestions for gifts are: knives, pocket-size books, fountain pens, sun glasses, steel mirrors, insect repellants, wash clothes, toilet kits, moccasin-type bedroom slippers, folding writing pads, dehydrated fruit juices, powder, or shaving kits.

Only one package may be sent to the same address in any one week. This is really no limit. Gifts should be mailed before October 15.

Do remember your GI friend at Christmas. Follow these rules and suggestions to insure him a very merry Christmas.

Carrying The Torch

Student Volunteers

The Student Volunteer Commission of the S. C. M. launched its first meeting Tuesday morning. About twenty students gathered in the S. U. R. The service opened with two hymns after which Dale Brown led the group in devotions.

Co-chairmen Mary Beth Loshbaugh and Dale Brown spoke briefly of forthcoming programs of the commission; meetings balancing practical projects with inspirational programs. The group plans to aid the Brethren Service Committee in its relief program by assisting in several of its projects. The girls will sew childrens' garments for Greek relief while the boys will re-pack relief clothing collected from churches over the region preliminary to being shipped to New Windsor, Maryland.

The service closed with a challenge, seeking to deepen the desire of all to dedicate their loyalties to the service of their fellowmen.

Personal Relations

The Personal Relations commission met in the S. A. R. with a splendid turnout. Dave Albright started the meeting off by explaining some of the many things the commission wishes to accomplish and discuss during the coming year. Then he led the group in a brief community sing to get the group in a mood for fellowship and work together.

Since one of the aspects of Personal Relations is that of a closer relationship with God, each meeting will begin with a short devotional period. Susan Ikenberry was in charge of the devotions at this first meeting of the commission. Various members will be appointed to take charge of this part of the meeting through the year.

Then Dave took over and led the group in the day's discussion topic, 'Courtesy . . . Centering around Dining Hall, Cafe, and Home Table Manners.' To add zest and color, and to illustrate the various mentioned, Ann Metzler, Susan Ikenberry, Bob Mays, and Dave Albright acted out brief skits on the right and wrong ways to act in a public eating place and at home. The Dorm being our temporary 'home.' Thus stimulated, the fellows and girls responded actively and intelligently in the discussion which followed.

All in all, the Personal Relations Commission got off to a grand start, and from the sound of things planned and to be planned, will continue the same way thru the year.

Chit and Chatter

It's weather like this that makes the girls wring their digits and crack their knuckles in despair—this is the kind of weather that makes straight hair straighter and curly hair—straighter too. And by the way, speaking of wetness, please don't take offense anybody at anything that I might happen to write today—I've just washed my hands and can't do a thing with 'em!

We may be all wet, but it appears to us as if that Rogers-Fillmore two-some is progressing. It has now reached that "save a seat for me at dinner" proportion which is a forewarning of "O.K., and if you get there first, you save me one." Ah, well, we're only young once; and it seems nice to see these youngsters getting on.

Our student body ranks will not be complete, says Don Scofield, until "she" gets here. We're watching anxiously for that certain sparkle, or the absence of it. Here's hoping the dreams of all the freshie fens will not be blasted again.

Speaking of hopes being blasted—what was our dismay when Blair opened his billfold to catch a glimpse of a feminine photo. Don't lose spirit yet, girls . . . it may be it is a new billfold, and Blair hasn't had time to remove the likeness of the Hollywood stars which usually adorn such articles.

Initiation time is a day toward which we all look forward with longing, isn't it, freshies? This year's was remarkable for the unusual display of fashion which the freshie girls put on. By Friday evening most of the Macollegians had definitely decided against going back to the Mother Hubbard style of dress. Not only that, some of the freshmen themselves were grateful for an excuse to go see their English professor in order that shoes might be donated without penalty.

Watermelon goes down well with freshmen boys, we are told. That is, until cleanup time comes. Would that everyone might have such an opportunity to see such individuals as Eiler and Grono turned into scrubmaids. Any housemaid's knee or Charley horses, boys.

Time will tell, but we don't think it was mere happenstance that brought about the little walking jaunt upon which we have beheld Mino and Rosie Reed recently.

