Heart Sister Deeds Commence Next Week

Heart Sister Week will begin Friday, Feb. 12, with the drawing of heart sister names. The name drawing will take place after chapel on Friday.

Heart Sister Week, a tradition at MacCollege, is a special effort to cultivate good feeling among the women on the campus. This series of events is sponsored by the Women's Council.

During this week, each woman does some kind deed for her heart sister or gives her a small gift. The cost of the gift, which may be given daily, is not to exceed ten cents.

Arnold Hall Has Open House

By Elwyn Taylor

Arnold Hall, now a men's dormitory, is having Open House on Sunday, February 21, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Arnold will have its doors wide open to welcome the public's closest inspection of the building that now has lost its frill and taken on a masculine look.

It has been said that Arnold never has a dull moment, and we hope you will enjoy an exciting visit, but not to the extent that you might be showered with a paper bag full of water dropped from an upper floor.

Many women have once lived within the hallowed walls of good old Arnold and they will want to see how the fellows have arranged the rooms that once these girls called home.

Students, faculty, church members, public, everyone is cordially invited to the Open House of Arnold.

Chess Tournament Now In Progress At Fahnstock

The current rage of chess in Fahnstock Hall, which has lasted now for several months, has led to the formation of a chess tournament.

An entry fee of 10c was charged to each of the men who entered. The purpose—buy more chess sets, what else?

Fahnstock men who have entered are Bob Wise, Leland Engel, Kenny Brown, Ghalib Shahab, Dwight Blough, Joe Kennedy, Manley Draper, Gerald Ulrich, Dick Wickert, Dwight McSpadden, Wayne Blickestaff, George Thom, Jack Harter, Gene Bechtel, Ed Frantz, Doyle Smith, Don Moeller, Tom O'Dell, Gerald Harris, and Edward Wolf.

The chess playing in Fahnstock is limited to three games at one time. Chess intellectuals can be seen playing in Fahnstock lounge from 7 a.m. to 1 a.m.

Affairs Of State Given At City Aud

"Affairs of State," a three-act comedy sponsored by the Alpha Phi Omega, was presented Jan. 30 in the City Auditorium.

The plot of the three-hour long play was centered around Senator George Henderson, played by mustached Max Farnley, sponsored from Hutchinson, Kan. The suave and somewhat matrimonially mixed up Senator needed a wife for political reasons, so he hired one.

His reason for doing this was so he could ultimately marry Constance, young wife of an elderly statesman, Phillip Russell, played by Dean Neher. Constance, played by Adulu Carpenter, in search of good times, conspired with the good Senator to marry him as soon as Phillip would consent to a divorce.

Irene Elliot, played by Norma Goering, a naive school teacher and niece of Constance, was hired to be Senator George's wife. As the Senator's interest in women changes from Constance to Irene, the climax approaches.

Finally everything turns out right as George and Irene "find" each other, and Constance sees that Phillip is the one, and accordingly departs for an around-the-world trip. Byron Winkler, a spy man of 62, Secretary of State, was played by Ted Vance, junior from Twin Falls, Ida.

Velva Wagner, senior from McPherson, played the part of the maid.

Members of the cast are working for points towards membership in Alpha Phi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity.

Mrs. Una Yoder, director of the play was presented with a potted plant in appreciation for her assistance.

Mac Enrollment Takes Slight Dip

Enrollment of full time students for second semester has taken only a slight dip compared with that of first semester. There are 333 students who are enrolled for twelve or more college hours this semester. Last semester the figure stood at 348 full time students.

The following is a break down by classes for second semester: 123 freshmen, 71 sophomores, 63 juniors, and 70 seniors. This compares with the following for first semester: 134 freshmen, 85 sophomores, 62 juniors, and 67 seniors.

Macampus Has New Students

Third floor of Dotzour is proud to introduce Marlene Moats, a second semester sophomore from Eldora, Iowa, and a transfer student from Iowa State College in Ames. Marlene's major here is home economics, and her outside interests lie in the fields of music and crafts.

At Ames, she was very active in student affairs. She was a member of the Beacon Honor Society for dormitory women, the Home Economics Club, and the college social council, while also holding several dormitory offices.

Here at Mac, she disagrees with some of the girls when complaining how far it is from Dotzour to class. At Iowa State, she had to walk seven-eighths of a mile to chemistry class.

Of course there are many adjustments to make coming from a large school with 8500 students to one of 350. One of the adjustments is becoming accustomed to wearing and to see the girls wearing jeans everywhere.

Marlene says she thinks the students are very friendly here at MacCollege, and that it is easy to become acquainted.

Sandy-haired Richard Powers is a twenty-one year old veteran from Canton, Kan. Richard drives from his home to attend classes on Macampus. Richard is a freshman taking a general course. He has some interest in journalism.

An addition to McPherson basketball squad is Edward Wolf, a transfer freshman from Kansas State. His home is at Quinter, Kan. Edward was pledged to Sigma Chi College for six years. Many colleges and universities are now requiring the passing of such a test before a degree is granted. Kansas State College, Manhattan, and the University of Kansas, Lawrence, have the English-proficiency requirement.

