Enrollment At 395

Seventeen New Students For Second Semester

According to the latest statistics, there are three hundred and ninety-five students enrolled in McPherson College for the second semester of the academic year 1947-48. There are three hundred and seventy-six regularly enrolled persons and nineteen special.

Figures indicate that the freshmen lead the number of enrollments by classifications, having one hundred and forty-four members. The sophomores have one hundred and nine, there are sixty-three Juniors, and sixty seniors.

The grand total for the first week of the first semester topped four hundred and seventeen, excluding special students. So, it can be seen, that the enrollment figures are slightly below that of the first semester. Last year, the enrollment of the second semester was at 495, having reached a peak unknown for two decades.

Seventeen new students have registered. They are as follows: Weldon Beach, Leonard, Mo.; Robert Bowman, Norborne, Mo.; Jerry Butler, Galva, Kans.; Mrs. Alice Colyn, Bedford, Iowa; John Colyn, Leona, Iowa; Vancil Dunahoe, Cavina, Cal.; Virginia Hart, Inman, Kans.; Dick Hess, McPherson, Kansas; Ruth Hickey, McPherson; Arlene Kough, McPherson; David May, Lehigh, Kans.; Mary Meyer, McPherson; Maurice Moore, Waterloo, Iowa; Donald Reed, Wichita, Kans.; Yvonne Ruffell, Garden City, Kans.; and Harold Sison, Galva, Kans.

Enrollment for the second semester can be concurrent with first semester examinations. The dates for enrollment were from Tuesday, January 20 until Friday, Jan. 23. Second semester classes convened on Monday, Jan. 26.

At the time of this printing the final tabulation on enrollment for the second semester has not been definitely concluded.

Opportunities Offered For Study Abroad

Current opportunities for study abroad are outlined in bulletin issued by the American Council on College Study in Switzerland, and recently received on this campus.

Provisions are made for intercollegiate, co-educational groups at the Junior Year level, to study in either Basel or in Zurich, Switzerland. Basel boasts of the oldest Swiss university while Zurich is the largest city in Switzerland. Both are wonderful opportunities for students to study abroad.

The program for study in these foreign universities includes courses in German language and composition, art, economics, German literature, government, history, and music.

The program of the Graduate Year Abroad, is open to graduates of accredited colleges. The program operates in Paris and Zurich. It leads to the degree: Master of Foreign Study.

Anyone interested in such study should consult the bulletin in the Spec office.

Foreign Countries Birthday Supper Theme

Two hundred and eighty persons attended the annual Birthday Fellowship Supper given at the Church of the Brethren last Sunday night at six-thirty.

Guy Hayes acted as the master of ceremonies and introduced as speakers, Mrs. E. Wall—Scandinavia, Ernest Kerpberry—China, Kels Whitmore—Africa, and Ed Crill—America. The talks dealt with the people and customs of the countries and presented to the audience vivid pictures of life in foreign countries.

Dr. Raymond Flory gave an interesting discussion, using the theme "Looking into the Future."

Tables for the supper were attractively decorated to represent different countries and the waiters and waitresses added color to the occasion by wearing costumes.

Furnishing music were the Ladies Quartet, composed of Helen Stover, Ruth Rogers, Eloise Brooks, and Mary Metalar and the Men's Quartette, consisting of Bob Keim, Kenneth Graham, Dale Gehlman, and Vernon Nicholson. Each quartet sang two selections.

During the program, an offering was taken which amounted to approximately $1,006.00.

Dimes March Ends

The Pi Mu Society of McPherson College sponsored the March of Dimes project on the campus. Contributions to this worthwhile project had totaled approximately five dollars when this item went to press. The Pi Mu Society would like to thank each and every one who helped in this year's drive to aid in the national fight against infantile paralysis.

Attention!

A new system for emptying the chapel has been devised, and it promises to facilitate greatly if all will cooperate in the following plan.

The front halves of the two sections should go out the aisles to their right, and the back halves of the sections should go out the aisle to their left.

That seems easy enough! Let's cooperate!

