

Peace Conference Is At Bethel

The Annual peace conference, sponsored by the Bethel, Friends, and McPherson Colleges, will be held at Bethel College, Newton, Feb. 14-15. The conference is for college people and is concerned with Christian techniques of working for peace.

The program includes worship, a film, panel discussions, and speeches. Cecil Hinshaw and Kay H. Beach will be the principal speakers.

Cecil Hinshaw is a native Kansan and has served as pastor, teacher and lecturer. He was graduated from Friends University in Wichita, attended Harvard University, the University of Denver, and Iliff School of Theology. He was president of William Penn College for over five years. He lives in Gonville, New Hampshire and lectures for the American Friends Service Committee and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Kay H. Beach is a native Kansan who graduates from Kansas State College in Manhattan, with a degree in Horticulture. He taught and did research in this field for a number of years before World War II. He has had experience in agricultural rehabilitation work in China after World War II, and more recently has been serving as an agricultural technician in India and Pakistan for the American Friends Service Committee.

McPherson College will have charge of both worship programs and the panel discussion following the banquet Saturday evening. The group includes Wayne Jones, John Nettleton, Loren Equist, Dwight Blough, Gerald Ulrich, Gary Jones, Norann Royer, Ruth Strickler, and Esther Ikenberry.

'Curious Savage' Comes March 5

The comedy play "Curious Savage" by John Patrick will be presented by the Macollege Players' Club during the Regional Youth Conference, March 5.

The dominating mood of the play is a high comedy which involves a kindly disposed widow. Mrs. Savage had been left ten million dollars by her husband, and wants to make the best possible use of it, in spite of the efforts of her grown-up step-children to get their hands on it.

These latter, knowing that the widow has converted her wealth into negotiable securities, and seeing that they cannot get hold of a huge share of it, come to her "sanatorium," hoping to "bring her to her senses." But Mrs. Savage is determined to put her fortune to a noble and unselfish use.

Each of the characters is clearly portrayed, and the play leaves one with a feeling that somehow the neglected virtues of kindness and affection have not been entirely lost in a world that seems motivated at times only by greed and dishonesty.

Mrs. Wilbur Yoder, who is directing the play has announced that the committee for "Curious Savage" is comprised of Jean Slaubaugh, promoter; Maxine Hanley and La Von Widgren, publicity; Ted Vance, Dale De Lauter, Harold Patton, and Dean Neher, scenery; Phyllis Kingery and Joan Silvert, properties; while Peggy Sargent and Marilee Grove will take care of the ticket sales. Others may be added later on, according to Mrs. Yoder.

Students Return From Trip To Nation's Capital

The Brethren Youth Seminar, held Feb. 1-5 in Washington, D. C., and New York, was directed by Ed Crill, Wilbur Mullen, and Stauffer Curry. Approximately 250 young people registered for the Seminar, with about thirty going from McPherson College.

The Seminar began on Sunday evening with a get-acquainted hour of fellowship directed by Ed Crill. Monday, after group singing led by Virginia Ford, the real work began. Dr. D. L. Minnir spoke on "Application of Our Non-Resistant Beliefs to Current Problems." It was followed by a panel discussion on "What Can Be Done Through This Seminar on Issues Facing Christian Youth." Mrs. Stewart Alexander spoke on "The Threat of Militarism," and then the group visited the State Department.

After visiting the State Department the group was divided to visit five different foreign Embassies. On Tuesday the outstanding events were: a visit to House and Senate Committee Hearings, a visit to Supreme Court, individual visits to home of Congressmen and Senators, and Senator Estes Kefauver's talk on "Some Domestic Problems of Concern to Christian Youth."

Prof. Paul Bittinger will give a violin solo, and Prof. Don Frederick, a sousaphone solo. Vocal music will consist of a solo by Prof. Wesley DeCoursey and a number by the faculty male octette. This octette will include Wesley DeCoursey, Paul Soltenberger, Don Frederick, E. S. Hershberger, Guy Hayes, Dick Wareham, Alvin Willems, and Gordon Yoder.

Harold Beahm will represent the trustees by singing a vocal solo. Pres. D. W. Bittinger will present his annual report upon the state of the college and the plans for the next ten years.