Students transferring from McPherson College to Kansas State College have reported that they were excused from the exam there when they had passed McPherson's exam. After the English Proficiency papers are graded, each student will have a conference with one member of the English faculty to learn the criticisms on his paper.

Gerald Sampson has recently been released from the army and has enrolled as a freshman. He comes from Wauseon, Ohio; and he is most interested in Industrial Arts.

Another new student on McPherson campus is Jerry Irons whose home is in McPherson. Jerry has recently returned from service.

Rodney Willoughby is a freshman whose home is McPherson. Billy Rodrick is a freshman who lives in the city of McPherson.

Richard Eder is enrolled as a junior. Dick is just out of service and lives in McPherson.

Gene Hewett is a junior from Norton. Gene is married and previously went to Central College.

Robert Eberle is a freshman from McPherson. Bob has recently returned from service.

Official Open House Is Sunday Afternoon

Sunday afternoon, Feb. 7, marks the date of Dotzour Hall's first official open house. Residents of McPherson and especially local church members are cordially invited to Dotzour Hall between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 p. m., Sunday. The girls will be in their rooms to greet the visitors.

Nearly a thousand visitors are expected to visit the dormitory Sunday. Visitors are asked to enter the building through the main entrance on the east side of the building in order that confusion may be prevented.

Proficiency Test Given Feb. 11

Juniors and seniors who have not passed the English Proficiency Examination will take the second semester test Thursday morning, February 11, at 7:45 in the Chemistry Lecture Room. Passing the English Proficiency Test is a graduation requirement.

Miss Sarah May Vancil, associate professor of English, requests that anyone who cannot be present at the appointed time see her or Dean J. M. Berkebile to make arrangements for a test date. The test consists of the writing of a prose composition on a subject selected from a list of topics given at the time of the exam.

Students who do not pass the examination the second time will be given an "opportunity" for remedial work, with Dr. Maurice A. Hess. Papers are given code numbers so that the English faculty do not know the identity of the writer when the paper is graded.

The Green Pastures To Be Shown In Chapel Saturday Evening

"The Green Pastures," a great screen play made from one of the great stage plays of modern times written by Marc Connelly will be shown Saturday night, Feb. 6 at 7:30 in the chapel.

The Green Pastures has an all Negro cast. In the mood of the best Negro spirituals, it is a tender revelation of the Negro's beliefs.

Royer and Edna Dotzour, who donated the money for the new dormitory, and its furnishings to the college, are coming to Macampus from their home at Johnson, Kans., center of the rich Hugoton gas lands.

They will be in the lounge to welcome each person to the home that they have provided for MacCollege women.

The McPherson College girls moved into their new home on December 15, a short eight weeks ago. However, due to vacations, they have actually resided in the new hall only about five weeks.

Refreshments will not be served this year as was customary in Arnold Hall. With this one exception, the open house at Dotzour Hall will proceed as in the past in the old dormitory.

Nine residents of Dotzour Hall are in Washington, D.C., and will not be present to experience the occasion. They are attending the Youth Political Seminar sponsored by the Church of the Brethren.

'Quality Street' Cast Announced

Nearly 40 persons turned out for tryouts for the spring play, "Quality Street," which is to be given March 5 during Regional Youth Conference.

Preference was given to upperclassmen and to those who have worked in production. The cast chosen by Una Yoder, director of the play, consists of 22 students.

The three main characters are Maxine Hubbard, who plays the role of Phoebe, JoAnn Silver, as Susan, and Bob Wise who plays Valentine.

Others in the cast include Sergeant, played by Ed Frantz, Blades, played by Leon Albert, Arthur, by Gene Siler, George, played by Donald Lee Ullom.

Isabella is the part played by LaFaugh Hubbard, William Smith is done by Leonard Goering, Spicer is played by Leland Engel, the Old Soldier is Dale Shenefelt, and "The Lady" done by Kathy Russell. Phyllis Kingery plays the part of Miss Willoughby. Fanny is played by Betty Neher. Henrietta is done by Jean Slabaugh, Patty is played by Esther Merkey, and Harriet is done by Nancy Andrews.

Two ladies are played by Martha Switzer and Virginia Reist. A school boy is represented by Gene Myers, a postman by Chuck Vance, and a lamplighter by Bob Martin.

The cast met yesterday evening for the first rehearsal of the play.

'Cafe de la Coeur' Is Faculty Formal Given Feb. 13

The annual All School Formal sponsored and managed by the faculty, will take place at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 13 in the college gym.

The "Cafe de la Coeur" as the faculty has designated it, will be French cafe affair. General Manager of the cafe is Max McAuley. Students should make reservations sometime next week. Table reservations will be issued for interested parties.

The programme will consist of light and classical music rendered by "The Mousies." Added variety to the affair will include the famous Singing Waiters. Two dramatic presentations in the form of skits will take place, and performed by the faculty.

Majors, Domo, Master of ceremonies, is Harry K. Zeller, Carol Crisles, is Harry K. Zeller, Carol Crisles, will play a solo violin presentation, and will take part in a duet with Prof. Paul Sollenberger.

MacCollege In Midst Of Wet Vs. Dry Battle

It looks as though MacCollege is right in the middle of the current wet versus dry battle now being waged in McPherson.

