

'It's Been A Great Year', Pranks, Activities Keep Life From Being Dull

Well, we are just about at the end of another school year. Since this is the final edition of the 1948-49 Spectator, thoughts begin to go back over the entire school year. It has been a great year at McPherson College, with all the dorm raids, firecrackers, pranks, athletic events, and the many other items of interest that keep Mac College from becoming too dull.

Amazing how fast time travels, isn't it? Just think, it wasn't too long ago when the college year opened with seven new teachers. That was the fall of the year and Esther Mohler, freshman, made 137 out of 150 on the freshman English test. Also Gina Munda was expected from Italy. The downtown community concert association announced that this year Mac would have four artists in the series.

Enrollment dropped from 417 to 361 and the business administration of the college must have surely thought that the college at least was in the throes of a business recession.

Sherry Directs Play

Miss Esther Sherry, now Mrs. Marion Porter, came back from Colorado with a "Hasty Heart" to direct (the play that is) and a rock on the proverbial finger. The play went fine, so did the rock.

The new cafeteria was photographed with all the big wheels standing in line waiting to pay their checks. It was overheard that one professor, and he's not absent minded, stated that he didn't have to eat in the cafeteria because he had a good cook at home.

Alexander Queen

Bonnie Alexander began her reign as queen with a court that did her justice. Bonnie reigned over a banquet, the football game, and the homecoming parade.

McPherson's music professor, Don Frederick, went wild and wrote a winning verse for the state song "Home On The Range."

In a poll taken by the Spectator the students showed that they approved of installing a juke box or as the administration called it, "an automatic music vending machine."

About this time the so-called men on the campus began running for their lives because the Student Christian Association had proclaimed Sadie Hawkins Day on the Mac Campus. It was during this time that it was legal for the boys to shower the girls if they tried too hard to catch a man.

Five of the college's students made the national Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. They represented the brain and brawn of the Mac Campus. Those selected were Ted Geisert, Bonnie Alexander, John Firestone, Buck Reinecker, and John Burkholder. Ted Geisert since then has been admitted to Harvard University of Law with a scholarship, and John Burkholder has been admitted to the University of Chicago with a scholarship.

Nothing too outstanding as far as couples are concerned happened on the campus except that twenty-three became engaged throughout the year, and three new heirs were announced in the Spec. It seems that Mary Helen Cline and Lester Messamer started the ball rolling for engagements because they were the first to announce their engagement. They were quickly followed by Anita Jo North and Willard Hopkins.

Leap year ended without a bang, and the hopes of some of the fellows were smashed.

"Soc-Hop" was the party given by the Spectator for the entire college and was followed by the Barkerettes' party western style and another Spec party entitled "Cupid's Capers."

KNEX was founded in the community, and the college began to make plans for a college broadcast.

College students took a sudden interest in grapefruit, oranges, and other health foods after Mrs. Elmer Ibsen told students in assembly that they were literally falling apart from lack of the right foods.

"Presy" lit-signs

After serving Mac seven years, President Peters announced his resignation to the student body and the class. Shortly before this announcement some 200 seats from the chapel were "swiped" but returned later.

Elections were getting hot, and someone slipped in his own idea of the March 15th election by heading the ears of the Spec with the lines "Beware the Ideas of March."

Blood For Red Cross

The American Red Cross opened a drive for blood from the college and a special day was set aside. Sixty-seven pints were given by faculty members and students. The Booster Banquet went off with a bang, and most people said that it was the best ever given.

So all in all it's been a grand year at "ye olde college," and most everyone is looking forward to next year with its new teachers, new students and everything else that must happen when a group like the students of McPherson College come together.

VOL. XXXII McPHERSON COLLEGE, McPHERSON, KANSAS, FRIDAY, MAY 20, 1949 NO. 30

'And The Raids Came'

I
'Twas the second night after the first raid occurred
That the boys entered Arnold in one big herd.
If they came, through windows and doors,
Two by two, and four by fours.

