

Enrollment Up To 405

Fine Arts Figures Indefinite

Ten more persons have enrolled for the second semester at McPherson College, making the total 405. This number includes regularly enrolled and special students only, the figures for the Fine Arts students are indefinite.

There are now 146 freshmen, 119 sophomores, 65 juniors, and 40 seniors. Twenty-four special students are enrolled.

The new students that have come in are: John White, freshman; Wallace Pattengill, freshman; and Virginia Allen, sophomore, all from McPherson.

These figures are the latest as of February 3.

Music Students To Be Presented

On Friday night, February 13, at 8 p. m., the Music Department of McPherson College will present the advance students in a recital. The different teachers of the department will present their students in this combined recital, which will be held in the College Chapel.

Miss Jeer Brown, piano instructor, will present four of her pupils; they are: Marvin Hanson who will play two numbers; Miss Esther Miller, who also will play two numbers; Mr. Gordon Stutzman and Mr. Max Shank. Most of these numbers presented by the piano students of Miss Brown will be familiar to the students on the campus.

Professor Donald Frederick, instructor in voice, will present three of his students. They are: Kenneth Graham, Mr. Irvin Stein, and Miss Eula Wiltmore.

Miss Helen Howe, piano instructor, will present Miss Martha Franz and Miss Leona Richards. Miss Richards will play "Aspiration" by Carl A. Preyer. Mr. Preyer was at one time a piano instructor to Miss Howe.

Miss Bonnie Dee Burk will present her voice students, also Miss Burk plans to present Miss Leona Franz and Mr. Albert Rogers.

The professors and instructors of the Music Department invited the students of the college to attend this musical presentation of the various music students. According to the numbers announced in the program the entire display of musical talent should be very enjoyable.

Heart Sister Week Feb. 9-14

It is almost Valentine's Day, and that means Heart Sister Week, which lasts from February 9 through 14. It is the time when all of the girls and women faculty members draw names to see who their Heart Sister will be.

The idea is for each girl to do something nice for her Heart Sister each day. If gifts are given through the week, they should not exceed 15c. There is to be a gift given at the party Saturday night, and that is not to exceed 25c.

Each Heart Sister is to keep her identity secret until the final party, which is to be held in the SUH, Saturday night, February 14, from 7 until 8:30. When the final gift is given by each girl to her Heart Sister, she will then let her identity become known.

All girls are expected to attend the party. The wives of the professors are also invited to attend.

Regional Meeting To Be Held Here

McPherson College and Officers of the Western Region will be hosts to the Regional Conference of the Western Region of the Church of the Brethren on February 20 to 26. The general theme of the conference will be "Advance With Christ."

Rev. L. Smith, Editor of the Christian Advocate, and Raymond R. Peters, Executive Secretary of the Brotherhood Board of the Church of the Brethren will be the main speakers of the week long program. Other speakers include Don Snider, Youth Director of the Church of the Brethren, Deasie Miller, director of the Childrens Work, H. L. Hartsough, Ruth Shriver, Bayard Rustin, W. W. Peters, Bob Knecht, Burton Metzler, and Robert E. Mohler. Students will remember Mr. Rustin from the International Relations meeting of last year.

The week long program will open with a Young Peoples Retreat of the region on Friday morning, February 20. Registration will be at 1:00. Don Snider will address the gathering of Young People at 7:30 that same evening. There will be recreation, regional business meetings, discussion groups, and a youth banquet.

The annual meeting of the McPherson College Trustees will also take place on the first day of the Regional Meeting. They undoubtedly will discuss to some length the half million dollar expansion program now in progress on behalf of the college.

According to the officers of the region, this meeting will be bigger and better than any ever before held.

Formal Dinner For Students

Students who eat in the College dining hall are making plans for a formal dinner to be given on Friday evening, February 13. The dinner will start at 5:45 p. m. in order that those in attendance may finish in time to go to the recital at eight o'clock.

All students who attend this dinner must make a reservation for a place with either Phyllis Strickler or Kenneth Jarboe by Tuesday evening, February 10. On Wednesday morning, February 11, reservations will be open to any off-campus students who care to attend. These students may purchase places at 60c each in order applied for, as long as the space lasts. A student will be in the hall outside the Chapel before and after the Chapel period next Wednesday to make tickets available. The deadline for the purchase of these tickets is Thursday, February 12.

A short program is being planned by a committee appointed for that purpose.