Sh-h-h! Don't think so loudly . . . there may be someone sleeping! . . . this was the cry with which we were met the morning after. (The morning after the big Arnold Hall housemeeting, during which the girls vied with one another to see who could suggest the most additions to the constitutions in the form of longer and better quiet hours).

Just a little enlightening note to the freshmen . . . we really do dress for breakfast, as well as for other meals. That xylophone tickler, Ailee Ruth, evidently has been laboring under a delusion as to our customs or else as she said she hated to turn on the light and awaken her roommate. Be the explanation what it may, there must be some reason for her appearance at breakfast in her pajama top.

To pursue the subject a bit further . . . there may really be something in this about Ailee Ruth's roommate, Dobby. She probably needed her sleep in order to wake up for the following night, the eve of the departure of Private Hillabrinski Willorlams back to duty.

Recreational Leadership

"Recreational leadership is in demand in every community," said Coach Hayden as he addressed the group at the first meeting of the year. Even if you are only a "ham" in the community, but have the ability to lead a group in good recreational games, you will have more than enough to do.

We all can't be in Rec. Council, but we can receive help in leadership in the S. C. M. Commission. We plan to help you to become acquainted with new songs and games, then be able to teach them to someone else.

Canines Defeat Swedes, 10-0

Swinger Is Star Hitter
Albright Is Pitcher

McPherson defeated Bethany college in a game of soft ball Monday afternoon on the soft ball field with a score of 10 to 0. It was a very interesting game but both teams showed the lack of practice. Albright of the Bulldogs held the Swedes to two hits and struck out six men; he hit a home run in the third inning which was a beginning for the 'Mac' boys as they scored five times.

The hitting star of the Bulldogs was Swinger who got a triple, double and single out of four times at bat. Very clever fielding was turned in by Beam and Markham in the outfield when they pulled their pitcher out of several holes by making long running catches of balls which were labeled for extra bases as they left the infield. McPherson turned up with a final of 16 hits, 10 runs, and 1 error, while Bethany had 2 hits, 1 run, and 7 errors.

McPherson team will play a return game at Lindsborg Monday afternoon, Oct. 2, and a game is scheduled on their home field against Central College on Thursday afternoon, September 28.

Social Council Plans Campus Recreation

Social committee members this year are under the able management of Prof. S. M. Dell, chairman.

The list of members was completed when the Student Council voted Geraldine Tharrington to represent them in this "pleasure hunt" for Mac students. Elva Jean Harbaugh is the social committee member from the Recreational Council, and representing the S. C. M. is Jerry Mease. Faculty members are coach Thomas C. Hayden; Mrs. E. L. Ikenberry, acting dean of women; Miss Edna Neher, house mother at Arnold; and Prof. J. L. Bowman.

Their purpose is to supervise college social life and motivate other organizations to share the responsibility.

W.A.A. Splash In First Fall Swim

Splash! Splash! Splish! Yes, that is just what the girls did that went swimming Wednesday afternoon. They splashed on the way, splashed in the pool, splashed coming back to the campus. All in all, though, everyone enjoyed their swimming, both in the pool and out.

As 4:00 rolled around the rain was still falling here, there, and everywhere, but the determined girls were not to be kept from their first swim of the year. Seen splashing through the rain down Euclid way were Annette Ronk, Joyce Mays, Betty Greig, Wanita Drennan, Esther Fillmore, Hazel Frantz, Johnette Spangler, and

Big Six Teams Lose Openers

Southlands Were Marginal Victors

Two Big Six teams lost their opening grid-grinders last week. In both cases, elevens from the Southland were the marginal victors. Texas Christians took a 7-0 thriller from the Kansas U. Jayhawkers, and it was the Arkansas Razorback who edged out the Missouri Tiger for a 7-6 surprise victory.

Southern teams have a number of games scheduled with the Big Sixers, and it may fall to the favored Sooners of Oklahoma to put the Dixie teams in their right places.