Forty Students Do Teaching This Semester

There are forty students enrolled in student teaching this semester. This is a much larger group than last semester's group.

There are student teachers in every school in the city. There are 17 student teachers at the senior high school, two at intermediate, nine at Washington school, five at Lincoln school, one at Wickersham school, and two at Roosevelt school. There are ten student teachers who will qualify for elementary school degree certificates, and ten who will qualify for 60 hour certificates.

Two of the student teachers who plan to teach in rural schools are observing at a school which has only two teachers.

Those who are observers are observing in the four elementary schools and the intermediate school.

The student teachers meet their class every day. They also meet at the college one period per week for conference.

Dr. Oehme Studies U. S. Democracy In McPherson

Dr. Maria Oehme, from Berlin, Germany is in McPherson this week and the next to study how the government works and how the people think in McPherson.

It is part of a project to train German women in citizenship for their own country, and is sponsored by the Dept. of Labor of the United States.

Dr. Oehme spoke in Chapel Monday morning, and has spoken to several classes and organizations on Macampus this week.

Dr. Oehme received her Ph. D. at Heidelberg and arrived in the United States in September. She took a semester's studies in political science at George Washington University in St. Louis.

She wants to see not only government, but the people back of it. She is visiting both of the colleges, the high school, city discussion organizations and a Farm Bureau.

Dr. Oehme has been impressed by the variety of American people, the things they do, and the actions of life in United States.

CBYF Considers Heifer Project

The worship service at CBYF Sunday evening, Feb. 8, centered about Millet's painting entitled "The Man with the Hoe." Paul Coffman read Edwin Markham's poem which has the same title.

A short business meeting followed the worship service. Norman Long gave a report concerning the Peace Conference which is being held at Bethel College this weekend.

Projects which might be adopted by the College CBYF were discussed. It was decided to give further consideration to the idea of buying a heifer to send to Europe and that of holding a weekend work camp.

Dean Neher announced the need for volunteers who would be willing to serve on either of two committees. One committee would be in charge of the worship services at Regional Youth Conference which will be held on Macampus March 5-8. The other committee would take care of the name tags and registration of young people at Annual Conference at Colorado Springs this summer.

Following the business meeting, Don Waggoner led the group in several prayers.

Met Gives "The Rake" In U. S. Premiere

The American premiere of Igor Stravinsky's opera, "The Rake's Progress," will be presented Saturday afternoon by the Metropolitan Opera Company over NBC beginning at one o'clock.

The libretto was written in English in 1948 by the contemporary poet, W. H. Auden, and his collaborator, Chester Kallman.

Stravinsky's opera was inspired by a series of eighteenth century paintings by William Hogarth. Hogarth saw the changes in social and economic life in London and recorded them in a series of paintings about the moral decline of a man.

The world premiere of "The Rake's Progress" was in Fiesole, Theater, Venice, Sept. 11, 1951. Productions have been given in Zurich, Rome, Milan, Hamburg, Geneva, and other European cities.

The story itself has a similarity to the Faust theme, as Nick Shadron is a version of Mephistopheles.

On Recreation - -

The chief matter of discussion in organizations, classes and dorm "gab sessions" is the steps being taken to improve the recreational outlook on the campus.

The Student Council is to be commended on their recent purchase of games, puzzles and music for the Student Union Room and the upkeep of the SUR.

More campus organizations have discussed the recreation problem, and are planning ways in which they can help.

No matter how much recreation is provided, though, it is up to the entire student body to cooperate, participate and enjoy what facilities we have.

It seems to be the people who do not use these facilities and enjoy the campus recreation, who complain the most about having nothing to do for entertainment.—R. P.

All Of One Blood

"God . . . hath made of one blood all nations of men . . ."

In a Bible class in Taiyuan, Shansi, some students said that Chinese and "Westerners" are absolutely different. The American teacher unexpectedly said, "Mr. Chang, you are a medical student. What is the normal temperature of a Chinese?"

He replied, "Ninety-eight and six-tenths degrees." "You must be wrong, for that is my temperature, too." "But 98.6 degrees is normal temperature for all human beings," said Mr. Chang.