Positions For Coaches Open

The positions of coach and assistant coach for McPherson College are now open for the school year 1948-49. It will probably be several weeks before any announcements concerning the positions will be made.

Dr. Peters said that Coach Thomas C. Hayden, athletic director, and Coach Rolla Relling, football and basketball coach, are not applicants for positions on the coaching staff for next year.

"I had to bring along some of my homework."

New Members Of Pi Kappa Delta?

Applications for membership in Pi Kappa Delta are being accepted from members of the debate teams. Of course, a number of this year's debaters are already members, but several of them have not yet joined, and a substantial increase in membership over last year is anticipated. Applications are being accepted by Prof. Maurice A. Hess, and can be made at any time.

For the benefit of those who have not been enlightened (say "who have not attended Prof. Hess' classes in Freshman English) Pi Kappa Delta is an honorary forensic fraternity. Membership is restricted to those debaters who have participated in three or more decision debates. One must be a member in order to enter the Provincial debate tournament, which will be held at Fort Collins, Colorado, April 1, 2, and 3. This contest will include, not only debates, but extemporaneous speaking, and oratory. After the Provincial, of course, comes the National contest. The entire program is sponsored and carried out by Pi Kappa Delta.

Prof. Hess urges all members of the debate teams who are qualified to enter their applications as quickly as possible. This is not a secret organization, and the constitution and ritual are open to the inspection of any prospective member. Prof. Hess is ready, willing, and—without doubt—able. He urges especially those who contemplate making the trip to Fort Collins to join as soon as possible.

Senior Recital Given Sunday

Miss Esther Miller, coloratura soprano, was presented in the Senior Recital by the Music Department of McPherson College on Sunday afternoon, February 1, at four p. m. in the College Chapel. Singing numbers from the well-known composer, Miss Miller was very enthusiastically accepted by the large audience in attendance. It is interesting to know that Miss Miller intends to pursue her voice training after leaving this college, and make singing her career. During the past summer, she studied at the Chicago Music Conservatory.

Miss Bonnie Alexander served as the accompanist for the program, and assisting Miss Miller with three delightful Marimba solos. Miss Rowena Neher. The latter showed great talent and presented to the audience something different in entertainment.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

The latest thing which has happened in the present Congress with respect to U.M.T., is exactly nothing. Rep. Leo R. Allen, chairman of the House Rules Committee, has thus far declined ruling on the bill, "grass roots" letters received by his constituents that a sizeable majority of the people are against its coming to a floor vote in the House. As a matter of fact, 95 percent of the letters he has received on the subject are against U.M.T.

Threats are flying back and forth between members of the House and Rep. Allen, but so far he has "stuck to his guns." However, if the pressure becomes too great, or if the Secretary of War makes a statement that the present conditions are worse than most people believe, it will virtually force him to rule on the bill. It is very unlikely that the Secretary of War will make any such statement, unless it is actually true. However, if the bill reaches the floor, there appears to be a strong enough majority in favor of it to pass it.

Another "hot rock" in the legislative program is the bill to increase GI subsistence payments. As it stands, it will allow veterans with no dependents an allowance of $75 per month instead of $65, and those with dependents $100 instead of the old $90. A sister to this bill is one to raise the ceiling GI trainees may receive each month, including the GI payments. The one in the House provides for lifting the ceiling on the earnings of a vet with no dependents from $175 per month to $200, those with one dependent to $250, and with two or more dependents, $350. The Senate, several months ago, passed a similar bill allowing less increase, and the result probably will be a compromise bill which will be some help to the GI trainees at its worst. The provisions of these bills are expected to receive action by the spring term.

Central Office Lists Thirty-one On Honor Roll

Students Join Peace Caravan

Two freshmen of McPherson College recently joined the Peace Caravans which originated at the Salina Peace Institute last summer. Those two students are Paul (Duke) Brown, Missouri, and Melvin Rutbrauff, of Redfield, Kansas. Joining the Caravan at the same time was Betty Wolfkill, Hagerstown, Maryland, who is a graduate of Bridgewater College. With these three new members, the personnel of the Caravans numbers nine.

At present, two of the three Caravans are in Oklahoma, and the remaining one is working in Kansas. At Regional Conference time, all of these Caravans will be here, and will be presented on the program.

One of the original Peace Caravans is Lyle Miller, former student at McPherson College, and who comes from Burr Oak, Kansas.

The program centers around several topics of interest to churches and community organizations, such as the "Advance" movement, "World Government," "U. N.," "Atomic Energy," "UNRRA," and definite action programs that the churches and community can do, individually or collectively.

