For A Postwar World

William Temple, the late Archbishop of Canterbury, recently listed six Christian goals for a postwar world. These goals made me stop and think. What can I do to further these goals and make them a realization? What can you do? Do you want to have a part in their realization? Here they are for your consideration:

1. Every child should find itself a member of a family housed with decency and dignity so that it may grow up as a member of that basic community in a happy fellowship unspoiled by underfeeding or overcrowding, by dirty and drab surroundings, or by mechanical monotony of environment.
2. Every child should have the opportunity of an education till years of maturity, so planned as to allow for his peculiar aptitudes and make possible their full development. This education should be inspired by faith in God and find its focus in worship.
3. Every citizen should be secure in possession of such income as will enable him to maintain a home and bring up children in such conditions as described in paragraph 1, above.
4. Every citizen should have a voice in the conduct of the business or industry which is carried on by means of his labor and the satisfaction of knowing that his labor is directed to the well-being of the community.
5. After the war every citizen should have sufficient daily leisure, with two days of rest in seven and, if an employee, an annual holiday with pay to enable him to enjoy a full personal life with such interests and activities as his tasks and many talents may direct.
6. Every citizen should have assured liberty in the forms of freedom of worship, of speech, of assembly, and of association for special purposes.

These all look very good on paper. They would be fine for a group of people to become active about and to concern themselves with. We do little about these high principles with their flowery wording and phrases. We think the reason is that there is so little to do.

It may be true that there is very little we can accomplish through our actions. Nevertheless, if we keep these principles in mind and do the little things that help work towards this goal, we shall have made a beginning.

Peace On Earth

"Peace on earth, good will to men."

There is peace on earth. Last year at this Christmas season, men were fighting and dying all over the world for a cause which they may have understood or which they may only have thought they understood. There was no peace on earth. There were no good tidings of great joy. Only gloom and misery prevailed.

Today we are coming out of the chaos, and we are making our way slowly but surely toward the dawn of a new era. Toward that end we must work with united effort.

This Christmas time is a season of refreshment. It can be a new beginning.
Merry Christmas to all!

From The Library

New Books

The Senior class of '45 left to the college as a memorial a sum of money to be used to purchase books for future classes in Marriage and Family. Three books of this collection have recently been placed on the reserve shelf for the present class.

"The American Woman" by Ernest R. Groves tells something of the feminine side of a masculine civilization. Grace Stone Overton's book "Marriage in War and Peace" is a guide for counselors of youth. "The Happy Family" by Drs. John Levy and Ruth Monroe is a new edition of a well-known book on family life.

A delightful little book sent to the library by the Brethren Publishing House is "Fun in the North Woods" edited by Harry A. Brandt. The interesting pictures tell the story of the trip Joyce and Haven took to the north country.

