Grodka Speaks About WSSF

Miss Sonsa Grodka, a German girl studying in the United States, spoke in chapel last Wednesday in behalf of the World Student Service Fund.

Miss Grodka brought out the fact that although the war is over the needs for funds is still great. Students are unable to study and work because they lack books to study from and they lack food to gain energy. Miss Grodka stated that eighty percent of the cows in European countries are tubercular therefore nearly that many people have tuberculosis. This fact alone has hindered the structure of peace.

Your contributions of money given through the World Student Service Fund will enable students of European countries to work for conditions promoting peace. Miss Grodka illustrated this fact by saying, "Many drops of water will make an ocean and the ocean will quench the fires of war."

Music Students Will Present Fine Arts Revue

Students at Mac are familiar with recitals as presented by the local music department. Just to be different, and at the same time point out the versatility of McPherson College talent, the recital on the evening of Monday, March 6 will be in the nature of a Fine Arts Revue.

Perhaps that title doesn't say exactly what the music department means, but the program will not follow the usual recital pattern. "Its going to be different this time," said Prof. Plasterer.

Those participating will be Florene Messick, Kenneth Graham, Vernon Nicholson, Bonnie Alexander, James Staats, Gordon Suttman, Max Shank, Reza Mofarrah, and Gifford Ikenberry.

Full information about this Fine Arts Revue, to be held Mar. 6, will be carried in next week's Spectator.

Radio Class Presents Program This Afternoon

This afternoon at 2:30 on KN-EX the radio speech class will make its debut on the McPherson College program. The class will give two stories written by Edgar Allen Poe that have been made into radio dramas.

The two plays are "The Tell-Tale Heart" and "The Black Cat." They are part of the series, "We Know A Poe Story." This series will be continued in the future by the class.

The cast of "The Tell-Tale Heart" includes Wayne Zeliger, Gerald Neher, and Albert Balzer. This radio drama shows how a man's conscience betrays him after a misdeed as villainous as murder. It shows how an insignificant object such as a blind, blue eye can cause a man to lose his senses.

Characters of "The Black Cat" are Dean Cotton, Kathryn Larson, and Doris Roesech. In this drama a cat both causes murder and exposes the murderer to the police.

Don St. Clair will be announcer for the program. Those who have assisted with production and sound effects are Harold MacNamee, John Ward, and Carmina San Romani. The program is under the direction of Professor Roy McAuley.

So far this semester the radio speech class has been wire recording and preparing for its program. All college programs this semester have been announced by a member of the radio speech class.

This is the first time in the history of McPherson College that such a course has been taught. The aims of the course are to give students a well-rounded knowledge of how radio production takes place as well as give practical experience in radio work.

Bethel Concert Features Violinist

Presser Hall Auditorium at Bethel College will feature Louis Kaufman, violinist, March 1 at 8 p.m.

In this epoch of great violinists, Louis Kaufman's gifts have won for him a unique place among the great masters of the bow. He has been acclaimed as soloist with orchestras for his virtuosity on the concert platform, as solo-violinist for more than 400 Hollywood film scores.

Winning in a nationwide poll the Musical Courier's citation "for the best instrumental solo in films in 1946," he more recently was acclaimed for his recordings of seventeen albums for Concert Hall Society, Disc, and Vox recording companies.

Within the past few seasons Kaufman, whom the New York Times calls, "A violinist's violinist," and "a musician's musician," has skyrocketed to a high place among Americas outstanding concert attractions.

Tickets for the concert sell at $1.20 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Supreme Court Grants Citizenship To Sterling C. O.

The United States Supreme Court last Monday granted the citizenship of Martin Ludwig Cohnstaedt, a Sterling College teacher.

Cohnstaedt made the appeal to the Supreme Court after he had been refused naturalization approval by the Kansas Supreme Court, because, as a Quaker, he is a conscientious objector.

When the German-born Quaker applied for citizenship, he informed an examiner:

"I do not believe in this country engaging in any armed conflict for any reason and I cannot contribute anything to be used solely and directly in furtherance of armed conflict."

