

Dr. Paul Bowman To Lead Religious Emphasis Week

Dr. Paul Haynes Bowman, former president of Bridgewater College, will be principal speaker on Macampus next week for Religious Emphasis Week.

Debaters Will Go To PKD Meeting

The National Convention of Pi Kappa Delta will be held at Stillwater, Okla., on March 25-29. Chapters from all over the country will be present. Possibly 500 or more delegates will represent their chapters.

The men's team from Macollege will be Wayne Zeigler and Gene Bechtel; women's team, Joan Keim and Mickey Akers. Each will participate in eight rounds of debate.

McPherson participants in four rounds of oratory, extempore, and discussion will be Wayne Zeigler, Gene Bechtel, Jan Keim, Mickey Akers, and Elsa Kurtz.

This convention occurs every other year. Next year there will be a provincial tournament.

Pi Kappa Delta has about 185 chapters, most of which will be represented.

One-Acts Draw Full Houses Wednesday and Thursday

A full house responded to three-one-act plays produced by Macollege's Players Club, Wednesday and Thursday. “Mooncalf Magford,” “Over The Teacups” and “The Theatre Of The Soul” were presented in the Little Theater in upstairs Sharp Hall. Following the Thursday production, a tree luncheon for the actors was provided in the Doghouse by the Players Club.

Occupations Bring 216 Students From 8 Schools

Eight high schools were represented at the annual Occupations Day held on Macollege campus last Friday. Two hundred sixteen high school students were registered from the high schools of McPherson, Lehigh, Windom, Galva, Inman, Genehew, Lorraine, and Holsington.

Many persons attended several sessions that were not registered. At one of the sessions 273 people were counted.

The students of Macollege were dismissed from class in order that they might take advantage of the speakers and seminars.

This was the second annual Occupations Day program presented on Macollege.

Group Discusses Draft Problems At Nebraska U.

The University of Nebraska Intercollegiate Discussion Conference held on February 23-24, composed of debaters from colleges throughout the Middle West, including Dean Cotton and Joe Kennedy from Macollege, drew up resolutions concerning the position of the college student and the draft.

The majority resolution favored universal defense training in the following manner: Educational deferment tests should be administered to present college students and to high school students upon graduation. Students passing the tests should be deferred four years for undergraduate study; students passing further standardized examinations should be eligible for graduate study.

Young men not thus deferred should serve six months basic military training, after which qualified ones shall be placed in industrial work or specialized training, the remainder continuing military service.

Limitations on service should include that reserve programs be open only to former servicemen; women should be drafted only in event of full-scale war; conscientious objectors should be forced into service only in event of all-out war; and college graduates' service should be in the area of training.

Twelve Give Group Recital Tuesday Night

Twelve Macollege students will appear in a student recital in the chapel at 8 p. m. Tuesday, February 27.

Keith Allison, tenor, opened the program by singing “Lydia” by Franz Schubert.

Doris Kesler played two piano solos, “Impromptu in B” by Anton Arensky and “Prelude” by Sigmund Lind-Skabo.

Donna Wagoner soprano sang Clara Edwards' “Into The Night.”

Marilee Groves played the piano solo “Clair de lune” by Debussy.

Max McAuley, baritone, sang John Denmore's “If God Left Only You.”

Charles Royer, clarinetist, accompanied by Beverly Oltman played Scene and Air from “Lutea di Montfort” by Michael Bergson.

Tenor Earl Lapp sang My Soul is Afloat For God from “Holy City” by A. R. Gaul.

Debaters Win Two At Lincoln

Three teams of Macollege debaters accompanied Prof. Roy McAuley to the University of Nebraska Intercollegiate Debate and Discussion Conference at Lincoln, Nebraska last Friday and Saturday.

Gene Bechtel and Wayne Zeigler won one debate and lost three. Miriam Akers and Joan Keim also won one and dropped three. Dean Cotton and Joe Kennedy entered the discussion contest, but neither received one of the six superior ratings.

The Macollege Agriculture Club will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday, March 7 at 7:00 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Industrial Arts Building.

The organization had its beginning last year, when several interested fellows held a hamburger fry in the park.

Officers were elected this year and they are as follows: president, Boh Augsburger; vice president, Irven Porter; and secretary-treasurer, Eldon Coffman. There are, at present, 21 members in the club.

The aim or purpose of this club is to improve the rural-life program at Macollege and in so doing create more of an interest in this field so that more students will be attracted to the college.

