

Seniors Sponsor All-School Party

The first class sponsored all school party of the year will be held in the gym tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The senior class is in charge of plans for the party.

Although the seniors have refused to reveal the detailed plans for the party before tomorrow evening, Dale Oltman, class president, announced in assembly Monday that it will be a progressive party.

Dale suggested that those planning to attend the party should wear clothing appropriate for walking and climbing stairs. Students and faculty members may expect to find themselves in buildings other than the gym before the evening is over.

The senior class promises unusual games and entertainment plus food. They ask each person to bring 15 cents to help cover the expenses of the party.

Marihue Bowman has been appointed chairman of the program committee. Those helping her are: Dean Cotton, Byron Frantz, and Ellis Albright.

Lois Yoder is chairman of the committee in charge of refreshments.

Bill Daggett and Dale Snyder are to supervise the clean up after the party.

Each of the four classes will have an opportunity to sponsor an all school party sometime during this school year.

The assignments are made by the Social Committee of which Glen Nicholson is chairman. Other members of the committee are: Miriam Keim, Ruth Moors, Jake Schaeffer, Dick Wareham, and Sarah May Vancil.

He's In The Dog House!

By Carole Huffman

Frequently upon inquiring the whereabouts of someone, the answer is "He's in the Dog House." Contrary to the usual connotation of the phrase this is quite a respectable place on Macampus. The Dog House is the place at which we buy our hot dogs and dunk our doughnuts.

The name is in keeping with our McPherson traditional emblem, the bulldog. It is a non-profit organization sponsored and operated by the Student Council. This year it is under the supervision and management of sophomore Donna Lou Sooby.

"Peanuts? Or Popcorn?"

The Dog House staff is a group of dapper folk who trip around behind the counter, serving us quickly and efficiently. Waitresses are: Anita Rogers, Kathryn Larson, Claudia Stump, Barbara Berry, Rita Ellen (over and out), Elsie Kindley, Geneva Kriebel substitutes when the occasion demands.

Waiters are Don West and Harvey Pauls.

Macampus Makes Ready For Chase

The SCA has announced that Sadie Hawkins' Day will be Saturday, October 28. The festivities will begin with the "chase" starting at 8 a. m. Thursday, Oct. 26, and ending Friday evening at 5 p. m., with the annual Sadie Hawkins' Day party being held in the gym Saturday evening, Oct. 28.

Sadie Hawkins' Day was heralded into the events of Macampus on Nov. 7, 1941 with these tall headlines appearing in the Nov. 8th Spectator: "SADIE HAWKIN'S DAY TO BE TOMORROW." It was the brain child of several persons of the campus and in particular, Dick Burser, Mac grad who is now a missionary in Africa.

The first observance had some of the following rules:

The "chase" shall begin on Friday at 1 p. m. and end on Saturday at 5 p. m.

Little Abner shall be chosen from the elusive males who have escaped capture.

Daisy Mae will be chosen from one of the girls who have captured a male and her escort shall be turned free, to be chased by the unattached females of the campus.

Daisy Mae shall receive a special prize, Little Abner as her partner.

These are just a few of the rules adopted in 1941.

BSCM Conference To Convene In Virginia Thanksgiving Weekend

About Macollege campus some discussion has been heard concerning the BSCM conference, the initials standing for Brethren Student Christian Movement. This year their annual conference will be held at the Brethren College campus in Bridgewater, Virginia.

The conference is to begin on Thanksgiving day at four in the afternoon and continue until the following Sunday afternoon. The BSCM is not only for students attending a Brethren college, but for all Brethren young people, although the conference is always held on one of the Brethren college campuses.

This year it is hoped that enough students from Mac will desire to attend that a bus can be chartered, but if not, cars will transport the group to Bridgewater.

Polka Dots, Two-Tones, Plaids, Stripes Lead P. J. Parade Down Main

150 View Kline Sunday

An estimated 150 people visited Kline Hall during open house Sunday afternoon from 2:30-5.