With the approval Cohnstaedt's naturalization, the U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that conscientious objectors, non-combatant military service because of religious beliefs may still become a citizen.

Interfaith Team Speaks In Chapel

In observance of National Brotherhood Week an interfaith team spoke at the McPherson College Chapel, Monday, Feb. 20.

Father Quintin J. Malone, professor in Sacred Heart College and Academy in Wichita; Rabbi Benjamin Eisenberg, of the Hebrew Synagogue of Wichita; and Rev. Kenneth Miller, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Wichita were the guest speakers.

After introducing the group, Rev. Miller spoke on the three forms of prejudice that exist. He remarked that we need not be concerned with prejudice that exists in the open because we can control it. Also the so-called American front organizations which claim to stand for the things we believe in can be detected according to Rev. Miller.

What we do need to be concerned with, in Rev. Miller's estimation, is prejudice that lies beneath the surface. We do not realize this type which is accepted not by what we think we believe but what we actually believe in practice.

Some simple tests can be made for prejudice. Some which Rev. Miller pointed out are: the belief that our race is born with more ability, brains, character than other races, thinking that our church is better than other, and trying to keep some groups out of certain jobs and schools. He said that we should never accuse a whole group of anything, but judge each person as an individual.

According to Father Malone, nothing destroys health more than antagonisms we build up within ourselves against others. "How much prejudice costs in happiness," remarked Father Malone, "is beyond measure when we count the amount of prejudice in the world." He pointed out that the cost of prejudice was too great to allow prejudice to exist.

Rabbi Eisenberg gave four simple rules for dispensing with prejudice. First was that every person must be judged on his own merits. That which injures one part of society injures all of us, was the second rule.

Third, Rabbi Eisenberg pointed out that democracy means a square deal for every person. "Demo" in Latin means man-all men according to the Rabbi. The last point was that differences are the normal parts of life but group differences have nothing to do with brains or character.

Army Offers Property For Lease At Kanopolis

In view of the widespread public interest in recreational opportunities at the Kanopolis Reservoir, the Army Department is offering property for leasing.

Property will be leased for commercial purposes. The lessee will be required to construct, operate and maintain a concession cabin camp and to furnish services and facilities for the use of the public.

Shore line in vicinity of the lease area will be made available for boating operations of the lessee.

Occupations Day, which started this morning, has been especially designed to help high school seniors choose their vocations.

Seniors from all high schools within a fifty mile radius have been invited to attend. Approximately 100 seniors are attending from McPherson High School.

Although this meeting has been arranged to help high school students in particular, many college students will find special interest groups helpful in choosing vocations.

Registration began this morning at 8:00 in the SUR. At 9:00 Tom Orr, of the Wichita Independent Oil and Gas Association talked at a general session on the importance of choosing the right occupation.

Some of the groups which were of special interest to McPherson College students were religious work under the direction of Rev. Harry Zeller; teaching Floyd Herr from the office of education at Topeka; home economics, Hazel Thompson, state director from Topeka; engineering, Mr. J. F. Hartman, superintendent of Bay Petroleum Corporation; and government work, Luther Warren.

Others included: rural occupations, Loren Whipple of the department of education at Kansas State College; business, Homer Ferguson of McPherson; crafts and trades, John Tilma of the bureau of apprenticeship at Wichita; and other professions, Dr. Mendal Miller, president of Central College. Exhibits were displayed and special conferences held before noon.

Special Groups Meet at 1:30 P.M.

This afternoon at 1:30 some special interest groups will meet. Of special interest to college students will be: social work, Miss Esther Twente, chairman of social work at Kansas University; communications, Albert Butcher, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in McPherson; nursing, Miss Erma Law, executive secretary of Kansas State Nurses Association; and office and secretarial work, Myron Garris, Farmers Alliance Insurance Company in McPherson.

Remaining groups include banking and finance, Paul Sargent of McPherson; milling, E. A. Wall of McPherson; oil industry, Roy Beaman, of National Co-operative Refining Association; merchandising, E. J. manager of J. C. Penny Store, McPherson; and transportation, Joe Hesse, traffic manager of National Co-operative Refining Association.