The purposes of the Caravan are to help others to understand more clearly the world outlook, to create a new interest for world peace, to study the peace heritage of the Church of the Brethren, and to stimulate and encourage Brethren to assume leadership by acting NOW in order to preserve peace.

Revelers Enjoyed By Large Group

Ed. Note: These criticisms that follow are those of a music major. They do not reflect the opinion of this paper.

The Revelers gave a very excellent, entertaining program a week ago tonight. Since I have been asked to write a critical review for this week's Spectator, I shall try to give a few of their outstanding features as I saw and heard them.

The blend of the group was very good. Mr. Burris, the first tenor, seemed too flat at times; whether it was a cold or just one of his bad nights, I do not know. Mr. Glenn, the bass, seemed to be quite a favorite with the audience. As an entertainer, he was undoubtedly outstanding; but why he stood apart from the rest of the group, I do not know.

Mr. Smith, the baritone, was my favorite. His full, flowing tones were sung with complete ease.

The second tenor, Mr. Ventura, had a very good voice, but he did not prove to have the relaxation on the stage that the others had, although he was, undoubtedly, quite poised.

The group sang together excellently. Their attacks and releases were good. They seem to love singing.

The pianist, although secondarily, but quite important to the group, proved himself to be quite an interesting performer.

The Revelers' most appealing numbers were the following: "Dream of Love," "Bells of Moscow," Medley from "Oklahoma," "Singin' in the Rain," and "Rigoletto."

I'm sure this performance proved to be another reason why we are all glad that we have Community Concert Memberships.

Burkholder First With 54; Andrews Eshelman Follow

The Central Office, always a scene of busy action, was even busier last week when students rushed through securing their grade cards. This week, a list of those whose work in the various courses of last semester merits their honor has been released by the Central Office.

To be placed on the honor roll, a total of forty grade points must be earned by the student. For those whose total of honor merits is thirty-five or more a list named the honorable mention has been tabulated. Of course all students know that each hour in which he receives A or B grades is worth 2 points each; and a grade of C yields 1 honor merit per hour.

Last semester's honor roll is topped by John Burkholder with a total of 54 grade points. Following close on his heels is Martin Andrews with a score of 53. Dale Eshelman ranks third with 50 honor points. Other students are: Elaine Brammell and Franklin Myer, 48; Betty Isberg, 47; Edna Vial, 46; Charles Hess, and Hillis Williams, 45; Donald Kelm and John Messamer, 44; Phyllis Strickler and Marvin Hanson, 43; Marvin Blough, Donna Bowman, Kenneth Brown, Dean Cotton, Lois Hauser, Bonnie Martin, Leo Anna Mast, Berle Miller, Dean Neher, Russell Reinecker, Edward Stein, Ruth Davis, and Winston Bowman, 42; Royce Loahbaugh, 41; Doris Coppock, Colleen Doyle, Marion Frantz, and Ronald Myer, 40.

Russian Singer At Taber

On February 12, 1948, Konstantin Sadko, noted Russian tenor, will be heard at the Taber College Auditorium, Topeka, Kansas. Mr. Sadko will sing various songs. His repertoire includes English, Dutch, German, Russian, and Italian sacred and classic.

Mr. Sadko is very well known in his own country according to Taber College officials.

The program will start at 8:00. The tickets are $1.25 including tax and all the profit will go to European Relief.

Quad Reprints Are Offered

Roger-Brown Studio formerly the Monty Ash Studio, contractors of the Quad pictures, announced this week that for a short time reprints from the quad pictures can be made. This should be of interest to students who wish to have billfold size pictures to attach to their applications.

The pictures will cost the Mac College student $2.50 a dozen. The pictures will be billfold size and will be exact duplicates of the Quad pictures taken early in the Fall.

John's Watch

A bad penny always returns, doncha know? In this case it was a pocket watch owned by John Langley, one of the Foremost on Macampus.

It's this-a-way; Nigh onto five years ago, when John-boy was despondent of thinking unto himself a homesick, he needed some concrete symbol of his ever-lovin' devoision, so he hooked a watch at Hixby and Lindsay for a circle of auric topped with a hunk of carbon. Then as years passed by, John forgot his prize possession

... until he saw it hanging on the B&L showcase recently? Some-boddy, he needed some engage-ment ring.

Violous circle, no?

