The theme of the banquet was "gypsy." Miss Gina Munda told fortunes to many of the guests that were present. Also on the program was Vernon Nicholson, Florene Messick, Albert Guyer, Marilyn Miller, Gina Munda, Anna Jo Nordin, and Helen Stover.

The banquet wound up the fiscal season for the WAA girls.

Rothrock's Store Robbed Of $400

Rothrock's Grocery, well known grocery store on college hill, was robbed of approximately $400 on Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Rothrock, owners, stated that the robbery occurred while they were attending the evening services at the local Church of the Brethren.

This is the third robbery to be reported in the hill district in the last few weeks. Only recently the home of Miss Mildred Siebel was broken into and a small amount of cash was taken.

Mr. Rothrock stated that "he couldn't see why they couldn't have robbed a rich man instead of us." The culprit entered the house part of the business establishment through a southwest window and then proceeded to go through the entire house and grocery store.

The local police were notified immediately by the Rothrocks upon their return from the church services.

Quad Staff To Picnic On Coronado Heights

The Quadrangle staff and their guests will go to Coronado Heights May 17 for a picnic.

Mrs. Joyce Frantz and Marie Miller are on the food committee.

The picnic will start at 4 o'clock. Byron Frantz has charge of transportation.

The '49 Gold Rush Is Junior-Senior Banquet Theme

The annual formal banquet for the juniors and seniors was held Saturday evening at the church of the Brethren. The theme, "The '49 Gold Rush" was carried out in the decorations and in the program.

The menu included fruit cocktail, turkey, dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, spring salad, hot rolls, cake and coffee.

The meal was served by the women of the Church of the Brethren. Committees for the banquet were: program, Helen Stover and Van Dunbar; menu, Mary Jo Christy and Elvira Wolf; decorations, Joyce Frantz, Marie Miller, Barbara Burton and Jess Holloman. Sara Mae Williams was in charge of the invitations.

UNESCO Brings Chapel Speaker

Mrs. Adrienne M. Boissevain, who was born and educated in the Netherlands, will be the special assembly speaker on Friday, May 29. She is being brought to the campus under the auspices of the campus UNESCO. Assembly for today, May 16, had been canceled.

On Wednesday, May 18, Prof. Joe Shelly will speak and special music will be presented.

Mrs. Boissevain has been traveling to promote the idea of world unity. Having founded the organization of the National Skirt, made of remnants, patches and memories of times gone by, she united to represent the unity of the society.

Before the war Mrs. Boissevain established a Beauty Institute which soon became well known among prominent women of Amsterdam.

When the war broke, she and her family joined the underground. Her husband and two oldest sons were killed by the Germans.

She herself was imprisoned and taken from one concentration camp to another. She was liberated in 1945 and returned to her young son and two daughters.

Noble Cain Fest Draws Big Crowd

Eight hundred persons assembled at the local city auditorium last Friday evening for the choral presentation under the direction of Noble Cain, composer and director.

The program was presented by McPherson College; the college and community choirs combined into a mass group numbering over 175.

Compositions and arrangements of Noble Cain and other music writers were featured during the evening.

Supplementing the final number, "To God All Praise and Glory," by Noble Cain, was a brass ensemble. College members participating in the brass ensemble were Rowena Neher, Lowell Brandt, Eugene Crabb, John Lorenz, Donald Frederick, and Robert Anderson.

One hundred thirty-two dollars was received from the audience in an offering.

Two Iranians Accepted By Mac

McPherson College has accepted the application of two Iranian students from Teheran, Iran. Both students have been recommended by the Alborz Foundation for Iranian Students. The students are Mr. Mohammad Mehdi Zelli, pre-medical student, and Mr. Roushan Mohebban, pre-medical.

Both students are expected to be on the campus for the new school year which will begin in the fall.

Shown addressing the delegates is Ted Geisert, college senior, who represented the United States at the mock assembly.

Russia Leaves Mock U. N.

On May 4 at 3:30 p.m., a model U. N. meeting was held in the College Gym. The model meeting was sponsored by Professor Flory's International Relations class and the College S.C.A.