Alpha Psi Awards Points For One-Acts

Students Get 30-Day Postponement

Local draft boards have been ordered to grant a 30-day postponement to all college students, commencing at the end of the statutory postponement of induction.

The statutory postponement ends at the close of the academic year or when the student ceases to do satisfactory work, whichever is earlier.

Local Selective Service boards are authorized to cancel the order to report for induction of any student who makes written application for such cancellation and who requests in writing an opportunity to enroll in the branch of his choice.

During the 30-day postponement period, a student has opportunity to enlist in any branch requiring immediate entry upon active military duty.

During the 30 days, students possessing highly technical skills needed by essential industry may secure employment, that will lead to occupational deferment. It is expected that the number of such students will be very small.

Such a student must report the nature of his employment to his local board, who may grant occupational deferment if it is full time work, if the person cannot be replaced because of a shortage of workers with his qualifications or skill in such activity, and if the removal of the registrant would cause a material loss of effectiveness in such activity.

Macampus' Theta Epsilon Cast of the honorary dramatic fraternity Alpha Psi Omega awarded achievement points to aspiring members involved in the recent one-act productions at a meeting Tuesday night.

Three new members were voted eligible for the formal initiation to be held during the first week of April. Doris Kesler, Park, Kans., junior, received 20 points for directing and acting in the one-acts which brought her total to 60 points, 10 more than the required 50 for Alpha Psi membership.

Dale Oltman, as director of “The Theater Of The Soul”, was given 15 points making him a total of 62 points, or 12 points above the minimum. Dale is a senior from Roscher, Neb.

Doris Eides, for make-up and promoting, received five points. This brought the Quilter girls' total to 50 points, necessary for initiation in April.

Other players who are still working toward membership in Alpha Psi Omega also received awards. Rowena Neher gained 15 points as business manager of the recent production which is the maximum award for that job. Rowena now has 45 points.

Mildred Snowberger was credited with two points in production giving her a total of 24.

Four points went to Claudia Jo Stump for production bringing a total of 24 points to her.

Joann Lehman has a new total of 42 points, 12 for acting in the recent productions.

Bob Koehn was given two points for his minor role. He has a total of 12.

Phyllis Johnson received five points for acting bringing her a total of 15 points.

For acting and production, Marilyn Roe was awarded five points. She has a total of 15.

Prayer Cells Grow In Size And Number

At 5:30 o'clock on the morning of January 31, lights began to flicker on in various rooms in the building. Speakers were heard quietly descending the stairs. At 6:00 o'clock, dark shapes moved noiselessly about the campus, all gliding in the direction of Sharp Hall. There the figures gathered in a silent group. Some sat with bowed heads, others seemed to be meditating.

Thus began the first student cell group at McPherson. Campus Congregating in the early morning hours, these nine freshmen embarked upon a new religious experience. The enthusiasm, born of the fellowship and inspiration gained, which was felt by these few, spread to their friends and classmates, thus on the following Wednesday at the dawning hour the group had increased to seventeen persons.

By February 21 the group had grown until 20 were attending regularly. The group, feeling that this was too many people for one cell, decided to split. Upon the basis of the personal wants of each individual, the body divided into three smaller cells. One cell, desiring mainly to worship and meditate, chose to meet in Memory Chapel. The other groups, wishing to discuss situations in respect to God's plan, as well as to worship, decided to meet in the Student Union Room, and in Miss Fee's room. Bob May, teacher of the Freshman Sunday School class, and instigator of the cell group, will act as general advisor and discussion leader for one cell. The topics for the various cells for next week are: “Faith,” “Why we believe and Have Faith in God,” and “Movies on Sunday Night.”

Recently another cell was begun. This cell is open to all on the campus. It meets from 6:15 until 7:00 o'clock each Friday morning in the SUR. The group have silent meditation for the first 20 minutes and scriptures, prayer, and thoughts the remainder of the time. Miss Lillian Good, who started the cell, invites everyone interested in spiritual growth and fellowship, to come.

Another cell group on campus is the one composed of members of the faculty.

Draft Makes Faculty Cuts Necessary

President D. W. Bittinger announced Tuesday that in view of lower enrollment next year caused by draft and enlistment of young men in the various armed services, fewer faculty members will be needed next year.

In a letter to faculty members President Bittinger stated, “no individuals were ‘dropped’ from the faculty. It is hoped, however, that a few temporary arrangements can be made through leaves of absence, graduate study, or other employment to reduce our number somewhat next year.”