Our Reaction To Polio

"I didn't dream anything like this could happen to my child," said a grief stricken mother to a friend, when she learned her child had become the victim of the dreaded polio. "What have we done to deserve such a punishment? I cannot understand."

Infantile paralysis may strike at any moment, any where. It may come to your friends, it may come to your family, it may even come to YOU. Look around you and try to conceive how horrible it would be for someone you know to be stricken by one of the most dreaded diseases.

Recently the P. M. Society of McPherson College conducted a March of Dimes project on the campus. Approximately ten dollars was raised to contribute to the national fund. This year a total of 30 million dollars is needed to meet obligations resulting from the increase of polio cases in the last five years. Ten dollars the students and faculty gave to the cause is such a tiny fraction of the amount needed that it is really sad — sad to think that if each person HAD given just a dime, we could have raised $41.70, a much nearer sum towards the elimination of a threat to America's children.

Perhaps some of you couldn't have given anything, but most of you could. I overheard a fellow tell his friend he couldn't spare a dime for the drive because he HAD to go see "Gone With The Wind." Four hours of adventure and excitement. And how long does polio last when it comes? Not four hours, but for years. Forever in many cases. His dime might have saved the kid next door from becoming an invalid.

By contributing to the March of Dimes, you are helping to find a prevention or cure for polio. Also, you are enabling a person, regardless of race, color, or creed, who falls victim to polio, to be treated in a special institution.

Perhaps my words have come too late . . . for this time. There will be another March of Dimes. Our contributions this time were very poor. Next time, let's do better.

Can We Prevent Future War

Throughout the world, people have fought and are now suffering and sacrificing, praying and purposing that "It must not and shall not happen again." Freedom from war has become the first essential of human well-being.

The main question that faces this world of confusion and insecurity is "Can We Prevent Future Wars?" Ask yourself this question. You, who are studying to better life on earth. Think of the ways you can try to prevent future wars.

This problem is no simple one. Hundreds of times people have tried to think of ways of preventing war, but they have not succeeded. But just because they have failed, does not mean it cannot be done. For it CAN.

There are two things that I would place at the top of my list, if I were compiling one. First, State of Mind. A world state of mind that will accept the reality of peace. It is vital in prevention of wars. You can think up ways to put an end to all wars, but no machinery is of any use without the will to use it. Most of the nations of the world want peace. They are like a sick person, though, who wants to be cured of his disease, but can't bear to swallow the only medicine that will cure it.

And then there is religion, which is just as important as the state of mind. Through prayer and faith in God, we can obtain a peace that will be enduring. If everyone in the world believed in God, there would be no strife, for everyone would live in perfect harmony.

What Lent Means To Me

by Van Damao

On Wednesday the people of the Christian world will go into a mourning that will last through out the Lenten season. With the coming of Ash Wednesday people will begin to think more seriously on the aspects of their religion. As a part of this, many services will be held for prayer and meditation, and by Easter we will feel a deeper love for our Lord and Savior for our Easter duty will have been fulfilled.

But what about the time from Easter, till Ash Wednesday of the next year? I fear that we are some what hypocrites, and are inclined to let things slide by without even a thought of prayer, and even rejecting the opportunities of prayer in our daily lives.

When I first arrived at McPherson I mentioned the lack of student prayer, and was met with rebuke. But to those people who condemned such a thought I would suggest you take notice of the unmovement of noise during the blessing in the dining hall, or the prayer in chapel. Maybe these two instances will help to exemplify the lack of attention during prayer.

Or perhaps even more startling than this is the fact that you can attend a forty-five minute B. Y. meeting without even a thought of prayer included.

We are supposed to be students in a Christian college where Christian ideals are held highest, however the only ideals I have seen or heard have been of the "do not" category.

However there is a positive side to Christian ideals, so why not start your Lenten season with three positive ideals. Namely, give God a few minutes each day. Spend this time in meditation and prayer. Secondly, give your fellow man a few minutes. Last, be attentive in all services, whether it be in the dining hall or chapel.

Success

by Glen Hillen

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week a Sermonette will be presented in this column. In order that these items may be considered on their own merits, the author prefers to write under a pseudonym.)

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness." Someone has said, "Honesty does not always bring its vaunted reward."

What is your aim in life? Would you agree with the author of the statement above, that when honesty failed to bring financial results it ceased to be "the best policy"? Would you agree with the belief that a way of life that did not bring financial success and physical ease was a failure? Then what would be your answer to the greatest success story of all time. The Hero ended his life on a cross between two thieves, in the lowest manner conceivable for a physical body. Was he therefore a failure?