For the past several weeks, the McPherson Ministerial Alliance, headed by our Rev. Harry K. Zeller, has been quietly preparing for a local option question to be placed on the April city ballot, to put the local liquor stores legally out of business.

Last Sunday over 20 MacCollege students canvassed the town to gain the 1,250 signatures needed to put the question on the ballot. As a result of this activity, over 1,000 signatures were gained.

But the thing that really started the prohibition ball rolling was when a local man, R. H. Nutter, approached Dean Berkebile and offered to buy a section of land from him for a "grocery store" site. The Dean accepted, relying upon the word of this gentleman.

However, a few weeks later there appeared a neat, little frame building which didn't look much like the conventional grocery store. Liquor could be had by all, including farmers, townspeople and college students, just 400 feet north of the college athletic field.

At this rather indiscreet violation of a gentleman's agreement, indignant persons around college hill swung the local option meetings into high gear, assisting the Ministerial Alliance.

Last week the liquor store owners collectively closed their establishments for several days in an attempt to get the "wets" in McPherson to put pressure to bear against the petition signing. Identical signs were put up in each store indicating how far it was to the next town that sold liquor. The owners then marched en masse to the police station and presented their keys, instructing the officer that the police could obtain liquor supplies for medical or religious use in cases of emergency!

The keys were returned to the liquor store owners the next morning, because the police department wanted no part of the scheme.

The result of this first clash between the church people and liquor store owners, besides making the latter look rather foolish, gave the "drys" a little assurance that anti-prohibition agitation is almost nonexistent at least apparently so at this stage of the campaign.

At the April 5, 1949 city election, the wets won a close 1,635-1096 victory over the disappointed church people. With the new petition, which lacks approximately 250 signatures for making the question eligible for the ballot, dry forces may put over its drive for no more package liquor stores.

The Ministerial Alliance, in conjunction with other dry agencies, are prepared to make public statistics from the local police blotter concerning liquor.

Over 80 percent of all local law violations other than minor traffic violations show some connection with drinking on the part of the violator.

The local WCTU and the Ministerial Alliance is part of the over all organization which is the Citizens Committee for Community Betterment, headed by Rev. Stanley Benson, pastor of the Covenant Mission Church. Many of the meetings that planned for the current campaign were conducted there.

Should 18 Yr. Olds Vote?

The current trend of national sentiment is undoubtedly for lowering of the voting age to 18 years. This feeling recently motivated Pres. Eisenhower to pay the traditional lip service to the idea.

But let us look rationally at the source of our problem, the average 18 year old. He likes baseball, football, ukuleles, TV and women. Towards most of these objects he is quite emotionally influenced. If he isn't intellectually inclined, which most 18 year olds aren't, his attention is motivated mostly by his immediate environment.

Proponents for 18 years voters have always cried "If he's old enough to fight, he's old enough to vote." On the surface this seems to be a rather valid argument.

In that statement however, lies the principal reason for not allowing him to vote. Because the 18 yr. old is emotional and impressionistic, he is best fitted to be a soldier, but in the least way to be an intelligent voter. It takes an appropriate education and clear thinking to be able to critically evaluate the complex political issues as they evolve today.

Thus we can see that famous statement is aimed at stereotyping the issue into one compact, neat little phrase. It is a patriotically inspired statement which gathers its support through emotion rather than through rational thought.

Because he is emotional, the 18 yr. old is susceptible to catchy phrases and speeches tainted with vague generalities. His analysis of the issue will likely be one of quick, irrational judgment.

Undoubtedly there are many 18 year olds who could vote in an intelligent way. But considering them as a whole, there is no valid justification for lowering the voting age. If it is to be done, states should do it, for cultural, and living standards should be taken into consideration.

The potential voter must prepare himself for the vital role of voting. The Christian man, just being born, gives one the right to be a Christian. You do not have to be one, or you can be a Christian. The choice is yours. It is your life. If you want to work at a job that will ultimately succeed, be a Christian.

A Successful Job

by Kenneth Evans

Many books have been written about life here on earth and the life after death which comes to us here on earth.

There are many ways of life, many religions, many philosophies. Each one tries to show you how to live, to get the most pleasure out of life, the value out of life.

Ask anyone what they are living for? What is your goal in life? This is a tough question, yet most people have some kind of answer. Some set the goal of raising a family, others of being a good lawyer, a good doctor, or a good farmer.

Yet each year men who are successful in business, or at their job, are not successful in life.

As I see it, men who do things with their lives that count, are the Christian men. Just being born gives one the right to be a Christian. You do not have to be one, or you can be a Christian. The choice is yours. It is your life. If you want to work at a job that will ultimately succeed, be a Christian.

College Tuition Is Prize In Living American Contest

Do you believe in Santa Claus? Would you like to have four years of free college tuition for just writing a term paper?

Just as Macollege students are feeling the pinch of paying tuition for second semester and are wishing for some extra cash, college tuition for four years is announced as the first prize in the annual scholarship awards of the American Institute of Management.

McPherson College students are eligible to try for this prize and for the four others of $500, $300, $200, and $150.

The awards are based on the competition in writing biographical essays of 6,000-8,000 words about an American listed in either volume 27 (1952-53) or volume 28 (to be in circulation by March 1, 1954) of "Who's Who in America." Emphasis in the essay should be on the person's contribution to society. Both style and content will be considered by the judges.