So far, three members of the faculty are making other arrangements for next year.

Miss Lulu Wickersham plans to retire. She has been instructor in languages at Macollege for several years and has taught most of her life in McPherson public schools.

Miss Sarah May Vancil will return to high school teaching and will continue taking graduate work during the summer.

Dr. V. N. Likhite, professor of modern languages, is seeking work in teaching or agriculture. Dr. Likhite has studied and taught in universities in America, India and Europe. Before India gained her independence, Dr. Likhite was in charge of department of agriculture of that country with a staff of over 70 men.

Dr. Bittinger pledged the full support of the school administration in finding work for these members.

Ether Mohler Named Secretary Of Honor Frat

Ether Mohler, McCune, Kans., junior, is the secretary of Theta Epsilon Cast of Alpha Psi Omega following her election Tuesday night.

Her duties will be to keep records of adopting members, take care of correspondence and other records of the campus cast. Her first job after installation was to sign the membership certificates just awarded this fall.

Bob Roberts Recalled To Active Duty With Navy

Robert D. Roberts, 33 year-old Gary, Ind., junior, was recently called back into active duty with the Navy. He spent some time at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

A veteran of World War II, Roberts was discharged in 1946 and attended Purdue extension for two years.

He transferred credits to Macollege last year and attended here until being recently recalled to active duty.

Better Be Friendly!

Once a Bengal Tiger sat in the jungle nonchalantly picking his teeth with a porcupine quill.
A woodchopper strolled by with a bundle of sticks on his back.
"Say Buddy, whatcha got in that bag?" asked the friendly tiger.
"I say it's none of your bloomin' business," said the woodchopper in perfect English.
This rebuff visibly disturbed the big cat, so without more ado, he expanded his stomach to accommodate the woodchopper.
Having carnaverously satisfied himself, the creature strolled away into the jungle. But before he left, he turned, smiled rather shyly, and remarked: "Just because a tiger picks his teeth don't mean he ain't hungry."

Pat Them On The Back

If you looked at the last issue of the Spectator, you may have noticed that no ACP or IP copy was used. The issue was made up of news of local interest almost entirely, news that should be of interest to you.

This is the editor's attempt to draw attention and praise to those who made this "newsy" issue possible.

Before you go further, look at the names in the masthead at the bottom of this column. Start with the managing editor and read the names following of all those responsible for this change in content.

Work on the Spectator, with the exception of the Editor and Business Manager, is donated as an extra-curricular activity which takes a great amount of time.

The people who write and compile the news receive no other consideration than the satisfaction of giving others pleasure plus the advantage of educational values which work on the school paper brings.

Read their names, and, the next time you see one of them, give him or her a pat on the back. —Don Shultz

Old Grads Miss Family Style Replaced By New Cafeteria

"Honey, I miss the old spittoon since you threw it away."
"Yes, dear, and you missed it before I threw it away."

With this as a text, I enlarge the college dining hall of better days—the good old days.

What a blow it is for an old grad to return and see such less efficiency in the present stainless steel and chrome eating factory.

What is missed—well, it's the little things.

For instance—

I miss the gentlemanly lining up waiting for the bell—the glorious signal that the gate was up, and from then on it was every man for himself. Of course, a few arms left in the door and two or three ape-men fighting over the same chair by the cute little freshman girl just added to the enjoyment. Before the meal began there was usually a short period of silence during grace.

The "amuse" was usually followed by a blood curdling scream as someone got stabbed reaching for the bread.

The meals were balanced too. The potatoes which started down one side of the table were balanced by the gravy. If one had a friend on the opposite side, some times it was possible to trade a few spuds for a little gravy.

There was no danger of cheating then either. Everything was carefully counted—two apricots in each bowl and just the right number of cookies. Any waitress caught in the cardinal sin of counting out too many was placed on probation the next three years and some consideration of changing the wording on her sheepskin was discussed.

The waitress did have an in at times. Occasionally there would be a happy, happy day when second helpings were available. It was a lot of billing and cooking sometimes even cash promises of dates, etc. but it was worth it to get a little extra in the second bowl of beans.

The fellowship was wonderful, too. There was none of this getting up and leaving when one was through. No air, we stayed out the regulation time—lined by the table of the hostess—who usually had some guest whose uppers slipped, thus prolonging the meal.

We whiled away the time, however, in such innocent pursuits as throwing overripe prunes, telegraphing the milk to some innocent's lap via the table cloth, and other intellectual deeds.