Special Chapel Reviews Week's WSSF Program

The W. S. S. F. drive gained headway Tuesday when the S. C. A. members presented a special chapel program. The morning started with a touch of schismophrenia with the presentation of Spike Coke and His Musical Derelicts in their version of "Dance of the Hours." The musicians played all types of instruments including bedsprings.

Ivan Rogers introduced the serious portion of the program by telling the students of the importance and the aims of W. S. S. F.

Don Guthals, Helen Stover, and Mary Ines Royer presented a pantomime on the work being done by the movement. The members of speech department headed by Professor Roy McAuley handled the narration.

The audience also received a glimpse of the annual action when Wayne Zeliger concluded the program by announcing an "A" on one of Prof. McAuley's tests.

Lenten Meditation

By Earl Frantz

At the very beginning of another Lenten season we again find ourselves wondering just what the meaning of it all is. Keeping of Lent may be rigid, mechanical, or legalistic. Or it may be a beautiful spiritual exercise which lifts up the cross of Christ and encourages each of us to live more fully in the Christ way.

The proper keeping of Lent is not to follow a command, but it should be a service that springs from an overflow of devotion inspired by Christian love. Lent may well be a time of training of the heart when our faith in God and Christ may be deepened. Thus our lives may be so lived as to fit into the plan of God's great universe.

When we catch the real spirit of the Lenten season we will interpret anew what Christ has done for us by His magnanimous sacrifice and His utter devotion to the good and beautiful. We will see in His life a noble example of the kind of life for which we should strive if we desire to live life at its best—and what else is worth while?

Rumors Are Flying

Recently rumors have been flying thick and fast around the campus. It seems certain girls have become popular lately. According to the gossip their popularity comes from an over-friendliness towards the boys.

Now, let's stop and analyze these stories. Who would stand to lose the most by such actions? The girl, of course, so certainly she would not tell anybody. And no gentleman would want to ruin a girl's reputation by a few false remarks.

Looking at the situation from another angle, on a college campus such as this, who are most likely to get most friendly in their dating? Without a doubt, they are the ones who are going steady. Observance behind Arnold Hall almost any night will point this out.

Just who is spreading such malicious gossip? There are two possible sources. One is that of girls not quite as popular as those in question. If they would only stop and think they would realize this gossiping is rather senseless. Someday they may be in the same circumstances and they would certainly hate for false stories to fly about their dates.

The other possible source is that of boys telling their steadies everything that is said in Fairmstock. At least a score of boys, when they imagine they saw or heard something, rush right over and tell an EXPANDED story to their girls who tell it to other girls who tell it to their boys and so the story grows by leaps and bounds.

What can be done about such situations? First, all of us must be a little more close-mouth. Second, stories must be analyzed before retold to see if there can be an iota of truth in them. Finally, all students must remember that to repeat such gossip is only "old maids" and bachelors' pastime.

All of us must remember that someday the tables may be turned. Just how would we like it if such false stories were told about us? Albert Balzer, Jr.

Library Arranges Exhibit Of Books On Job Guidance

In connection with Occupations Day, the McPherson College Library has prepared a special display of vocational materials. Pamphlets from the Occupations File as well as books are included in the exhibit.

Occupational Outlook Handbook, issued by the U. S. Department of Labor in cooperation with the Veterans Administration, gives employment information on major occupations for use in guidance.

Occupational Information by Carol L. Sharlie was written to meet the need for an introduction to the development of occupational information and the use of such material in industry, government, education, and community agencies.

Your Job by Fritz Kaufman is about choosing a job, finding a job, holding a job, progressing on a job, and changing to a better job. It shows a worker's rights and responsibilities under current social and labor laws, also.

You and Your Future Job by Campbell and Bedford gives information on many lines of work, their requirements, opportunities and working conditions. The authors state that choosing a career consists of more than determining a skill to be mastered; it involves selecting a way of life.

How To Become a Doctor by George R. Moon tries to guide students in planning for a career in one of the health professions. The author was connected for 20 years with medical, dental, and pharmaceutical education as a registrar, a member of admissions committees, and a participant in national groups dealing with the problems of admission.

