Frantz Resigns Spec Position Campus Editorship Now Open

The chairman of the Board of Publications, Bonnie Martin, has announced that the resignation of Betty Frantz from the position of Campus Editor of the Spectorator has been accepted and that this same position is now open. Betty gave as her reason for resigning that of not having enough time with her other outside activities.

Ali In Washington, To Pay Respects To The King Of Iran

All Mohit, Iranian student at MacCollege, left Monday for Washington, D. C., to pay his respects to the king of Iran who is now visiting the United States.

The wealthy Shah has received much publicity in newspapers of the United States because of the rumor that he may be seeking an American wife.

President Truman's private plane was used to bring the Shah to the United States.

Skating in the Rocky Mountains is one sport in which the athletic king hopes to participate during his visit to the States.

UNESCO Wants Swan Soap Papers

"I swan! You swan! We will all swan for needy ones!"

According to Miss Mary Lockwood, vice-president of the colleges UNESCO Lever Brothers Inc. will send one cake of swan soap to Europe for every two swan soap wrappers turned in before Dec. 30.

"Let's help our brothers overseas."

So they don't have to wear dirty dungarees!" UNESCO urges interested persons to turn in swan soap wrappers to Winston Goering, president; Miss Lockwood, vice-president; or Loren Ziegler; Doris Correll; Wayne Blickenstaff; or Eugene Neff of the committee.

Drive-In Classes Would Solve Thing

Portales, New Mexico (ACP)—A sudden rainstorm at Eastern New Mexico University gave one student an inspiration for a new kind of classes—why not drive-in classes. Students simply drive up and listen to the professor lecture or an address system. And when it comes to answering questions—one honk . . . don't know the answer. Two honks . . . I know, but don't care to answer. Three honks . . . I'll be right up to answer.

Jewish Feast Is Basis For American Thanksgiving

That the birth of the American Thanksgiving Day came about on Plymouth Rock with the Pilgrims as parents has been the general belief of the American people. However, William Rosenau in his pamphlet, "The Jewish Holiday," states that "The Feast of Booths is, in spirit, the basis for the American Thanksgiving Day."

On the 15th day of Tishri (first month of the Jewish year which comes in September or October) and continuing for eight days, Sukkoth—Feast of Booths—is celebrated with thankfulness the harvest from the grainfield, oliveyard, and vineyard. The booths were made of boughs of trees which suggested the vintage life. Today, the synagogue is decorated with fruits and flowers native of the Jewish land, and four varieties of the products of Palestine are given prominent places in the devotion. They are: the palm-branch, the myrtle, the willow, bound together in one object, and the citron.

On the synagogue property and sometimes at the altar, a booth of beautiful design is erected as symbolic of the feast. According to biblical injunction the booth is supposed to be built on the premises of every home.

The booths in conditions and modern building laws have rendered the construction of private booths unlawful in many communities.

Students To Attend BSCM Conference In Ashland, Ohio

"God's Dreams for Christian Students" is the theme of the annual Brethren Student Christian Movement Conference, November 24-27, at Ashland, Ohio.

Outstanding leaders of the Church of the Brethren will be represented on the conference program. D. W. Bittlinger, T. Wayne Riegan, E. K. Ziegler, Gladys Muir, Don Suider, Alvin Brightbill, and C. E. Davis will be among this group.

Main topics of discussion will be on the campus-extra-curricular, curriculum, personal religious living, everyday living; and beyond the campus—vocational guidance, family living, world citizenship, and community responsibilities.

Delegates from McPherson will be Marilou Boyman, Delma Cline, Betty Ann Murray, Lorene Clark, Irwin Porter, John Firststone, Gerald Neher, and David Brannan. Miss Anne Krehbiel will accompany the group.

The group will start back to McPherson late Sunday afternoon.

Bookstore Boasts Holiday Display

Have you seen the counter display in the Business Office? It portrays a rabbit, squirrel, and pheasant against a colorful array of autumn leaves. The purpose of this display is advertising of the A Cappella records which have been placed in a horn of plenty among the leaves. This is a unique display in keeping with the Thanksgiving Holiday.

It is the only one of its kind on the campus.

'Hay Fever' Stars Noyes As Mother

"Hay Fever," a Noel Coward comedy, was presented by the American Legion Auxiliary in the Community Building last Monday and Tuesday nights. Home-town talent was used for the play.