The problem of non-self governing nations was the main topic of discussion. Vi Alalima and Ginda Munda spoke for their countries, Samoa and Italy respectively, in their native language. These speeches were translated so that the listeners could understand what was being said.

Toward the latter part of the meeting the Russian delegation and her controlled satellites walked out after being insulted by the U. S. delegation.

Approximately one hundred spectators were present to watch the various proceedings and many expressed their opinions on the realistic element of the whole affair.

Teacher Load Studied By Four; Give Ruling

The college Curriculum Committee has made a recommendation to the administration concerning a normal teacher load. The recommendation was accepted and presented to the faculty at the last regular meeting.

The committee recommended that a normal teaching load should be regarded as from fourteen to sixteen semester credit hours. This could be reduced one hour for each three or four-hour laboratory course; it may be increased one hour for each course with two or more sections or less than five students.

Also a normal teaching load should include not less than one hundred fifty student hours, not more than four hundred fifty student hours, not less than forty-five students enrolled in three-hour classes, not more than one hundred fifty students enrolled in three-hour classes.

A normal teaching load will include forty to forty-five thirty-minute periods. Ensemble work should be regarded as classes meeting the same number of periods.

"Independent study courses, committee work, supervision of extracurricular activities, and administrative duties should be considered in determining a normal teaching load. No teacher should impair his efficiency by undertaking an excessive teaching load without previous approval of the administration and trustees with a definite prior understanding of the terms under which the excess teaching load shall be carried."

The curriculum committee is composed of Dean Luther B. Warren, Prof. Raymond Flory, Dr. Lowell Heisey, and Prof. M. A. Hess.

Barkarettes Picnic At Lakeside Park

The Barkarettie picnic is scheduled for today at 5:30 p.m. The site of the picnic is Lakeside Park.

The foods committee, which is composed of Joy Hornbaker, Lois Yoder, Barbara Carruth, Verla Hummer, and Mrs. Marilyn Voth, plan to have home made ice cream.

The Barkarettie members and their guests will attend a movie after the picnic.

It is estimated that Shakespeare wrote two plays a year.

Mac Strengthens Education Division

McPherson College is enlarging the Department of Education to make it possible to prepare a larger number of elementary teachers for which there is an increasing need and demand.

Mr. Ira N. H. Brammel is going to do graduate work this summer at Emporia State College in preparation for the additional classes to be provided in preparing elementary teachers. Mr. Brammel has had experience in teaching in the public schools and also in administrative jobs.

Prof. What are you late for today?

Frosh: Class, I guess.

"Goodbye And Good Luck" "Hello And Welcome"

Two of McPherson college's well-liked instructors have announced their resignation from the college faculty. Of course, the end of every college year brings the resignation or addition of some faculty members; but because the two that are leaving the staff this year are especially well liked we thought it would be fitting for a few words editorially.

Mrs. Marilynn Sandy Voth has earned the respect of all of her students, and her classes in women's physical education are especially a credit to her. Mrs. Voth has been associated with the college for many years. Not all of these years were years of being an instructor, for she spent four of these years as a student at the college.

Congratulations for a job well done, Mrs. Voth, and good luck in the future.

Another one of our "profs" is also leaving us. Mr. Eugene Crabb has terminated his contract with the college in order to accept a position with the State University of Florida.

Mr. Crabb came to the college two years ago and started a band and civic-orchestra that are a tribute to him and the college.

We all knew that sometime he would be leaving McPherson for a better position. We can only wish him good luck and a very successful future with his new position down in the sunny South.

We will miss these two, but we not only want to say "goodbye and good luck" to these, but we also want to say "hello and welcome" to the new additions to the teaching staff of the college.

We welcome you to McPherson and sincerely hope that your stay at the college will be enjoyable and profitable. McPherson College has much to offer you, and we are sure that you have much to give to the students of the college.

So its "goodbye and good luck" to one group of instructors and "hello and welcome" to another group. It will be a great year at Mac come next September.

You Better Watch Out

This is just a reminder to students that the end of the school year is drawing to a close and that all absences should be accounted for and made up if possible.

In the last session held by the faculty members it was reiterated that five percent was to be deducted from the daily grade for unexcused absences. If all of the members of the faculty follow this rule to a "T" it will undoubtedly put some of us in the hole with a .000 percentage.