Since the training program for the health professions is strictly organized and regulated by the medical profession, students need to make a careful survey of requirements for entering into the study of their chosen profession in the field of health.

Careers in Journalism edited by Lawrence R. Campbell presents recent authoritative information on journalistic vocations. The short articles in this book were written by men widely known for their interest and experience in journalism.

Radio, magazine publication, teaching, advertising, and special fields such as television are considered. The last part of the book is devoted to the planning of a journalistic career.

Social Work as a Profession by Esther Lucile Brown is a discussion of a relatively new profession. The concept of the duty of society to all its members has been stronger in recent years than ever before in American life, and the need for professional social workers has grown with the changing concept.

Americans Need Upsurge Of Genuine Brotherhood

This is a time for dynamics—for warm, generous rapport among friends, for enjoyment of individuals. With the world seemingly threatened by an eternal coldness, human beings need the warmth of human companionship, rather than the poor and tepid comfort of tolerance.

Every man under God deserves the right to be judged as an individual—rather than as a Catholic, a Jew, a Methodist, or an Episcopalian. Every man is honest or dishonest, charming or annoying, wise or stupid, because he is himself not because he is a member of a particular group.

It is his inalienable right—a right far greater and more universal than any given in the Constitution—to be an individual, to be accepted or rejected as an indi-

Open Letter

Perhaps I am not the logical one to raise my voice against some of the so-called jokes that have been perpetrated throughout the year.

My own record in such escapades is not lily-white; and worse, my participation in them has been so recent that it is well remembered by many professors and students. So it's with a charitable philosophy that I approach the current problem. The difficulty in these pranks is not that a few students are hopeless social degenerates. No, I think it is more this; we are all out for a happy time—it is not our desire to do wrong—but we do make mistakes in judgment.

Our problem is not evil, but is the question of what constitutes true humor.

Wednesday chapel incident was ingenious, but not humorous. It was shocking, but not funny. In many other circumstances it would have been hilarious.

Perhaps those who worked on the project did not consider that Wednesday chapel is always religious in nature—that it would be the time of the year when our trustees would do wrong—that we had as guest speaker one traveling from campus to campus with a serious Christian message—that we would have guests from town to hear her.

Besides learning other things, we should learn in college what is funny and when it is funny. Anything, regardless of how lightly it may be expressed, which does violence to personalities or to personality is not humor—it is persecution.

Keep laughing—keep having a good time and when it is funny. In many other circumstances it would have been hilarious.

—Roy McAuley.

Mouse May Think Our Life Is Easy

I wish I were a little mouse, I'd scamper all about, I'd run beneath the teachers' feet, And listen to them shout, I wish I were a little mouse, On this I would insist, I'd climb into that big green file.

And eat the conference list, I wish I were a little mouse, I'd sit in biology room, And look at pickled bugs and worms, And weep for their sad doom, I wish I were this little mouse, I'd live a life of ease, I'd eat and play and run around, And do just as I please, But since I'm not a mouse, I'll just go right on deaming, And wish I could do all the things, Of which I have been scheming, —Borrowed

Bill: "What's the name of that book you're reading?" Don: "What 20 Million Women Want." Bill: "Let's see if they spelled my name right."

The citizens of the United States of America have a right to applaud themselves for having given mankind examples of an enlarged and liberal policy: a policy worthy of imitation. All possess alike liberty of conscience and immunities of citizenship. It is now no more that toleration is spoken of, as if it was by the indulgence of one class of people that another enjoyed the exercise of their inherent natural rights. For happily the Government of the United States, which gives to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance, requires only that they who live under its protection should demean themselves as good citizens in giving it, on all occasions their effectual support. —George Washington

MC Against Friends And Bethel To End Season

Tonight at Wichita, Kas., the McPherson College Bulldogs will play their final road game of the season as they tangle with the Friends University Quakers, a team that beat them 59-58 in a thriller at McPherson Feb. 7.

