Relief Truck Visits Mac

The Brethren Church Relief Truck from Nappanee, Ind., touring the Western Region was at McPherson last Saturday night to pick up relief goods to be sent to Europe.

Several Macollege students worked from 8:30 p. m. till midnight loading up the truck with old shoes, clothes, grease and other things, and after the loading operations were over, the boys were served coffee and cake by Mrs. James Elrod.

After leaving McPherson, the truck will visit other places in the Western Region to collect some more relief goods. Among the places to be visited by the truck are Hutchinson, Topeka, Kansas City, Mo., and Des Moines, Ia.

Several unmarked boxes were accredited to Macollege, as many of the students have contributed in this drive. Among the boxes are some designated to Dr. W. W. Peters, ex-president of Macollege, now at Vienna, Austria.

Mrs. Elrod states that articles are still welcome, and any students who wish to contribute to this cause could do so by taking what they want to give to the garage at the Elrod home.

Among those who helped load the truck last Saturday night were John Thomas, Don Fike, Don Butler, and Berwyn Oltman.

Juniors, Seniors Take English Test On Friday, Feb. 6

Juniors and seniors who have not passed the English Proficiency Examination will take the second semester test Friday morning, Feb. 6, at 8 o'clock in the Chemistry Lecture Room.

Passing the English Proficiency Test is a graduation requirement. Miss Sarah May Vancil, assistant professor of English, requests that anyone who cannot be present at the appointed time see her or Dean J. B. Bechtel to make arrangements for a test date.

The test consists of the writing of a prose composition on a subject selected from a list of topics given at the time of the exam.

Students who do not pass the examination the second time will be given an opportunity for remedial work with Prof. Maruice A. Hess.

Papers are given code numbers so that the English faculty do not know the identity of the writer when the paper is graded.

The English Proficiency Exam has been given at McPherson College for six years.

Many colleges and universities are now passing up such a test before a degree is granted. Kansas State College, Manhattan, and the University of Kansas, Lawrence, have the English proficiency requirement.

Students transferring from McPherson College to Kansas State College have reported that they were excused from the exam there when they had passed McPherson's exam.

After the English Proficiency papers are graded, each student will have a conference with one member of the faculty to learn the criticisms on his paper.

It's What You Make It

With the coming of a new semester, and also a new year, we are going to new classes, meeting new students, new ideas, and setting new goals.

With this semester, I am happy to be your new editor. I want to give the readers of the Spectator the kind of paper they like. Remember, this is your paper, and if you do not like something, it is up to you to speak up and tell the staff about it.

Anything that is done for the good of everyone is always open to constructive criticism. We want you to feel this way about the Spectator, too.

Let's make 1953 a great year in every way—in our classes, sports, extra-curricular activities, and everything we do.

Let's face the future year as a challenge to rise above our shortcomings of the past, and to improve our lives with new vigor and enthusiasm in whatever we do.—R. P.

Give Your Dimes!

Polio was a paradox in 1952. While science last year was making its most historic strides toward polio prevention, the disease struck with force unparalleled in American history. The year saw a tug-of-war between epidemic and control which only a successful 1953 March of Dimes drive this January can decide favorably.

It is true that research financed by the March of Dimes last summer proved that the blood fraction gamma globulin could provide marked, if temporary, protection against paralytic polio. It is also true that polio outbreaks are getting worse in about the same proportion that polio research is getting better.

A record March of Dimes drive will be required to carry out the National Foundation's vital activities in 1953, for these activities are entirely dependent on the funds raised by voluntary contributions to the March of Dimes.

In past years, college students have played an important part in nationwide March of Dimes. Yet in 1953, the support of college students and faculty members is needed as never before. With their support and that of other voluntary workers and contributors throughout the country, it is confidently expected that the response to the 1953 appeal will make sufficient funds available to keep the March of Dimes ahead of the March of Polio.

Africans Send Letter Of Thanks

The following is a letter Dr. Bittinger received from the youth of Umuekwu in West Africa.

We, the youth and entire town of Umuekwu have the pleasure to move a vote of thanks to you on behalf of our brother, Elijah Odokara, who has come to America by our unanimous vote and selection. He is one of our trustworthy and reliable youths, and as a young man, we rely on him as a light amidst our mass of illiteracy and darkness.

He has informed us that he has made a change in his style of Christendom for the better. We really need a new life and a pure one, too. If the Church of the Brethren can polish Elijah for us so that he will come home to fight and kill some of the evils eating our moral stand, we shall willingly reject the present way, which pollutes our persons.