This weekend the Sooners meet the Norman Naval Zoovers; Iowa State will tangle with Augustus Adolphus at Ames; Nebraska heads northward to the Minnesota Gophers; Missouri takes on a Big Ten eleven, Ohio State; Kansas U. will be at Denver University; and K. State will meet Wichita University at Manhattan. I suggest that you keep check on your home team.

Bulldogs To Play Swedes And Central

Bulldog sluggers have two games scheduled for next week. Monday afternoon they will head for Lindsborg where they will attempt to whip the blonde Swedes a second time. On Thursday of next week they will meet Central College once more and again they'll be playing on a strange diamond. In case you don't know it, Central college is right here in McPherson and for that reason, there should be a large pep section on hand.

Tex Lobban Declares Pep Season Now Open

The first meeting of the Barkerettes, was called together by president, Ila Verne Lobban. New officers were elected to fill vacant positions left from last year. Betty Greig was elected as vice-president; Phyllis Reeves, as secretary; Geraldine Tharrington, as publicity chairman.

Business of the first meeting besides electing officers, was choosing new members to fill vacancies left by girls who did not return to college.

A full and peppy year is planned by the Barkerettes. All members are urged to cooperate with the club.

The McPherson College softball team won their second game of the season yesterday evening at the college diamond when they defeated Central College by a 7-4 score. Albright went the entire route on the mound for the Bulldogs and allowed seven hits while striking out eleven Central men. Noble and Stephens did the hurling for Central allowing but twelve hits.

Central took an early lead with two tallies in their half of the first and the Bulldogs came back with one in the last half of the same inning. Both teams went scoreless in the second but Central scored two more in the first of the third with the Bulldogs coming back with four to take a 5-4 lead. McPherson College tallied two more in the fourth to complete the scoring for the day.

Reading rehearsal was held last night.

Fish Require Plankton

Plankton, microscopic plant and animal life that serves as food for fish, thrives on chemical plant-food applied to lakes and ponds as commercial fertilizer. Fish that consume fertilized plankton are bigger, tastier, more abundant, and gamier than those that eat only the usual plankton found in ordinary unfertilized waters.—Agricultural News Letter.

All-Bright's Sportlights

A day or two ago, while in one of my weaker moments, a thought struck me. Now that I'm upright again, that is what I remember. The softball club should really be a powerhouse whether it is or not. I think as such because Blair is a Helman when he gets hold of a bat—and Glen is a mighty Swinger up there at the plate—he's bound to connect for extra bases—and Paul can Markham up plenty easily himself—and Chester, Van Dyke 'em clean out of the park (apply large dose of imagination)—and Winston is strictly on the Beam when he's up swinging a hickory stick. So you see? I repeat; the ball club should really be a powerhouse since we have no but-terfingers on the diamond and everyone is just full of the old nick!

Who stands where in the American League pennant race today? How important was the recent Tiger-Yankee series, and who was it that tied the Yanks in a little knot for his seventh victory over the New Yorkers this season? What if Detroit should squeeze out a victory pennant; could they go on to whip the Cards in the World Series? Or will the red-birds even be the National League champs? These are nice puzzling questions, I know, but all the more why we'll all be following the baseball box scores. In case you don't have access to a newspaper, just drop in on Dr. Mohler for a little chat; he can give you all the baseball dope you'll need, dope.

This seems to be a rather good place to hand your freshmen a compliment—at least most of you. Although your initiation was almost nothing at all, it was a hunk of fun and a lot of good sportsmanship was shown by you—let me mention Dave Eiler and Willy Unruh especially. As far as I know they had their shoes off all day long, but I guess I'll move on to some subject not quite so smelly.

No one can tell me now that Coach is not a working man. You should have seen him out on the football field the other day; he wasn't fixing the lights, or stadium, or cutting weeds, or liming the field, or fixing the ball diamond, but he was still working up a sweat. I always did say he could sling—but that's enough said. What I'm getting at is that he has the cutest little Jersey cow, and he pastured her all summer on the football field. So with the high school games etc., coming up—well, I saw him working anyway.
