"Fiddlers four", Carol Watkins, violinist; Professor Paul Sollenberger, violinist; Shirley Hamilton, violinist; and Betty Holderread, cellist from McPherson College, are making their touring "debut" from Dec. 5-12 in Iowa and Minnesota.

Usually known as the String Quartet, this ensemble made their first appearance during Regional Conference.

Various members of the group will give short talks on hymn appraisals and on aspects of the life and program of the college.

Aside from the numbers to be done by the group as a whole, several solos will be presented.

Carol Watkins will be at the console for one number; Professor Sollenberger will play a violin solo and Betty Holderread will sing a solo.

From Waterloo and Fredericksburg in Iowa, the tour will continue to Root River and Lewiston, Minn., and then back to visit the cities of Green, Silver, Curlew, Sheldon, and Kingsley, Ia.

On both Dec. 5 and Dec. 12, the group will make morning and evening appearances.

Representing the college in song and person this week is the Freshman Male Quartet consisting of Keith Coffman, first tenor; Forrest Kruschwitz, second tenor; Kenneth Fancher, baritone; and Eugene Snyder, bass. The Quartet is touring Missouri and Iowa.

Numbers in the group's repertoire as announced by Forrest Kruschwitz, librarian for the men, include light music, spirituals, and hymns.

Among the selections to be used on the tour are: "God is a Spirit" by Sholin, "Lo, A Voice from Heaven Sounding" by Bortolansky, "The Lord is my Shepherd" arranged by Parks, "Send Out Thy Light" by Gounod, "Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Kremsner, a group of spirituals, "O Mary Don't You Weep", "Steal Away," and "Climbing up the Mountain"; and Ladies' Quartet, the voices of La Faughn Hubbard, Kathy Albin, Evelyn Williams, and Donna Berry, will accompany Dr. Bittinger to Portis, Kans. where they will furnish special music for a District Rally and Evangelistic Meeting to be held there Dec. 6-7.

The ensemble will present music including several Christmas carols on four occasions during the meeting and Dr. Bittinger is to be guest speaker on Saturday night when he will speak about the work of our church. A basket dinner will be held at the church Sunday noon and the five will return Sunday night after the last session.

Litan Designs Christmas Card For MacCollege

A new Christmas card is now on sale at the College Book Store. This is the second year the college has made up such cards. A water color painting of Old Sharp Hall is on the cover of the card. They are five cents per copy.

Last year a painting by Prof. E. S. Hershberger of the McPherson College Art Department, was used on the cards, but the cut of the picture was loaned out and never returned.

David Litan, owner of the McPherson Pipe and Equipment Co., is the artist of the new picture. Mr. Litan sometimes sits in on Wednesday evening art class at the college. His art is a recreation and he is not regularly enrolled in any art class.

These cards which were printed by the artist's Printing Co., are of two types. One card has an appropriate verse for the Christmas season and the other card is blank and could be used for note paper.

Mr. Litan's wife taught Modern Languages at McPherson College at the time of her death.

McPherson College has also put out a wall calendar this year. A picture of the front of Harney is featured on this calendar. Each of the ministers of the Western Region will receive one.

Brown Is Injured In Car Accident

Jessie Brown, who retired from the head of the McPherson College music department two years ago, is in the McPherson Hospital. While driving her car last Saturday evening, Miss Brown had a slight accident. Her most serious injury was a broken arm.

Debaters Journey

MacCollege debaters journeyed to Bethel College, North Newton on Nov. 19 to participate in the invitational Debate Tournament held there. The team that rated from MacCollege was Dave Frazier and Dale Shenefelt.

Dean Requests Prompt Enrollment

Dean Berkebile asks that each student meet with his counselor soon to complete his pre-enrollment for next semester. Pre-enrollment must be finished by December 10.

"Remember that a counselor cannot take care of all students assigned to him in the last hour; start now. Make an appointment with your counselor today," Dr. Berkebile said.

He also suggested the following steps:

1. Obtain materials for pre-enrollment from Registrar's office.
2. Have a written record of your previous college work so that the counselor can see at a glance what you have taken and the courses in which you are now enrolled. Use your schedule booklet for this complete record.
3. Set up a proposed schedule for next semester.
4. Consult with your counselor and revise the schedule as is suggested.
5. If not attending school next semester, please indicate such on the pre-enrollment blank and give to the Registrar.

Contest Opens For Orators

The state Alcohol Oratory contest will probably be held on March 2 with the local contest being about two weeks before this time.

If three or four orators enter the local contest the prize will be fifteen dollars. Five or more orators increase the prize to twenty-five dollars.

The word limits in the state contest are from twelve to eighteen hundred words. Not over 10 percent of the material can be quoted.

Frosh Try Out For Cheerleading

Following the chapel Tuesday the freshmen who are interested in trying out for the B squad in cheerleading and the entire Freshman class will meet then. It is requested that only one yell per group be done.

Two boys and two girls are to be chosen for the squad. Those who are chosen by the Freshman class will be the cheerleaders for the B squad in basketball.

Dean Excuses No One Early

A notice in the faculty sounding board issue of Nov. 24 was about students who leave for vacation ahead of the regular scheduled time.

The statement said "the dean excuses no one early for vacation regardless of circumstances."

The faculty bulletin brought out the fact that no student can be excused early for a vacation without the approval of the entire faculty. The notice stated no student can acquire an early leave with just the consent of the dean and the particular faculty member.