"We have been studying the four types of blood," said Mr. Wang. "You can safely give a transfusion if you match the blood types."

"Do you mean to tell me that I could give some of my American blood to a wounded or ill Chinese without killing him?"

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Wang, "you can mix the blood of the races if you match the types." That started a heated discussion, but the medicos soon convinced everybody that human blood is in fact one.

As we go from the A-bomb to the H-bomb age, what do we Christians in America believe about the oneness of the human race? What more will we Christians do to promote racial equality in America?

Millions back of the Iron Curtain, and more millions that live in poverty, ignorance, superstition, and despair, who are likely to accept the false promises of atheistic Communism, await our answer!

Communism need not be fought. Let the Christian church really beign to "seek first the Kingdom of God"; let Christendom make a full application of Jesus' way of brotherly living in all of the facets of human relations.

Our small, shrunken world is like an armed camp. Let us as Christians rise up and make it a community! There are enough Christians around our globe to make it a "one world" of human brotherhood.—E. L. Ikenberry, Candidate Secretary, Foreign Mission Commission.

Thinking With The President

That Box From Home
One of the joys which comes to the college student periodically is to receive a box from home.

When such a box comes there is more in it than an article of clothing, a piece of cake, or cookies. Packaged up in this box is the love and interest of a thoughtful mother and of other members of the family. Perhaps here in the box are some special "goodies" which the mother keeps for this member of the family particularly likes. She has gone out of her way to prepare them for this specific member of the family, just in the way that his tastes are turned. Perhaps in the box is something which will bring back a memory which could not be known to anyone save this specific member of the family. It is almost like a visit from home.

Sometimes the other members of the dormitory, or the roommate, are forgetful of these things. They see that a box has come from home and they, too, are eager to see what is in it. Perhaps it is food which they, too, can enjoy. Accordingly, they may crowd around thoughtlessly and the individual to whom the box is addressed may need to open it in an environment where he has no opportunity to sense the fine parental, or brotherly and sisterly feeling which went into its preparation. Perhaps the cake or the cookies must be passed around immediately and in a few moments all are gone. The individual did not have opportunity, really, to receive from it the pleasure which was intended by those who prepared it.

Or even worse, perhaps a roommate or other members of the dormitory may open the box from home when it is not addressed to them. Thus the person who received it may be deprived of the major part of the pleasure he should have received in getting it. This is a thoughtlessness which approaches rudeness and may be almost unforgivable.

The one who receives the box wants to invite in his friends to participate in the enjoyment of it. He should not be denied the privilege. Those should come who are invited, or come only at his invitation. This is a little item which all of us could think about and thus be come better members of our own college fellowship because we have been thoughtful.—D. W. B.

Library Announces Recent Arrivals

Four volumes of interest to bird lovers are among the recent additions on the new book shelf at the college library.

A Field Guide to the Birds by Peterson is designed as a handbook wherein live birds may be identified by impressions, patterns, and distinctive marks, rather than by the more technical differences. Field Book of Wild Birds and Their Music by Matthews has the music for many bird calls.

A Guide to Bird Watching by Hickey covers such subjects as how to begin bird study and the art of bird watching.

Modern Bird Study by Griscom is designed to show that not only is the study of birds a branch of scientific research but that it also is a topic of interest for laymen. Blue Hills and Shoofly Pie by Ann Hark is a warm-hearted appreciative book about the Pennsylvania Dutch.

This book reveals what goes on at an Amish wedding, a Dunker love feast, and a country auction. Pennsylvania Dutch recipes are also included.

English Cathedrals and Abbeys is illustrated by approximately 130 photographs. The book describes not only the English cathedrals but the principal monastic ruins and abbey churches.

The Archeology of World Religions by Finegan, which is a companion volume to his work on Judaism and Christianity, presents from the archeological point of view ten other living world religions.

Religions included are: Primitivism, Zoroastrianism, Hinduism, Jainism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism, Shintoism, Islam, and Sikhism.

The Song of Roland was translated anew from the French by the late Prof. Frederick B. Luquiers of Yale.

This French epic romanticizes an incident in the withdrawal of Charlemagne's armies from Spain late in the eighth century.