The recipient of the first prize will be reimbursed for prior tuition beginning with the freshman year, and other payments will be made on behalf of the winner to the institution of learning the winner selects.

According to a Spectator story of Dec. 18, Dr. D. W. Bittinger will be listed in "Who's Who in America"; therefore, he will be a possible subject for a prize-winning essay. Some Macollege student has the opportunity of getting his tuition for four years by writing a biographical essay about McPherson's president.

Any student interested in the awards may get more information from Miss Sarah May Vancil. The closing date on which to designate interest is March 15, but the closing date for submitting manuscripts is May 15.

Arnold Cartoon Is New Feature In The Spectator

This semester the Spectator is featuring "Arnold," an Associated Collegiate Press cartoon drawn by Bill Johnson.

The recent trend of collegiate cartooning has been that set by Walt Kelly, creator of the famous "Pogo" comic strip. The new style is one of abstract dialogue instead of the old-style punch line in the last panel.

Arnold expounds with his intellectual collegiate dialogue, upon various college situations, such as the ever present need for that "money from Dad," illustrated in this week's Spec.

The Spec staff hopes that you will enjoy Arnold. Please tell us your opinion of Arnold, and whether or not you want it continued.

Lehman To Speak At CBYF

Miss Della Lehman will speak to the College CBYF group on Sunday evening, February 7, at 6:30 p. m. in the church social rooms.

The goal of $200 for the heater project is nearly reached. Hopes are that the last $30 will be received in the offering this Sunday

McAuley Directs Church Choir Over KNEK

Prof. Max McAuley will be in direction of the Congregational Church Choir this Sunday when they broadcast their service over station KNEK. One of the choir selections will be "Jesus, The Very Thought of Thee." This song is an English church anthem written by Thiman. The Rev. Barter will be in charge of the services.

Prof. McAuley has directed this choir for two years. The first year was while a senior in Macollege. He is also director of the junior choir. The adult choir is made up of members of the church congregation.

Book Store Sets Hours

Since the rush on the bookstore has subsided now that the majority of the books have been purchased for the second semester, the Book Store Manager, Walter Blough, has set up certain hours during which the store will be open to accommodate Mac students.

Permanent book store hours for the second semester are as follows:

Mon. and Wed.—10:30-11:20.
Tues. and Thurs.—8:40-9:30 and 10:30-11:20.
Fri.—10:30-12:00.

Debate Squad Memoranda

By The Debate Squad

Flash headlines from the last tournament.

Fauls runs up radio speech! Royer gives Jimmy Durante competition. Murray wins third in extemporaneous with her facts and figure. Ullom trips light fantastic during quarter finals.

Five minutes before time to go on the air, Fauls decides he should have a radio news cast since it was required. Having no time, tape, temperament, or tenacity, Fauls madly tears items of news out of the Kansas City Star and attaches them to sheets of paper with chewing gum. The flavor of the speech was cloves!

Norann, the snoozle Royer, became noted at the tournament for her snozzle drawl. The judges were intrigued by the noise but not impressed. In spite of this impediment she and her colleague nosed into the quarter finals.

The gal with the husky voice or the perennial cold has a set of figures backed up by a pair of lungs. As she walked down the aisle to accept her medal for placing third in extemp the following remark was heard from the back of the room from a male debator: "No wonder that babe won." From now on all female debators are required to wear uniforms consisting of blue knit dresses.

Last but by all means not least is the smallest member of the squad trying to illustrate his case with a St. Vitus dance routine. It was oftentimes difficult to ascertain whether or not it was a liability shift walking down the corridors of E. State or Mr. Ullom carrying his case.

Remarks concerning the barking bulldogs abilities were varied. One judge commented that the debate team of Ullom and Fauls needed to get their material down on cards or buy a wheelbarrow in which to haul their books and magazines. Another comment from a female judge was that "you must have had some good points but I didn't get them."

Needless to say by the tone of this article, debate is not all work. Besides having the opportunity to meet new and interesting people, both male and female, a generally rip-snorting good time is had by all.

Thinking With The President

Open And Closed . .

Official Open House for Dotzour Hall is Sunday, Feb. 7. To Betty and Shirley Long, roommates on first floor of Dotzour, this will merely be what they experience every day.

Betty and Shirley live in the room next to Miss Neher. When persons come asking to see one of the new dormitory rooms, Miss Neher takes them right next door. Betty and Shirley have grown accustomed to the fact that they are open to the public every day and adhere to good housekeeping rules.

One of the upperclassmen said he read one thousand books during his high school career. There is a chance this column might be improved if "The Cub" would find time to read, chew, and partially digest, one particular book. The book in mind is how columnists should be written.

The door into the woodworking shop in Frantz Hall opens to the south, not the north. One of the Arts and Crafts Hall students still insisted the door was locked when it wouldn't go north, even though she had been going through that door at least six times a week for one semester.

Dr. Hess is in the process of organizing the fortieth reunion of his class to be held this coming spring. He has already made known to his freshmen English classes the fact that two minutes after the end of the semester examination period, he is heading his car east.