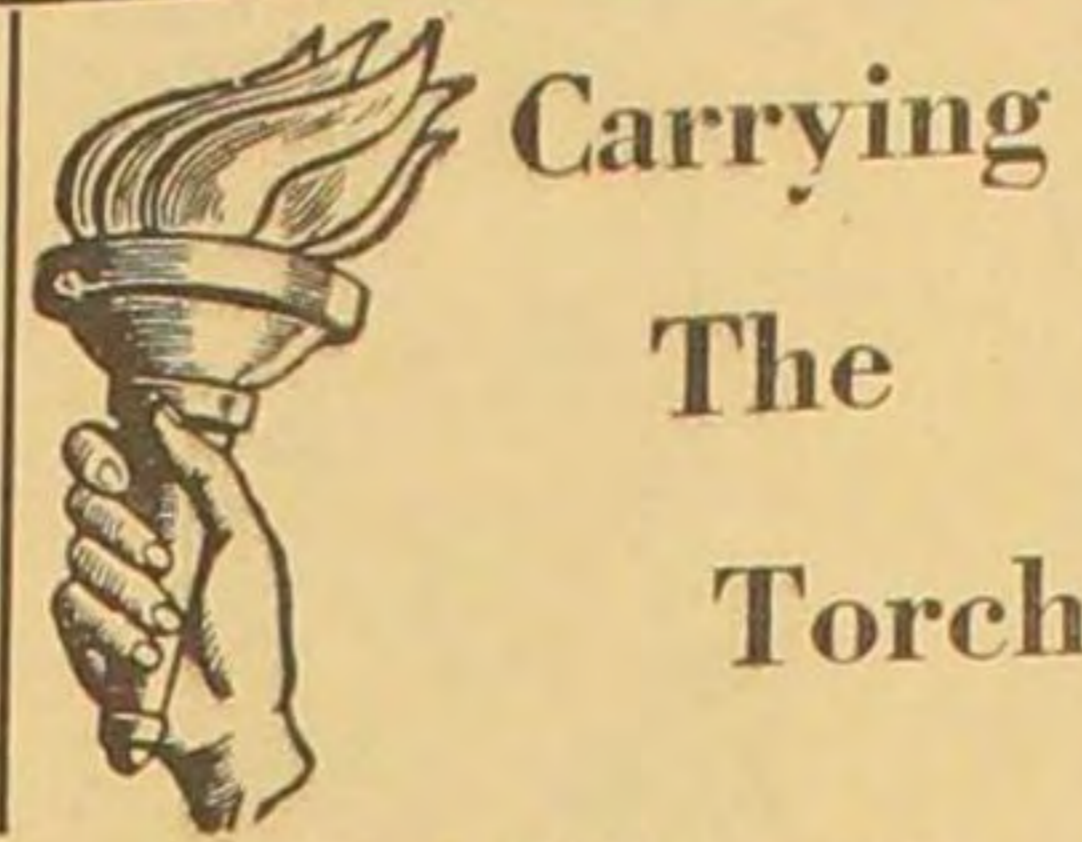

To the Browning Collection has been added the new novel "Leave Her to Heaven" by Ben Ames Williams. Jealousy that seeks exclusive possession is the original sin, and "Leave Her to woman."

Lovers of art and beauty will want to see "Treasures of Art Stained Glass of York Minister." In its treasure of medieval glass, York Minister is supreme among the ancient churches of Great Britain. These have been recently restored to original beauty and a selection of panels was made for reproduction in this volume.

Some girls will scream murder at the sight of a mouse—and go right out and climb into an automobile with a wolf.

A 1943-44 teacher's contract in a community contained the following item: The services of the teacher may be required any time of day or night. The school is having difficulty in getting teachers. Wonder why?

Carrying The Torch

Student Volunteers

Winter weather slowed down the progress of the Student Volunteers Tuesday morning as plans had been made to finish canvassing the hill for used toys to be turned over to the Boy Scouts. Nevertheless several girls met and finished stuffing the toy animals which are to be given for gifts through the Brethren Service Committee. Since stuffing was scarce, some of the Christmas tree cotton was utilized to a good advantage. The queer menagerie now is ready for shipment complete with red, green, and blue ears and tails of similar weirdness.

Political Action

Professor Hershberger spoke on the subject "Political Situation in India" Tuesday morning before the PAC group. The speaker gave a background of the different parties and classes in India. The latter part of the period was spent answering questions and discussing the topic.

Professor Hershberger spent six years in India, teaching in the schools of that country.

The President's Corner

How thankful, even through our tears, we are that we can again wish for all a Merry Christmas. I am certain the students and faculty join in extending good wishes to all alumni, former students, parents, trustees and friends on this first Christmas and New Year after V-E and V-J Days.

May all of us be committed to an earnest endeavor to the end of a "just and durable peace."

McPherson College is resolved to continue to be worthy of the support of all who are interested in Christian higher education. We are off to a good start in the transition year between the last war year and the first more nearly normal peace-time year. Our slogan is Forward with McPherson the College of Quality, Where Ideals are High and Expenses are Low.