T. S. Eliot's Design of His Poetry by Elizabeth Drew is a criticism and analysis of the works of this contemporary Nobel Prize winner.

Comets and Meteor Streams by Porter is a volume which has grown out of the new radar methods of investigating meteors.

Developing Democratic Human Relations Through Health Education, Physical Education and Recreation is the first yearbook of the American Association for Recreation.

The Dynamics of the Counseling Program by Shostrom and Brammer presents a methodology for counseling as an indispensable and interrelated aspect of the total educational process.

Principles of Human Relations: Applications to Management by Maier is based on the technique of group decision which the author worked out during his years of counseling in industrial relations. He gives case histories from his own experience.

A Wonderful Week!

Senators, Congressmen . . . the State Department . . . monuments . . . speeches . . . supreme court . . . Embassies, delegation . . . the U. N. . . and miles and miles of walking, all swim vaguely through my head! The Seminar was "super swell." Through all the hurry and rush, a lot was accomplished, and all of us received months-of-government-education in a wonderful, exciting, too-short of a week!

The Indian Embassy in Washington and the Union of South Africa Delegation in New York were the political high-lights for me. It was very interesting to note the Indian-British comments in the two foreign groups that I happened to visit. Visiting such groups gave us a more direct insight into the workings of foreign policy on both sides of the oceans.

But the greatest thrill for me was to realize that we have people in our government who are sincerely interested in the welfare of our people and of our country. We noticed many differences in people as we traveled eastward, just as we noticed the differences in the land.

Yet in Washington, D. C. and the U. N., we saw many people from all walks of life—people of different lands and greatly different cultures—all working together. It is wonderful to see people working together like this. It is stimulating, and it gives you incentive and interest in the work of the government. My experiences made me want to keep up on governmental activities, and to participate as much as possible.

The Seminar helped us to see the government as it is, it helped us to see all the good that is going on, and it showed us that there are good people in government. Yet many publications in our country would point out only the shocking, the smear cases, the "headline stuff."

I hope that the information, the education, the new ideas we received last week will help us to overlook the "color-words" and intelligently read and understand the truth about the government and the United Nations.

A Psalm
I lift my eyes
To the golden heavens.
At the breaking of dawn
And follow the path of the sun
Till it sinks from its ocean of air.
Amid these quiet hours
Of dawn and twilight
I feel the presence of the Great.
My heart is ever filled with joy.

Bulldog Barks

Pep here on the campus was on a slow down grade. Last Monday night we got a shot in the arm when the Pep Club girls showed up in their uniforms and became the nucleus of the yelling section. Also, more seem to be coming out for Pep Chaps. If you haven't been to one, why don't you try coming?

The boys have been having Chess tournaments over at the dorm and not to be out done, the girls of Arnold Hall bought several sets of Jacks and had their first tournament Sunday afternoon.

Shirley Alexander came out first. Angie Flora, Squeak Louthan, and Gerry Goering were runner ups. Mildred Beck, Betty Jo Baker, Elsa Kurtz, Barbara Berry tried their luck, but decided not to enter the tourney. The reason is that some are skilled and some aren't.

Wes Ikenberry is the owner of a brand new '37 Chevy. A car of such recent birth ought to give him a lot of use.

Peterson's skating rink was the setting of an all-school party held Saturday night here in Mac. Despite falls and bruised knees, everyone seemed to have a good time and lots of fun.

Herb Edmonds and Elsa Kurtz spent Saturday in Salina, Kans. visiting friends and relatives.

Several Maccollege students went to Fredonia, Kans. last Sunday. Anneliese Koch, Eugene Lupi and Hatsuko Kanazawa spoke about race relations at the Church of the Brethren there.

Kathy McLeod and Peg Kerley spent last Thursday afternoon in Wichita on business, visiting, and doing some shopping.

Carole Trostle spent last weekend in Nickerson, Kans. visiting her grandmother who lives near there.

The ladies trio had the chapel program Wednesday and gave an excellent program. They sang several sacred songs, then two well-known spirituals, and ended with secular songs from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

LaFauhn Hubbard carries the high notes, Margaret Baile is second soprano and Elsa Kurtz completes the trio with her alto voice. They did a wonderful job and made a very enjoyable program of it.