McPherson College was well represented in the cast. Mrs. Frances Noyes, journalism teacher at the college, played the part of the mother, Judith Bliss; Marilyn Walters, a freshman at the college, was her son, Simon; and Harry Knapp, a student here last year, was one of the visitors. Tom Rea, who played the part of David, the father, is also a former Mac Student; he graduated last year from Kansas University.

Mr. Delbert Crabbe, band instructor at McPherson College, was in charge of music arrangements. The college band played before the curtain opened.

The play was a satirical comedy in the typical Coward fashion. It deals with a very unconventional family made up of an actress mother, an author father, and their two rather unusual children.

During the course of the play each invites a week-end guest, unknown to the rest of the family. A mix-up resulted which ended in the guests leaving while the family sat in a group listening to the conclusion of the father's latest novel.

An interesting sidelight on the play is that there is absolutely no reason for the title, "Hay Fever." No one has hay fever or even mentions it.

Flunk Insurance Is Advanced By Frat

San Francisco, California (ACP)—An answer to student worries is being advanced by Alpha Phi Gamma, Journalistic fraternity, San Francisco State College, as they sponsor flunk insurance. All Students on the campus are eligible even the "Brainiacs." The flunk is a student's scholarship, the higher risk and premium. For example, an average student pays fifty cents for coverage on a particular course. If he flunks, he gets a dollar instead of a mere dressing down by the dean. Under the plan, dividends—if and when they come in—will go for a high school journalism scholarship.

Council To Hold Open Meeting

The secretary of the Student Council, Lois Yoder, has announced that there will be a Student Council meeting Wednesday, November 30, in the Chapel at 8:30 p. m.

The student body is especially invited and urged to come. The public meeting will concern the Student Court that has been proposed. A committee will have a plan drawn up and it is desired by the Student Council that this plan be discussed by the student body.

Mac UNESCO Considers State Membership Costs

Recent developments of the college commission of UNESCO point towards membership for the college in either the county or state organization of UNESCO.

A committee has been set up to study the costs and advantages of each organization before applying for membership.

If the college UNESCO pays its dues promptly after becoming a member, it will be eligible to send official delegates to state meetings.

Methods of entire student body participation in UNESCO have been discussed.

The next state meeting will be at Wichita, December 1-3. Anyone who is interested may attend the conference.

Mohler Publishes Study, 'Whitetailed Jackrabbit'

Dr. Robert Mohler of McPherson College and Richard H. Schmidt, taxidermist from Marion County, have written an article on "The Whitetailed Jackrabbit" which was recently published in the October issue of the pamphlet, "Transactions of Kansas Academy of Science."

Youth Argosy Offers Low Cost Flights To Europe

According to the New York Times and other literature received from Youth Argosy Inc. a movement of almost 7,000 persons across the Atlantic, most of it by air at a round-trip fare for Americans that amounts to about $250 now under way, has been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board for Transoceanic Airlines and Seaboard and Western Airlines because the scheduled lines have no capacity to meet such a mass movement.

Project Is Confined To Students, Teachers, and D. P.'s.

The project is confined here to transportation of students, teachers and others interested in return to Europe, under the auspices of the International Refugee Organization, arm of the United Nations. The experiment, however, is being closely watched by almost everyone in the travel and foreign trade field.

Low Overhead Contributes To Low Rates

Representatives of the scheduled Atlantic carriers point out that the low rate is made possible because on each side of the ocean a non-airline organization takes care of all the costs that the airlines must add to the direct cost of flying their planes—the maintenance, networks of traffic, and ticket offices, advertising, special service to passengers, etc. This, as a rule, accounts for as much as 60 cents of each dollar of airline costs, as against 40 cents for direct flying costs.

Hence, airline executives say, the winter excursion rate of the regular airlines just announced by the International Air Transport Association in Montreal—$466.50 between Oct. 1 and March 31 next—does not compare unfavorably with this summer's special rate of $350. The usual round-trip fare between New York and London, on which all others are based, is $630.

Economists Are Watching Volume

Students Assigned Teachers To Help In Pre-enrollment

Students have been assigned to teachers who will help them for enrollment next semester. Freshmen and sophomores will be told who their counselors are, or they may check the bulletin board.