The entire village has been polluted with imported habits of drinking and smoking. Our town, with a population of not less than two thousand, has neither a hospital or a dispensary. Disease and lack of medical and sanitary aid are our main handicaps. Our people in their great despair are often driven to superstition, due to ignorance of the way out, not knowing which way to follow.

We are happy that one day, Elijah will be returning to us as a pioneer for our relief, a minister of the soul and a doctor of our infirmities. The entire town rejoices at the acceptance of Elijah Odokara into the fold of the Church of the Brethren, and in the good care fostered to him by you and other members.

Accept the praise
For what you do.

Learning

I studied well what authors said.
Learning to play from what I read.
Forehand, backhand, lob, and smash—
Smashing all from books in a flash.
Service to forehand; rush the net;
Placement and strategy win the set.
So I read and studied the game.
But on the courts it was not the same.
I missed the ball; my racket turned;
Doing, not reading, is how I learned.
—Alvin Zunkel.

Clay And People

As I stood by the potter's wheel, rolling and blending a lump of clay in preparation for centering it on the wheel, the thought came that each of our lives must be centered around some great ideal—God, service, social concern, evangelism, peace, or inner light. The ideal will differ as people will differ; yet each left will have a center.

The forming of the clay into a cone took time, concentration more than one beginning anew, until the clay was ready to be opened. Just so in the process of growing, our hearts and minds are made receptacles of something good, something worthwhile.

As the clay cone grew taller, it took a rough form. There was a vase; I thought of each student. The irregular top of the vase suggested, not a failure, but an opportunity for a new creation, a pitcher. Each life has its own creative possibilities. Our job is to make the best of what we have as our lives are finding shape and meaning.

Hardships and new experiences may be painful in the process, but they make us strong, as the heat of the kiln hardens and matures the clay. If we come through the strains and hardships, we are ready for service; centered and adjusted we will reflect God's growth in our lives by the light in our face, by the enthusiasm we bring to our work. Whether on a job, at home, or in school, let us all become instruments of peace, each in his own way.

Bulldog Barks

Sighs of relief were uttered as students pulled their noses out of their books a week ago Wednesday, to take a few days' vacation from studies to enjoy life. But we're back at it again, starting a new semester, buying new books, adapting a new schedule and finding out last semester's grades.

During the semester's lap-over, Carole Davis became the bride of Dick King. The ceremony was held in her home town of Nocona, Texas. They're back at school already, just waiting for school to get out.

Ruth Papa is editor of the Spectator this semester. She was managing editor with Lorene Marshall last semester and speaking from opinion, she put out a very good paper. Ruth is now taking over the headaches, jobs and details that befront an editor, and she'll do her best.

Several MacCollege students have left the campus due to necessities. Stan McClung went to his home in Sacramento, Calif. to finish his major in a college near there. He left a lot of friends here, especially one—she lives in Arnold Hall.

Ann Carpenter is leaving to see her fiancée in Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, for a few days and then she will take the bus to her home in Las Vegas, Nev., to get things ready for her wedding, which will be held here in March. Though she'll be out of school, she'll have plenty to keep her busy.

The army calls again and this time it's taking Bob Schmidt next Tuesday. He'll go to Kansas City and from there, he'll find out where he will be stationed. He hopes it's Fort Riley, but you never can tell.

Three couples decided to go to Wichita a week ago Thursday in trusting faith that one of the male members had read the paper right. "There was going to be a Horace Heidt show at the Forum and it'll really be good" . . . So, they donned their duds and headed that way, despite snow.

They found a parking place near there, and finally got inside the door with icy gusts of wind pushing them in.

The boys hadn't gotten the tickets yet and as they were looking around for the seller, people dressed in stacks, jeans, bobby socks and saddle shoes kept pouring in.

They in turn stared as queerly at the couples in heels, hose and suits. And then—just over some man's head—there was a huge sign—Wrestling tonight—and right next to it—Horace Heidt, coming Saturday.

Well, thanks to Ed Frantz (alias Horace)—Lu Carpenter, Donna Phelon, Bob Peel, Betty Brummell and Carl Metsker wound up at a show eating popcorn.

Shirley McDanel had quite an accident. She was shopping with a friend of hers and as she got out of the car, somehow the door went completely shut on one of her fingers. It's still in a bandage and probably will be for some time, yet.

There have been a number of new girls moving into the dorm due to leaveings and other reasons. Marjona Wine is rooming with Barbara Berry on fourth and Lois Knackstedt is living on fourth too, with Robina Royer.