Rooms, particularly on third floor were decorated especially for the public, usually emphasizing a theme centering about the girls' home states.

Refreshments were served in a progressive fashion; punch on the third floor; relish plate on second; and coffee and cake on first floor. Many individual rooms served mints, nuts, and other candies to the visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rogers are the head residents of Kline and supervised the open house program.

Polka dots, plaids, two-tones, stripes, and nightshirts when displayed on Macampus went on its annual pajama parade and snake dance last Thursday.

The students of Macollege, attired in their best P.J.'s, gathered at the Jr. High and from there conducted a snake dance through the streets of the business section as well as through two drug stores, the courthouse lawn, two hotels, and a recreation parlor. They paused at the intersections to give their fight yells and sing to music of the Macampus band, which provided the music and songs.

Later in the evening, the students attended the show, "Comanche Territory", at the Manor theater.

Daggett, Larson Head Quad Staff

Bill Daggett and Kathryn Larson have been approved by the Board of Publications and the Student Council for the positions of editor, and assistant editor of the Quadrangle, respectively. Both jobs were vacated when Al Zunkel editor-elect and Ken Kinzie failed to return to school this fall.

Daggett edited the 1949-50 yearbook, and because of previous experience, was appointed to head this year's annual.

Individual and some group pictures for the Quad have already been taken. The Friesen studio, and Irwin Porter are in charge of photography.

Press Acclaims Former Prof.

Dr. Harvey H. Nininger is a sky miner. The former Macollege science professor is, according to a recent press clipping, the world's "foremost authority on meteorites"—stone and metal fragments which fall to the earth at intervals from the outer space.

Dr. Nininger now lives 19 miles west of Winslow, Arizona, where he has established the American Meteorite Museum. It contains 8 1/2 tons from 4,000 specimens of meteorite material representing 27 years' work.

The National Council of Churches will bring together the work of eight national interdenominational agencies which have been carrying forward the cooperative work of Protestant churches on the national level.

The eight agencies concerned are the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, Foreign Missions Conference of North America, International Council of Religious Education, Missionary Education Movement, National Protestant Council on Higher Education, United Council of Church Women, United Stewardship Council, and the Home Missions Council of North America.

Official Launching The National Council will be officially launched in Cleveland, Ohio, at the Constituting Convention, Nov. 28-Dec. 1.

More than 500 official delegates will attend. In addition to the official delegates, 5,000 visiting delegates are being invited to attend to witness the event.

Twenty-six cooperating communions have already officially taken action to be represented in the National Council and others have the proposal under consideration for approval.

Boards of additional denominations will be members of divisions of the Council but will not have membership in the Council as a whole.

This 'Patient' Is Happy . . .

Jack Kough

One night early in the school year I was busy in the office preparing some material to be sent to the pastors of the region. The enthusiasm of life at McPherson College kept hindering my work until finally I turned to the typewriter to record some of my impressions. It was similar to feeling the pulse of our institution and pronouncing the verdict: "This patient is not sick but full of life and happy."

College is in full swing. As I sit here this evening working in the office, the vigor of our college expresses itself in many ways.

In the Student Union Room here in the Administration Building, the pep club is having a party to prepare for the football season. The delighted screams of many enthused girls greet each other. Now the band is practicing in another room of the building. The brass drum beats out its hollow song of rhythm while the horns scream their accompaniment.

During a lull in the activities of band and pep club, the clear voice of a tenor practicing in the chapel sends its sweet note into the silence. The song is appropriate to the time. The words, "God made all life," come to me as the band's insistent cymbals clang.

Now a boy and girl stroll hand in hand past my office door with a sweet smile of recognition. The electric organ in the chapel is pealing out its accompaniment for the tenor who is now singing the Lord's Prayer. The chatter of many girls' voices are heard as the pep club adjourns for the evening. The band has swung the vigorous into the college song. It's stirring rhythm make the good feel of football cleats digging into rich earth on frosty nights come back into my memory.