Now don't everyone go getting excited because if your absences were all excused then you have nothing to worry about, that is if those excused absences were made up.

What constitutes an excused absence? Well that's a good question. It seems that even some of the faculty do not know what is fair and not fair along that line.

By way of the grapevine we hear that most of them agree that school sponsored functions should be excused. Other absences may be excused if arranged for in advance with your instructor and the dean of the college.

The people that need to worry and should worry are those who take off a day from classes because it is picnic weather out. To you who are in the habit of doing this we say "watch out."

The official ruling concerning absences is reprinted below. "A teacher may grant permission to a student to make up absences incurred by illness approved by a physician or the school nurse, or for absences incurred by trips of teams, or deputations representing the college or for other absences deemed valid and arranged for before the absence with approval of the Dean and the teacher."

Also "five percent is deducted from the daily grade for each unexcused absence."

Did You See The U.N.?

May 4 saw the second session of the McPherson model U. N. held on our campus. Many students spent many hours working on speeches, program, technical detail, and general routine to see that the model U. N. ran like a well-oiled machine. Perhaps these students got a great deal of personal satisfaction out of working on the model, but the attendance that showed up on Wednesday afternoon was very disappointing.

These model U. N.'s that are held on the campus should be well attended by the entire community because they help to point out the difficulties that the mother U. N. is meeting at every session. These models also help to show individuals just how the machinery of the U. N. works.

It is too late now to do anything about the attendance at this year's U. N. but each and every one of us should make it part of our duty to attend the one next year if one is again staged on the Mac Campus.

We are all interested in world peace. This is one small way we can further it because by attending a session we begin to realize what other people think and how they react to us Americans.

Life Of A Mac Washer Woman

Something which is unevident to many of us at Mac, yet which is a pet peeve to the girls in the dorms, is the washing facilities. It is no fun to carry a big basket of clothes over to Franz only to find that the lines are already full.

The Washing machine must be filled by carrying buckets of water. The steam from it and the wet clothes is worse than a Turkish bath.

Finally, when one is ready to hang clothes, she must either pile them on someone else's or take off the wet clothes hanging on the line. This arrangement results in lost wearing apparel, even sheets.

How about providing more line room indoors away from the steam of the washer? Even as simple an improvement as a hose to pipe water to the machine would help the girls.

Guest Editor Carnegie Second On How To Live

This week's guest editor is Mr. Eugene Crabb, who recently resigned his position as director of the college band and college-civic orchestra to accept a full time position with the state university of Florida.

Mr. Crabb has been with the college for two years and during that time has built up both the band and orchestra to organizations that are a credit to both himself and the college.

Mr. Crabb's editorial on successful living follows.

Everyone is interested in successful living. Everyone wants to succeed in life whatever his role may be. This success is dependent upon the individual's use of his endowed resources. The development of these resources is foremost in the individual's mind, and he bends his will to that end. Through hard work and concentration, he acquires skill and ability.

But, this alone will not guarantee success in living. The greatest of all abilities essential to successful living, no matter what the profession, is the individual's ability to live amicably with his fellow man.

The individual may have an outstanding ability in a profession, but fails as a result of the inability to understand the people with whom he comes in contact.

This factor prompted Carnegie to write his book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People." There is a fine message in this book; but if one has been active in the church and understands the teachings of the New Testament, he really need not buy the Carnegie book. The great principles of human relations are there throughout the New Testament; and when they are put into practice, their truth is self-evident.

Thus, the entire personality must be developed to achieve maximum success in living. The greatest of all abilities essential to successful living, no matter what the profession, is the individual's ability to live amicably with his fellow man.

Thus, the entire personality must be developed to achieve maximum success in living. The person will develop naturally if the individual has a positive attitude toward life, a positive and enthusiastic appreciation of the world in which he lives, a profound and sincere adoration for his Creator, and admiration for the miracle of life from the simplest plant to the complex human being.

With humility and reverence for the privilege of living, the proper state of mind is achieved and all decisions that the individual makes relative to living will be launched from a base of the most solid foundation. Success may then be his.