Pauline Adams, who was here last year, will be rooming with Arlie Hudson on third. Down on first, Phyllis Wampler has moved in with the new nurse, Pat Ford. Martha McClung is staying in Kline Hall with Virginia Reist this semester.

It's good to see Kenny Evan's face again. Five days before he was going to leave for school last Sept., he got rheumatic fever. But he's up again and will be in school the rest of this year.

The Food's class is trying something new this semester. Instead of making just enough food for themselves in the lab, they're going to making popovers, cream puffs and such for sale. The prices will vary according to the ingredients used and the product they make. Be on the look-out for them on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Next week they'll be making cookies and pies. There will probably be some kind of notice on the bulletin boards announcing where they will be and how much, so—

Be they a dime or quarter. Or taste like mortar.

Disregard how it feels. And eat between meals.

A Chemistry Student's Version Of The 23rd Psalm

I have a chemistry teacher, I shall not pass. He maketh me to show my ignorance Before the whole class. He giveth me more than I can learn. He lowereth my grade.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of knowledge,

I do not fear. He fireth questions at me In the presence of my classmates. He annoineth my head with problems.

My eyes runneth over. Surely atoms and molecules Shall follow me all the days of my life

And I shall dwell in the chemistry lab forever.

Ode To A Borrower

I think that I shall never see The dollar that I loaned to thee. A dollar that I could have spent, For varied forms of merriment.

The one you needed so that day, And which you said that you'd repay.

The one I loaned to you so gladly, The same which I now need so badly.

For whose return I had great hope, Just like an optimistic dope; For dollars loaned to folks like thee, Are not returned to fools like me.

Rattling Tumult

(ACP) At Texas Christian university a student tripped in the cafeteria, broke all the dishes on his tray and started an incident which ended in enough dishes to fill a 50-gallon can.

It happened on a Sunday afternoon. After the student stumbled and broke the dishes, several more students dropped their trays and ran from the room, apparently in protest over the meal.

Then came a volley of soft drink bottles from the lounge. The cashier stopped serving the lines and pleaded for order. The cafeteria manager asked that a committee meet with her and discuss the grievances.

But no one is really sure that grievances are at the bottom of this. The Skiff, student newspaper there, claims that some students are loud in their complaints about cafeteria food, while others praise it highly. The entire incident might just have been a psychological chain reaction.

College Students In Germany Have More Freedom

(ACP) A German student is completely free.

At Frankfurt university are studying about 5,000 students. There is no one living in dorms, fraternities or rooming houses. They all have their own rooms on rent, without any kinds of regulations or restrictions.

And there is no student party inside and outside of the University without alcoholic drinks.

Students greet their professors in class by knocking with pencils on the desks. If they are not agreeing with their professor, they will demonstrate their contrary opinion by scraping with feet. Today, because most are wearing crepe-soles, it is more popular to hiss by mouth.

Agreeing is expressed by knocking with pencils or by trampling. It happens very often that one part of the class agrees, while the rest is hissing—in the same moment.

Now between high school in the U. S. A. and Germany there is a fundamental difference. The kids in Germany enter high school at the age of 10 and stay there for nine years. During this time they have to take:

Nine years English, six years Latin, four years a third language (French, Italian or Spanish), five years Chemistry, nine years Geography, six years Physics and nine years of Mathematics. In addition, they must take Sports, History, German, Religion, Music and Drawing.

About 45 percent of all German children are going through high school.

German universities expect that a student will do the most important part of his studies at home by reading books. Courses have only the functions of introductions. There are no textbooks.

The professor names a certain number of books. The student has to decide what he wants to read. By this way, it is possible that a German university has about six months vacation during a year.

But a serious student has to study rather hard during this time. Many students renounce certain classes if the professor is not outstanding. They will register for the class and prefer to read good books in the field at home.

There are no tests and examinations between the studies. After three to four years the student will pass a big difficult examination to get the master degree.

He will apply for permission to take the examination if he has the feeling of being well prepared. But almost 30 percent will fail and can repeat the exam after a certain time.

You can get only two academic degrees at a German university, the Masters and the Doctor. Between German and other European universities is no hard difference.

Coppock, Lehman See California

Miss Doris Coppock and Miss Della Lehman were California bound during Christmas vacation. They stopped at Doris's home in Clovis, New Mexico on the Sunday following vacation where Miss Lehman talked at the Morning Opening Service at the Clovis Church of the Brethren.

At Clovis Doris picked up her parents, Mr. and Mrs. X. L. Coppock.

On the way to California, the Coppocks and Miss Lehman made a side trip to Mexicali, Mexico where they stopped, tried out their Spanish and ate a Spanish meal.