We speak of business failures. Do we consider a man a failure because he would not violate his respect for humanity in order to make more financial and physical security for himself? We sometimes sing dolefully of the wicked who prosper. Is a man well off because he has money? Does financial accomplishment spell success? What is your aim in life? Gandhi on his death left the country he loved in a terrible state, perhaps a worse state than when he was born. Was he therefore a failure? He was destroyed by the very thing that he had spent his life trying to teach the Indians to avoid. He taught non-violence in the situations in which most people would justify violence and he suffered death at the hands of that violence. Was he a success? Was he really killed by that shot? His body ceased to live but his teaching will live eternally because he followed the great Master who said, "Do not fear those who kill the body and after that have no more that they can do."

We have sometimes heard people speak in amazement of someone who thrived by dishonest means. Did they actually join what you would like to have: Popularity. (because of dishonesty) respect. (from those not clever enough even to be dishonest) money. (with the taint of dishonesty). Are those your aims in life?

Then let us not envy those who have gained minor things at the expense of major things. Let us not consider a man successful unless he has done something good that will outlive his body. For it is so that we make life eternal by making the best things in our lives those things that "shall not pass away."

The President Speaks

In the second Spectator for the second semester of the present academic year, it is my happy privilege to extend to the new editor and his staff my very best wishes for the continued success of our college paper.

Just as a college is no better than its faculty, its administrators, and its philosophy of education, so a paper is no better than its editors, its contributors, and its philosophy of what constitutes proper and worthwhile materials to print. To this end, I bespeak for the Spectator, success.

May I again say what may to some seem platitudinous, but I feel, nevertheless, continuously and increasingly true.

1. "Be ashamed to die until you have done some good for humanity."
2. The way to enjoy old age to have the fewest things possible to regret when you reflect.
3. Man is superior to the animal only to the extent that his animal nature is made and kept the servant of his intellectual and spiritual nature. Self-discipline that results from the use of moral and ethical criteria as enjoyed controls of conduct is the only assurance of a genuinely happy life.

Dr. Metzler conducted a very interesting and helpful discussion on "The Anointing Service" at our meeting on Tuesday evening of this week. Dr. Metzler gave the scriptural background from both the Old and New Testaments regarding the anointing. From his own experience he related a number of instances to show the benefits of the anointing service. Many for whom the anointing was one of their recovery, got well when anointed. Some did not.

The underlying philosophy which we hold concerning anointing and healing may be stated as: (1) All healing comes from God; (2) Faith has an important place in healing; (3) God works through physicians; and, (4) God works in many ways some of which, are mysterious.

The anointing ceremony, although varying in different situations, is usually conducted as follows: First, a prayer for all concerned; second, reading of scripture passages concerning the purpose of anointing, often James 5:14-15. Third, conversation between the elder and person to be anointed to prepare both for the service; fourth, the application of the oil and the prayer for healing and forgiveness of sin.

The question period which followed revealed that there is much interest in learning more about this spiritual ceremony.

Eighteen were present at this meeting.

BYPD

We had both an educational and an enjoyable meeting of the B. Y. P. D. group, February 1. Marjorie Downman played our prelude and accompanied for the hymns. Rebecca Spear led us in two hymns, "For the Beauty of the Earth" and "I Love to Tell the Story." The selection, "I am the Bible," written in first person, was read by Lois Yoder. The educational part of the program was a Bible Quiz conducted by Dale Snyder and Junior Eberly. Junior Snyder the questions. These consisted of a mathematics mix-up, a completion of the Beatitudes, a name quiz using the last letter of the previous name for the first letter of the next name. Following these were questions pertaining to the foods of the Bible. Did you know that David liked Jerusalem into a garden of cucumbers? After that one, we calmed down to sing the beautiful hymn "I Need Thee Every Hour" and to repeat the B. Y. Benediction.

Choral Clubs

New Students and present students who are not a member of any of the music organizations on the campus are invited to make application at this time. Professor Don Frederick will be glad to interview any and all new applicants. There are at the present time a few openings in these various organizations.

Pi Mu

Dr. Orville S. Walters, a resident physician of McPherson, was the speaker of the Pi Mu Society at its last meeting on February 4, 1948. Dr. Walters, in his talk to the pre-medical students, outlined the life and study of a student as he goes through pre-medical training, medical school, and internship. The lecture given, by Doctor Walters proved to be very interesting, informative, and educational.