Junior and seniors should see their major professors.

The teachers request that tentative enrollments be made early in order that changes may be arranged if necessary.

Mohler Requests Pictures Of Mac

"Bring one bring all! Add pictures to the historical records of your college," says Dr. R. E. Mohler, curator of the college museum.

Dr. Mohler is asking for pictures of historical interest to place in the college museum. Pictures could be of former faculty members, students, football teams, campus scenery, buildings on campus, etc.

Dr. Mohler said that pictures are of historical value because they show things exactly as they were.

Debate Tourney To Be At Sterling

The Kansas debating league tournament will be held Saturday, March 25, at Sterling College. This tournament will include oratory and extemporaneous talks both of which will be on peace. Awards will be given to the winners of oratory and extemp.

Gamma Delta, the national debating fraternity, will hold a tournament for this province April 6-8, at Bethel College.

Doris Keeler Improves

Miss Doris Keeler, who is ill with virus pneumonia, is reported to be doing better. She spent several days in the McPherson County Hospital.

The new volume generated by the $350 fare, however, is what air economists are watching. That it is new volume is amply attested by the answers to questionnaires received by Youth Argosy. Its passengers said they would not have made the trip had the low air fare not been available.

As far back as 1945, Parker Van Zandt, then an economist for the Brookings Institution, analyzed widespread pessimism among the readers of Collier's and Woman's Home Companion and estimated that at a $200 round-trip air fare to Europe 4,000,000 Americans a year would make the trip. That, said Mr. Van Zandt, would not only create an unprecedented volume of air traffic but build up a balance of travel dollars better than $1,000,000,000 a year among countries that desperately needed such dollar balances.

Even today, Juan T. Tripps, president of Pan American Airways, is said to have plans to carry out "cabin class" air passenger service in each of his fleet of Boeing Stratocruisers now devoted to the luxury trade, at a round-trip fare approaching the $200 level. Last week he testified before a Senate committee that whereas air traffic on the Atlantic was but 4 percent in 1928, with steamships carrying 94 percent, the figures in 1948 stood at 52 percent for air and 48 percent for steamships. There are various indications that the air proportion will be higher in 1949 despite the addition of many new steamship berths this year.

Genesis of Cut Rate

Both Seaboard and Western and Transocean last summer did a limited business in carrying Youth Argosy members to Europe. A reduced rate was possible because both air carriers were under contract to the IHO to carry 20 percent of displaced persons to Europe.

Dissertation On Eating Out

As concerning most things there are certain "musts" that one should follow when eating out.

1. For example, upon entering a place of eating the first and foremost thing the man should do is to look grouchingly toward the hostess or if none to whoever looks like they are in charge. This always gives the feeling that you are somebody important and should be given special service.

2. Next, always—always take a long time to decide upon an entre. (not to be confused with filet mignon). This always impresses the waitress. She, of course, thinks you can read and are looking for errors.

3. Then when the main course comes always send it back saying that it is either too done or not done enough. This, naturally, pleases the cook, who has been preparing food for thirty or forty years, for he thinks that you are an expert and know more than himself about cooking.

4. One of the most important "musts" is that you always should ask the waitress for things one at a time. The goal is to keep her running back and forth, to and from your table during the whole meal.

The other day when we were eating in the College Inn, practicing this very point, the waitress said after her fifth (not to be confused with a beverage) or sixth trip "If I were being paid by the mile it wouldn't be so bad."

5. When one is through and ready to go never leave a tip. This makes the waitress feel like she hasn't done a good job and she will try to do better next time.

6. Then as one goes to pay the cashier always manage to have some large bill such as a fifty, or ask to cash a large check. When the establishment cannot cash these they of course don't make you pay for your meal and think that you are very well-to-do.

Summing all of these "musts" up we quite naturally come to that illogical conclusion that we have made an enormously good impression, and that the establishment will be looking for our return with eager anticipation.

Youth Argosy Offers Low Rate Flight To Europe

Venezuela via the United States, in the spring of this year. The Venezuelan Government cancelled its arrangements to receive the DP's. As a consequence Youth Argosy found itself with about $250,000, paid out on contracts to the non-scheduled airlines, which would have become bankrupt if they had to fly their planes westward empty. The scheduled airlines already were so well booked that they could not have carried the increased load at any rate.