Janet Reulhen is a happy gal now, since Bob Schmidt got stationed at Fort Riley, which, by the way, isn't too far from McPherson.

Friday night we had a game at C. of E. and had a good crowd of college kids there full of pep. Perhaps, if more had come though, we might have won.

Karl Baldwin took Ralph Royer and Anita Rogers to their home in Iowa for the weekend. Karl and Ralph hail from Dallas Center, and Anita comes from Mt. Etna.

The girls' varsity team is doing all right this year. So far they have not had one loss. Of course, they've only played 4 games, but when they play, they do a good job.

Last Sunday, the ladies' quartet took a small trip to Gravel Hill, Kans. in the morning and Verdigris, Kans., for the evening ser-

Mrs. Hess Is Improved

Mrs. Maruice A. Hess has now almost fully recovered from injuries she received Dec. 29 when she slipped on a floor.

Dr. Hess stated that her cast was taken off Feb. 4, but that the splint has to be left on for awhile yet. Dr. and Mrs. Hess live at 401 N. Carrie. Their daughter Pauline is a senior at Maccollege.

Crime Of Omission

(ACP) From the "Whitworthian, Whitworth College, Washington: Just having a good time in college is a crime against ethics in this day. If thousands of men must give their lives in Korea, then it seems only reasonable that college students should make their education count."

Women students are not exempt from gaining the most from college either. If college is a matrimonial hunting ground or merely a place to gain social prestige, then their system is also fraudulent.

vices. Bob Mays went, too, to accompany them, to drive the car and to see that they didn't get into any mischief.

Donna Wagoner took the place of Florence Hale, since she was on the trip to Washington and couldn't get back. Donna had to learn fifteen songs for this trip and from what has been said, she did a good job of it, too. The other regular members are Peg Sargent, Elsie Kindley, and LaVon Widgren.

Heart Sister week ended last night in the STR when a party was held to announce who was whose sister.

Miss Lehman spent the last weekend in Kansas City. She had the privilege of seeing the Salzburg Marionettes from Salzburg, Austria and she said they gave a marvelous performance of the "Maggie Flute." Saturday afternoon she saw the famous play called "The Shrike." Van Heflin was the leading character. And then, to close a busy two-day visit she saw Marian Anderson in the evening.

The squad cheerleaders have more cooperation when they led cheers Monday, too. They need a little more backing than they've been getting, so let's keep it up.

Richards Speaks At Ottawa In March

Rev. Bob Richards, of the "Vaulting Parson," who was on Macampus last spring, will be one of the five religious leaders, who will speak in Ottawa from March 22-29.

A Spiritual Advance, which is being sponsored by the Ottawa churches, laymen, and Ottawa University, will be held during the Lenten season, beginning February 26 and continuing through March 29.

Richards will appear at two chapel services at Ottawa University. Two assembly programs at the high school, a luncheon for athletes of Ottawa and surrounding areas, and an evangelistic service each evening—of the week of March 22-27.

Rev. Richards won the Pole Vault exhibition in the Olympics this summer.

Professor Does Research On College Students

Dr. James D. Weinland, professor of business psychology at New York University, has come up with some suggestions on how to study.

"A large percentage of those entering college," says the doctor, "do not know how to study. Their principal problem is managing their time with so many distractions."

He finds that the student's most frequent error is simply failure to read the exam questions carefully. But there are other difficulties, too. Among these is dealing with abstract concepts.

"Students have few problems with simple memory work," he says, "but they have not had much experience with abstractions in high school. They must learn to separate fact from opinion."

Dr. Weinland states that cheating is not so prevalent as most people believe. He has also done some extensive research on "cribbing."

Plans Should Be Made For Summer Projects

Betty Lou Hersherberger, Regional Youth-Director announces that students who are interested in summer service projects and BVS, should start making their plans now.

Information on all phases of this work is available in the Regional Office.

Students Are Given Commandments

1. Thou shalt not regale the crowd with tall stories of thy exploits, for lo thy companion will put his tongue in his cheek and thou shalt get a reputation for throwing a heavy line.

2. The basketball player shall study regularly four hours every night, for although the gym may ring with his name, the final examinations are not administered by the cheerleaders.