Model UN For Campus

The SCA Commission on World Problems has taken the first concrete step toward forming a model United Nations here on McPherson College Campus. The commission met last Tuesday and elected the executive directors of the campus United Nations. The Secretary General is to be Max McAuley, the Executive Assistance will come from Miss Catherine Little, and Mr. Jack Kough will be the President. These three officers will work in conjunction with the directors of the SCA Commission.

The middle of March is the tentative date for completion of this project. It will give the student and citizen alike a better understanding of the workability of the United Nations in New York.

In the world UN fifty-seven nations are represented by delegates. The campus model will endeavor to have delegates from the various important countries, including France, Russia, U. S. China, Great Britain, India, Pakistan, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Greece, Turkey, Argentina, Mexico, Poland, and Iran. A number of these countries have representatives assigned to them, but additional members are needed. Delegates will study the nations they represent and discover the particular problems requiring UN assistance.

Interested persons from McPherson College and the city of McPherson can give assurance of the success of the project by becoming delegates for various countries.

Bridges Ahead

by Shirley Anderson

"Whew." You can all now breathe that proverbial sigh of relief. The exams are over and the grades are out. Maybe you didn't get what you wanted or expected and maybe you are one of the lucky ones who got all A's . . . but there are such numbers! Nevertheless before the exams you crammed, were tense, and literally dreading to take each one. Now that is all over, and you can start anew.

The new semester has started. Everyone is as busy as a bee . . . paying bills, buying books, and meeting the new students. (The new students really look good. The fellows are sharp; the girls are cute.) Good luck to all the "frosh."

Joseph Fuchs

For his success as one of the top-ranking violinists in the country today, Joseph Fuchs, who will appear at the High School Auditorium Feb. 19, at 8:15 o'clock, is indicated perhaps more than anything else to a severe elbow injury which he received in early childhood.

As a boy of four Joseph Fuchs fell and hurt his left arm which resulted in a nerve injury. When the family doctor suggested daily exercise for his fingers in order to strengthen the muscles, Mr. Fuch's father decided to have his son study the violin. This decision, however, was no mere accident—the Fuchs family had already become aware of their young son's remarkable musical talent.

At the age of two he could sing any tune he would hear—and in faultless pitch. Visitors to the New York City home of the Fuchs family were amazed at the boy's prodigious memory.

The Revelers, nationally known men's Quartet will be presented by McPherson Community Concert Association tonight.

When he was six years old he was taken to the Institute of Musical Art to study under Franz Kneisel, the teacher of many prominent violinists and the head of the famous quartet bearing his name.

Unlike other musical prodigies, many of whom have fallen by the wayside, Joseph Fuchs had a wise father and a very cautious teacher. "What counts with an artist," Professor Kneisel cautioned his pupil, "is what you are after twenty-five."

In subsequent New York recitals and with the New York Philharmonic Symphony in 1944 and 1946 Fuchs was again hailed by all the critics. Virgil Thomson of the New York Herald Tribune summed up the opinion of all critics by stating in January 1946 " . . . At its best his work is unequalled by either test among the violin playing of our day."

His original plan to study with one of the great German masters was changed into a concert tour throughout Germany and Austria, where he was acclaimed by the critics. Today, Mr. Fuchs is pointed out as one of the few outstanding musicians in the country who have been exclusively American trained.

Automobiles do not run down as many people as gossip does.

Turning A New Leaf

Yesterday we completed our first semester by taking the mid-term exams, today we are getting acquainted with the schedule that the second semester calls for, tomorrow, let us turn a new leaf and attempt to make ourselves seek the good things in life.

Why I Am Against U. M. T.

by Kenneth Brown

If a person suddenly approached me, knowing that I stand against U. M. T. and asked me to give him three good reasons why I was in opposition to the plan, I must confess, I would be momentarily confused. There are many, many reasons why I do not favor the establishment of military power, but in giving three, I would want to present the strongest and most meaningful that I know.

history and see the destructive outcome of military governments, I am opposed to seeing our land of freedom subjected to such degrading conditions. 3. I am a member of a Christian faith and, as such, am a follower of Jesus Christ. Following in his footsteps, I try to conform in my small way to the life he would have me live.