It is indeed stimulating and encouraging to be able to have the privilege to quote the following from the Editor's Page of the Journal of the National Education Association:

1. Be; know; do.
2. Have faith in youth.
3. Teach pupils to learn from defeat.
4. The test of schooling is the students' afterlife.
5. Peace cannot be built upon hate, poverty, or oppression.
6. Informed intelligence is an achievement, not an accident.
7. The predominant need of higher education is the need for moral leadership.
8. Our generation must make a choice between civilization and national sovereignty.
9. Nothing but a great faith can carry civilization past the dead center of postwar confusion.
10. What shall it profit our nation to win the war and lose the peace for want of a few billions to aid other countries?

SOCIETY

Students have adjourned from their classes and are already making their way homeward to spend a very merry Christmas vacation. This noon officially opened the season of vacation for Mac College students, and gaiety is to be seen everywhere. Many are going home with friends. (For example, Evelyn Metzger finally let Avis Erb in on the secret that she had consented to go to Iowa for a promising vacation.) Whatever the place, however you spend it, MERRY CHRISTMAS.

A festive Christmas party was held in 29 of Arnold Hall Tuesday, December 17, after the dorm party. A gift exchange and party favors provided the fun of the evening.

Marilyn Horner and Joyce Riddleberger were the co-hostesses. Others present were Marianna Stinnette, Ila Verne Lobban, Ruth Davis, and Kathryn Bowers.

Refreshments consisting of jelly fruit salad, cookies, pop corn balls, and cokes were served.

Homecoming has come and gone once again. There were many visitors on our campus and we cannot name them all. Some, however, who we remember seeing around were Glenn Swinger, from Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, Blanche Geisert, Alice Mae Boyce, Anne Metzler, Bernice Guthals and Leora Dobrinski, who teach in high schools, Rip Ferguson, Bob Barr and Vance Carlson, servicemen, and many others.

A group of college kids went caroling Sunday night out on the hill and another group, Methodists, among whom were college students, caroled Wednesday night after a party.

The Cosmos Club met in the SUR Tuesday evening. They were entertained in part by numbers from the men's and women's second quartets.

A new student, Claude Dadisman, has joined the ranks of Mac students. Claude hails from Fernald, Iowa, and is a sophomore.

Ruth Engelland, Ann Oberst, and Della Mae Pollard were Sunday dinner guests of Elsie Schnorr. Ruth and Della Mae had previously spent the night in Elsie's home.

Leona Dell is in bed with swollen glands—not to be mistaken for mumps. Tex is down, and Mike, the life of the campus, has chicken pox! Of all diseases, we are glad to have Finck and others back after illness. Many

FAIR FASHIONS

by ELSIE SCHNORR

Have you got your order in for Christmas yet? How about a new compact? You can get one to wear with your formal or with your casual school clothes. You can find a huge one or a tiny one to slip in your pocket. If you don't need one yourself they make good gifts for somebody else.

It won't be long now before you will be off for your long-awaited Christmas vacation. And if you are a normal girl, you will be wanting some new clothes. When you get back you will probably be wearing some new clothes that will major on any campus.

Another idea for a Christmas gift for yourself or for somebody else is an unusual new lapel pin. They can make an old outfit to appreciate a pin for Christmas.

of Mac's men and misses have had to miss classes because of illness.

Irene Schraml received some food and wanted to share. After supper which a foursome of Mildred Carter, John Williford, Irene and Jerry Mease enjoyed, some of the boys cleaned up the remaining food. Those fellows were Mease, Heidebrecht, Dumond, Williford, Hoover and Helman.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Klotz, from Bethany in Chicago, drove one whole night to be here for Homecoming. We are very glad to have them on our campus.

These quartets have been active this fall in singing here at the college, in the city of McPherson, and in churches away from McPherson over the week-ends. The quartets will also appear in the College Choir concert, given at the high school next spring.

McPherson College Moves On

As we survey the promotion work for the past few months, we are pleased to recognize the large number of our friends who have had a part in making it possible to continue the work of our college on a high level in the difficult years through which we have just passed.

Because of your loyalty and faith, the student body has remained at a satisfactory level and the finances of the college have been good.