According to the geography lesson had by that class recently, a climate which changes frequently from warm to cold and back again makes for more ambitious people. This encouraging thought came to light at the time when Kansas was trying to make up her mind between summer or winter weather.

Persons who take the inner linings out of their coats one year wish to goodness they had left them in the next.

An attractive red-coated cardinal has been spending some of his time flying around decorating the Macampus. He is easily spotted among the bare brown branches.

Almost as tangled as the plot for a radio script was the weekend experiences of two of the Macollege student ministers. They traveled together with their sermon notes in identical briefcases. After separating and reaching their destinations, they discovered each had the other's sermon notes.

A College President's Meeting
A week or so ago I attended a college presidents meeting in Cincinnati. Present at this meeting were representatives from more than seven hundred colleges. In most cases the presidents were there and in some cases the deans, also. At such meetings there are usually invited guests representing industry, government, the military, and the United Nations. The discussion centered on the Christian College.

The representatives of state institutions, of government, of the United Nations, of industry seem to be agreed in their feeling that America has achieved the distinctive role it now occupies partly because of its unique system of education. Higher education in America started out sponsored by the churches. Its purpose was to produce Christian leaders for government, for diplomacy, for the church, for industry and for general community leadership.

Gradually the state entered into education. First it was elementary education, then secondary, and now junior colleges and state universities.

It was the feeling of those present at the Cincinnati meeting that if the Christian college were to lose its place in our American society and the state were to take over, we could easily follow the power culture which has brought other nations and empires to the end of their usefulness. It was the united feeling that all of our citizens whether they represent industry or education, should continue to support the Christian college, so that out of it can come strong leadership, with a Christian point of view, which is sorely needed in our world today.

Dag Hammarskjold and Andrew Cordier, representing the very top in the United Nations, made this strong appeal both in private conversations and in public talks.

This meeting lifted up once again, for the encouragement of the leaders of the smaller colleges, the tremendous importance of their work. It gave them encouragement to keep alive the small college in spite of the growing aid on the part of government to state schools.

The importance of McPherson College in the development of the work of the world, cannot be over-emphasized. McPherson students are working in almost every nation of the world.

Congratulations are in order for Dean Neher, Lu Carpenter, Norma Goering, Max Parmley, Ted Vance, and Velva Wagner for their splendid acting in "Affairs of State." Mrs. Yoder and the production staff are also in line to receive congratulations.

Dortzour Hall will hold its open house this Sunday February 7. Everyone is welcome to come and look through the rooms. The girls will be in their rooms to welcome all visitors. The dorm will be open from two until five in the afternoon.

Two debate teams traveled to Emporia last Friday, and returned Saturday. Eula Mae Murray, Norman Royer, Don Faules, and Don Ullom were the four Mac debaters who went. They were accompanied by Max McAlley. Eula Mae took third place in the Women's Extremoparous division. The group got to the quarter finals before they lost out.

Fahnestock Hall will be having their open house on February 28. The boys will probably have to get up bright and early Sunday morning to get their rooms cleaned up.

There was quite a group of Mac students at the Youth Rally at Buckeye last weekend. Clarence Quay is pastor of the Buckeye church. Those attending the Rally from Mac were Norman Long, George Eisele, Edith Kessler, Carol Watkins, Ruth Eisenbie, Sara Courtney, Nadene Correll, and Marilyn Spohn.

Pauline Adams was in Newton last weekend. While there she attended the wedding of a friend.

Birdene Jamison, a new student at Mac this semester, went home to Quinter over the weekend.

Eloise Postlor and Shirley Knackstedt were home visiting over the weekend. While home Shirley went to a wedding of one of her friends.

Bea Grone was home in Davenport, Nebraska over the weekend. Lucille Weaver's sister spent last Friday night with her in the dorm.

Dean Cotton was down from Topeka over the weekend. Betty Frandle came along with him and visited many of her old friends here at Mac.

Jean Silver and Roberta Jones left for home last Wednesday. Joan went home for her grandfather's funeral which Roberta also attended. The train was late into Kansas City causing them to miss the train to Cedar Rapids. While waiting for the next one the girls went shopping and saw a show. It seems they were on late trains the whole trip because coming back they were four hours late getting into McPherson.

The Girls Trio sang at the Youth Rally at Buckeye last Sunday. Afterwards they went on up to Kansas City where they gave a program at the Kansas City Church. Velva Wagner, her brother Irwin, Donna Waggoner, Don Waggoner, Dolores Sigle, and Diane Goering went to Larned, Kansas, Sunday. Velva showed her Puerto Rico pictures and the group sang. Don and Donna's brother is pastor of the church.

This Is Dotzour

The rooms in Dotzour Hall are 13 feet, 4 inches by 15 feet, nine inches. The walls are made of gypsum slabs and are sound proof. The ceilings are made of insulated blocks.

To help make each room individual, there are different color schemes. The tile floors are brick red, gray, or green. These colors of floors are interchanged with six colors of walls; turquoise, green, chartreuse, rose, brown, and gray. The wall where the windows are is yellow.

Every room in the new dorm is equipped with a built-in dresser. On each side of the dresser is a wardrobe with, accordion sliding doors. The top of each wardrobe contains three shelves. On the inner wall of the wardrobe is a towel rack. Above the dresser is a mirror with shelves in back of it for storing cosmetics and the like. A fluorescent light is built in above the mirror. Above the mirror is a storage compartment for bedding or hats.

