Chess Challenges Spirit Of Mac Intelligentsia

By Ken Brown

Of late, that fascinating contest called chess has been challenging the pugnacious spirit of Macollege intelligent-sia throughout the wee hours of numerous mornings.

Chess is a physical contest, for the victor is the enduring character who can survive with the least amount of sleep, sit with the least amount of pain, and move the pieces with the smallest possible expended energy.

The winner, although physically unsound after night's contest, must be able to recuperate quickly by sleeping during the day in preparation for the next nightly

The good chess player, because of his great need for large quantities of nutrition, eats more than three meals.

Chess is also a mental contest. The most important aspect of this portion of the game is in the participant's ability to pass his courses with the minimum amount of study. Passing is necessary in that the "scholar" can remain on these premises to play more chess.

Say, Mac, have you noticed the art exhibit over in the library? I want to urge you to go over and look at it. You don't know anything about art? That's all right, neither do I. But I want you to go over, stand in front of each picture and look at it a few seconds, then move on to another. When you find one you particularly like, return tomorrow or the next day and then again next week, and look at it again.

Try to decide what there is about the picture which you like. Decide whether you prefer bold, bright colors, or soft, mellow shades. Do you prefer still lifes or scenery?

Think about these things and occasionally take time to look at art and you will learn to appreciate it more and will really begin to enjoy it. I did,—M. H.

Building On Girls' Dormitory Is Progressing Rapidly

Very rapid progress is being made on the new girls' dormitory, according to President D. W. Bittinger. He stated that the builders have completed everything below ground level, and all plumbing and heating pipes have been put in.

Next, the upright steel pillars, which will support the floors are to be installed. The construction of this building, the lift-slab method, is a new process in this part of the country in which all floors and the roof are poured underground and lifted to their positions by a hydraulic process. This method makes it possible to fill in between floors with whatever is wished. Picture windows are being used in the building.

Steps are being taken so that furniture will be available as soon as the building is ready for it. There is a good possibility that the dormitory will be competed by September of this year, according to Dr. Bittinger and the contractor.

Legalized Crime

Too many of us have the habit of being overly critical of the personalities of our associates. It can even become a hobby to literally tear apart a personality and leave it lying around in exposed ugly pieces.

We do not actually mean to be cruel, and thus excuse ourselves by believing that we are doing the person a favor in bringing out his poor qualities.

How much better it would be if we continually concentrated on bringing the admirable qualities of our friends into focus. The most gracious and beneficial thing we can do is to be complimentary where praise is deserved, and then make that constructive suggestion.—R. P.

One Is The Limit!

At the beginning of each semester, as each student enrolls, he is given a subscription to the Spectator, which is included in his enrollment expenses

This entitles each student to ONE Spec each Friday, Each Spec costs five cents, and according to the business manager, the paper is having quite a hard time meeting expenses, anyway.

If you would like to send a copy of the Spec to your folks or friends, you may still do so by paying seventyfive cents for this second semester.

The Spectator staff hopes that all students will cooperate with them and the Student Council in seeing that each student gets their copy each week.

Every person who takes two copies for himself, is taking a copy away from someone else.

THE H-BOMB
An island in the South Pacific, it is reported, is now being cleared for the testing of a large scale for the scale test military weapons and again we wondered whether "civilization" had the right to push people from their ancestral home lands in order to experiment in death. Now we have become "used to it"; ethical considerations are dropped; civilization has the "right" to do what it wants to do.

I wonder how the people of the islands and elsewhere feel about this growing feeling on the part of the "civilized" concerning their rights to displace peoples.

The power is tremendous, beyond possible description or comprehension. When it explodes it will generate a heat 30,000 times hotter than the sun. This heat will ignite and burn up our atmosphere. This burning of the atmosphere will move about two miles in every direction, from the site of the explosion completely vaporizing every object and living thing within that area.

CRYF Will Meet

Elsie Kindley went to Kansas University to visit her brother who is going to school there.

Several stidents from Mac had the privilege of seeing the K-State vs. Iowa State zame last Satirday. Among the Iowa roolers were Kathy. Russell. Ed Ball. Bev Schechter, and Verinon Petefish. Donna Wagoner went with Lee Hogle to Manhattan to visit several kids that used to go here—Raymond Walker and Mary Ellen Yoder. They got to see the K-State Iowa State game, too.

Clara Bechtel. Jerry Goering. Bev Turner. Rolaind Freed. and Richard Trowbridge went to the Phillips game last Saturday night in Enid, Okla. Perhaps. If more roolers had gone, we could have won that one. Well, Mae won over Bethel, anyway.

Several of the teachers who have been rather sick with the flu are back again to the grindstone.

Miss Della Lehman was fuitfeled didn't have chola several times because of the flu.

Prof. S. M. Dell was also another one hit with it, and for a long while now students have had sniffles and the usual accessory items that accompany the dreaded flu.

Marilee Grove was the Sunday afternoon and evening guest of Mary Louise Huicherson. Roast duck was on the dinner menu.

Kathy Russell and Donna Schrock have finally got the huil on the boat they're trying to build under the supervision of _Ed Ball and Gene Smith.

While they got the menu was fight of the progress and hand them tools when they need them.

Veterans Education Remains Controversial

The new GI Bill covering Korean war veterans continues to be a controversial issue with institutions of higher education.

tions of higher education.

Major disagreement turns around the provision which treats all veterans alike, with same payments, regardless of whether the college they attend has high or low tultion. The Association of American Colleges and certain institutions are pressing for a change in the law to provide different benefits in accordance with the tuition charged.

in accordance with the tuition charged.

Meanwhile, colleges and universities are making special arrangements to assist the Korean veteran in getting his college education. A number of institutions have provided for accelerating veterans' programs so that they car complete their education in less than four academic years. Some colleges are giving the veterans the same privileges as World War II veterans.

It is a welcome relief after writing the sports for more than a year not to have to meet a deadline on all the stories. The reason for the vacation is that I have gone to Washington, D. C., to the political seminar.

If one operates under the assumption that any publicity, whether favorable or unfavorable, is good publicity, then the Baseball world received a lot of good free publicity 18-st week.

Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, was sentenced to a term in jall because they said that he had evaded paing the income tax that he was supposed to What amazed me, though, was the way he was quickly removed from the ownership of that major league franchise. Baseball wants absolutely no type of taint what-so-ever on it.

It.

Not too many years back, it was a game where there was all kinds of crookedness going on. In fact, around the turn of the century and the years immediately following, any "respectable" hotel in the country wouldn't allow anybody that had a connection with the evil sport of baseball to stay overnight. It just goes to show what three good Commissioners of Baseball in a row can do to clean up a sport.

I do not know whether or not too.

many of you have noticed it, but the freshmen that also have ath letic ability are about as numerous as those comprising any class here as those comprising any class here on campus. It isn't as noticeable as it was two years ago when, what are now juniors, came in and practically dominated the sports scene.

There was a good team when they showed up this fall, but still many of them saw action in football and the other night in the "B* team basketball game at Bethany. "Woody" used a team composed entirely of freshmen and they clicked off good together.