SCA

The SCA Cabinet enjoyed a deliciously prepared breakfast Friday, January 30, at the Church of the Brethren. The group congregated in the basement at seven a. m. and were seated at tables surrounded by colorful balloons. There were approximately thirty persons attending.

The SCA commission on World Problems discussed the possibility of changing its name so that it would be able to secure books through the Carnegie Endowment Fund. The name would be changed to International Relations Club, if the change is made. No definite decision was reached. The entire group worked further on setting up the campus model of the United Nations.

Veterans

The House of Representatives of the United States Congress overwhelmingly passed a bill last Tuesday that would up the subsistence of all veterans going to school or on the job training under the GI Bill. The schedule now calls for single vets to get $75 per month and married vets will get up to $120 per month. The extra allowance will go as high as $360 per month under the new schedule. This will be welcome news to many of the veterans on Mac College Campus.

CHAPEL THOUGHTS

Catharine Little

Monday

Chapel was opened by a prelude, played by Bonnie Alexander. One of the timeliest announcements made was that the ground hog did not see his shadow today. Attention was called to the tragic death of Mahatma Gandhi and Orville Wright. Esther Miller was commended on her splendid performance Sunday afternoon; also, Bonnie Alexander and Rowena Nebes received thanks for their very fine accompaniment and assistance.

The program planned by Miss Lehman had to be postponed due to brevity of time remaining after announcements.

Wednesday

Miss Howe played a prelude to open the service. After the singing of "Lord, Speak to Me," a few announcements were made. A Scripture was taken from Psalms, and prayer was offered by Dr. Peters. Paul Wagner favored us with a solo, "Behold What Manner of Love." Dr. Peters introduced the speaker, Mr. Elmer Baldwin, who spoke on the subject of missions. Mr. Baldwin reminded us of the challenge of evangelism and missions, and especially of foreign missions. We were dismissed with a benediction and postlude.

During these cold winter days, we don't get around much. But we have spies posted at various places on campus, so we won't miss out on any of the "Action."

Seems like these gals are taking advantage of Leap Year. They haven't been making any time notices. There have been numerous engagements since the new year. We'd advise all men to keep on their guard—for another eleven and a half months, ahoy!

Yes, a woman worries about the future until she gets a husband, while a man never worries about the future until he gets a wife. We hear Eloise B. just loves to sing at weddings. We really don't know if she will "send" them into the aisles at Mizzie's or Joan's "happy day."

Shirley A. has got the quitten' spell. First she quit Gordon and now she's quittin' school. Tah Tah. Whatsa matter, Andy?

The cold weather doesn't seem to bother Larry and Ike. Just ask them for their solution—it has a trial guarantee, too!

Someone suggested we adopt a custom the Brazilians have. It is customary in Brazil to package left over foods and place them on the windows sill at night for whoever may come along hungry, sparing him the embarrassment of begging for food. Why doesn't someone try it? Particularly on a night that the dining hall food isn't up to par. Bet you will have a flock around your window sill.

What is this we hear about "cut-kims"? It doesn't even sound like Colleen—but some people have to have some way of expressing their feelings, ya know.

We hope you kids who have a sweetheart waiting at home aren't like a friend of ours. She sent a telegram to her sweetheart and it read: "Couldn't wait for you, so have married your father. Love, Mother."

Here is some advice to the ice skaters, who delight in broozing along down in the draw: Remember, you can't judge a brook by its cover.

It didn't take Patti and Irving long to figure out those heredity problems for her Biology lab. They seemed to solve the problem quite simply.

Those Californians waste no time: Van and we don't mean Johnson and Dot Brown, we mean Pilekiss is still waiting patiently for his best breakfast.

And in closing, we'd like to give you our definition of a glamorous girl: One who has what it takes to take what you have. Bye now.

Student Opinion

Are you in favor of Compulsory Chapel Attendance? Is the question for this week.

"I don't like the idea of having anything compulsory, but I think everyone should go to Chapel. They are sure to get some good out of it, but they would get more good out of it if the decision to go were left in their own hands. It certainly will not hurt them to sit still for an hour a week."—Donna Bowman.

"Ten o'clock is Chapel time, and also coffee time. Everyday I have trouble deciding whether to go to Chapel or to coffee. Everyday I flip a coin, the same coin. It has two heads. . . . Tails I go to chapel.—Bob Huce.