II
Some came on second,
Some came on third,
From shouts of the inmates were those boys heard.
A few of the girls became quite excited,
But most of the girls were extreme.

III
The switch was thrown, to make more confusion,
By one of the boys who made the noisy intrusion.
Beds were tipped, rooms were stacked,
There was nothing that this raid lacked.

IV
After the excitement the boys went home,
And this is the end of my little poem.

Student Council Urges College To Improve Mac Campus

For the last several weeks the Student Council has been working on a plan to beautify the campus. We feel that something can be done if everyone gets behind it. Since this is a Student Council project we feel that all of the student body should know of the proposed plans. We feel that not only we but the faculty and trustees are in sympathy with this plan.

- Here, approximately, is the proposed plan:
1. Renovate the lawn area of campus proper. This would include filling in with top soil where needed, preparing beds and seeding.
 2. Prepare a preliminary plan for landscaping the campus. These plans would provide for more parking area which is very badly needed. This would also show where future trees, shrubs, and perhaps some flower beds should be located.
 3. It would be necessary to have an adequate system for watering the lawns of the campus.
 4. Maintenance would have to be provided. It has been suggested that we secure a D. P. for this. We could probably get a D. P. who would be just the man for such a job.

It is felt that if McPherson College had a more attractive campus we could draw more students. It would also make the students prouder of their college.

Council Cancels Tryouts Of '49 Mac Cheerleaders

Because of the lack of interest on the part of students, the Cheerleader election has been called off until next fall according to Jeanne Baldwin, secretary of the student council.

Only two applications were received by the council those being from Mary Ann Bishop and Eula Broyles.

The council voted to hold these two applications until next fall and then call for additional applications from the new freshmen and other classmates. The new president of the council will arrange for the election next fall.

The constitution states that the election must be held on or before May 15 and that two boys and two girls should fill the position.

And It Wasn't Stag Week Here

Administrative officials are all in a dither about the dorm raids which occurred a week ago. McPherson College isn't the only college that is obliged to worry about such instances.

The University of Kansas is in the process of recovering from similar student action, except on a much larger scale. The Daily Kansan reported that as a part of the aftermath of the "Stag Week" rebellion that 13 students were sent to the hospital for treatment. The Daily also reported that the crowd participating in the violence was between 200 and 500.

The raids were a result of retaliation by women students of the university when a "Stag Week" was declared on campus. Each male student was supposed to steer clear of the weaker sex during the short week which ran from Wednesday to Friday. The women retaliated by making themselves at home in the frat houses. Then the "fun" began. Every one of the sorority houses were raided and water was splashed in most of the houses. Most of the damage done resulted from the throwing of water although a few windows were broken. When the police tried to break up the mob, they too were "soused" with water.

Now where does this all lead? Mostly it brings unfavorable publicity to the campuses of the colleges involved.

The administration and students have one thing to be thankful for here. We can be glad that the raids staged here were not of the K. U. type.

One K. U. professor of sociology stated that the need for energy release caused most of the students to take part in the mob. That undoubtedly can hold true on the Mac Campus.

Some students have pointed out that raiding the girls dorm is a tradition but even tradition does not warrant the continuation of these raids. We want to criticize both the students and the Administration Committee for their action in the past week.

Sure the students put one over on the committee when the girls raided "Fanny." Perhaps they felt as if it was fair. But was it? The old line about being mature citizens of the campus was talked up when the raids began. Students were asked questions like "How old are you?" and "Do you consider yourself a child?" Undoubtedly there were other questions asked but these we think certainly seem irrelevant to solving the problems of raiding dorms.

Students laughed at the committee investigating the fracas. They knew that in the past the committee had only questioned and had very seldom acted or formulated a policy. It is for this that we criticize the committee.

We contend, as do students on the campus, that anything that is important enough to be brought before the Administration Committee is important enough to be solved and a satisfactory conclusion rendered. It is up to the committee themselves to gain the desired respect of the Mac College Students.