Teacher Shortage Seems More Than Likely By 1957

By Dean J. M. Berkebile

"Teacher-wise, the Nation is in relatively worse condition this year than it was in 1941" is the statement made by W. Earl Armstrong, Associate Chief for Teacher Education, Federal Security Agency, Washington, D. C.

The teachers who left the teaching field at that time to go into war-related work or business have not returned to the profession. To add to this situation we find that only a small number of teachers graduated from the colleges and universities during World War II and the two years following. Not until 1948 did the number of teachers coming from institutions of higher education equal the 1941 supply. In spite of the large enrollments in the post war years it was not until 1949 and 1950 that these institutions were able to turn out more teachers than was done in 1941.

Another condition effecting the present teacher supply is the greater competition between teaching and other occupations that there was before World War II. It was a means of supplying a sure income even though the salary was small previous to 1940. This is probably one of the main reasons for the relatively large number preparing for teaching service at that time. However, if the present military crisis continues and teachers are needed by the military as well as the schools, the present emergency in teacher supply will grow worse.

Along with the above situation we find that the birth rate increases which began during World War II has continued, creating a greater demand for teachers than we had in 1941. The number of births climbed approximately 40 percent by 1948 over 1941. It is a conservative estimate we make that the public and private elementary schools will reach a peak enrollment of 29½ million by 1957 compared to 20 million, 300 thousand in 1947.

Assuming that 10 million additional boys and girls in elementary and secondary schools by 1957 will be taught in classes of 30 pupils each, the need for teachers in 1957 will be greater than in 1947 by 330 thousand. This is one third of the present total number of elementary and secondary school teachers in the United States.

In 1941, the number of elementary school teachers prepared was 25 thousand and the number of secondary teachers, 40 thousand. By 1950, the ratio was 36 thousand and prepared for the elementary area and 58 thousand for the secondary schools. This imbalance is placing the elementary schools in a very serious position since about twice as many teachers are required in the elementary schools as are needed in the secondary.

There are two groups from which teachers can be drawn under critical conditions. There are a considerable number who have never actually taught. They are certified or have been certified at one time. However, with the increasing standards of State Boards of Education this number would be small unless emergency certificates were issued. We then have the group of persons who have taught several years and then dropped out. This group is smaller today than the similar group in 1941. At that time a large backlog of teachers was recruited since many who had no more than minimum requirements were not able to obtain jobs. They went into the potential reserve. Then those who were prepared went into service during World War II. This reserve is now lacking since almost all of the teachers graduating from our institutions go immediately into the school system.

Several things can be done to meet this threat, one of which is to supplement teachers' salaries at all levels by special appropriation or other provision in order to make teaching an attractive enough financially to discourage the shift to higher paid jobs that are frequently considered more critical.

We can encourage some of those now preparing to teach in secondary schools to go into the elementary teaching field which will no doubt just put off several years the most critical day.

It may be possible to incorporate the essentials of an elementary and secondary curricula into one so as to provide a teacher capable to teach at either level.

We can expand the services of the colleges and universities to include the provision for in-service teacher training education such as evening schools.

A recent report from Dr. W. W. Peters, director of Brethren service in Europe, now resident in Austria, concerns the Thanksgiving offering sent by the Ministerial Alliance of McPherson in November.

The letter of Dr. Peters reads, "The Thanksgiving offering to the Ministerial Alliance of McPherson, Kansas, has been given in the name of the Church World Service to worthy causes here in Vienna sponsored by the Baptists, Lutheran and Methodist Churches.

"The money given to the Lutheran Church is being used to provide hot water in their student-heim where young divinity students and a number of needy and orphan children live and are educated.

"You will be interested in the letter from Pastor Georg Traar, the superintendent of the Evangelische Kirche in Austria.

"Dr. W. W. Peters, who is directing the Brethren Service Commission in Vienna in such an excellent way at the present time, presented me recently the amount of 2,570 Austrian schillings which is the equivalent of $100 and which is part of your Thanksgiving offering.

"We will be using this money to provide hot water in the Lutheran Studentenheim in Vienna.

Doghouse Born In Fall Of 1945

There comes a time in the life of many an institution when its history is subjected to review. Because there are only a few persons of MacCollege now who were witnesses of the birth of the Dog House, the time seems right to bring its past into focus.