Hurried trips to Europe by Youth Argosy and IRO officials showed that the latter organization had a big block of "austerity" berths reserved on such ships as the Samaria, Scythia and Aquitania for the late summer and autumn. A swap was made. Emergency cases in the DP camps were scheduled for immediate trips to the United States by air—pregnant women, women with small children, families that had immediate opportunity for employment and the berths thus made vacant were turned over to the Youth Argonauts to return by steamship.

The contrast between the arrivals and those departing is a startling one. One Seaboard & Western plane brought in nine Estonians, four Russians, two Latvians, seventeen Lithuanians, eleven Poles and four German Jews. All—men, women and children—had gone through the rigors of concentration and refugee camps. Only the children seemed bright-eyed.

Six of the DP's were farmers, mostly headed for the big Seaboard frozen food farms at Bridgeport, N. J., with their families. There were seven children and eight housewives. Ten other skills, from musician to laborer, were represented. One Pole was listed as "officer."

Outgoing the next day was a brick load of typical American students, teachers and welfare workers. One Cornell medical student was to study the Scandinavian medical systems; another was to examine health conditions in the DP camps. A Pennsylvania post-graduate was headed for study of Diesel engines in Europe. A large group was listed as about to study the United World Federalists, headed by Garry Davis, young musician who gave up his American citizenship in Paris. Youth Argosy obtains its subscribers through a nationwide group of college and welfare organizations. They include the American Friends Service Com-

'Carmen' Staging Rates Criticism

Several students from Macampus attended the New York Civic Opera Company's production of "Carmen" in Hutchinson last Monday evening.

Although the opera, "Carmen," can not help being an interesting evening, this production left much to be desired. There were obvious errors which could have been corrected even at the last minute.

It is not uncommon for troupes to use amplification, but it should always be used within reason and good taste. This production was so over-amplified as to completely distort all of the voices of the soloists and the chorus. However, in spite of this, one might suspect that the two leads, Carmen and Don Jose, did have fine voices.

Another rather disconcerting feature was the lack of taste in the general costuming and stage decor. It did not appear that any one person was responsible for stage effects, but rather each singer was presenting his or her version of what the opera should look like.

If one could look beyond these errors, it seems that the Company did display a lot of talent and know-how.

Hershberger Invites Class To See Indian Collection

Prof. E. S. Hershberger invited his Art Appreciation class to his home last Tuesday morning in order that the class might study examples of Indian Art.

Professor Hershberger spent six years in India and has in his possession articles of Indian dinnerware, jewelry, religious symbols, and clothing.

The class also saw several of Professor Hershberger's paintings.

mittie, American Unitarian Youth, American Youth Hostels, Cooperative Bureau for Teachers, Experiment in International Living, Student Project for Amity Among Nations, Oslo Summer School for American Students, Salzburg Seminar in American Studies, San Francisco State College Seminar in Europe, Stanford University Council for UNESCO and a dozen other smaller organizations and travel agencies specializing in educational tours.

These students, plus the well-paid wage-earners with two or three week's vacation are most likely to make up the mass market for travel to Europe if its costs can be brought within their reach, it is declared.

CBYF Members Write To Students in Germany

German university students will receive 25 letters soon from CBYF members of McPherson College Church of the Brethren. This service is made possible through the Brethren Service Commission of the Church of the Brethren.

Vera Ebersole, CBYF vice-president states, "These letters are of value because not only do they offer a chance to help encourage these foreign students and help promote world peace through better understanding, but they are educational, fun to exchange, and a good chance to do missionary work on one's own. I will be glad to send for more names, if any one not signed up would like to correspond."

'We Are Lanterns,' Bittinger Explains

"We are the lanterns, and God is the Light; and we must keep our lanterns from becoming black so that the Light may shine through." This was the thought expressed by Dr. Desmond Bittinger in his speech to the CBYF last Sunday night.

He illustrated this thought by an incident which happened during his mission work in Africa.

One day Dr. Bittinger became very ill. His wife called a servant to go for the doctor in a village forty miles away. She gave the servant a lantern which was to give him protection from wild animals and to help him find his way.

While on his way the servant heard a lion roaring. Realizing they were very dangerous, he turned the light in the lantern higher.