The meal consisted of Totadass, highly seasoned pigs feet, Tacos, corn meal, meat and lettuce patties, enchiladas, a cheese, tomato and onion concoction, and "cofe con leche".

The Coppocks stayed at Ocean-side, Calif. with Doris's brother Dale and family. Doris said what she enjoyed most was swimming in the Pacific by moonlight, watching T. V. and just eating and sleeping.

Miss Lehman took a bus to Los Angeles where she visited her brother W. C. Lehman. She lunched in Hollywood and saw several plays during her stay.

Miss Lehman met the Coppocks at La Verne where they visited friends before returning to Clovis via Palm Springs and Phoenix.

Miss Lehman spoke during the morning service Sunday, January 4, at the Clovis Church of the Brethren.

Following church, the party started back to McPherson accompanied by Mrs. X. L. Coppock.

Of Days To Come

A calendar on the wall to me Depicts the future stress and strain In numbers not in words, you see. The future happenings taunt my brain,

And tend to let my blood run cold. But now I let my thoughts unfold.

I'll never worry of what will be. I'll put my faith in what I see. I'll let the future take its toll, For what I want will be my goal. —Marlin Walters.

Great men are they who see that spiritual is stronger than material force, that thoughts rule the World.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Bulldogs Romp Swedes 64-43

The McPherson College Bulldogs found themselves after a slow first half in which they were only able to compile 23 points; go on and defeat the Bethany Swedes by a score of 64-43.

A near capacity crowd, that sounded even larger in Bethany's pint size gym, went wild in the first half as the game followed the pattern of most McPherson, Bethany games and was nip and tuck right down to the half-time whistle.

Both teams exhibited an amazing ability to miss the little round hoop during the first quarter. The McPherson players scored only two field goals in the first quarter, and this was one more than the Bethany players were able to score. An abundance of free throws lived up to the first quarter somewhat and the quarter ended with McPherson in the lead 9-8, after the lead had changed hands four times.

Bethany moved out in front for a short lived lead right at the beginning of the second quarter on successive baskets by Lang and Fry. With about half of the quarter remaining, Bob Bechtel put the Bulldogs out in front for good when he made a lay up and since he was fouled in the act of shooting, also added a free throw. At the half, McPherson was ahead 23-19.

McPherson started fast at the beginning of third quarter on two quick baskets by Bernard Whirley and Bethany was never in the game after that. The quarter ended with a couple of nice shots by Glen Gaver to make the score at the three quarter mark, McPherson, 43, Bethany, 30.

The Bulldogs continued the rout in the final period, with "Woody" using every play that was suited up before the game was over. Tommy O'Dell added a free throw before the end of the game to make the final score 64-43.

B Team Wins Over Bethany

The McPherson College "B" team completely overwhelmed an outclassed Bethany "B" team by the score of 65-30 in the preliminary game Monday night. For the Bulldogs it was a pair of Freshman, who hold promise of being valuable players in the coming years, that dominated the scoring for McPherson.

Bill Mollhagen pumped in 14 points and Bob Wise added another 18 to pace the Bulldog's scoring. Loy was high for Bethany with 7.

From The Sidelines

By Draper
Starting with this, the first issue of the semester, and continuing all semester, I am going to have a column dealing with some of the sidelights of sports that have occurred during the previous week.

One of the major topics of discussion on the campus the last several weeks, has been the new rule change that has taken effect. Naturally, since McPherson's team is supposed to have been hurt more than others in the league, most of the student reaction to this new rule has been unfavorable. However, even more interesting, has been the comment of the players. Over the nation, the players are supposed to have celebrated the coming of the new rule with joy and glee, but such was not the case here.

All of the reserves, who saw at least some action last year, and even a majority of the "1st" team players were very unhappy with the new ruling. Comment from some of the reserves was to the effect that the coaches will not have any time to spend with them because he will be working on the first two teams, so that all of them will be able to play both ways.

The main complaint from the first team was that some of them were just able to play offense, or defense, and it was going to be difficult for them to learn the other, when they had not even played both ways in high school.

Since the paper has not come out for three weeks, there have been several basketball games that have been played that are too old to go in as regular story, but the score should be mentioned here. On January the tenth, the McPherson Bulldogs journeyed to the Colorado State Campus and there defeated Colo. State that had earlier in the year split with Denver U., by the score of 57-49.

On the next weekend, when most of us were worrying about semester finals, the Bulldogs took their annual two day swing through the eastern part of the state. Here they played two games in two nights and in these two conference games they split even. On the first night they lost to Ottawa U., by the score of 73-64, and on the next night they were able to give Baker U. a loss by a 82-61 tally.

