

College Host To International Relations Conference

Psychology Prof. Hired

Major In Department Offered Next Year

Recently it was learned that McPherson College will have the distinct honor of welcoming Professor Anne E. Royer to its faculty staff next year. Professor Royer will perform duties as Head of the Department of Psychology. It will be the first time that McPherson College students will have the privilege of majoring in Psychology.

Graduating from Hurst High School, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., Professor Royer entered Juniata College, where she received an A. B. in English. In 1942, she acquired an M. A. in Psychology from the Ohio State University. She has received specialized training at West Chester State College, Oklahoma A. and M. College, Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and Occidental College in Los Angeles, California.

Professor Royer has gained much professional experience in connection with clinical and school psychology, as well as individual psychological experimentation. This invaluable experience will undoubtedly prove a very worthy addition to the faculty of McPherson College.

Miss Royer will be coming to McPherson College at considerable personal sacrifice. Her salary here will be slightly more than half what she is receiving in her present position.

Players Select None So Blind

Play By Monty Ash To Be Given April 16

"None So Blind," a play written by Monty Ash of McPherson Kansas, will be presented as the second semester major production of the McPherson College Players on April 16.

The story is built around the lives of Pegs and Jim, two young people just turning eighteen. The play begins just before Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. Pegs and Jim are idealists, he dreaming of becoming a famous architect and she a great doctor.

Jim is called to war. Through a series of dream sequences, his innermost thoughts on patriotism and race relations are revealed. When he comes back blind, his dream has to be changed.

The play is very well written with clever humor interspersed to relieve tense dramatic moments.

The Personnel Committee has approved March 28 as the date for the formal banquet of the McPherson College Players. Committees have been chosen and plans are in full swing.

Deputation Teams Present Programs

Three deputation teams were sent from the college this last week end. The College Men's quartet went to Panora, Iowa, and Lincoln, Nebraska. This quartet is composed of Kent Naylor, Russell Jarboe, Robert Keim, and Ronald Moyer.

The Varsity Women's quartet sang at the Lone Star Church, Kansas. This quartet includes Esther Miller, Jo B. Brooks, Lucy Blough, and Doris Coppock.

The third deputation went to Morrill, Kansas. Those who participated were Dr. Bechtel, Orren Wolfe, Barbara Holderread, June Landes, and Ruth Holsopple.

Olsons Purchase Home

Preparations are being made by Professor and Mrs. O. A. Olson to move into their newly purchased home. The house is located at 1604 Gordon Street and was erected last summer. It is an attractive one-story structure, with a basement apartment. This is the first home that the Olsons have owned and they are very happy and anxious to move in. As far as they know it will serve as their permanent home.

Poster Contest Offers Prizes

The McPherson Women's Christian Temperance Union, for the purpose of graphically showing the evils and dangers of using all forms of alcohol beverages, is sponsoring a poster contest open to all McPherson county schools. A first prize of $5.00, a second prize of $3.00 and a third of $1.00 is offered for the best posters submitted by each person.

The posters entered should be finished and delivered to the office of the County Superintendent, by May 3. The posters are to be displayed in the Community Building on All Schools Day, May 14.

Our College Comedy

An absent-minded professor went into a barber shop, and on being told to take off his hat, replied, "Certainly; I didn't know there were ladies present."

A McPherson College Feature

"Hey Miller!" Or Is Your Name Brown

by Ruth Holsopple

"I wish I had a name that was short and easy to remember. I wish it was Mary Smith." Upon crashing a recent gab-session in the girl's dormitory, I heard one girl lamenting her "dreadful" name that no one could pronounce, much less remember for five minutes.

Etha Mae and Delbert from Iowa, and Joyce and Don of McPherson would probably approve of your choice of name, but there are more common names than Smith on this campus. If you are looking for a familiar tag, try Miller. Then, when you are strolling along and someone shouts, "Hey, Miller!" you, as well as a possible eight other Millers, will respond. Before Merna and Delbert were married, the closest relationship among the eight was that Jean and Berle were cousins. It seems to be a familiar name everywhere. Proof of that fact is that Merna and Delbert come from North Dakota, Jean and Esther from Idaho, Berle from Iowa, Sybil and Lyle from Kansas, and Marie from Ohio.

If you desire a more exclusive name, try Brown. There are only five other Browns in this college. Kenneth from Idaho, Don from McPherson, John from Geneseo, and the brothers Emert and Elvin from Larned.

Wake-up! You Are Part Of The World

Today the third annual Student Institute on International Relations begins on our campus. We are proud and fortunate to be hosts to such a conference.

Outstanding leadership has been secured for the meeting and the program promises to be challenging and informative. I was privileged to attend last year's conference at Bethel College and found it fully satisfying, all that a conference should be. Students and faculty will be missing an unusual opportunity if they fail to attend all or some of the sessions of this conference.

The disappointing support of the WSSF drive and the results of the poll on world federation published in the last issue of this paper only emphasizes the lack of interest and knowledge on world issues that is prevalent in this college. Transferred students, upperclassmen, and even faculty members have commented on the lethargy that students show toward world affairs here. On most college campuses World Federalists, lecture courses, or active international groups can be found but here the only group of that nature, Students for World Government, fail to attract over a half-dozen participants to their meetings.