Farther on during the journey he saw the fiery eyes of a panther in the bush. A panther is even more dangerous than a lion; so the servant turned the light even higher.

He repeated this action so often that finally the flame of the lantern became blackened with smoke, and the light went out. The servant had to finish the journey without the protection of the light.

No Outstanding Marks In MC's Final Records

It has been said with some authority that (A) statistics do nothing, (B) you can prove anything with statistics.

The sheer ambiguity of that statement probably accounts for the state of ill repute to which statistical tables have fallen. Obviously, the "expert analysis" of statistics by one Dr. George Galpin in the 1945 elections did not enhance their reputation.

Statistics are dull and boring to everyone but an occasional Figure Filbert, and the tremendous volume of production by the statistical-minded probably adds to their lack of lustre.

Another thing that makes them uninteresting is the fact that most people do not know what the statistics really mean; and if they do, the statistics will bear out what has been suspected or feared all the time.

Lack of Players

Such is the case of the final statistics of McPherson College's 1949 football aggregation. The figures seem to indicate what most people probably really had to believe that the MC team did not have the players.

Not a single glit-ged performance was turned in all year by a single player for the season or in any one game. In all departments the Bulldogs lagged behind their opponents.

The statistics do seem to indicate one thing, however. Despite the tremendous bulk of scoring done by the enemy this season, there is an indication the Bulldog line was not too far below average—if it was at all.

Line Held Its Own

For many years comparison of first downs was a good indication of a team's forward wall. With the advent of wide-open football, capable of going all the way in one play, the first-down barometer has probably lost some of its validity. However, if it has any reliability left, the Bulldogs racked up 70 first downs this season compared to their opponents' 83—not too wide a margin.

A better indication of a team's line strength these days is number of rushing plays. Teams that consistently are beaten by large scores seldom have the ball as much as the enemy because their line cannot get the ball.

Budgie is not the case with the Bulldogs who had but 21 more rushing plays made against them than they made themselves. The other general statistics show a tremendous advantage for the opponents.

No Outstanding Marks

Not a single outstanding individual mark was made. Charlie Pettefish led the team in first downs, rushing and passing but none of his marks were outstanding.

Pettefish Pettefish's 14 first downs were but three more than made by Glen Pyle who played in one charted game. Pyle also stood fourth in rushing which probably indicates just how much the Bulldogs missed the fullback after his injury in the Baker fracas. Pyle's performance in the Sterling game brought him three seasonal individual records—most first downs, 11; most rushing attempts, 36; and most yardage, 154.

Other Bulldog marks stand out as negative performances. For instance, Gene Arnold's 17 passes thrown in the Bethany contest were the most thrown by a Bulldog all season in one game, but Gene completed but one of those tosses.

Pettefish, who did most of the punting for the Bulldogs, had an average of about one-half of that of Charlie Justice of North Carolina, who led the intercollegiate punters last season.

On the enemy side of the fence Bill Carlson of Bethany and Jim Schroeder of Bethel were outstanding as runners. In making the most running attempts against the Bulldogs, 22, Schroeder picked up 113 yards, just shy of Carlson's 124 yards in 10 attempts.

Sports

Any athletic season is climaxed by the annual "all" teams, and it will not be long before the Associated Press comes out with the annual All-Kansas Conference team.

Although the "offensive" players—the backs and pass-grabbing ends—usually prove more magnetically to the journalistic arc lamp, actually through the years more good linemen are produced than really great backs. A check of pro stardom durability marks will bear this out.

This year in the conference, however, the procedure was reversed. There was a paucity of good linemen in the Kansas Conference to the extent that probably the best defensive player in the league was an end, a position usually confined to pass receiving laurels.

To our mind lanky Gene Chubb, Baker's vet wingman, must stand at the head of the class of the most people probably really had to believe that the MC team did not have the players.

Jack Tjottemburg's mid-season injury ruined his chances of repeating as all-conference fullback, but there is no loss of effectiveness with Sherman Kolacny. Kolacny must almost be selected by his kicking alone. He was an unerring placekicker who booted two field goals during the season.

Bethel 13, Bethany 6.
McPherson 0, Ft. Riley 39.

A Hollywood scenario writer could hardly do better than the 1949 Kansas Conference script which calls for the championship to be settled in the last game of the season.