The crowd at Lindsborg for the Bethany game last Monday night failed by quite a ways of rivaling ones of previous years. The last two years the stands were packed to capacity by 6,300, and this year a person could find a seat there at any time during the game. I won't say, though, that there were good seats left, because even the first people there have trouble finding a seat from where they could see both baskets and the scoreboard.

The Bulldogs dominated the rebounds of both backboards in the game with Bethany. Carl Metsker, especially, did some magnificent rebounding. Time after time in the first half, he was catching the ball with one outstretched hand, practically stealing it from the opponents.

Well that's all for this week, as I am running out of time as well as things to say.

Money

Workers earn it, Spendthrifts burn it, Bankers lend it, Women spend it, Forgers fake it, Taxes take it, Dying leaves it, Heirs receive it, Thrifty save it, Misers crave it, Robbers seize it, Rich increase it, Gamblers lose it— I could use it—

Mac Wins Over College Of Emporia

The McPherson College Bulldogs jumped to an early lead last Saturday night and were never headed as they defeated the College of Emporia Presbies by the score of 71-64. For the Bulldogs, this was their third conference win of the season against one defeat.

The first quarter found Bob Bechtel sinking two free throws to put McPherson into the lead 20-0, and they were never headed after that, in spite of the best that Charlie Dehlinger was able to give. The quarter ended with McPherson in the lead by the margin of 16-10.

McPherson's airtight defense designed to hold Dehlinger paid off to the extent that in the second quarter they moved him to one of the guard positions for a while and Dehlinger added little more handle the post. Dehlinger only made a total of two field goals in the first half, but did add 6 free throws. The half ended with McPherson out in front 27-22.

Both teams found the basket with amazing regularity during the third quarter. For the Bulldogs it was Wayne Blickenstaff, who had set out a major part of the first half with three fouls, that sparked the team with a total of 13 points in this quarter. In this same quarter Charlie Dehlinger added nine more points to keep C. of E. in the game. The third quarter ended with the Bulldogs ahead 55-47.

The final quarter found the Presbies unable to overcome the lead that the Bulldogs had built up, and in spite of a last minute effort by Charlie Dehlinger McPherson won the game 71-64.

Wayne Blickenstaff led the McPherson scoring with 23 points. Charlie Dehlinger was high for the Presbies with 27, 15 of which were free throws.

Learning At Both Ends . . .

(ACP) The Cavalier Daily, University of Virginia, has finally figured out the definition of education. Says the Daily:
"We have been sitting around the University, man and boy, for over five years, and we have finally decided that an education is a process of deadening one end in order to live up the other."

Grinnell Requests Radio Scripts

Macollege students and faculty members are invited to submit 15-minute radio scripts "of an intelligently patriotic motif" with those selected to be paid for at $100 a script, to Herbert Prescott, Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa. The Grinnell College Radio Players directed by Prescott, plan a series of 13 shows under the aegis of a National Association of Educational Broadcasters, Fund for Adult Education, grant. In the past few years, the group has world-premiered nearly 50 original scripts, many of which are contained in three commercially published books under Prescott's editorship.

Scripts should be submitted in standard form and may be in prose or in poetry. Those sending scripts should enclose stamped return envelope with submission. All materials in proper form will be carefully read, and rejected scripts will be accompanied by a check - from appraisal.

Student Honor Goes On Trial

(ACP) With final exams near at hand on some campuses, students working under the honor system must again make ready for the supreme test—the test of personal integrity.

Here's what some college newspapers have to say about this test:
The Baylor Lariat—"Most of us watch people cheat, get hopping mad, but don't do anything about it except sit around and gripe. Some say they don't want to be a tattler - tattler; all right, had you report them or sit around the rest of the quarter and watch them cheat all the time causing your grade to be lower."
"We must decide for ourselves. If we want the honor system to work, we must be the ones to make it workable."

The Tulane Hullahaloo—"If there is no honor system at Tulane, it is because there is no honor. If there is no honor it is the students' fault."
"The teachers have caught on. There is cheating, often obvious cheating. . . If the students won't stop it the school must."

"Therefore it is the duty of every student. . . to find this honor, or it is his duty to ask that the honor system be abolished so that he may be protected against himself like the intellectual midget that he is."
The Postscript, Richmond Professional Institute—"Cheating is the easy way of doing things, but it helps no one. . . Most of us would not take money or an article from a fellow student. Why steal his thoughts?"