"If there is to be compulsory Chapel attendance, let's make it uniform by having compulsory prep assembly, too. After all, the Pop Club works hard to get up skits like they had last Friday. The band goes to the same trouble in getting their instruments out, and then half a dozen people come to cheer. I don't mind compulsory Chapel. If I don't want to go, I don't go."—Clint Hill.

What is your opinion? Are you in favor of GCA?

The town had begun to grow quickly, and it soon acquired an atmosphere of sophistication, one thing Carey had hoped would never happen. Why, even the corner drug store had been remodeled and made into a bowling alley. Most of the places he used to go had been transformed into either a new store, or elaborate clubs or eating houses. The only place that hadn't changed was Lollie's place, and Carey felt quite sure that nothing short of an atom bomb could change it.

True, things had changed and Carey's entire life was affected. But had all of the transformations never taken place, or Mr. Foster would have still had the very same attitude towards life. They just tended to add to his perplexity. This main trouble was rehabilitation. He was under the terrific strain of readjusting himself to home life. It was very difficult.

"It's about the tenth time Lester Mitchell has phoned him this week waiting him to go some place," Mrs. Foster thought, as she opened a can of fruit for dinner. "I can't understand that boy. He used to go out all the time. Now, he goes around so depondent. I hope he isn't that heart-broken over that girl he broke up with. She was a cute thing and nice. Carey acts as if he wants to go, but he never does."

She threw the empty can in the waste, placed the opener in the sink, and put the bowl of fruit-cocktail in the center of the kitchen table. She was having only sandwiches today. It was Saturday, the cook's day off, and they usually ate hamburgers that day. She didn't even want to cook those today. She was going to bridge club at two and Alice Foster never could look like two-cents after looking at a frying pan. That was the main reason she wasn't cooking anything this Saturday.

The phone rang, and Carey answered it. After a pause he called Mrs. Foster.

"It's for you, Mom."

"Go pour the tea," Mrs. Foster commanded her son as she passed him in the parlor on her way to the phone.

Carey went into the kitchen and was pouring tea, when his father appeared at the back door. His arms were full of groceries, so he kicked the screen open and jumped hurriedly in.

"Too had I have to do all the shopping for this family. Especially on Saturday, the busiest day in Brandon. Supposedly my day off. . . ."

He began putting sacks on the kitchen cabinet, with Carey's help. "I could have gone and helped you, Pop."

"You'd only have been in the way," Mr. Foster muttered.

After the sacks were on the cabinet, Mr. Foster began emptying their contents.

"Might as well put the groceries away; she'll want that done, too."

He carried several items to the ice box.

"Where's your mother, Carey?"

"Talking on the phone."

"An all morning affair, I suppose."

"She just got on."

"Who is she gabbing with?"

"I dunno."

Carey helped his father place the canned goods on shelves in the pantry, then went for the last sack.

"Careful!" his father warned. (To be continued next week)

McPherson Sets Up Brilliant Defense To Stop League Leaders

Vaunted Charlie Fiffe Held To Seven Points, Fisher Scores Fourteen

The McPherson College Bulldogs threw an amazing defense against the conference-leading Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes here last Tuesday night and sent them booming to defeat 37-34.

Wesleyan, one of the best offensive teams among the small colleges of the nation, was simply stopped cold. Charlie Fiffe, who ranked 10th in the nation in scoring is still ranking, but not in scoring. Against the Bulldogs' Reinecker and Goering he picked up seven points, all of which came in the second half.

"Stop Fiffe" which some said was the battle cry of the Bulldogs did not stop there, but spread contagiously to the other Wesleyan hot shots: Short, Anderson, Bailey, Ritter, and Les Jilka.

McPherson, anywhere from a 26 to 30 point underdog, looked the part when Wesleyan opened scoring with a free throw by Johnny Short, star Wesleyan forward. Lyle Goering countered with a bucket for McPherson and from then on Wesleyan was behind. Hill, Wiebe and Fisher hit in the first period to run the score to 12 to 4 in the first 10 minutes.

Also in that first 10 minutes was the beginning of the end for Wesleyan. Johnny Short started it when Bud Fisher stole the ball from him. The crowd came to life and really went to work on Mr. Short. Short then threw the ball away on intercepted passes three times in a row. The crowd was on him then and rode him all the way.

The coyotes were still loping along behind at the half 19-10. Everyone was thinking something was wrong. This two points a minute team had only made one point for every two minutes up till then.