Now that war restrictions are being lifted we look forward to a large increase in enrollment in the near future and your generous help is making it possible to plan to adequately care for all who choose to secure their education at McPherson College.

The most recent report on the Endowment Campaign shows that $101,731.87 has been received for endowment and debt liquidation since the trustees authorized the campaign in February, 1943. There has also been $74,800.00 in annuity gifts during this same period, which gives a potential added endowment of $176,531.87. To this amount should be added the gifts from the churches, Fifty Dollar Club, gifts for beds for Arnold Hall, and numerous other individual gifts to the Loyalty Fund which, when added together, makes a very creditable showing. Included in the above amounts are the gifts from alumni, which totaled $14,109.30 in their special effort, exclusive of numerous other gifts which are continually coming from members of the Alumni Association. Indications are that a number of other generous gifts will yet be received within the next few weeks.

May we say "Thank You" to each one who has helped in any way. With such loyalty, McPherson College has a great future and we feel confident will reach a million dollar endowment in the not too far distant future, as well as secure a large student body, and thus move forward to make an ever increasing contribution to the welfare of human kind and to bring the Kingdom to God to be a reality in the lives of men and women everywhere.

Party Plans Discussed In Recreational Council

Recreational Council met last Monday night. A round table discussion was held on the Christmas party which was last Sunday evening.

Comments on how the program could have been improved were given. The all-school party plans were discussed. Blair Helman gave some helpful suggestions for a pageant. From the reports of the committee the all-school party will be a big success.

Women's Council Seeks To Promote Good Will Among College Women

The Women's Council seeks to promote an understanding between the women of the student body and the faculty, and to create an atmosphere of good will and friendliness among all the women of the college.

Recently the "campus kitchen" was opened for use to the students. The sponsoring of the kitchen, which is situated in Kline Hall, is one of the various activities of the Women's Council. Along with this, the council maintains a snack bar twice each week. There are annual teas, parties, and other such functions included in its program.

At The End of Euclid

It seems to be quite the fad for the girls to show off what they get for Christmas. Perhaps our spies should begin working to find out what some of the fellows are getting. Just because they don't show them is no sign they don't get any.

Speaking of Christmas presents, Sybil Miller got a beautiful locket from "Santa." And we can't miss Doris' bracelet or Joyce's locket. Then there is the cross that Ruth L. received.

That is just a beginning. Girls have been receiving gifts that they haven't shown off, too.

Yum, Yum. Don't you wish you were in food's lab? Especially during the Christmas season when we have been making fondant, caramels, divinity, pinchoche, date nut roll, marshmallows, and other such juice-stirring sweets. Doesn't your mouth water? Come now, 'tess up.

'Pears as though the lone wolf is on the loose again, etc., etc., via—Brubaker.

Love me, love Denver! So said Ronk to Markham. He must have taken her at her word for he will be spending part of the vacation with her in that fair (just Annette's opinion of the place) city.

Also it seems that Blough is developing an interest in Iowa and he is deserting that so called state of Idaho to spend his vacation with Dorris.

Why did Kingsley's girl send him Marriage and Family data and tell him to study it before he came to see her?

Love really keeps the roads hot between here and Downs. Must have relatives up there or something.

"Well, guess I'll write my woman a letter and go to bed." Those are the famous last words (every night) of one Orville Buckingham. What we can't figure out is what he puts in those letters unless it is just those "three little words."

The Gerlach mystery is as yet unsolved. Does he or does he not have a girl at home? Or maybe he just doesn't like women. Or maybe he learned his lesson after taking Haley out and then being sick for a week!

The mistletoe has been making the rounds as usual. What's this we hear about Brooks nearly catching Naylor. Turn about is fair play, Kent. Speaking of girls? When they hold mistletoe over Rothrock's head the girls all dash—but in the wrong direction.

Were the Homecoming events too much or doesn't Klotz's car have a heater in it? Anyway, whatever the trouble was, poor Tex is ill.

All these girls getting Christmas presents and showing them off in the dining hall; it makes all us "independent" women jealous.