Mac Players Elect Play And Officers

The McPherson College Players met last Monday evening. The group voted to use profits from this school year to remodel the dressing rooms. The improvements began last year, but were never finished. Things like the painting of the walls, the buying of new window shades, and drapes are to be done.

Also, the recommendations for next fall's play production were presented to the group by members of the committee chosen to do research on the problem. The three plays presented were "Harriet," "Magnificent Yankee," and "Abraham Lincoln." The Club voted their 1st, 2nd, and 3rd choices in the same order.

The new officers for next year were chosen as follows: president, Letroy Doty; vice-president, Helen Stover; secretary, Esther Mohler. New officers will take over their respective responsibilities next fall.

Town Kids Find Greener Campuses

Ah, sweet spring is here to stay. If you don't believe it... notice the rain. Many of us have waited patiently through the long, hard winter for these gorgeous spring days... wish the rain would stop so we could enjoy them.

The town kids seem to have been filled with a new enthusiasm during this climatic transitional period between winter and summer. Things all over are buzzing with plans for picnics and parties, and studies are taking a back seat to May Day and the other festivities held each year in McPherson.

But soon everyone will settle down for one last exam grind before we finally get our pardon for the summer. Exams give me a headache; let's change the subject.

With this beautiful spring weather lots of the tribe have hit the open road and are finding date bait on other nearby campuses, Bethany, Bethel, and, of course, the ever popular Kansas Wesleyan to name a few. Jack White has his one and only stashed away clear down in Winfield on the Southwestern Campus, while Marx Jones prefers to travel to Salina for visits at Marymount Girls school.

Our candidate for the person with the best four-wheel personality on the campus is the old favorite... Earl Grindell. Have you noticed that gorgeous mechanical monsters he's been sporting this week? They say the car has quite a pick up too! ! !

In case you haven't realized it, we have real talent hidden on our fair campus. Clifford Shultz is an artist in poetry reciting, and his verses may someday gain world wide renown. Sometime corner him, and force (?) him to recite his verses... quite clever ! ! ! (This is a paid political announcement.)

Friday The 13th Is Rated To Bring Bad Luck For All

Interview

Cain Helps Stars; Lamour, Améche Receive Boosts

Directing large choral groups is only a part of the everyday routine for Noble Cain, who was on the Mac Campus last week. Although Mr. Cain has directed much larger groups of mixed voices, he pointed out that seldom has he had a more cooperative group of students.

Directing a college group or non-professional group of singers is more enjoyable, said Mr. Cain, because these people sing for the fun of singing whereas the professional sings to earn a living. Although non-professional groups are harder to get into performance shape because of the lack of technical training that they usually do not have, they are also usually more willing to follow the directions of the director, Mr. Cain said.

The life of a music conductor and choral arranger-composer is always a busy one, especially so when they travel over the country conducting lecture recitals similar to the one conducted here a week ago.

Doing most of his traveling by train, Mr. Cain pointed out that he had the opportunity to meet many people and to formulate certain ideas about the human race. However, because he had several concerts scheduled close together he has been driving his own automobile lately.

Mr. Cain was connected with NBC for seven years. During that time he helped to discover such screen notables as Don Améche, Ty Power and Dorothy Lamour.

Don Améche was a studio announcer and, because of the insistent urging of Mr. Cain, tried for screen test. Dorothy Lamour was also urged by Mr. Cain to try for a screen career. At the same time Mr. Cain was urging Miss Lamour to try for a test, she was a receptionist at the NBC building.

Other radio notables that are good friends of Mr. Cain are Fibber McGee and Molly, who were doing sustaining time when he first became acquainted with them; Lum and Abner, a team for whom NBC could not find a sponsor and who are now ranked among the NBC greats; and Amos and Andy.

None of the Cain children, who incidentally are all girls, have followed in their father's footsteps although all of them have had musical training. All of the girls are married and live in and around Los Angeles where Mr. Cain and his wife make their home now.

The next choral group that Mr. Cain will direct in this general area will be at Friends University of Wichita, Kansas. This summer he will spend some time at the University of Kansas music camp and then will journey to other festivals across the country.

Read all the advertisements in the Spectator every week.