3. Thou shalt not cast overboard the religious teaching of thy youth, for thou wilt find that there will still be plenty to learn after thou are presented with thy B. A.

4. Fill not thy entire leisure hours with loud and expensive entertainment, but save some time for the real badge of merit is not worn upon the vest but upon thy soul.

5. Look not with disdain upon those who wear no medals honoring achievement, for the real badge of merit is not worn upon the vest but upon thy soul.

6. Thou shouldst not, spend the entire week end goofing off for a game of volleyball or an hour of skating will improve thy appetite and mayhap thy disposition.

7. Look well ahead that thou livest up to the teachings of thy faith, for it is based on the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of men.

8. One job well done will add more to thy reputation than a perfunctory membership in a long list of organizations.

9. The upperclassmen shall use punishment with discretion, for the most valuable lessons come from the impressions made upon the mind.

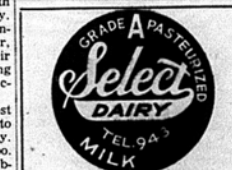

10. Thou shalt not seek for happiness in acquisition of gold or power or in pursuit of sensual pleasures, for thou shalt surely find it in the laws of little children, the respect of thy fellowmen, and in unselfish service to one of the least of these.

On Students Cutting Dull Classes . . .

From the Campus, Southern Methodist University: We sympathize heartily with those students who cut dull classes. Were there a system of non-required class attendance, we feel that many professors, faced with empty chairs day after day, would realize the situation and would help to clear it up by attempting to take their courses from the list of 'dull classes.'

Exciting Excerpts From The East

By Betty Brammell and Jean Walker

'T was only a week ago today that twenty students (more or less) left for the nation's capital. Our car started out with a bang for we had a blow out in less than an hour after leaving the campus. This was really a "let down" after the send off our classmates gave us. All went smoothly until we entered St. Louis and by accident, we got lost. By chance we got lost in Indianapolis, Washington, D. C., New York City and Detroit, also.

Our three nights in Washington were spent in a tourist home. However, we saw very little of these rooms, since most of our time was spent at the seminar and a few extra moments sight-seeing.

Some of our tours included the White House, Pentagon, the memorials of Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson, and the Library of Congress.

One of the highlights for the Kansas group was a breakfast in the Senate dining room with Senator Schoepfle and his wife. After having a picture taken with the senator, we were shown parts of the capitol, which are ordinarily closed to the public.

The three days in Washington seemed to vanish and it was soon time to leave for New York.

The entire group of nearly 250 who attended the seminar, also went to New York to spend a day visiting the United Nations. The magnificence of the building and the thrill of international conferences seemed to overwhelm the entire group.

Other fascinating experiences in New York included: walking down Broadway and Times Square at midnight, getting lost for over an hour in the confusing subways, driving down a one-way street the wrong way, getting stuck in an elevator for a half hour, and viewing New York City from the top of the Empire State Building.

Others found time to visit the Metropolitan Opera, Radio City, Statue of Liberty and Grand Central Station.

All of our group learned one thing new: "Either to tip or be asked to tip waitresses and taxi drivers, that is."

With ambivalent feelings we left New York City and journeyed to Niagara Falls, through Canada, and back to the hospitality of the Midwest.

The week at the seminar stimulated our thoughts and embedded within us the necessity of unity through out the world. We challenge each of you to plan now for the Youth Political Seminar in 1954.

McPherson Again Defeats Bethany

For the fourth time this year, McPherson College was able to figure out Bethany College and come out victorious, this time by the score of 58-54.

Coach Woodard found it necessary to call on the resources of his strong bench, as the "first" team was unable to pull away from a fighting Bethany that would not admit defeat. For the Bulldogs it was Bernard Whirley, Glen Gayer, and Bill Smith that entered the game midway in the second quarter, and who sparked the Bulldogs to victory.

It was this combination of three that put the Bulldogs ahead finally in the third quarter, after they had trailed all through the first half. The basket that finally put McPherson in the lead for good was potted by Tommy O'Dell, another player who helped the cause alone.

These three players scored 16 of the 21 points that McPherson made in the third period. When they finally had left the game in the fourth period, they left a nine point lead for the first team to use.