Truly the tenor was right. God made all life. It is good to be part of such an organization in which many fields of life are put into a well-knit Christian community. It is good to be at McPherson College.

More Wet Fish . . . ?

Several of the college fellows left at 11:30 the other morning for Kansas City. They are back now after taking physicals for military service. Others went before and more will likely be leaving soon for the same purpose. As the governmental hand reaches into Macollege and yanks away part of the student body one cannot help but wonder how deep the cut will be. How much longer will there be a substantial dichotomy of sex on Macampus?

When the Korean situation first broke, panic hit us in the face like a wet fish and was every bit as uncomfortable. Then after the usual period of fear and tension had passed, life resumed at least a semblance of the coziness of pre-Korean days.

Now that MacArthur is preparing his boys for what we are led to believe will be the final push (for the time being, anyway), string-pullers in Washington carefully piece out propaganda to direct our emotions, and to fit the results of the Korean campaign.

After all the red birds are ousted from the island we may have a season of back slapping before history repeats itself and there are more wet fish, or we may not.

Unless some people quit gazing into the crystal ball and start circulating the peace pipe among the elephants and donkeys in the capitol city, Macampus next year may look like Smith or Vassar.

Puerto Rican Likes Bing's Songs, 'Stardust,' Macollege

Yolanda Cerezo, a sophomore from Puerto Rico, has come to add to the international atmosphere at McPherson College. Yolanda plans to graduate from McPherson and then return to her native country to become a social worker.

Yolanda is the oldest in a family of four children. Her special interests are sports and music. All American sports but football are played in her native country.

She has taken piano lessons and professes a special interest in American music. She has learned our music by reading the words in magazines and by hearing it over the radio. At first her family did not share the same interest in our music, but gradually, as Yolanda sang and played it in her attempt to learn they also grew to like it.

Her favorite American song is "Stardust," and she confesses that she is especially fond of Bing Crosby's singing.

The movies in Puerto Rico are mostly American. Like anyone else she enjoys going to a good movie. There are also some Spanish movies in Puerto Rico as well as from Argentina, England, and Mexico.

Yolanda likes the United States very much and feels that the people are very friendly. She says "It doesn't seem as though I am even in a strange place."

The 30-piece Macollege Band, under the direction of Prof. Delbert Crabb, presented a program of modern fox-trots and seasonal marches for the student assembly, Monday, Oct. 9. This was the second appearance of the full band which is one of the largest bands in the Kansas Conference.

The program included Sousa's "Semper Fidelis", "Tezra, Tezra, Tezra", "American Patrol", "Dearie", "Indiana State Band," and "Goodnight, Irene."

Max McAuley was master-of-ceremonies at the concert.

The College Brass Quartet was introduced at the concert. Members of the quartet are Gene Bechtel, McPherson; Curtis Leicht, Perryton, Texas; Bob Price, Bellefontaine, Ohio; and Don West, Pampa, Texas. The accompanist is Berwyn Oltman, Enders, Nebraska. This group played "Margie."

Wichita Manufacturer Addresses Student Body

"People don't know the truth about factories," said Mr. J. Allen Travillo to Macollege students in assembly, Wednesday, Oct. 4. Mr. Travillo went on to say that working conditions in factories are now outstanding. "Management has done a fine job in representing the interests of the owner, the customer, and the laborer," he said.

Quoting a naturalized citizen, he stated, "America means opportunity, . . . freedom, . . . and responsibility."

Mr. Travillo represented the National Association of Manufacturers and the Wichita Chamber of Commerce.

Harpers Presents Centennial Issue

Celebrating 100 years of publication Harper's Magazine has presented a special centennial issue this month.

The past century, 1850-1950, with its implications for the future is the theme of the issue. A subordinate theme is the development of the magazine itself.

One article, "America on the Move," presents the history of the United States as shown by typical pictures which have appeared in Harper's Magazine during its 100 years of publication.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt presents the progress of women during the past 100 years in an article, "Women Have Come a Long Way." In "The Century," Bernard DeVoto reviews the crises and fears of a nation in a perpetual state of growth.