Each room has two built-in desks equipped with a full length drawer. The metal desk lamps are swivel-necked. Above each desk are adjustable book shelves.

The twin beds are hollywood style with box springs and rubber foam mattresses.

Above the windows which extend the full length of the outside wall is a wooden shelf. The screens are on the windows and the window itself may be rolled out by means of a crank. The windows open out in opposite directions in order to catch the air no matter what direction it is coming from.

In addition to lamps, each room has identical wastepaper baskets, two desk chairs in cream plastic to match the rest of the blonde furniture, and an occasional chair in reddish-brown plastic.

The rooms are heated by a hot water system. The radiators are across the window side of each room. The end rooms, which are more difficult to heat, have radiators across two sides.

In addition to the extra radiator length, the end rooms on the southeast corner differ from the majority of the rooms in the respect that they have window space on the south wall instead of the east wall. This is due to the chimney which covers their east wall.

Ladies' Quartet Sings At High School Meeting

MacCollege Ladies' Quartet gave two groups of numbers instead of the scheduled one number at the teachers' meeting at the high school Wednesday, Jan. 27.

The airplane bringing the speaker, Dr. William Early, president of the National Education Association, to Wichita was late in arriving, and the quartet entertained the crowd until Dr. Early arrived.

Miss Anne Krehbiel, associate professor of piano, played a piano solo.

December To May

The following poem was written by Esther Ikenberry, who is a junior at MacCollege. This poem was selected by the National Poetry Association to be published in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry. The Anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every state in the country. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted.

The day they met, December turned to June.
As January melted, life was soon
A springlike fairylund, with just those two
To share their secret with the azure blue.
As March marched in the winds began to blow.
Then April reigned with rain, and —wouldn't you know?
The chilling damp of dreary days began;
And cold, now hot, the changing weather ran.
"Just like a fickle woman!" you might say—
But interesting, I wonder what's for May!

Mensching Speaks In College Church

Last Tuesday evening Wilhelm Mensching spoke before church members and MacCollege students in the College Church. Mr. Mensching was a village pastor at Petzen, Germany, for thirty-two years. He has also had missionary activities in Africa and several years experience in India. The Gandhian technique inspired his concern for nonviolence and better relations between people.

Pastor Mensching has published two books on the race problem. The books were, "The Fourth Continent" and "Color and White." After the second world war, Mr. Mensching developed a peace education center at Petzen. Each year young people from different countries, races, religions and political views come together at this center to work, study and worship.

Pastor Mensching continues his mission for peace, by directing the center and by lecturing and writing extensively. A book, "Jesus In The Political Events of His Time," will soon be published.

Bulldogs Win From Baker To Remain In Conf. Run

Sid Smith's McPherson College Bulldogs back on the winning column after two conference defeats, scored another resounding victory over the Baker Wildcats here last Tuesday night in a rather important conference game.

The Bulldogs are now in the run for first place with the Ottawa Braves who earlier this season have beaten the Bulldogs but who lost to Baker. The Bulldogs have now a 5-2 record as compared with Ottawa's 6-2 record after Ottawa's victory over Bethany last Tuesday.

Baker drew first blood from the charity line, but soon seconds after the game had started Glenn Gayer sank in a bucket and the Canines took the lead which they never relinquished to the end of the game.

The Bulldogs led at the end of the first quarter 26-12, and it was 35-24 at the end of the first half. During this half, the Wildcats and the Bulldogs had the same percentage on field goals made. They each had 36 percent.

The Wildcats rallied in the opening minutes of the third quarter and whittled down the Bulldog 15 point lead to seven, but soon the Canines began to find the bucket again, and they increased their margin to the 10 points advantage they held at the close of the game.

In that second half, the Wildcats hit 48 percent of their field goals as compared to the Bulldogs' 31 percent. Scores at the end of the third quarter stood at 33-47 in the favor of the Canines, and 72-62 at the end of the game.

Sid Smith used his first stringers for the entire game, and Digger O'Dell tied with Baker's Malm for the night's scoring honors at 24 points each. Glenn Gayer scored 16 points, and Bill Smith made 13.

In the preliminary game played between the two "B" teams, the Bulldogs were much more accurate than the Wildcats, and Le Roy Heidebrecht led the Canines with 16 points in their 70-49 victory over the Wildcats.

Many Mac Students Work On, Off Campus

By Dale DeLauter

Have you ever wondered about the students here on Macampus who work part time in order to go to college? Have you ever asked a friend of yours to do something and got an answer something like this: "I'm sorry, but I have to go to work."

This is the answer to the question of how students are able to go to school here. Yes, these students have jobs here on campus, or someplace downtown. An approximate figure of the number of students working would run around 50 percent. Many students secure these jobs through the Placement Bureau located in the Alumni Office.

To give some idea of the various jobs Macalester students are doing, here are a few examples: Francis Mankey works at Quiring's Funeral Home, Martha Switzer at Raleigh's Drug Store where she has been working for several years; Roger Eick at Jones Furniture; Ruth Peckover and Darlene Treloar at the Dairy Dip.