L. Avery Fleming, The Dean, Speaks

The college student of 1948 lives in a world of stirring events and alluring attractions, but the things of primary concern to him are likely to be common-place and near at hand. 1. The tasks of the second semester call for immediate and urgent attention. While they do not gleam like the lights of the nightly movie, nevertheless, they offer more promise in the long run.

Why I Am For U. M. T.

by Marx Jones

The bill on Universal Military Training has now been passed by the Arms Service Committee and will come before the House of Representatives soon after its reconvening. Various organizations such as the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Amvets, etc., are urging prompt action on this bill.

fighting group is discipline and this a man must learn before he can become an asset to any group in competition or conflict with another. It is nice to say that the peace will not fail. We all, especially those of us who have been in combat with fellowmen, hope that it will not; that we have won the peace and can hold it.

About Alumni

By Ira N. H. Brammell

We salute Earl M. Frantz. An alumnus widely known in the McPherson College Region, and beyond its borders, is Earl M. Frantz.

Earl, a native of Nebraska, grew to young manhood, married Lela Dell of Beatrice, and established himself on the farm. He was happy and contented with farming, but after three years the church asked him to accept the ministry. This he did and immediately made plans to prepare himself for his new work.

McPherson College was his first objective. He was active and popular as a student and was granted the A. B. degree in 1921.

After graduating from McPherson he took work at Yale Divinity School and Bethany Biblical Seminary where he received the B. D. degree in 1922.

In 1923 he received the A. M. degree from the University of Chicago.

Upon finishing his graduate work at the University of Chicago, he immediately took up pastoral work at the Salem Church near Nickerson, Kansas.

He served as pastor of the Salem Church from 1923-26; the Sabetha Church from 1926-33; and Ivester Church near Grundy Center, Iowa, from 1933-1943.

In 1942 Earl was called to McPherson College where he has directed the Public Relations Department. Student and finance solicitation, and publications are his major fields of work. At present,

What Would Happen If—

by Jan

Rorer didn't deliver the evening paper. Simonton didn't wear a pencil behind his ear.

A red lantern hung from the tower of Sharp Hall. Professor Hess were ever late for anything.

The whistles didn't blow. There were no announcements in chapel.

Everyone passed his semester exams. Anderson ever made up her mind.

Boys didn't hang around the girls dorms. There was no need for "Dear Dean" letters.

Everyone spent two hours preparation on each subject. McAuley ever asked a girl for a date.

There were two helpings of meat and dessert in dining hall. Professor Berkebile ever missed two classes a semester.

There wasn't such a thing as griping.

Student Opinion

(Dear Reader: The Editor accepted my idea of making a poll which I outlined two weeks ago in my double-vee column; then issued a decree that I should also conduct the poll of the rest of the student body. It has also been modified to the extent that one question will be asked of each person each week. That way, we can get a lot of names into the paper. Oh, good! —S—)

The question this week (which is under discussion most of the time of late) is that of Universal Military Training. It is quite apparent to me, as I ask this question, that few of the people asked have a really good idea of what the UMT program consists of. It is not my duty to attempt enlightenment, but to show what the people think as they understand it.

John Kidwell states that he is not in favor of it because it looks like the same way Hitler got his start, and because, when you start building a mighty military force, there is bound to be war.

Leo Stitts keeps his irons out of the fire by making the following statement: "I'm neutral. I guess it is all right, but I would be affected by it, so I do not want to express an opinion."

Arlyn Husinkveid, who is a former Marine says: I am opposed to it. The service is a poor place to develop moral character.

Carl Dell, Jr., is another of the boys who would be affected by a move toward UMT. His opinion: For some it might be all right, but I do not believe it is a good thing taken as a whole. For a person who is studying for a particular profession, the plan might delay his studies; however, it would be all right for those who are not impelled toward any particular line of achievement. It may be a healthful life, and a moral uplift in the service, but few of the officers display those trends on Saturday night.

Dale Eshelman, a student who is scientifically inclined believes that it would benefit the government and the world more if the same amount of money were spent on the education of promising young scientists. It will take something bigger than the atomic bomb, or a bigger atomic bomb, to win the war.

Artie Bragley, another veteran, is "just plain" it. He made no other statement.