Katherine Anne Porter and William Faulkner, contemporary American writers of fiction, have contributed the short stories for the issue.

Even the ads in this 200-page issue reflect the centennial theme.

"What is home without a mother?" said the personable young man.
"Well," replied the sweet young thing, "I am tonight."

Thursday night found Mac students down town in the strangest garb... pajamas! Bright reds, blues, in fact every color of the rainbow, made the pajama parade colorful, as the students paraded down through the main streets of town and through business establishments (and the pool hall). The cheer leaders led the crowd in some fast yells as they stopped to catch their breaths after the pulls and yanks of "crack the whip."

Betty Ann Murray has taken up petty thievery in the last week or so. Her roommate discovered the seat of a car in their closets which Betty Ann had hidden there, much like a pack rat collects and hides his loot. The strange thing about the affair is that Betty Ann insists on trying to blame others for her crime. The seat was found in the closet after the pajama parade... It belonged to the Porter.

Parties are still the best and most popular entertainment on Macampus, according to the number which have been given lately. Barbara Marchand gave a party in her home after the football game Friday night. Those present were Joan Pinther, George Kelm, Mickey Akers, Wayne Blickenstaff, Lucy Flory, Duane Jamison, Sue Smith, John Robison, Elsa Kurtz, Marlin Walter, Art Myers and the hostess, Barbara Marchand.

Peg Sargent also gave a party at her home, following the Bulldog-Willard duel. Guests were Rowan Kelm, Betty Ann Murray, Phyllis Bowman, Beverly Turner, Ann Carpenter, Joan Pinther, Orva Wilkens, Marilee Grove, and the hostess, Peggy Sargent.

A slumber(less) party or two were enjoyed in the dorm last Tuesday night. The girls slept in the parlor on nice soft blankets placed on the hard floor! Those who enjoyed said pleasures were Peggy Sargent, Orva Wilkens, Beverly Turner, Mickey Akers, and Lucy Flory.

Fourth floor Arnold had a "sing" last Monday night. They went around to the different rooms on third floor singing such songs as "I'm a Little T. N. T.". Third floor not to be outdone, in return sang "She Waded in the Water" for the benefit of the fourth floor girls. Then the girls joined in a song or two, to keep the two floors on equal terms.

Monday afternoon Donna Sooby was having trouble with the "Hoopce". It just would not start. One kind boy got it started for her, and a group of girls piled in, bound for town. Along about Main Street, the "Hoopce" refused to go further. The girls used their muscles and brawn but the car would not go. Finally a pick-up truck took pity on the young ladies, and the "Hoopce" once more rolled along. The faithful car ran chokingly till it got to the drive in back of Arnold's, then it died. Maybe Donna will have to hire a pick-up to push her from now on.

Mary Ellen Yoder was the guest of Mary Louise Hutcherson, off campus, last Sunday night, and Joan Pinther, Carole Huffman and Dorothy Swinger had a slumber party in Mary Ellen's room. The girls overslept, and consequently one of the girls missed her 8 o'clock English class.

Those who went to Wichita over the weekend for District Conference were Phyllis Bowman, Royce Bean, Doris Kesler, Dave Metzler, Betty Ann Murray, Irwin Porter, Claud Stump, Naomi Mankay, Ruth Crumpacker, Albert Rogers, Don West, Dick Wagener.

The boys in Falmestock could have made good use of clothespins last Tuesday night after an "unknown" group of girls put sulphur candles in the windows of some of the rooms in the boys' dorm. The odor was potent, for it could be detected all over the campus. Some of the boys have been wondering how innocent little girls could think up such a mean trick.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Neber visited their daughter, Rowena last weekend. Rowena had been in town week.

Phyllis Johnson visited her home in Missouri last week; Mildred Beck visited her home in Nickerson, Kansas; Maxine Cockpoek went to Kress, Texas to visit her home; and Wilma Reed and Martha Jo Rhodes visited their homes in Little River over the weekend.