Situations similar to the raids are always regrettable, and we sincerely hope that in the future activities can be substituted for the raids! It is up to both the student body and the faculty of the college to solve this problem.

Thanks A Million, Staff

The end of each semester always brings the usual "thank you's" to the staff of the paper. The end of this present school year brings to a successful close a good year for the college paper and a fine year for the college itself.

This is primarily going to be an "I" editorial, which according to the accepted standards in editorial writing is not good. It's been fun working on the paper each week although there have been weeks when I felt as if it would take a "prod" from someone to keep me going.

I usually received this "prod" from the entire staff. It is really gratifying to find people who are dependable because dependability is one of the cherished traits to have when you are trying to put out a weekly like the "Spec."

I particularly want to thank Betty Redinger for standing by until the last work for each day was completed. Also I want to thank LeRoy Doty for working with me this past season. To him I now hand over the reins of the Spectator and sincerely hope that he will be able to improve where I have fallen down.

I also extend heartfelt thanks to my business manager, Mr. Wendell Burkholder, for keeping the Spec supplied with cash, which incidentally made possible the large number of cuts that appeared in this year's paper.

To my sports editor I also say "thank you." John Lohrenz has done a good job, a job that is thankless and very big for one person to handle.

Now to the people who are really the backbone of the paper, my reporters. I want to say "thanks a million." It's because of people like Lorene Clark, Lorene Marshall, Carmina San Romani, Annette Shropshire, and Don Ford that the paper continues to come out week after week. The reporters have worked unusually hard—scouring the

We Invite You Back

With the final edition of the paper we want to take this opportunity to urge all of the present students to return to the Mac Campus next fall. We realize that there will be instances where students will find it impossible to return because of financial plans or other study plans.

The college is continuing to strengthen the various departments represented on the campus. The Home Economics department will be increased next year as will the Education department, and the English department. The officials of the college are making the necessary adjustments to help each student to secure the desired courses of study here on the Mac Campus.

Next year our athletes will have more experience and will undoubtedly turn in better records than this past year. In this field the college has put up a program that will lure more athletes to our campus. A portion of this program was the giant athletic banquet held in April with Ray Evans, All American 1947, as guest speaker.

It's true that other campuses seem to have more of a lure than does Mac, but this is always true. When we are in school elsewhere we will look back at Mac College and see the many things that we here have but that we as individuals were unaware of.

Next year promises to be a bigger year than ever for the college. Let us urge you all to come back and be a part of that great year.

campus for news, and it is to them that I owe the most.

Another thankless job on the Spec and a job that turns out to be drudgery is the column writer. To Leona Flory, society editor, and Miriam Keim, it's also thank you.

Thanks also goes to Sarah May Vancil, sponsor and advisor, who helped us with our grammar, proof reading, and the latest journalism hints.

Last, but by far not least, is John Firestone, first semester editor. John formulated the policy of the Spec as far as make up and the technical ends of the paper go. He helped me to further formulate my ideas about the kind of paper I wanted to publish. To John goes the credit of molding together the staff of this year's paper. Although John and I have differed concerning the paper and politics, it is with deep gratitude to him that I extend sincere thanks.

To all of you, the reading public, I also extend my thanks. Thanks for sticking by throughout the year.

Yes, it has been a great year for the paper, and it should be an even greater year in 1949-50.

—Max McAuley

Dear Editor

It seems to me that there has been a grave injustice done concerning the issuing of athletic awards at Mac College. An example of this follows: During basketball season, one of the players was awarded a basketball letter under these conditions: he came to practice very seldom and over a two-week period he came only once, and I believe that if the records are checked it will show that he failed to have the required amount of halves to be eligible for a letter.

The other side of the story is this: One of our baseball players who cooperated wholeheartedly with the coach and other players, never missed a practice without a good excuse, coached first base throughout the entire season, drove his car to games, hit fly balls to the outfield during practice, and more than any other player contributed to the morale and the good spirit of the team was recommended by Coach Wareham for a letter but he was turned down by the Athletic Com-

Guest Editor Final Guest Editor Is College 'Prexy'

The last guest editor for the school year 1948-49 is President W. W. Peters. President Peters has been associated with the college for the past seven years.