Nancy Dayton and Dale Gillingly work at Select Dairy, Gerald Larson works at Crabb's Town and Country, and Phil Radatz works at Co-op Market 40 hours a week besides taking a full load of upper level hours.

These are just a few of the many students who are working in town.

Have you ever wondered how some of our professors and secretaries get so much work done? This can be answered in one word: assistantships. On Macampus there are nearly 40 students who work as part time assistants in the various departments.

For example Glenn Bellah and Ted Vance are assistants to John Burkholder in the Biology Department; Berwyn Oltman in the Philosophy and Religion Department under Dr. Metzler, and Janice Nance under Prof. Dell in the Industrial Arts Dept.

Student on-campus jobs range from working in the Presidents Office to picking up papers

Friends Fizzle To Bulldogs In Surrender

The Fighting Quakers of Friends University from Wichita, Kansas put up a tremendous fight last Saturday night when they raided the Bulldog camp with blood in their eyes hoping for an upset against the Bulldogs, but soon, they fished out of the game surrendering unconditionally to the Bulldogs in a 54-54 loop ill.

The Bulldogs' mentor, Sid Smith did not let the first stringers inflict this punishment to the hapless Quakers, but used every player on his bench, and for most of the time relying on what his "B" squad players could do to win the victory.

The Bulldogs entered the game with a 3-2 conference record following their victory over the Coyotes of Salina, and at the end of the game stood in a tie for first place with a 4-2 record.

The Fighting Quakers of Wichita are yet without a win as far as this season is concerned in games both conference-wise and non-conference-wise. However, in last Saturday night's game, the Quaker squad showed a lot of improvement since their last visit to McPherson for the KCAC tournament.

The Quakers picked up a very high scoring percentage as far as field goals are concerned. They hit an unbelievable 43 percent for the game as compared with the Bulldogs' 37 percent.

The Bulldog first stringers played the first quarter and built up a 23-14 lead for the second stringers and "B" squad players who went in to replace them. Again with 2 minutes left in the game, Sid Smith put in the first stringers to replace the reserves.

Bill Smith, McPherson's center was high scorer for the game with 16 points. Wayne Blickenstaff and Glenn Gayer were second with 13 points each. High for the Fighting Quakers was Eldon Peterson with 12 points.

The "B" squad again scored another victory by defeating the Quaker "B" 89-73. Ronnie Sams led the scoring with 24 points, while Bob Adams was high for the Quakers with 21.

Girls Improve Standings In Murals Competition, Play Bethany Monday

A total of twelve games have so far been played by girls in their intramural basketball program this year, and interest is about to reach its peak as underrated teams struggle to dislodge favored ones perched at the top of the solitary girls' league.

The girls' intramurals program hasn't much of a chance for games since they play only once a week on Tuesdays, and often, Tuesdays are taken up by Varsity games, or some other more important college extra-curricular activity.

Dorcas Sigle's team was upset and displaced from the top last Tuesday night when Arlene Merkey's team former Walker team defeated the Sigle team 25-20 with seconds to go in the game. It was Arlene Merkey's mid-court shot that put the Merkey team ahead with only a minute to go.

The ball changed hands on four different occasions in those last sixty seconds as passes were intercepted by opposing teams, finally the Merkey team intercepted a pass and were able to stall the ball and retain their one point lead to win the game.

Evelyn Jarboe, the scoring ace on the Sigle team, and an outstanding player on the girls' varsity squad, was ably guarded by Betty Moore, but she was high scorer for the game with 15 points from nine field goals.

Doris Coppock's team scored their first victory by defeating Marlanna Wine's team 30-26. Marilyn Mettsker and Doris Coppock tied for scoring honors with 14 points each. Marilyn's points coming from seven field goals, and Doris' from six field goals and two free throws.

In the other game played on the previous Tuesday, Hatsuco's team won a close one from Betty Holdread's team 7-6. This sounds like a football score, but it was a tough contest with plenty of water tight defensive action! Shirley Hamilton playing for Holdread's team, broke through her opponents' tight defense sink in two field goals and one free throw, and to lead the night's scoring with five head-earned points. All the scoring was made in the first quarter of the game. Three quarters passed without a single score, the action being limited largely to the middle of the court.

Apart from their intramural program, the girls have also played two varsity games, which, rather regrettably, were both lost. The first loss was to Bethany girls, and last Tuesday, the girls were trounced again by the Tabor College girls. Evelyn Jarboe and many other outstanding girls on the Macalester varsity squad did not get to play that game.

Next Monday, Feb. 8, the girls' varsity cagers will be host to the Bethany College girls. An interesting game has been predicted to take place, and if girls could go out to cheer the boys' varsity team, why cannot the boys go out to cheer the girls in their varsity games?

get to play that game.

Next Monday, Feb. 5, the girls' varsity cagers will be host to the Anthony College girls. An interesting line-up has been predicted for the take place, and if girls could go out to cheer the boys' varsity team, why cannot the boys go out to cheer the girls in their varsity games?

Intramural league standing for the girls as of Tuesday, Feb. 2 is briefly:

Canines Trounce Coyotes 76-71

The McPherson College Bulldogs came back into the winning place Wednesday, Jan. 25, when they trounced the highly rated Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes 76-71 in a rather important game held at the Memorial Hall in Salina before a fair sized crowd.