The Roving Eye

This is the Roving Eye reporting to you for the first time. We see all, hear all, and tell all that happens on Macampus. Yvonne Rittell, freshman from Garden City, Kansas, is the new look exemplified. But we have heard that she has a monstrous picture of a good looking man in her room . . . but the men can dream, can't they?

Now we know what a good cook Sybil is . . . or should we say Bob's Patty and Irven had their cozy little breakfast with the newly weds. Wonder if any examples were set?

Some people can't seem to make up their mind. We have a prime example of such a person on the campus. She is as changeable as the wind we might say. And a wind that is mighty strong!

We just heard that Bixby and Lindsay's have a sale on alarm clocks.

This Week

This week starts a new semester. It is also Youth Week, Wednesday night there was a youth banquet for all the young people of the city given at the Lutheran church.

Tonight the Community Concert Series brings us Joseph Fuchs. The music majors of the college might learn more from him than the rest of us, but we'll all enjoy him.

This week has been a cold one. No gas. So put on your coats, kids, the elements are trying to get us down. Let's not let them. Hrrrrr . . . it's cold.

A secret is something we can tell one person at a time.

The Antique Table

by Niel Hamilton

Part I

"No, I don't think I can make it tonight." Carey Foster was sitting on the floor, with the telephone in one hand and a half eaten apple in the other. He was talking to Les Mitchell, his best friend. "I'm sort of tired of going out there. Never see anyone I know . . . O. K. . . I'll see you, Stone."

He hung up and sauntered across the room, depositing the apple in a waste basket. His mother came into the parlor from the kitchen. She had a dust rag in her hand and pretended to be dusting vigorously. She wiped every piece of furniture lightly, until she came to the sofa, where Carey had sprawled out, reading a sports magazine.

"Who was it, Carey?" she asked casually.

"Les."

"Wanted you to go someplace, tonight!"

"Yeah," Carey drawled, not looking up from his magazine. "I'm not going tonight."

"Oh, staying home and reading again?"

"Carey grunted and turned over on his side. Mrs. Foster was dusting the small table at one end of the sofa quite thoroughly.

"Where did he want you to go?"

"Carey put the book down with a sigh and looked up at his mother.

"See, you sure are inquisitive today, Mom. He wanted me to go out to Lollie's Place with him and Jean tonight. I didn't want to."

"Oh, his mother looked at him for a moment. "Carey, you never go out anymore. You just sit around home all the time and read. Why don't you get out and find something to interest you?"

"Don't want to," he said very disinterestedly. He flopped back to a prone position on the sofa and buried his face in the book, hoping his mother would see that he did not want to discuss the matter further.

She took the hint, and dusted her way back to the kitchen, shaking her head.

I get tired of her wondering why I never go out, Carey thought, staring at the tiny print of the sports book. I just get sick and tired of doing the same thing over and over again. It gets so monotonous.

Carey Foster's life story is similar to many young men's of this day. Just before he was 18, he went into the Army. That was in 1943. He went through his training at camps in Texas, Mississippi, and Kentucky. He went overseas in July 1944 and remained in Europe for 18 months, six of which were spent in France and Germany. Carey was fortunate enough to see eight European countries before he embarked for his return voyage to America. As soon as he got home, he enrolled at Dickenson University in Brandon, his home town. He entered Dickenson as a freshman and took several "speed-up" courses, as well as attending summer school. He was proud of the fact that he had attained the classification of a Junior in one year.

Everything in life was wonderful when Carey got out of the Army. He had difficulty in readjusting himself, but his old home town was exactly as he'd left it and his family was overjoyed to have him back home again. But suddenly everything seemed to change. Many things happened that made Carey Foster's surroundings take on a different atmosphere.

(To be continued next week)

CHAPEL

THOUGHTS

by Catherine Little

Monday

The first Chapel of the semester was punctuated with a series of human interest events, namely the ringing of alarm clocks at irregular intervals. Between the interruptions, Dr. Peters extended to us a greeting and a welcome for beginning a new term. Dr. Fleming reviewed for us the difficulties found in enrolling. Some reference to the college catalogue, of the fact that since they were not upper classmen they could neither graduate nor take "A" courses this year.