Early in the spring President Peters announced that he was not a candidate for reelection to the position of presidency of the college. His resignation is effective in July, 1949.

President Peters came to McPherson from Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana. At the Indiana college President Peters was in the Education department.

President Peters' editorial is presented below. It is an honored pleasure to be asked by the editor to be the guest editor for the last number of the Spectator for the academic year 1948-1949. McPherson College is completing another good year in her successful history and is looking forward to greeting the students and faculty at the opening of her sixty-second year next September 5.

It is hoped that all of the present freshmen, sophomores, and juniors have re-enrolled or will re-enroll.

I have always felt that letters are given too freely at Mac College. If awards are handed out to athletes who have not met the requirements, then the award ceases to be an honor for those who have worked and met the requirements.

Neither of the above mentioned persons is eligible for letters, according to the standards set up by the new Athletic Committee, yet one person received a letter and the other, more deserving, athlete did not receive an award. I feel that the Athletic Committee has been unjust and that it has failed in this particular phase of its work, the situation now is no better than it was before.

Sincerely,
Vernon D. Blickenstaff.

and the college pledges every effort to make their continuance possible and profitable. The faculty and curriculum are being strengthened. The faculty and trustees are grateful to have the honor of graduating the eighty members of the senior class and extend to them best wishes and continued interest and service. In her sixty-one years of life and growth McPherson College has attempted to provide learning experience in a Christian atmosphere for thousands of young men and women and now has 2510 alumni of whom 2260 are living. No college can be better than its faculty, its program, and its administration and the future of the Christian college depends upon keeping it increasingly Christian and academically and financially strong. Students constitute the greatest asset of a college. Never was the Christian college more needed in human society than now and in the years ahead. This does not mean Christian in the narrow sectarian sense, but in a Christian fellowship sense. I conclude with a paragraph found in the catalog on page fourteen: "As an outcome of liberal education the college aims to develop in its graduates (1) a measure of scholarly attainments, (2) some mastery of the techniques and tools of further learning, (3) the ability to think clearly, logically, and critically, (4) more profound insight (5) finer moral discernment and aesthetic sensitivity, and (6) a loyalty to truth in any realm of life."

College Students Join BVS Unit

Joan Lehman, Jake Schaeffer, and Dean Neher will join the Brethren Volunteer Service workers at New Windsor, Maryland, June 20. They will remain there with a group of thirty young people for four to six weeks' training. After training, the group will be broken up into individual units to continue service. Jake Schaeffer hopes to go to Europe or to Puerto Rico. Dean Neher is interested in recreational work and would like to go overseas if possible. All three applicants are classified as sophomores. They will be in service for a year's term.

Veteran Teacher Returns To Mac

One of McPherson's veteran teachers has just returned to the city and campus after having spent approximately eight months on the West Coast. Miss Jessie Brown has been vacationing in Tujunga, California since last September. After having been granted a leave of absence from the college for one year, Miss Brown reports that she will be coming back to Mac as head of the Piano Department and will also teach half time. Miss Brown was highly impressed with the desert and its flowers and also the Joshua tree forest. While in the west she took trips to Mexico and to various other scenic spots.

Graduate Record Tests Show Wide Range

The range in scores for the college seniors that took the test were from the 97th percentile to the 1st percentile. The mean was 43 1/3 percentile and the mode was 43 percentile. The median was 41 percentile.

History Course Features Field Trip To Mexico

Two new courses are being added to the History department of the college. One course will commence August 1 and is entitled Summer Field Session in Mexican History. According to official sources this course is designed as a reading and a laboratory course in two general fields of Mexican history as follows: (a) ancient Mayan and Aztec culture and remains, and (b) contemporary Mexican government and social patterns.