In the fall of 1945 under the leadership of president Blair Helman, who is now a trustee of MacCollege, the Student Council formulated the initial plans for a snack room. The large room under the chapel which at that time was equipped with ping pong tables and which had previously been the band room, seemed a logical place to transform into a snack bar. The Administration gave its support to the idea, and the Student Council submitted detailed plans to the Trustee Board at its meeting in February, 1946; the Trustees granted their approval.

The first manager of the Dog House was Irene Schramel, a senior home economics major. In the 1947-48 school year, Robert Martin served in the capacity of manager; the next year, Ronald Moyer; in 1949-1950, John Firestone; and this year Donna Sooby, sophomore from Garden City, Kas., is carrying the managerial duties.

Managers are selected in the spring of the year from applications submitted to Student Council by interested students.

Rules for the operation of the Dog House were drawn up by the Student Councils who did the original planning and have been revised by later councils to meet new conditions. The room is directly supervised by a Dog House Operational Committee of the Student Council. Members of the committee this year are Gerald Neher, chairman; Dean Berkebile; Donna Sooby; and Anita Rogers.

Van Voast Tells Of Red Occupation Of Shanghai

Miss Helen Van Voast, representing the Student Volunteer Movement, gave a first-hand account of communist occupation of Shanghai to SCA Thursday, Feb. 22.

Resident in China for eight years, Miss Van Voast taught at St. John's University in Shanghai. The last 15 months of her teaching was under communist control.

She reported that most American missionaries were forced to leave China because of the great anti-American feeling, but assured the group that the Christian effort in China would not die out just because the Americans have gone.

What Do You Think?

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the contributors and not necessarily those of either McPherson College or the Spectator.

The question for this week is "What is your opinion of the basketball season?"

I think this season was pretty good. It was especially good for the students for it gave them an outside interest and created good sportsmanship.

Francis Hall
It is an improvement over last year's season. We had a few bad breaks that cost us some games.

They did pretty good, however I expected them to do better.

Don Wagoner
It was one of the hi-lights of the year.

Mary Ellen Yeater
We had several thrilling games. It's a great improvement over last year.

Bob Koehn
This season was about the best I've ever seen since I have been here.

Betty Hanagarno
This season was a lot better than usual. If we have the same team next year we will have one of the top teams in the league.

Kenneth Shabach
I think the team had lots of hard luck.

Don Smith
It was a big improvement over last year. It looks real promising for next year.

I thought it was a swell season. The boys really tried hard.
Phyllis Johnson
Very exciting, very good team all together.

Bob Bean
We enjoyed the season, but we should have won a few more games.

Don Hoch
It was good; even though we did not win all the games. It was an improvement over last year. The boys did swell considering this was their first year working together.

Sue Smith
The season was better than I thought it would be. It was the best we have had in years.

Gene Bechtel

To the McPherson Student Body
This seems like a very inadequate way to say "thank you" to each of you who mean so much to us, and to whom I'd like to say a very special thank you for the beautiful arrangement of flowers you presented on Monday at the Inaugural Dinner. The flowers may fade as the days roll by, but the memory of them and their givers shall glow throughout the years.

Sincerely,
Irene Bittinger.

Bulldogs Finish Strong Down Baker And C. of E.

Canines Stage Comeback, Top C. of E. 63-44

The McPherson College Bulldogs broke their five game conference losing streak last Friday night by tromping the College of Emporia Presbies 63-44, on the local high school hardwoods.

The Bulldogs took over the lead after C. of E. had held a 1 to nothing edge, and were never seriously threatened throughout the game. However, the Presbies outscored the Bulldogs in the second stanza 12 points to 10, but the 21 to 13 point lead the Bulldogs held at the first quarter was too much for the Presbies to overcome.

The Bulldogs displayed their old form in the third quarter as they outscored Emporia 18 to 8, to run their lead to 49-33 at the end of three frames.

Coach Woodard used his reserves quite freely during the final frame and the Bulldogs continued to outscore their opponents.

Nine Bulldogs shared in the scoring with Captain Loren Black, enstaff leading with 16. Carpenter followed with 10, Bechtel got 9 and Hanaganne 8.

McRae led the C. of E. scoring with 13 points, followed by Allen with 8.

The Bulldogs counted on 30 percent of their field tries, to better their efforts of the last few games. C. of E. hit 23 percent of their field goal attempts.

Two close games were played Saturday afternoon. Tabor lost one of their return games to the Mac girls, and won another.

In a game played at 2:30, Tabor defeated the McPherson girls 31-20. The Mac team led most of the way but the Tabor team overtook them in the last minutes of the game. Loewen of Tabor was high point with 18 points.