How are you girls in Kline making out with Dobbin now? We hear that you even keep him in cereal and water and provide him with sleeping quarters in the hall. We are all waiting to see you ride him around the campus.

Dr. Peters is no doubt amused at the inorganic chemistry students, isn't he, Theda? Too bad he had to be around the corner when you crawled out the lab window for some snow to cool your experiment!

Flory has received a gift from a girl—and it wasn't Jo B. Some acquaintance, new or old? Has he been keeping something from you, Jo B.?

We see where Phyllis Olwin and Lyle Klamm are getting married Christmas Day—only not to each other. We'll be looking for the candy and cigars when you get back.

One of our little freshmen seems to have captured the fancy of roving Romeo, Ethmer, and we mean that third floor Arnoldite, Doris Hamer. They make a good couple along with those Iowans, Ruth and Warren.

We liked the choice of escorts the queen and her attendants made for the banquet Friday night, especially—and we hope the editor doesn't cut this out—Della Mae. A new couple, but good.

Joyce and Max—that even sounds good—seem to still be doing all right. That locket is really a beauty.

"Phyl" made her way down Euclid several times the past week to offer her sympathies to Bob who was in with the flu bug. She's also playing "battleships" with his dad—she says! That's a new name for it. We still like the couple.

The man who is always boasting about his family tree is usually the sap.

Bulldogs Drop Game To Baker

The Baker University round-batters came out strong in the opening seconds last night and pilled up a 10-point margin and then went on to win a 58-36 contest from the McPherson Bulldogs. The game was a Kansas Conference affair and sent the Wildcats into the lead in circuit play with two wins and no defeats. The game marked the opening of the league play for the locals.

Krehbiel, who has been spark plug of the Hayden-coached offensive attack, pounded the net for eight field goals and a free throw to collect 17 points, taking scoring honors for the evening. Whipple headed the Baker scoring with 16 points.

Bulldogs Downed By KSTC Hornets

Kitchfield, Campbell Lead Emporia Team, While Naylor Leads Canines.

Emporia State Teachers College overpowered the Bulldogs on the timbers of McPherson College's home court with a 55 to 35 victory. The teams were playing an even ball game the first half of the game. Columbia broke loose as the two teams were tied for quite a while at 14-14. When the half had ended, Emporia was in the lead 26-24. In the last half, Campbell, tall center of the Emporia team, cut loose with a barrage of baskets. These baskets coupled with three made by Smith, an Emporia forward, placed the Emporia team in a lead which they maintained until the end of the game.

Campbell, the Emporia center, was the high point man of the game for Emporia, having 16 points, seven field goals, and two free throws. Tied with Campbell on points was Naylor, speedy McPherson forward, who had 16 points, 3 field goals, and 10 free throws. Litchfield of Emporia was close behind these men having a total of 15 points, 6 field goals, and 3 free throws.

McPherson has lost three non-conference games, but has furnished rough competition. On Wednesday, December 19, the Bulldog Club travels to Baldwin to meet Baker University, in the first of its conference games.

WAA Holds Meeting

A group meeting of the WAA was held to approve the new point system and add to the rules of the club. This system changes, somewhat, the number of points a girl must obtain in order to be eligible for a letter or a pin.

An amendment was made to the constitution that club officers and new members cannot be club heads.

Following this amendment, Betty Kimmel was replaced as Outing head by Ila Verne Lobban.

Women's Athletics

Volleyball

The first meeting of the volleyball club met Tuesday night at the gym. Two vigorous games of volleyball were played between 6:30 and 7:30.

We hope to make Tuesday night the regular weekly meeting of our club. And the more girls that come for this sport, the more fun we will have. Approximately twenty girls attended the first meeting.

Basketball

For the first basketball game of the season, 25 girls came out to try their luck at making goals and keeping others from making them.

It is almost impossible to have basketball regularly, so watch the bulletin boards, and come out. We'll have fun!