The affair was supposed to be settled three weeks ago when the Ottawa Braves soundly trounced Bethany 47-0 although there was a possibility of a three-way tie for the crown if Baker could measure the Braves this week.

Presbies Upset Braves

Last Friday College of Emporia, who had not read the script, handed the Swedes an almost cinch tie for the crown with a possibility of an undisputed championship if Ottawa and Baker would tie. The Presbies threw the race into a three-way tie for top spot upsetting Ottawa 13-7, the first conference defeat for the Braves since 1946 when Ray Hahn's Swedes returned two punts all the way and beat them.

The tie lasted but 24 hours. The Swedes handled their opportunity about like an infielder who tries to throw to first before he fields the ball.

Bethel's Gray Maroon's supposedly a docile group who would not hurt a fly or a conference contender, suddenly pushed the Swedes all over the field and emerged a 13-6 winner.

That leaves the conference race where it is today—contingent upon tonight's tomahawk-claw contest between the Braves and the Wildcats. And the odds are getting closer all the time as the experts view Baker's steady showing since they were clipped by Bethany 21-0 in early October and Ottawa's reversal of form against C. of E.

MC-Ft. Riley Statistics

Ft. Riley	7	7	6	19-39
Touchdowns: Ft. R.—Garrett, Reid 2, Lempe, Hamilton, Pironka. Extra Points: Ft. R.—Reed, Hoffmaster, Frank.
First downs—MC 3 (Pettefish 2, Sullivan, Arnold 2, Bechtel, Blickenstaff 3) Ft. R. 11 (Herron 2, Garrett 3, Reid, Lempe 3, S. Marsh, Frank).
Rushing attempts and yardage—MC 30-47 (Pettefish 12-22, Arnold 10-38, Libal 3-5, Fishburn 3-3, Finger 1-14) Ft. R. 45-189 (Garrett 8-36, Hoffmaster 2-12, Herron 3-22, Reid 9-57, Keetover 5-9, Lempe 11-49, Frank 5-9, S. Marsh 1-neg 9, Dixon 1-4).
Passes attempted, completed, and yardage—MC 26-8-88 (Pettefish 4-1-25, Arnold 14-2-15, Libal 5-2-9, Fishburn 3-3-38) Ft. R. 10-5-131 (Hoffmaster 2-1-33, Reid 4-1-13, Dixon 4-3-55).
Punting—MC 7, 32.4 average (Pettefish 4-26.5, Libal 1-44.0, Arnold 2-38.5) Ft. R. 37-0 (Lempe 2-32.0, Dixon 1-47.0).
Penalties—MC 3-15 Ft. R. 4-40 Fumbles—MC 1 Ft. R. 1 Opponent's Fumbles Recovered—MC 1 Ft. R. 0.
Punt Returns—MC 2-14 (Newport) Ft. R. 4-42 (Dixon 2-41, Conacher-Cox 1-7, Lempe 1-neg 5).
Kickoff Returns—MC 4-66 (Sullivan 3-48, Schmidt 1-18) Ft. R. 1-35 (Garrett).
Passes Intercepted—MC 1 (Fishburn) Ft. R. 5 (Conacher 3, Toomey, S. Marsh).
Passes received—MC 8-88 (Sullivan 2-26, Bechtel 1-15, Schmidt 1-3, Blickenstaff 4-44) Ft. R. 5-131 (Reid 1-33, Pironka 2-40, S. Marsh 1-18, Hamilton 1-40).

In conference scoring the Braves have scored two more points and given up one less touchdown. However, if the game is decided by kicking—and two games have been decided by one point in the conference this year—the edge will be with the Wildcats.

Kolacny Top Kicker

Veteran Sherman Kolacny has kicked 16 extra points in 21 tries this year compared to Ottawa's PAT man, freshman Jim Grozan, who has checked on 14 of 24. Kolacny has also booted two field goals.

The individual scoring race should also be decided this week. At present Jim Schroeder of Bethel and Bethany's Bill Carlson are still tied with 42 points followed by Vaughn Kimbrough of Ottawa with 35.

Carlson has finished his season but both Kimbrough and Schroeder will have a chance to go ahead in the scoring column. Baker's Boyce Smith with 30 points has an outside chance to overtake the leaders.