"Kansas City, here we come." That's what a group of Mac students sang on their way to the big city last week. The purpose of the trip was to see the stage play lost in the stars. Wayne Zeigler took his car and those who accompanied him were Miss Lehman, Kathryn Larson, Butch Coffman, Frank Hanzgarne, and Norma Couch. Norma visited her home in K. C. while the group was there.

The football game was well attended by both young and old of McPherson, last Friday night despite the rain. The WAA girls sold food to soothe the aching throats of the enthusiastic spectators.

A young lady who had parked her car in forbidden territory returned some two hours later to spy from afar a large and patient policeman curled up in his front seat awaiting his prey.

Making a quick decision, she stepped into a taxi, rode home and telephoned the police Department that her car had been stolen.

An hour later the car was returned by the same traffic policeman, quite proud of his alertness.

Singer Aids Students Of Folklore

A familiar radio voice is helping students to collect and preserve our native culture. Prizes of $125, $75, and $50 are the three sums singer Jo Stafford is offering for college student collections of American folklore in the year 1950.

Director Lee, folklore professor at Chico State College, Chico, California, is chairman of the national committee that has been appointed by the American Folklore Society to conduct the contest.

In publishable form the student collections of folklore—what people do, say, sing, and pass on to following generations—should be in Dr. Lee's hands before Jan. 15, 1951. These and dissertations meeting the requirements are eligible for consideration.

Miss Stafford, the popular singer who in 1943 was a $100 a week songstress for Tommy Dorsey's band and by 1945, in the words of TIME magazine, "the most-listened-to female vocalist," has been thinking of ways of encouraging those students who are collecting and analyzing American legends, superstitions, and folk songs. She is offering these awards for the third consecutive year.

Judges of the contest request that the collections be gathered from primary sources and be submitted as original research. Manuscripts are to be accompanied by letters setting forth when, where and how the material was collected, together with a listing of the scholarly assistance—such as genealogical information, etc.—utilized by them.

They are to be typewritten on good quality paper and double-spaced. Winning entries will become the property of the American Folklore Society; other manuscripts will be returned only if postage is included.

The customers fled on the hall of bullets—all except an Englishman who stood at the bar calmly finishing his drink.

"Well," snapped the gangster. "There certainly were a lot of them, weren't there?"

Presbies Durand To Test Bullbogs Pass Defense Tonite

Tonight at 8 p. m., on Emporia's Schaffner Field the McPherson College Bulldogs will meet the College of Emporia Presbies. It will be the third conference game of the season for both teams.

The Bulldogs pass defense which has allowed six touchdowns in three via air lanes will run against the finest passer they have seen this season in slim Don Durand, the gifted southpaw tosser from Topeka. Durand, a senior, was all-Kansas Conference in 1949.

The Presbies are coached by Wayne McConnell, former headman at Effingham, Downs, and Manhattan high schools. McConnell's team at Manhattan ranked in the top 10 in the season.

One year ago at this time Lindsborg was toasting their own Bethany Swedes as the best team to hit the Kansas Conference in a decade. They had just smothered Baker 21-0 and were apparently going to romp home with the Kansas Conference crown.

When they later beat C of E 13-0, the Swedes kept their unscathed record in the conference clean, but in the process lost all-conference players Bill Engstrom and Jack Teitenburg for the season and had enough of their other players injured to wreck the season. Ottawa swamped them 47-0 and Bethel upset them 13-6.

This season Ray Hahn has sung the miseries. His line straggled a scant 170 pounds, and there were only a handful of lettermen. As usual the Swedes have arrived with something unexpected regardless of the predictions.

After losing 25-7 to a strong Kearney, Neb., Teachers squad and 7-0 on a fluke to northwest Oklahoma in non-league play, the Swedes tied KWU 14-14. Last week they served official notice that they are going to settle a few old scores by surprising C of E 12-7.

