

Revision Of Constitution Calls For College Election

Tuesday, March 1, the Student Body of McPherson College will vote on a proposed amendment to the constitution of the student body. The amendment has to do with the membership of the Student Council.

Article III, Section 2 of the constitution states: "Membership of the Student Council. (a) The Student Council shall include: a President, elected by the Student Body from the Senior class of the following year;

A Treasurer, elected by the Student Body from the Junior class of the following year; the Treasurer of the previous year; one man and one woman representing the extra-curricular activities; the Dean of Women; and the Dean of Men."

The amendment proposes to strike out the phrases "The Dean of Women; and the Dean of Men" and replace them with the phrase, "and two faculty members, to be elected by the Student Body in general election."

According to council members the revision of the constitution has been suggested because it is felt that faculty opinion should not be limited only to the three deans of the college.

The Student Council urges all students to vote on this amendment.

MC Music Groups Make Recordings

If present plans proceed, it will not be long until the McPherson student body will be able to hear the music of the McPherson College A Cappella Choir and the McPherson College Melodians on records.

At the present time the Church of the Brethren has developed a radio committee that is working on a musical album that will represent three Brethren colleges. The colleges to be represented will be McPherson, Manchester, and Elizabethtown. Each college will contribute one master recording which in turn will be manufactured on a wide basis and put into album form.

The numbers the A Cappella will record will be "Low How A Rose Ere Blooming," by Pratorius, and "Now Thank We All Our God," arranged by Carl F. Muller. Both of these numbers were heard at the A Cappella Choir concert.

The college Melodians will record "When I Survey The Wondrous Cross," and "Rose of Sharon." The Melodians are composed of Robert Keim, Vernon Nicholson, Dale Eshelman, and Kenneth Graham.

Last Wednesday the A Cappella Choir left the college campus and journeyed to Salina, where they made the first master recording. The facilities of radio station KSAL were used.

College Museum Contains Many Specimens, Fossils Of Years Of Long Ago

Located on the top floor of Hearnly Hall is the McPherson College Museum. It has long been the resting place of many specimens of the years long past.

In the museum can be located many fossils of prehistoric animals that roamed the plains of Kansas many thousands of years ago. Some of these animals were large elephants and other large mammals. Even large skeletons of fish that once swam in the oceans that covered the now fertile plains of Kansas can be seen.

Exhibits from India, China, Africa, and many other places are displayed in the museum show cases. One of the outstanding features of the museum is the world's largest synthetic diamond, constructed by the late Dr. J. Willard Hershey.

A large display of meteorites that have fallen over this area was collected by Dr. H. H. Nininger, important meteorologist.

The present curator of the museum is Dr. R. E. Mohler, head of the biology department. Guest and students may view the museum by requesting permission from Dr. Mohler.

A free will offering taken during the evening amounted to $153.38. The money is destined for the coffers of the music department to help defray departmental expenses.

The audience called for a repetition of Wagon Wheels, a musical number arranged by D. R. Frederick last Tuesday evening at the a cappella choir concert which featured the McPherson College a cappella choir under the direction of Prof. D. R. Frederick.

Paul Wagoner, baritone soloist, sang three songs. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Stover. The meloettes—a quartet composed of Dale Eshelman, Kenneth Graham, Robert Keim, and Vernon Nicholson—also sang three numbers.

Students in these two areas fought, died, and universities were destroyed. It is these persons that WSSF attempts to help. According to official information 400,000 are now in need of food, medicine, clothes, and shelter. Officials state that student relief and rehabilitation are essential in order that leaders of tomorrow might be developed.

Friendship Garden Hobby Of Singer

Making friends by flowers is one of the hobbies of Miss Helen Jepson, who was in McPherson recently under the auspices of the Community Concert Series.

Miss Jepson told the story of her hobby to a Spectator staff member who interviewed her the morning after her concert here in McPherson.

While on a concert tour in South Carolina it was suggested to her that she collect seeds and bulbs from the various cities and states that she visited while on tour. As Miss Jepson puts it "I fell in love with the idea immediately."

She has received many fine flowers from all over the country. One that she is particularly proud of is a pink dogwood plant sent to her by some friends in the south. Miss Jepson said that her friendship garden would not be complete until she had received some of the seed for a giant sunflower.

Miss Jepson and her family live in a 220 year old Dutch house that she and her husband recently purchased. Without the help of an interior decorator she has completely redecorated the house and now she says the house is no longer Dutch except for the exterior.

The four acres on which the house is built also had two barns. One of these barns has been re-done and is now a recreation room complete with a "Coke" bar. This was constructed for her daughter Sally. The other barn is now in the process of being re-done and will eventually be a music studio for Miss Jepson.

Miss Jepson's daughter travels with her when her daughters vacation and Miss Jepson's tours coincide. Miss Jepson stated that she did not believe in taking her children out of school for indiscriminate reasons.

The advice Miss Jepson gave to aspiring professionals in the music field would be for them to study very hard and to participate in as many musical functions as possible. She stated that the ability to sight read is indispensable to the professional. She also stated that she felt that young professionals have many fine opportunities today.

After Miss Jepson leaves the concert field she plans to teach voice at her New Jersey home.

"Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house, Not a creature was stirring . . . No Spoons!—The Collegio.

They were driving along a dark street, and he took her in his arms to kiss her goodnight. "I've never done this before," he said as he shifted gears with his knees.

Joe Johnson of Olathe, Kansas, defines a banquet as a plate of cold, hairy chicken and artificial colored peas surrounded by dreary speeches and appeals for donations.

Reports of results from Mrs. Elmer Iben's lectures are appearing in several college newspapers. In the Bethany Messenger an article said, "Whereas the chefs used to stir up about one-third of a box of cereal about three times a week—and had left-overs, last Friday morning they cooked two boxes of cereal and had to open a third box."