Outing

The Outing Club closed a successful season this week. Many girls have participated in the club's activities during this fall season and a good club is anticipated for this winter season. The girls have enjoyed a variety of outings this fall. They have hiked up town for a movie, they have had several square dances and on Hallowe'en they even took a hike through the grave yard, much to the terror of a few girls. Then there was the excursion through the draw and down the railroad track, and there were sandwiches and cokes that were waiting for them at the gym. That wasn't the only time we had something to eat either.

The climax to the season's activities was a werner roast down at the girl scout cabin. About forty girls came and that was the average attendance of the club. Thirty-five girls attended five of the seven meetings and were active members. They are: Jane Bell, Margaret Bechtold, Donna Bowman, Doris Coppock, Eulalia Crist, Leona Dell, Ruth Davis, Betty Elrod, Ruth Engelland, Joan Finrock, Dorothy Frantz, Betty Kimmel, Nina Kagarice, Ila Verne Lobban, Catherine Little, June Landis, Roberta Mohler, Evelyn Metzger, Doris Hamer, Arlene Rolfs, Elsie Schnorr, Masa Nakamura, Della Mae Pol-Johnette Spengler, Gernelda Sprenkel, Marianna Stinnette, Betty Jamison, Carol Trowbridge, Dennis Wampler, Walfine West, Eula Wolf, Joann Yoder, Ann Oberst, Avis Erb, and Mary Metzler. Other girls who came to some of the outings received ten points for each activity.

Swimming

Swimming time is over for awhile. The winter season is now in full swing with new activities and different sports, but because of the cold weather, swimming has been discontinued until spring.

The swimming club only met five times. The regular meeting time was on Thursday afternoons from 4:00 until 5:00, but because of so many softball games on that day, we were only able to have five meetings.

Some of the girls were "regular ducks" and attended at least three-fourths of the meetings. Those girls active in swimming

Women's Council Seeks To Promote Good Will Among College Women

Council, was organized last year. The group consists of all the girls who live off campus. Its purpose is to foster better feelings between town girls and the campus girls, and to draw the two groups closer together. It takes the place of the dormitory organizations on the campus. Ione Akers, in the capacity of president, is automatically a member of the Women's Council, and it is her duty to notify the off-campus girls of any announcements concerning school activities.

An outstanding activity of the organization this year is accumulating materials and formulating plans for the erection of an outdoor fireplace on the campus. Notices have been sent to each church in the region inviting it to have a share in the fireplace by contributing a rock which is native to the locality. Stones have been received from several churches and it is expected that a number more will be received after Christmas vacation.

The dean of women, Mrs. E. L. Ikenberry, serves as the faculty advisor to the Women's Council. It is she who appoints all members of the council, with the exception of the Town Girl's president. The officers of the council are elected by the members. Those serving this year are: president, Betty Kimmel; secretary, Joyce Riddlebarger; treasurer, Annette Ronk; publicity chairman, Margaret Bechtold.

CHUCKS BY CHUCK

Oh Hum!! Tired? Well, what you need is a little exercise, a little fresh air, and a nice glass of coke (in spite of the fact that they say the coke company makes over $100% profit on the stuff), consequently let's go over to the gym.

As our group approaches the building of physical education, a huge dog, a red dog, approaches us (we think he is huge because of his growl). Talking very kindly to him, that we may not hurt his feelings or find our britches torn, we proceed to open the door of the gym and walk in. To the left of the entrance we are attracted by a figure who has blond hair (come on fellows, we came over to watch the ball players), but not for long because we hear a voice making a speech, and we are anxious to see and hear what's going on. So we go through the swinging doors, as several big, husky lads, and some not so husky make their way down the court. We are now able to understand or know who is making the speech. Coach Hayden was lecturing his fellows on good basketball playing.

No doubt you have heard a few appropriate nick-names for some of the members of the squad. Flashy is a good name for Zerger because he flashes in and out while he is in the game; The Tower, that's Heidebrecht; Chief, that's Markham, because he's the captain.

In spite of the fact that they (the opposition) won, you fellows on the squad played a good game.