The memory of the 115 yards C of E was penalized last year in crippling the Swedes right out of the flag practically eliminated the Presbies from contention this year. All-conference halfback Billy Carlson, one of the few who survived last year's game without injury, passed for both touchdowns. Don Durand's fourth quarter flip to Bob Swedberg brought the only Presby score.

Tonight the Swedes go after the second block in their revenge campaign as they take on Bethel at Lindsborg. The third corner of the campaign will be the homecoming affair at Lindsborg against Ottawa Oct. 28.

Ottawa's 27-0 win over Bethel

last week was impressive. The Braves play Kansas Wesleyan for the Coyotes homecoming game tomorrow night. Wesleyan dropped a non-conference affair to St. Benedicts last week 19-14. KWU played the Ravens on even terms for one half but couldn't continue the pace. Don Howe, the Coyotes ace passer, did not play at all during the game, and the KWU passing game showed it. Bill Martin, Wally Forsberg's sophomore ace who is the Coyotes number one kicker last year, got into action for the first time this season after being hobbled with a leg injury.

As downhill my first time I slid. I said to myself, "Here goes, kid! To watch skiing thrills me: With envy it fills me; So I'll try if it kills me." It did.

This certain mid-western school teacher enjoyed a reputation for short reports to parents. On one occasion he wrote of one of his pupils, "Tring," which delighted the boy's parents until the next report came in. This one read "Very tring."

Outstanding Against Baker

Rain, Boyce Smith, Fumbles Stop Bulldogs 13-6

The McPherson College Bulldogs found the football and Baker's Boyce Smith equally slippery as the Baker Wildcats edged Chalmer Woodard's squad 13-6 in the first home game here last Friday.

Rain which fell intermittently for the final three quarters kept the Bulldogs from sustaining a complete offensive. Seven fumbles, of which Baker recovered five kept the Bulldogs from advancing farther than the Bakers 30 after the rain started in the second quarter.

The rain did not stop the Wildcats' hounder, Boyce Smith. Smith gained 167 yards in 27 attempts, scored the winning touchdown, and passed to Gene Chubb for the other six points.

Before the rain started the Bulldogs had scored first and were started on a second march. The touchdown drive started late in the opening stanza after Baker had punted out on their own 35. A fourth yard loss on a reverse and a penalty set MC back to the 47.

Nine yards by Kerr and 13 by Robison gave the Bulldogs a first down on the 25. Two rushes by Gene Smith, one by Don Hoch, and a penalty put the ball on the six.

Robison busted the line three times, finally slipping across from the two. Hoch's pass for the extra point was incomplete.

The Bulldogs started a second drive after taking possession after the kickoff. The attack bogged on the 30, and Baker took over simultaneously as the rain started. For the only time in the game the Bulldogs let down. After a short delay in the rain during a penalty controversy, Baker roared back.

Boyce Smith sandwiched runs of 11, 12, and 29 yards around Harry Barrett's five yard advance. With the ball on the 14, Smith caught the MC secondary flat-footed and tied the game up with a scoring pitch to Gene Chubb.

The Bulldog line that had been so vulnerable a week before, played great defensive ball the second half but finally yielded after twice holding the Wildcats on the scoring doorstep. The goal line stand for four downs after Baker was only three yards from a touchdown was one of the top defensive jobs seen here in years.

With four minutes remaining Johnny Robison fumbled on the 42, and John Zorn recovered. Again Smith was the thorn in the side. After reaching the 18, Baker ran a lop-sided spread play to the right four consecutive times.

The first time Smith gained 13 yards, the second Bus Hill was stopped at the line of scrimmage, the third brought incomplete pass. On the fourth try Smith went over. Chris Schwanz kicked the extra point, but it was superfluous.

Howard Mehlinger tried two desperation passes but the Baker line rushed him too hard and both tosses were incomplete.

In Orono, Maine, a favorite gathering spot of students at the University of Maine is the Snack Bar in Carnegie Library because it is a cheerful place—full of friendly collegiate atmosphere. And when the gang gathers around, ice-cold Coca-Cola gets the call. For here, as in college haunts everywhere—Coke belongs.