"Will you marry me?" "Absolutely not."

And they lived happily ever after.—The Collegio.

Kansas State College had a four day vacation last weekend, since the student council ruled that Monday would be a student holiday and Tuesday, Washington's birthday, is an official College holiday.

At the first rehearsal meeting of the Bethany Oratorio Society on Sunday, February 6, Dr. Emory Lindquist made announcement of the soloists who have been secured for the 1949 renditions of Handel's "Messiah."

The soprano soloist this year will be Miss Florence Vickland; the alto is Miss Gertrude Berggren; the tenor is Mr. Ernest Lawrence; and Professor James Wood, a member of the Bethany College faculty is the bass soloist.

With water floating around the campus and the street, and mud up to the ankles in almost every unpaved spot, the town members of our flock are considering swimming to school. They were hoping to get some extra phys. ed. credit for the exercise, but it doesn't look very promising.

At any rate, the mud and slush seems to have hampered any exciting plans of the town kids, and news this week is scarce as the proverbial hen's tooth.

Some of the luckier ones did take advantage of a night's vacation from their studies and attended the Vaughn Monroe concert in Hutchinson last week. From all reports it was really fine, and a good time was had by all. For further details consult Doris Nelson or Betty Redinger.

The sad looks in many coed eyes may be a holdover from the "Lost Week End" when the team was gone for exactly 46 1/2 hours. Since there is such a shortage of interesting happenings this week, we thought it might be nice to point out the way so many of the titles of current movie hits fit people and situations on the MC campus. ### Two Games Before End Of Season

The McPherson Bulldogs will play two more games before they pack the moth balls back in their satin red and white uniforms. They will meet the Sterling Warriors and the Southwestern aggregation tonight and next Monday, Feb. 28, respectively. Both games will be played away from home, at Sterling and at Winfield.

The Bulldogs will be hoping to repeat their victory over the Warriors at Sterling, as they hold a previous 54-43 decision against the Sterlings in the McPherson court. The nucleus of the Sterling team remains to be Cleofas Muel, a speedy little forward, and Bud Kelley, the other forward, who plays a lot of ball.

Monday night will find Danny Kahler and assistants entertaining the Bulldogs at Winfield. Owning a previous easy victory over the Bulldogs, the Winfield team does not expect any trouble, and will only be playing to avoid an upset.

Playing their last games for McPherson college will be two senior players, Verlyn Fisher and Gerald Hutchison.

Bulldogs Trounce Swedeville Men

Playing ball before a near capacity audience in the local high school gym, the McPherson Bulldogs trimmed the Lindsborg Swedes to the tune of 48-43. The Bethany-Mac game was the final conference game of the season and also the third league win for the Bulldogs.

Don Peters was high point man for McPherson with 18 points to his credit and Anderson of Bethany was second with 16 to his credit.

In the closing minute of the game Glen Pyle was fouled by a Bethany player. Pyle discounted the possibility of being able to make the free throw and rushed to the dressing room. It took officials four minutes to get Pyle back on the floor for the free throw.

Three men went out on personal fouls. Bethany's Danielson and Hahn went out as did Bud Fisher of McPherson.

The game Wednesday night completed the home schedule for the basketball season.

WAA Girls Choose New Clubs, Heads

At a recent W. A. A. meeting, Pat Patterson was elected head of the bowling club for the coming quarter.

Since Joyce Harden and Jerry McConkey tied in the election of outing head, they were made co-heads.

Jeanie Baldwin, who is bowling head this quarter, is head for roller skating next quarter.

Verla Hummer was elected as the tennis club head. The new clubs will start meeting within the next two weeks, and continue for nine weeks.

"There are many stories," the econ professor began, "connected with money."

Before he continued, however, a feeble voice broke in from the end of the room:

"Yes . . . and most of them begin, 'Dear Dad. . .'"

Locker Chatter

Is basketball really a no personal contact game? That is the question coaches, players, and rule-makers of the game are asking. At present the rule book states that personal contact is only legal as any accidental or non-intentional result of scrambling for a loose ball.

The question then is raised, when is a ball loose, and further what about all the screening and blocking plays of which every coach has numerous different innovations. This rule makes them illegal, at least technically.

That is a problem for the rule-makers to consider, but let's consider what effect it has on this season's play.

One thing I have noted this season different from past season, the refereeing has varied from one set to the next. One pair comes along and we criticize them for being whistle-happy, but we criticize the next pair for letting the game get out of hand. Where then, the question remains, shall the referees and we as spectators place that fine line of legal personal contact and illegal personal contact?

Take for instance the last Bethel-McPherson game. Bethel had a group of fast dribblers who technically could have been called a number of times for traveling with the ball; however the referees completely ignored this. On the other hand, Bethel's play revolved around a post play whereby big Lanoy Loganbill would receive the ball in the center of the key.

hole, hold the ball high over his head, and pass to one of his cutting team mates. The Bulldogs were successful in tying Loganbill up a majority of times which proved a major factor in the outcome of the game, but it would be almost an impossibility to accomplish that without some kind of a foul; however luckily for the Bulldogs the referee just wasn't calling them.

I called the refereeing too soft" for letting the game get out of hand.

Really, this is not an indictment against the referees; but it is a plea to the rule-makers to give us rules in a plain, simple language which can be understood by all, even referees, and can have only one meaning. Otherwise, I can safely predict a rapid decline of the popularity of basketball or else it will become synonymous with the game in the fall that generally precedes it in college athletic curriculums.

That is a problem for the rule-makers to consider, but let's consider what effect it has on this season's play.