Just like to say that Naylor was "on the ball."

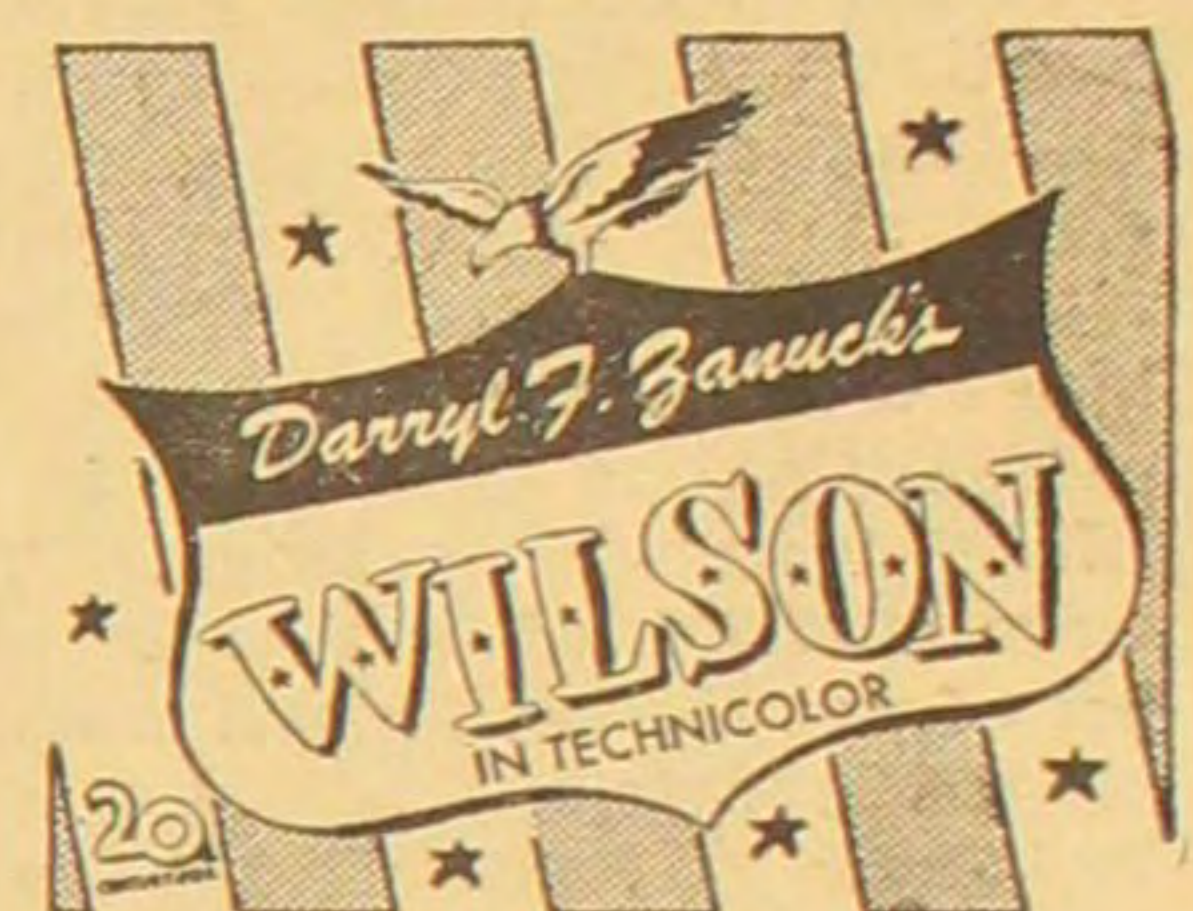

Somebody says that a reporter, or a sports columnist isn't supposed to leave his campus to write any stuff. Right or wrong?

Coach Hayden had a picture fetched here for the ball players to observe. Good deal! Like to see more of this visual education equipment. Anyhow, it is especially good for sports. This particular picture was on the types of defenses and how to smash them. For further particulars consult Paul Markham.

'nuff Chucks.