Thirty-one per cent of the people in the last poll were undecided as to the benefit of a World Federation, with probably a large percentage of that number not even knowing what a World Federation would mean. Even a larger number, 43.3%, were undecided as to whether a W. F. would have any benefits over the U. N. O.

It must appear to a visitor that we are trying to quarantine ourselves from the problems of the world, that we are trying to live in an artificial world, taking no responsibility for the status quo.

Why does this condition exist? I believe the reasons could fall under three points: Post-War-Weariness, we are tired of world problems; we would like to return to our little "home circle." Too Busy, few of us care to add new activities and meetings to our schedules. Laziness, we simply do not feel like studying and working for some world issue that is supposedly far removed from us. (But in reality affects us as much as anything that we do.) (Defined as "The mess we are in.")

I know you are tired of being told that you are the chosen people of tomorrow's world, that college students must lead the way, but the truth is that you are the leaders of tomorrow. You cannot escape your responsibility. Don't ever complain about the way the world is going unless you are willing to take an interest in its course.

The course of humanity for centuries to come is probably being decided in the meetings of the "Big Three," the U. N. O., etc. of today. Decisions in these meetings can be influenced by small groups of interested college students all over the world. With the future of such vital current issues as conscription, disarmament, the German peace treaty, atomic control, and the future of the U. N. O. at stake, it certainly calls for the best efforts of educated people.

You have a chance to hear informed men and women speak on these issues this week end. You have the opportunity to associate with fellow students from Oklahoma and Kansas. Don't be one of those who will say, "I wish I had attended."

Conscription News

Included in a significant editorial in the January, 1947, New York American Veterans' Committee paper were the following statements:

- "As expert witnesses we can tell the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training this: Whatever such training is called, if the Army runs the program it will:
 - prepare men for war but not for citizenship;
 - teach men to disassemble machine guns but not to earn a living;
 - increase their opportunity to get syphilis, but not improve their health or morals;
 - give them dentists to extract decayed teeth, but none to make up for 18 years of inadequate dental care;
 - teach them to get along with officers by saying "Yes, sir!" but teach them nothing about getting along with Negroes in segregated units."

(This poem was dedicated to Dr. Harnly on his 85th birthday.)

To Dr. Harnly
Sometimes I dream of the good old days,
Of old-fashioned folk with old-fashioned ways
When we had so little, but yet so much
Of a wealth that hands could never touch;
When the future looked bright and skies were blue;
And we were happy and friends were true;
When McPherson College was not endowed,
And a good many things were not allowed;
When Harnly and Frantz gave good admonition
While they taught us science and Greek and religion;
They had never heard of aptitude tests,
Nor of IQ's, percentiles, and all the rest;
There were no degrees in education
But somehow their students got inspiration.
Many old friends have now gone away,
But Prof. Harnly is with us, we're happy to say.
He is still beloved as he was of old,
For what he is, is all pure gold.
On this birthday we wish him good health and good cheer,
And may he be happy from year to year.

Friends said the 26-year-old disabled veteran of the Aleutian campaign was "crushed" by a 12-hour stay in jail. So students massed on a street corner reading poetry aloud by moonlight the following night—Portland's quietest demonstration in history.

At the Student Volunteers Commission Orlo Allen gave an interesting talk about his experiences in a YMCA summer camp in Minnesota. He showed what can be made of leather, plastics, felt, and metal. From leather he had made coin purses, billfolds, and belts. Chains and belts were made of plastic cord, and Indian headbands, of felt.
The program was opened with group singing led by Ruth Lichty. Eulalia Crist accompanied at the piano.

"Everybody thought so till he married her."

The Philosophy of Professors

What Is A College?

S. M. Dell, Dean of Men

Did you ever visit McPherson College in the summer time when summer school was not in session and have someone show you the college? Did you see the college? Are buildings the basic elements of a college? You see the students on the campus and off the campus. Are they the college? It is like asking which is the most important leg on a three-legged stool. To be an educational institution the college, the faculty, and the students are all basic elements in the educational pattern. Each one is mutually dependent upon the other, and the highest degree of cooperation is necessary if all are to achieve the greatest amount of progress.

Surely the student has many needs which are to be met; the faculty obviously must have some requirements which must be achieved, and certainly the college must have some standards which for the good of all must be maintained. As we keep these facts in mind and all work together, we will all benefit.

Dogs Tounce Bethany In Dedication Game

The Bulldogs won the final game of the season with the Swedes from Bethany March 10. The final score was 45-33. This was a non-conference game and had no effect upon the loop standing of either team. The new temporary gymnasium at Bethany was dedicated by this game.

Individual Sports

Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 7:30, seven girls again had an enjoyable evening in Individual Sports. At the present time, badminton is the most attractive feature. Of course, most of the girls are not very skilled in the sport, but they had a lot of fun trying to hit the birdie over the net instead of some other direction.