Inability to stop the Quakers' great Bob Hudgins combined with three quarters of their own shoddy play kept the Bulldogs from adding a much needed win to their season's record in the previous game.

The Bulldogs now have a 3-16-0 won and lost record with good chances of adding two wins to that record before the curtain rings down next Tuesday as the 'dogs entertain Rudy Enns' tough Bethel crew.

The Bulldogs are pointing for that conference finale Tuesday. A win over the Gray-maroons would bring them up to a tie for fifth in the conference with Bethel. However, Rudy Enns' men could break that duck by upsetting Baker tomorrow night.

Bethel holds two wins over the Bulldogs this year. They defeated them 58-47 in the opening of the Lyons Invitational Tournament Dec. 28 in a non-league affair and really cooked them 73-41 in the conference game at Newton Jan. 31.

Probably that game does not stand as true basis for the two teams' skill. The Bulldogs were at their season's ebb in that first encounter and the Gray-Maroons set an all time scoring mark for themselves in it.

Enns has built his team around the phlegmatic sophomore Lanoy Loganbill, currently number three in Kansas conference scoring. Alongside him are brother Varden Loganbill, set shot Duane Kaufman, scowling Marlowe Krehbiel, and the club's second best scorer, Fred Schroeder.

Behind them Enns has three capable subs—the veteran senior southpaw Cal Schroeder, and two frosh, Bill Ewert from Hillsboro, Kans., and Charlie Schroeder from American Falls, Ida.

Tuesday night three Bulldog seniors will be making their final cage appearance in the red and white—captain Lyle Goering, Bob Odle, and Glenn Pyle.

A fourth member of the squad may also be giving his farewell as a Bulldog basketballer, Gene Arnold, the shuffling, thick-shouldered Indianan may graduate at the end of the 1950 summer session.

Eight Diamond Lettermen To Report Soon

That familiar cry of "play ball" will soon be ringing out across the country. Looking forward to that time we are passing along some information about the coming edition of Bulldog baseball.

Eight lettermen will report to Coach Dick Wareham, March 1. They are: Don Stevens, 1st base; Earl Grindle, 2nd base; Chuck Petefish, shortstop; Gene Arnold, 3rd base; John Colyn, outfield; Carol Tillman, catcher; and pitcher Dean Coughenour and Willard Tolle.

Two lettermen who are returning are Gene Arnold who hit at a .405 clip last year, and Dean Coughenour who had a pitching record of three wins and no losses last season.

Three of last season's monogram winners will not be back this year. Duane Ramsey, captain of last year's team, who led in number of hits and runs batted in and pulled Willie Tiegreen, Chanute's gift to Don Meek's Ottawa squad, did not exactly burn the cords against the Bulldogs last week and dropped below the 20 point average for the first time since the first of January.

However, long Bill's 11 points against the Bulldogs and his 16 versus College of Emporia Monday raised his season's total to 211 points in 11 conference games and assured him of a new Kansas conference scoring mark.

Bob Hunt, the stoop shouldered six foot seven and one half inch Coloradano who performed for Gene Johnson's Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes from '39-'41, set the record with 299 points in his final season at the Saline County school.

The Vets team of the intramural league is apply named. Two of its members have waved goodbye to the 30 year mark—Bob Lloyd and Charles Baldwin.

Two other members of the team the first semester were brothers George and Jesse Holloway, who were nudging the 30 mark.

Baldwin, incidently, made the intramural all-star team at McPherson College in 1938-39.

(To anybody who has Hollywoodish notions about divulging age, we apologize. However, if anybody can possibly see a Clancy Branson incident in this, we must say right now that we will produce no photostatic copies of birth certificates and absolutely will not eat any copy.)

Back to Mr. Tiegreen. The six foot five inch star is an excellent place to start the 1950 all-Kansas conference basketball team. Its nearly time for the Associated Press to come out with their selections, and you can bet that the much-mentioned Mr. Tiegreen will be at the top of the list.

Who will go with him is not easy, but you can take your pick from these candidates—Charlie Fiffe, Hal Pounds, Don and Gene Anderson of KWU, Lanoy Loganbill of Bethel, Howie Singleton and Kenny Stearns of Baker, Dave Anderson of Bethany, and McPherson's own gun-chewing red head, Loren Blikenstaff.