Warning... Yes, Friday was the day when all should have been wary of black cats, open umbrellas, and the like. Friday was the dread day of all superstitious people, Friday the 13th.

Are you one of those superstitious ones who live in horror of this day? If so you would have been better off to have stayed in bed, because many many things might have happened to you Friday which will fill your life with dread. For instance, if a cute little black kitten crosses your path, you will be doomed, or so the story goes. Bad luck will come your way. Also, if you happen to stroll underneath a ladder, your fate will be unpleasant. (Of course, a can of paint may fall on your head, but that's only a preview of what is to come... just what could be worse than a can of paint on your head?????)

These fearful people also were observed in the cafeteria, carefully handling their salt shakers to certain none of the grains fell where they weren't supposed to; for this is also a bad luck sign. The salt has another purpose, however, and will bring you good luck if you toss some over your shoulder.

Another warning... if it rained Friday you shouldn't have opened your umbrella in the house for this is one of the worst omens of bad things to come... and handle those mirrors with care, for should they be broken, your luck will be bad for seven years, plus an additional sentence for breaking it on the 13th.

If you should happen to go through the whole day without a mishap, you should have guard ed against the fatal hour of midnight, when all the bad spirits were at large, waiting to snare you in their trap.

Yes, Friday the 13th is the day everyone sweeps it out, worrying their life away. It was Friday the 13th, and wasn't it fun?????

May Day Features Parade

Two floats from the college were entered in the city parade. One float depicted the many nations of the world winding a maypole. The other float depicted a displaced person being helped by American friends.

Also participating in the parade was the college band which marched and showed several counter marches. The band played Military Escort and E Pluribus Unum.

In the afternoon the McPherson diamond-men defeated the Central College Tigers to the tune of 14 to 4.

Seven Enroll For Short Course; All Rural Teachers

McPherson College initiated a short course in English Literature which began last Monday, May 9. Seven rural teachers have enrolled in the course and several drive as far as forty miles to attend the classes which are held throughout the day. The class will last for three weeks and is worth three hours of college credit.

Most of the students agreed that it was more interesting to have three different teachers for the course. Several also pointed out that it was very good to have the course in the cool spring weather.

Miss Betty Willems stated, "It's certainly a new experience to have three different teachers for one course. Personally I think it's very fine. I am happy for this opportunity and am enjoying the course."

Miss Peggy Sitts stated that, "I am glad for the opportunity to take this class in the spring when it is cool (?). I don't think we are going to be bored as much by having three teachers as we would if we had just one. However it may be a bit hard to prophecy what each instructor is going to do what when."

All of the new students agreed that it was a good way to get three hours of college credit.

Pictured is Mrs. Ruth Gagliardo who will be on the McPherson campus for the Reading Workshop which will convene June 6. Mrs. Gagliardo is a well-known children's author and will bring with her a 600 book exhibit of children's literature.

The Bethany A Cappella choir recently went on a short tour. There are forty-seven voices in the choir. They presented seven concerts and a broadcast over WDAP at Kansas City.—Bethany Messenger.

they heard the Chorus during one of the broadcasts.—Bethany Messenger.

A more embarrassed man cannot be found than the one who, after a vocal concert, rose to present his girl to another couple—and forgot her name.

For a few moments he blustered, vainly trying to remember her name. Finally, in desperation, he turned to his girl and asked:

"Honey, just what is your name?"

She told him, and then burst out laughing.

He looked quite relieved.—Daily Kansan.

Petefish Emerges Champ Of Ping Pong Tournament

In a ping pong tournament comprising all the boys of Fahnestock hall, Chuck Peteish emerged undefeated through six rounds of play and took the champion ship.

In the thrilling four out of seven finals played to a capacity crowd in the dormitory, Peteish started out handily by taking the first three games. However, the runner-up, John Ward, staged a brilliant comeback as his defensive tactics started to cash in on points to take the next three games. In the rubber and deciding game of the series Peteish took a thriller 21 to 19 and the championship.

The final match was featured by beautiful defensive playing on the part of Ward and some nice offensive slamming on the part of champion Peteish.