The girls that participated this week were: Ruth Davis, Masa Nakamura, Nina Kagarice, Donna Bowman, Betty Lou Jamison, Marianna Stinnette and Lois Frantz. Any of these girls can tell you what an enjoyable time they had and they hope that more girls will come to the gym at 6:30 next Tuesday.

Eleven girls reported for Individual Sports Tuesday night. They were Bowman, Jamison, Frantz, Kagarice, Rolfs, Stinnette, Finfrock, Saylor, Brubaker, Williams, and Davis.

They played badminton and ping-pong. There will be one more regular meeting and two make-up meetings.

Outing Club

Wednesday evening, Outing girls went on a "Penny" hike. By flipping the penny, they decided on which direction to turn at the next corner.

There will be one more regular meeting next Wednesday evening. It will be a Hobo Supper Hike.

Those that are active are Snowberger, Bowman, Slifer, Mohler, Nakamura, Lehman, Stinnette, Ward, Coppock, Kagarice, Hamer, Finfrock, Oberst, Williams, Crist, and Peterfish.

Those who will need to attend the meeting next Wednesday night to be active are Rolfs, Burger, Jamison, Davis, Lucore, Wampler, and Schnorr.

Track Meets Scheduled

Coach Hayden has scheduled at least two meets for the track squad, besides the conference meet. On April 12 the Emporia State Relay meet will be held with McPherson planning to enter several teams. On May 3 Kansas Wesleyan has invited Bethany and McPherson to Salina for a triangular meet. Men who are interested in track must begin to report regularly for work-outs. There are plenty of events open if you are interested in going out for the sport.

Irick First In Scoring Honors

Markham and Carlson Among Top Ten

The hotly-contested Kansas Conference scoring race came to a close this last week with Jimmy Irick, Baker's flashy forward, at the top of the heap. Irick finished the 12 game conference schedule with a total of 163 points for an average of 13.58 points per game.

Two McPherson boys were in the upper ten as Markham tied Rush of Ottawa for seventh place and Carlson was ninth.

Turner, husky center on the championship Ottawa Braves' team, showed the most accuracy from the field in scoring 63 field goals. However, Turner had a poor record from the free-throw line which pulled his game average down to fifth place in the standings. Irick of Baker was hottest on charity tosses with 47.

The season's high scoring record for one game went to Blaine Rush of Ottawa, who tallied 24 points against the College of Emporia. The ten high scorers:

Wieand Talks On Omnipresent God

Dr. A. C. Wieand, an alumnus and former faculty member of this college, founder and first president of Bethany Biblical Seminary, writer and minister, spoke to the students, faculty, and guests in chapel Wednesday morning.

A person who is present is someone who can be seen, heard, and touched, someone who a person can get help from or someone who can be helped. Can God be seen, heard, or touched? Can he see, hear, touch, help a person? When a person wishes to hear a radio program he tunes in on the program he wishes to hear. When the President of the United States wishes to speak to the people of his country, he speaks over the air and they tune in on their radios. Is a radio receiving set more sensitive than human souls? Mr. Wieand says that it is not.

Each and every person should get the best receiving set they can and tune in on God. The root of sin is rebellion against God when they refuse to tune in to him and listen to his word.

In conclusion Dr. Wieand states that he leaves McPherson College with this deepest wish; That all will learn how to tune in on God.

Wanted at Iowa State: The formula for the white paint used on the campus walks at homecoming. Ben W. Schafer, superintendent of the physical plant, wishes he knew what kind of paint was used to raise enthusiasm that week end because it has resisted the weather better than some of the paint he can get. It is not to be expected, however, that those in possession of the formula will publicize the fact.

Dear Mac,

From Simpson

The following is an excerpt from a letter written to Charlotte Carter by her twin brother, Herb, who is attending Simpson College in Iowa.

"McPherson looked good tonight. They are a great team and a credit to the school (that was for publication). All serious though, they really had Simpson on the run. I saw Kasey and had a nice chat with him. It's people like that that are really going to be a big success.

"Simpson rather enjoyed the tattoo on Markham's leg. What's the idea, anyway?"

Contest For College Wit and Humor

In the late spring a publication will come out that will be written by the college students and printed especially for these students, under the sponsorship of the Survey of College Wit and Humor, Tiffin, Ohio. Any humorous items that have appeared in the Spectator will be eligible for inclusion in this publication. The book bearing the best of these pieces will be published in April.

Free Throws and Foul Shots

There has been quite a stir about the Markham, Unruh case. By playing in the local VFW tournament they have been declared temporarily ineligible. This made it impossible for them to play against Bethany Monday night. As to their ineligibility for next year, nothing definite can be said until the conference meeting in May. There the conference will make the decision as to how long they will be ineligible.

However, many "Home Town" teams are in and consequently interest runs high.

The Kansas Conference track meet is scheduled for May 19. Interest seems to lag, except for the fellows who work out daily, when it comes to track. Track has never been the colorful sport for the spectators that football and basketball have but nevertheless the cindermen need plenty of encouragement so any help you can give the track squad will be welcomed.