Approximately one week of the course will be spent on the campus in a period of concentrated reading and class discussion. The remainder: two weeks will be spent in travel and residence in Mexico, with emphasis on the Mexico City area. A final examination will be given after the return to the campus.

The course is worth three hours of history credit. The enrollment is limited. Fees for the course will be the regular college tuition plus the expenses incurred by the individual students.

Another course that will be taught the second semester of next year will be a Seminar in History. According to Prof. Raymond Flory, history professor, the course is designed to meet the needs of the history majors. The purpose of the course will be to integrate the various fields of history with a view toward developing a comprehensive concept of the subject. Some attention will be paid to writers in the field and the various schools of historical thought.

This course is worth two college hours of credit, and the time will be arranged for the class meetings.

Ten Couples Take Vows This Summer

Summer plans of many McPherson Campus students include wedding plans, and many will return next fall as Mr. and Mrs. METZLER-WAGONER.

Miss Mary Metzler will become the bride of Mr. Paul Wagoner on May 27 at a formal wedding in the Church of the Brethren. Her father, Dr. Burton Metzler, will perform the ceremony. Three hits and a couple of stolen bases in the fifth inning and two hits and a hit batter in the sixth inning combined to give the Presbies their five runs.

Locker Chatter

Recently an editorial was published in the Spectator charging Sterling College with a general attitude of bad sportsmanship and stating that due to this they should not receive any Kansas Conference offer to join them in their round robin play. The seven-team setup of the Kansas Conference at present could very easily use another strong member to complete a normal eight-team league; therefore a bid from a qualified school that can offer some competition to the member schools would be very seriously considered.

It is not the policy of this department at this late time to start a fight or continue one already started. True, Sterling has been and probably is being charged with many examples of bad sportsmanship that they have not committed. True, they probably are trying to do something about it in that they already have suspended one of their own athletic participants voluntarily because of his continued bad sportsmanship.

But nevertheless, the athletic attitudes of Sterling have become a passport not only in schools of the Kansas Conference, but in many regions which have no interest in a Sterling vs. Kansas Conference fight.

We are not charging the Sterlings with anything, but this department is trying to be realistic in saying that the Warriors have sometime or other built up a reputation which leads other schools to expect rough play at the hands of the Warriors.

We heartily compliment the Sterling Activities Department for suspending the one player who exercised bad sportsmanship, but also believe that it will take a few more such measures before they can again regain a clean bill of health among schools who are interested in their participation.

"Yes, this is a nice little apartment, but I don't see any bath."
"Oh, pardon me, I thought you were one of those college boys who wanted a place just for the winter."—Collegio.

A short visit with his parents and the inauguration of T. F. Darden, navy captain, were the reasons given for the visit.

Mr. Darden will be installed as governor of the islands and also commander of the navy yards.

Mr. Alailima hopes to be back in the United States by August 1.

Group Attempts To Bring D. P.'s; Will Cost $1500

Students of McPherson College who attended the Salina or Tonganoxie, Kansas, Peace Institutes in 1947 and 1948 have undertaken the project of securing community sponsorship to bring two student D. P.'s (Displaced Persons) to Macampus next year. The project has been endorsed by the Administration Committee of the college.

Securing assurances for Displaced Person student to come to American college campuses is a special project being sponsored currently by the World Student Service Fund, in which the college SCA actively participates.

A float designed to create interest in Displaced Persons, conducted for the group by a committee headed by LaVerne Burger, was entered in the All-Schools Day parade in the college display. The float depicted a Displaced Person suitcase laden and ready to come to a land of opportunity, bound hand and foot with chains. An American student was striving, however, to remove those chains. The float was not elaborate, but impressed the judges sufficiently that it was awarded the first prize in its division.

According to Betty Wolfkill, the fifty dollars prize money is a substantial start in the fifteen hundred dollars the project will require. The committee hopes that at the beginning of the fall term enough McPherson College students will want to pledge monthly amounts of twenty-five to fifty cents to raise approximately $500 of this amount during the school term.