Ralph Fry and Norman Kiewer kept Bethany in the game most of the time. In previous games with the Swedes, the Bulldogs have been able to stop Fry's scoring at the post position under the basket, but Monday night he made seven field goals and three charity tosses for a total of 17 points. Kiewer scored 13 points for the Swedes and many of his baskets looked as though he had been taking lessons from Bob Peel on how to shoot.

McPherson hit only 23 percent of its shots in the first half, but got hot in the second half to have a total for the night of 40 percent. The Swedes hit 38.

Bill Smith was high for McPherson with 13 points. Close behind him was Glen Gayer, who made 12.

Bethany took an early lead and was ahead 13-8 at the end of the first period and 21 to 20 at the half. By the end of the third quarter, the Bulldogs had taken over the lead 41-36. The final score was 58-54.

The School, Not The Score

(ACP) After having been involved in shocking scandals and indignantly denounced by a New York judge, the University of Kentucky basketball team has been suspended from competition for a year by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. So for a year, Kentucky cannot play any university team of standing, and its schedule has been cancelled.

The desire to win at any cost, to play "bigger and better" teams, to get into more and more tournaments. So for a year, more sports publicity from coast to coast has no place whatever in the educational process.

It makes the stadium and the fieldhouse more important than the classroom and the laboratory. It is a perversion of the function of the university.

Unhappily, Kentucky is not the only victim of this aberration.

On The Sidelines

By Draper

Since there has been so much controversy over the new basketball rule, "the one and one", that I have done a little research on how it has affected the conference players and also how it has affected McPherson College.

Last year the top ten scorers in the conference made an average of just over three and a half free throws per game. This year so far they have made an average of almost five and one half.

Even if one leaves out Charlie Dehlinger from C. of E. and Don Harder from Bethel, both of which have made way above the average number of free throws, the average is still about four and two tenths.

On the local front, the situation is something like this with McPherson College and its opponents. Each team this year is receiving approximately four more attempts at the free throw line than they did last year. The opponents are cashing in on about four more per game and McPherson College is making about two more per game.

At the same time the average number of fouls per game for both teams has decreased about 10 percent. So if the intent of the rule was to reduce fouling, it seems to be working so far, as far as Mac is concerned.

Don't forget the non-conference game with Washburn, one of the powerhouses of the other small college conference in Kansas, tomorrow night in the McPherson Gym. Also on the 21st, the Bulldogs journey to Salina to meet the Coyotes, as the Bulldogs resume Conference play.

C.of E. Wins 69-57 In Conference Tilt

McPherson College's Bulldogs lacked the punch necessary for a win over the fighting College of Emporia quintette as they came out on the short end of a 69 to 57 score in a conference basketball game played last Friday night, Feb. 6, at the Civic Auditorium at Emporia.

The Bulldogs were crippled badly by the loss of Wayne Blickenstaff and Bob Bechtel in the third quarter and "Chief" Hanagarne in the fourth.

Between "Charley - line Charley" Dehlinger, who made 11 of his 21 points from the free-throw line, and Heckart, who hit consistently from the outside, the Bulldogs were kept well at bay. The worst hindrance was that the Bulldogs just couldn't find the bucket, and hit only 18 percent of their shots in the second half while C. of E. was hitting 46 percent.

C. of E. jumped to an early lead but the Bulldogs came back fast, and held a one point advantage at the end of the first period, 13 to 12.

The second period was fought on fairly even terms, but C. of E. led 30 to 29 at the half.

The Bulldogs enjoyed a one point advantage for several minutes in the second half until Dehlinger dumped in a fielder and from then on, the lead was Emporia's. Blickenstaff picked up his last foul and left the ball game as the Bulldogs started to fade. Bechtel's four fouls in this same period put him out of the game as the Frenchie continued to score. The period ended 52 to 41.

During the last period, in which C. of E. held their advantage, Hanagarne fouled out, followed shortly by Dehlinger of C. of E. But the Emporia five had built up enough lead that they could coast the rest of the way.

High point man for the game was Charley Dehlinger with 21 points. Hanagarne was high for the Buldogs with 12 points.