Wednesday

Chapel was opened by the singing of "Ye Servants of God, Your Master Praise Him." Several necessary announcements were made. The scripture lesson was taken from John 16, and prayer was offered by Dr. Peters. The College Male Quartette favored us with a song, "Send Forth Thy Light." The address was given by a guest speaker, the Reverend Ross Wood, pastor of the local Baptist church. The theme of his sermon was "The Game of Preaching Chapel With God." The lesson we learned from his talk was that God can preach to us through the medium of apparently insignificant things. In fact in everything God has placed on earth, there is a sermon.

McPherson Loses Fourth Conference Game On C. of E. Court

McPherson College dropped their fourth conference game of the season when the College of Emporia, playing on their home court, beat them 61-50 last Tuesday night.

The Bulldogs started as they had in their previous game against Ottawa and held a 17-5 lead midway in the first half. The Emporia team broke the Dozs in the third period with their fast attack.

The McPherson B team lost in the preliminary to the Emporia reserves. Four McPherson players fouled out in the game.

Ottawa Extends 5-0 Count With 32-30 Win vs. MC

The Ottawa Braves extended their record of five wins last Friday night on the local hardwood at the expense of the McPherson College Bulldogs.

The Dozs made them work for their win as they held an 18-5 lead at the end of the first quarter. Buck Heinecker put in 6 points in the first period to help his team's advantage.

The second quarter Ottawa came back with 12 points to our 3 with six men scoring. Halftime read, Ottawa 17, McPherson 21. The Bulldogs were putting up a stiff fight all the way and were hitting their shots to a higher percentage. They only scored 4 points in the third quarter and held a 25-24 lead as the last period began.

Tiegren, Brave forward, led loose with 7 points in the final 10 minutes to sing the red and white cause. It was Tiegren who put in the two points in the last 10 seconds of play to win the game for Ottawa.

Harold Wiebe again fouled out because of his aggressive play under the basket. This boy is getting better every game on rebounds. The game dropped McPherson to a won 2, lost 2 in the Kansas Conference.

SPORTS

"B"

The Bulldog "B" team defeated Tabor College in a thrilling game last Friday night 35 to 31.

The game opened on rather even terms with the Bulldogs leading at the quarter 7 to 4. Tabor found the range the second quarter and took a 14 to 12 advantage at the half. The third quarter the two teams battled on rather even terms with quarter ending 31 to 18. The last quarter was hard fought with the lead changing hands several times. With three seconds remaining the Bulldogs took the ball out of bounds and Burns, Bulldog center, poked a long shot from the corner to knot the count at 28 all, sending the game into an overtime. Hutchison scored a field goal to make the score 29 to 28. McPherson then jumped to a 35 to 28 lead before Tabor scored. Tabor scored three points to end the game with the Bulldogs victors 35-31.

Intramural

The Quinterites finally emerged the victors over I. P. T. in a hard-fought game 36 to 30. The two teams played on quite even terms throughout most of the game. However, in the third quarter, Bowman, Quinter forward, was hot which helped to give his team the margin of victory.

The biggest upset so far in the league occurred when the 4 F's dumped the highly touted De-forpeh 23 to 20. The game was well played, but neither team could consistently hit the bucket. In the closing minutes, Deforpeh tried desperately to close the gap, but were unsuccessful. Burkholder, Deforpeh guard, was outstanding scoring 11 points and played an excellent floor game.

The Wildcats continued their winning ways by defeating the Ramblers 47 to 28. Although the Ramblers played a good game the scoring punch of Eshelman, Grindle and Kindt proved too much for the Ramblers. McClung of the Ramblers led the scoring with 14 points while Kindt and Eshelman led the Wildcats with 11 points each.

Deforpeh came bounding back from their previous defeat to trounce Quinter 41 to 15. Deforpeh got off to a slow start but in the second quarter Burkholder and Applegate of Deforpeh found the range and their lead was never seriously threatened the remainder of the game.

The 4 F's had little trouble defeating the Ramblers as they took things in their own hands and won the game 42 to 26. Watkins, Daggett and Guthals each tallied 10 points for the 4 F's while

"Blondie" West and Achilles led the Ramblers with 8 points apiece.