They got up to match the Bulldogs' 19 points in the next ten minutes, but by that time McPherson had 29. Charlie Fiffe, big Wesleyan center also woke up and got 4 points. Reinecker and Fisher kept the red and white ahead with two field goals apiece. Wesleyan was still 10 points behind, and the situation was looking better all the time, although there were some who couldn't believe it.

Somewhere they thought, Wesleyan is going to open up. But that time never came.

Coming into the last 10 minutes of the game, Ritter, Sullivan, and Fiffe scored to bring the teams to 31-26 still in McPherson's hands. Fiffe and Short were out of the game for rest and the Bulldogs were holding their own with the Wesleyan reserves.

Fisher, Odie and Hill scored in that last period to keep McPherson in the game. At the score 37-31, Pounds, sub-center for Wesleyan scored three points to bring it to 37-34 with two minutes left to play. The Bulldogs started playing keep away then.

Ritter stole the ball, drove the length of the floor, and missed a set-up. Pounds also missed a set-up with half a minute left and McPherson held the ball till the inevitable end.

According to a certain radio broadcast it was one of the roughest games in the Kansas Conference to date. Goering, Reinecker, and Jilka fouled out.

Short could never get started after that first bad outburst he had and the crowd started razzing him. Reinecker and Goering gave Fiffe all the trouble he could take and were the main reason for his low score.

And Oh! Yes! It was the greatest upset of the year in the Kansas Conference.

Jimmy Mullen In Golden Gloves

Fighting in the lightweight division of the Golden Gloves tournament in Hutchinson this past week, was Jimmy "Moon" Mullen, a McPherson College athlete.

He has been fighting for a number of years and has plenty of experience to back him in the tournament. By the time this paper is to press, the tournament will be over and you will have to see the local papers for results. In his first bout, Monday night, "Moon", who weighs 127, won by forfeit from Jack Patterson, 126 lbs., of Wichita.

Harold Burruss, local fight manager, fought in the Golden Gloves himself a number of years ago, and is now making it possible for some of the boys in this area to participate.

Also fighting for the McPherson team is Jack Teitenberg of Bethany College. He won his first fight by decision over Sam Schroeder of Hays, Kansas. They both weighed 165.

Intramural

Last Wednesday night IPT won their first league game by defeating Frantz B. of Ed. 22 to 19.

The game was close, the first half with Frantz leading 9 to 6 at halftime. The third quarter the IPT boys scored ten points while Frantz scored four. However the last quarter Frantz staged a rally but the time ran out on them and IPT was the winner.

The Wildcats continued their winning ways by defeating Petersville in a close game 41 to 38. The first half, the Wildcats took a big lead, but in the third quarter Petersville cut the lead 32 to 30. The last quarter was bitterly fought but the Wildcats emerged the victors.

A little pint-sized forward of Quinter, by the name of Ebbert, proved to be quite a problem for Dunkard Tech but they won the game rather handily 56 to 21. Although Quinter "showed" plenty of spark the taller Dunkard Tech team held edge all the way. Ramsey of Dunkard Tech was high with 19 points while Ebbert led Quinter with 15 points.

Deforch won a good game from IPT who has greatly improved since its opening game, 36 to 25. Prentice, Deforch center, proved a little too tall for IPT and was high scorer with 14 points.

Burkholder and Dadsman led IPT with seven points each. Frantz looked great in defeating Petersville, Monday 48 to 33. Petersville jumped to an early lead but Frantz came back to tie it up at halftime, 16 to 16. The last half, Petersville's defense seemed to crumble and Frantz capitalized on the situation and made numerous set-ups. Bowman

SPORTS

Frantz center, hit for 23 points, while Stull bucketed 13 points for Petersville.

Grindle's goal in the closing seconds of the third overtime period of a thriller gave the Wildcats a 47 to 45 victory over Dunkard Tech.

At the halftime the score stood at 18 to 18 with exception of six points immediately after the half by the Wildcats, there was never more than four points that separated the two teams.

The game was well played and Ramsey's goal with two minutes remaining put Tech in the lead 36 to 34. However, in the last thirty seconds Grindle sank a long shot to knot the count.

In the first overtime Duke, of the Wildcats, sank a goal and Grindle a free shot, but their lead was short lived as Ramsey scored and then Heckthorn, tying it up with a free throw at the end of the three minutes. In the second overtime Beam's two free throws knotted the count at 43 all with seconds remaining.

Ramsey's goal put Tech in the lead 45 to 42 with exception of two points battled until forty-five seconds remained and Grindle then sank the two goals to win the game.