The tables were turned in the second game, and the Tabor team led most of the way, but the Varsity girls took the lead near the end to win 27-26. Marlette Grove of McPherson and Ratslaff of Tabor tied for scoring honors, with 19 points each.

This brings the Varsity girls record to a total of three wins and three losses.

Canines Tame Wildcats 62-46

The McPherson College Bulldogs ended the 1950-51 basketball season on a torrid note Wednesday night as they displayed a fast moving offense and a very effective zone defense to tame the Baker Wildcats 62-46.

Coach "Woody" Woodard's Bulldogs found the basket, and cashed in on a better percentage of their shots, and clamped a very effective zone defense on the Wildcats to turn in their 11th win of the season. The Bulldogs have lost 9 games.

The win over Baker gives the Bulldogs a fourth place tie with Baker in the Kansas Conference. The season just completed is the best the Bulldogs have enjoyed since 1947 when they finished the season in third in the conference.

The Baker contest was the finale for only one Bulldog, Earl Grindle. Earl turned in a fine performance to end his collegiate career as he garnered nine points and turned in his usual good floor game.

Wayne Blickenstaff led the scoring for both teams with 17 points, followed by Lovan with 10, Grindle and Bechtel with 9, and Hanaganne with 8.

Bob Merrill was high for the visitors with 13 counters, followed by Ken Steras with 12.

Baker Game Finale For Earl Grindle

The Baker game Wednesday night rang down the curtain on the collegiate basketball career of Earl "Jody" Grindle.

This year marks the third year Earl has been on the Bulldog squad. As a sophomore Earl made the varsity squad but saw only limited action. Last year Earl again made the varsity and about midway in the season he broke in to the starting line-up, and has been on the floor at the opening whistle each game since.

Earl is not a high scorer, but adds much to other departments of play. Earl is seldom seen to make a bad pass, waste a dribble, or lose the ball on a violation. He adds much to the Bulldog defense, and could be pointed out as one of the better defense Bulldog players.

With the close of the roundball season, Earl will be working for his fourth monogram in baseball. He will receive his second letter in basketball for his efforts this year.

Kansas Conference Ottawa Wins Loop Bunting

With the help of the Bethany Swedes, Ottawa has emerged the winner of the 1950-51 Kansas Conference race.

A week ago Ottawa and Kansas Wesleyan were tied for the loop lead, but that was before the Wesleyan Coyotes had played their return game with Bethany. The Swedes poured it on the Coyotes to the tune of 67-46 in Lindsay last Friday night, to knock any Coyote hopes for the title into a cocked hat. At the same time Ottawa ended its season with a win over Bethel 83-50 to win the title.

McPherson ended its season with a flourish by beating C. of E. 63-44 and Baker 62-46, to move into a fourth place tie with Baker.

College of Emporia turned in a surprising upset victory Wednesday night over Bethel, to top off a very hectic and surprise filled conference season. The win over Bethel was the first and only loop victory for the Presbies this season.

All of the conference teams but Ottawa will be packing away their roundball togs until another season. Ottawa, however has a date to meet the winner of the C. I. C., either Emporia State or Washburn, to determine the representative of this district in the N. A. I. B. Tourney in Kansas City. Ottawa holds a win over Emporia State from earlier this year and on the basis of this might be expected to win the N. A. I. B. berth. Kansas Wesleyan of the Kansas Conference represented this district in the N. A. I. B. last year.

Don Anderson of Kansas Wesleyan continues to lead the individual scorers at seasons' end with a total of 376 points. The Blickenstaff brothers of McPherson are ranked seventh and ninth in the final tabulation.

Gals Guys Top Team, Smith Leads Scorers In Intramurals

With only eight games left in the Intramural League, Gals Guys seem destined to take the loop bunting. However, should Gals Guys drop their game with the Faculty, Imps of Satan would share the title. The Imps have completed their schedule, but Gals Guys have two games remaining.

The top eight teams, after the regular season battles are over, will compete in a single elimination tournament which will get under way next Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. The pairings have not been announced as yet, as the seventh and eighth teams are still in doubt.

Should different teams win the regular season and the tournament, the champion will be decided in a play-off.

Don Smith continues to make the individual scoring race a one man show. Smith now has a total of 185 points, a lead of 30 points over Jerry Neher, his nearest rival. Neher with 155 and Dean Coughenour with 151, go with Smith to make up the top three.

A total of twenty men have topped the 75 point mark and eight of these have topped the century mark.