Warcham, Peteish, J. Ward, and Kinzie were the semi-finalists who advanced over the quarter-finalists McConkey, Waggoner, Brown and Garvey, respectively.

Partners and pairings for a doubles' tournament have been drawn and play in this tournament is beginning to progress.

Bulldog Thinlies Have Close Escape

Bulldog thinlies had a narrow escape when their college car was struck on the right rear wheel in the city of Emporia last Friday, May 6. The bulldog team was en route to the Emporia track meet when the accident occurred.

None of the five in the car was seriously hurt although some received bruises. The college car is a '47 Chevrolet and as yet the insurance company has not returned an estimate of the damages to the car.

The car was completely overturned. Occupants of the car included Coach "Frosty" Hardacre, Lyle Miller, Dale Carpenter, Charles Connell, and Bill Daggett.

Locker Chatter

The Ottawa Braves are easy favorites from all indications to take the Kansas Conference track meet at their home grounds, Friday, May 20, at Cook Field in Ottawa, on the strength of their past record.

The Braves already have in their permanent possession conference track challenge trophy since they have taken the conference championship for three consecutive years.

The Braves have two starting men on the track outfit in Doering on the dashes and Bennett on the weights. Both have been showing brilliantly this season.

If the Braves do take the track

C. of E. Defeats Mac Trackmen At Emporia Meet

College of Emporia defeated McPherson College 101 1/2 to 29 1/2 in a dualtrack meet May 6.

Two members of the small McPherson squad were unable to compete because of injuries they suffered in an automobile accident on an Emporia street when the car in which they were riding was hit by another car at an intersection and turned over several times.

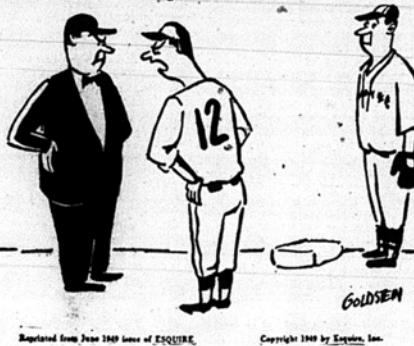

The two injured athletes were Lyle Miller, distance man, and Charles Connell, dash man. Miller suffered several cracked ribs, and Connell bruises and shock. The car was driven by "Frosty" Hardacre, the McPherson track coach. The car, owned by McPherson College, was badly damaged.

Dale Carpenter, who was a passenger in the wrecked car, was able to compete. He took first in the broad jump, second in the 100 and 220 dashes, and third in the pole vault netting him 12 points. Augsburger was second high point man for McPherson with 9 points. He took second in the one-half mile, mile and two mile. Zunkel won the two mile and earned five points. Ottman took third in the high and low hurdles both and tied for third in the high jump, earning 2 1/2 points. Miller took third in the two mile and earned one point.

Don Ek, of C. of E. was high point man of the meet with 13 points to his credit.

Arrangements for the conference track meet have been completed and the list of McPherson participants has been listed as Dale Carpenter, David Metzler, Robert Augsburger, Al Zunkel, and Dean Schmidt.

Spring Banquets Add To Bustle

Spring is really here for sure, and everyone seems to be just about twice as busy as before, if that is possible.

Anyway, most people find it harder to concentrate on studies with these lovely days and evenings we have been having.

The theme "Lilacs in the Rain" turned out to be a very appropriate title for the Spectator banquet Saturday night. However, there was a bit more rain than lilacs. Some of the twosomes seen at said banquet were Joyce Harden and John Lohrenz, Claudia Jo Stump and Jake Sheaffer, Van Dunshoo and some cute little blonde gal from the local high school. Guess who Miss Vancel's date was?—boy, were we ever surprised! Some dish, wanna know huh? Well, none other than handsome Mrs. Noyes. Quite a striking couple!

Have you noticed all the gals with tresses of black? Don't be alarmed, it is only carbon black and will wash right out (after about half a dozen soaps and hard rubbing). Those certain gypsies looked like the real genuine thing. That was Tuesday night at the gypsy camp. Oh, I mean the annual W. A. A. banquet at the Warren Hotel. Everyone was seated around the fire all evening while Marianne Stillette foretold the things to come by consulting her crystal ball.