Our personal choices? Tiegreen, Loganbill, Dave Anderson, Fiffe, and Blikenstaff.

Finale For Three Of Bulldog Five

Tuesday's game against Bethel will mark the end of the collegiate basketball careers of three veteran Bulldogs. Captain Lyle Goering (right), Bob Odle (center), and Glenn Pyle (left) will graduate from McPherson College at the end of this semester.

Goering and Odle are in the process of winning their fourth letters as Bulldog basketballers, and Pyle, a transfer from Central College, his second.

Braves Stall To Beat Dogs 40-34

Aided by the two minute rule, the Ottawa Braves stalled out the last three minutes to defeat the McPherson College Bulldogs 40-34 last Friday night at the McPherson High Gym. With three minutes left the Braves held only a two point advantage, 36-34, but they put on a stall the Bulldogs were unable to break. The Bulldogs committed eight personals trying to get the ball, but the Braves cashed in on only three of them.

The Bulldogs and Braves battled on even terms for a good share of the first half, with the Braves gaining a five point advantage 23-18 at the intermission.

The scoring battle between the loop's two leading scorers failed to materialize, Lanky Bill Tiegreen was well below his season average connected for only 11 points, which of 20 points. Loren Blikenstaff, the league's number two scorer, counted only six points before fouling out with ten minutes remaining in the game.

The second half found the Bulldogs colder than the proverbial cucumber, as they failed to score for five minutes, and the only Bulldog points in the first nine minutes of the second stanza were two free tosses by freshman Bob Bechtel. The questionable foul which put Blikenstaff out of the game seemed to be the spark needed to set the Bulldogs into motion, as they promptly rallied to within two points of the Braves before they went into that fatal stall.

Glenn Pyle, senior forward, led the Bulldog scoring with 9 points. Tiegreen was high for Ottawa with 11 points to his credit.

KWU Assured Of Tie In Conference

Kansas Wesleyan assured itself of at least a tie for the conference championship Tuesday night by handing the Bethany Swedes a 90-63 drubbing. By winning over Ottawa Friday night or Baker next Tuesday, the Coyotes can take undisputed first place.

Don Anderson of Wesleyan turned in the best individual performance in the loop this season, against the Swedes, as he scored 26 points.

Beside the K. W. U.-Ottawa affair at Ottawa Friday night, Baker will meet Bethany at Lindsborg, the outcome having no bearing on the standings. Also Friday night, McPherson will meet Friends at Wichita in a return engagement.

Saturday night Baker will move to Newton to meet the Bethel Grymaroons. Monday night the Ottawa Braves ran their record to nine wins and two losses as they moved past the College of Emporia Presbies 64-56.

Girls Lose To Tabor

Last Wednesday night the McPherson College Girls met the Tabor College Girls in a basketball game held in the college gymnasium. McPherson College Girls took over the lead in the first quarter but by the half the Mac girls were one point behind. The last half the Tabor girls charged out in front, leaving the Mac girls trailing by a decided margin. The final score was McPherson, 24 and Tabor 38.

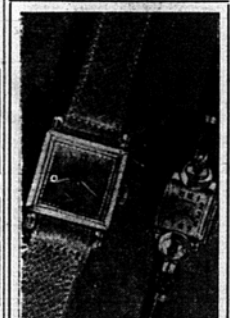

The McPherson College team was composed of Thompson, Nelson, Carpenter, Grove, Webb, Mohler, Snowberger, Keim, Moors, Baker, Bowman and Daggett.

Those playing on the Tabor team were: Bartel, R. Willems, D. Willems, Karber, Unruh, Funk, Richeit, Hinz, Duerksen, Jost and Enns.

Top scorer for McPherson was Marilee Grove. Tabor's high pointer was Unruh.

There will be a novelty game, Wednesday night, March 1 with the Arnold Hall girls playing the Fahnstock boys.

If you really believe in the brotherhood of man, and you want to come into its fold, you've got to let everyone else in too.