Before Wednesday night's game, both the Bulldogs and the Coyotes had a 2-2 conference game record, and were in triple tie for third place with the Bethel College Graymaroons. Wednesday night's victory for the Bulldogs placed them in a second place two way tie with the Baker University Wildcats, each with a conference record of 3-2.

The Bulldogs from McPherson took an early lead in the game, and never relinquished it to the end. The Coyotes put up several rallies and whittled down the Bulldog lead from the greatest margin of 15 points they held at one time during the game, to a mere three points with three minutes to go in the game.

The Coyote's scoring ace Gary Cassel gave the Canines plenty of trouble in the night's game. The two players assigned to keep him in check were always drawing fouls. Cassel bagged 33 points to hold scoring honors for the game.

The Bulldogs came to life in this game, and were hot for most of the game, thus breaking the "Cold streak" that cost them two games in which they could have easily won.

Wayne Blickenstaff who in the last two previous games was as cold as a cucumber came to life, and led the Bulldogs with a score of 25 points. Gene Smith accounted 23, and "Digger" O'Dell bagged 10 points from five field goals.

From the free throw line, the Canines hit 59.9 percent of their free throws, making 20 out of 22. This phenomenal scoring from the free throw line was what gave the Bulldogs their five point margin to win the game. Both teams hit equal amount of field goals.

In the preliminary game the Bulldog "B" squad ran up its second 100 point this season by defeating the Coyote "B" Squad 100 to 62. It was Le Roy Heidebrecht who scored the two points to make it a century with just seconds left in the game. The other time the "B" squad racked up a 100 point score against their opponents was at the Central College Invitational Tournament when the Canine "B" swamped Westeton College 103-45.

Box score for the varsity game, is as follows:

Presbies To Test Bulldogs Tonight

Coach Wayne McConnell will bring down his Presbie squad of 14 boys from Emporia to give a real test to Sid Smith's McPherson College Bulldogs when the two great rivals meet for an important conference game tonight at the High School gymnasium at 8:00 p. m.

Murals Go Haywire As Teams Forfeit

Intramurals basketball went haywire this week as all but one game scheduled for last Monday ended in forfeits when four participating teams either partially showed up or failed to show up at all.

Only two games were played last Thursday night, and during the week, positional reshuffling took place in the different leagues—as a result of at least one upset, and several forfeitures.

In last Thursday night's games, "Angels" upset the strong and favored "Hepeats" 45-36. The "Hepeats" were not up to par, and were outscored and out played by the alert "Angels." However, Don Hoch of the "Hepeats" was leading scorer with 17 points. Don Moeller and Dwight Blough both of the "Angels" made 10 points each.

In the three games scheduled for the night, "Walkers" forfeited to "Deacons Quintet," "Snappers" forfeited to "Ball and Chain" and "College Inn" won on another forfeit by "Walkers." That was a kind of a disappointment for C. E. Oatis manager of the "College Inn" who showed up to play in the game, but instead shot at baskets on the open court.

League standings as of Tuesday night, Feb. 2 are:

| Upper League: | W | L |
|-----------------|---|---|
| Hepeats | 2 | 1 |
| Angels | 2 | 1 |
| "B" Team | 2 | 1 |
| Faculty | 2 | 1 |
| Seratchy 8 | 3 | 1 |
| Middle League: | W | L |
| Deacons Quintet | 4 | 0 |
| Eight Balls | 2 | 0 |
| MFTZ | 2 | 0 |
| College Inn | 2 | 2 |
| Ball & Chain | 2 | 3 |
| Snappers | 0 | 3 |
| Walkers | 0 | 3 |
| Lower League: | W | L |
| Radatz | 3 | 0 |
| Short Six | 1 | 1 |
| Fireball Seven | 1 | 2 |
| Neher's Quers | 0 | 2 |

Both the Presbie and the Bulldog squad are two great powers in the KCAC circuit, and presently are in a wild race for the championship. The Bulldogs have a slightly better record than the Presbyterians in conference and all games played record. However, the Presbies have defeated the Baker Wildcats, who in turn defeated the Ottawa Braves, who beat McPherson here in a thriller just two weeks ago.

Of the 14 boys on the Presbie squad, two are juniors, six sophomores, and five are freshmen. Only three of these players are six feet or over.

Outstanding on the Presbie squad is little Charlie Dehlinger, 5 ft. 11½ in. junior from Virgil, Kans.

Charlie Dehlinger is an All-American selection, and is presently the highest scorer in the Kansas Conference. Charlie is a master of types and kinds of shots, and is particularly tricky.

Also on the Presbie squad is Bill Danenham, a sophomore from Clay Center, Kans., who plays center for the Fighting Presbyterians. At 6 ft. 3½ in. Bill is the tallest player on the Presbie squad. Bill is a good ball player, and a consistent scorer.

Earlier this season, the Bulldogs defeated the Presbies at Emporia by a five point margin. This game is of great importance to the Bulldogs if they are to remain in the running for championship.

Wouldn't it be nice to live in 1954 wages, 1932 prices, 1926 dividends, with 1910 taxes?