The teachers may operate an independent procedure, but this may destroy a normal class program preceding vacations. Forty-eight hours is the minimum time for a faculty approval of an early leave.

Students See Reformatory

A large cavalcade of cars motored to Hutchinson Thursday where they visited the Reformatory.

This large class, of 73 students, was interested particularly in the influence the home has on juvenile delinquency and crime.

The visit had two points; one being, going through the entire reformatory, and the other, conference with the psychiatrist, chaplain, and other officials. They talked of the backgrounds of the boys in prison, and the class asked related questions.

Some of the main questions asked were of: home background of the boys, religious background of the boys, education of the boys, whether or not the boys were married, and whether or not they had committed a crime before.

In the last Chapel hour before Thanksgiving vacation, Mrs. Pradhan, of India, presented to Pres. D. W. Bittinger a picture which she is leaving with the college as a memento of her appreciation of the college.

"We receive only to give," is the theme of the picture. As you look at the picture you see vapors rising from the sea, forming clouds, and returning in the form of rain. Students are now receiving their education to teach or give out in some other way.

Mrs. Pradhan has many artistic talents in painting and fine needle work. This picture is a combination of the two. For the needle work, she used an Indian practice of using her own hair for the fine work.

Mrs. Pradhan married early in life and has two sons. She is now an Indian widow, and in India, widows have very few privileges. But in spite of this, she was determined to give her sons an education. One son is now a medical doctor in a government hospital and the other is in a position with the Indian government.

While her sons were getting their education, Mrs. Pradhan went ahead with hers, and became a teacher in an Indian school, and housemother in an Indian girls dormitory.

After her children were married, she decided she would like to come to America and get her Ph.D. in home economics and return to India and help with the diet of her people.

When she got here she found that she needed to graduate from an American college to gain admission to a graduate school. She will complete her work here in MacCollege.

Wanted: Old Nylons

"Do you have any old nylon stockings?" ask SCA and CBYF members.

Operation Nylon is in progress on Macampus. This project, the collection of discarded nylons for shipment to Peggy Sargent in Germany, was inaugurated in chapel just before the Thanksgiving vacation.

Women in Germany make flowers and other articles out of the nylons. They also unravel the nylons thread by thread in a tedious process and use the thread in making other articles.

ed the project, urges students to ask their mothers and sisters to contribute their unwearable nylons to Operation Nylon.

Peggy Sargent, a Mac graduate, is serving in Germany under BVS. Her father, St. Sargent, was the chapel speaker the day Operation Nylon was announced. St. spoke about his recent trip to Europe, and told of some of Peggy's and their experiences.

The goal for Operation Nylon is a mile of hose. A box for the hose has been placed in Sharp Hall near the Chapel.

To Join National Honorary Fraternity Alpha Psi Initiates Learn Greek Letters, Shakespeare

Initiation for the new members into Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, will be held on Dec. 7 at the home of Mrs. Una Yoder.

Leon Albert, Dale Shenefelt, La Faughn Hubbard, JoAnn Silver, and Norma Coover are eligible for Alpha Psi Omega membership.

The initiation of new members consists of learning the Greek alphabet and twelve lines from one of Shakespeare's writings. The local chapter of Alpha Psi Omega is the east Theta Epsilon.

In order that a MacCollege Players Club members become eligible for Alpha Psi Omega, he must have a total of 50 points, received from working on any play.

Present members of Alpha Psi Omega are Esther Merkey, Max Yoder, Ted Vance, and Dale Delauter. These members prescribe the initiation requirements for new members.

These members of Alpha Psi Omega, met with Mrs. Yoder recently to decide the number of points to be given to members of the Players Club for the production of the three-act play, "Deep Are the Roots."

Those receiving 25 points for acting alone are: Leon Albert portraying Senator Langdon, Leland Lengel as Howard, Max Parmley playing the lead as Brett, and Peggy Hoefler as Alice.

Acting and production points went to: JoAnn Silver as Genevieve; Duane Hoover as Roy, 25; Irene Shull portraying Bella, 25; Billy Joe Hildreth as a deputy, 15; Dale Shenefelt portraying the sheriff, 13; La Faughn Hubbard in the part of Honey, 11; and Joe Reeves as another deputy, 6.

Points for production alone were awarded to: Ted Vance, 15; Nancy Keim, 7; Dee Bowman, 6; Marilyn Metsker, 5; Sarah Ann Coffman, 4; Duane Pike, Darlene Treloar, and Don Saunders each received 2; and Vera Mohler, 1.

The list for points is not yet complete, but the total number of points received by any MacCollege students from working on a play will soon be posted in Sharp Hall, according to Esther Merkey, Alpha Psi Omega secretary.

Building Committee Exam Drawings, Delays Decision

Prospective drawings for the new education building to be built by the McPherson Church of the Brethren have been examined but none have been accepted, Mr. John Wall, chairman of the building committee said.

Forest Groff, architect for the Brethren Church, has studied the needs of the church and drawn plans for the new building. As yet none of the plans have been accepted by the building committee.

Proposed plans are for the new education building to be located in the lot south of the church. No date will be set for construction to start until more funds are available.

Students Check Out Record Number Of Books

More books and magazines were checked out of the library the week before Thanksgiving vacation than any other time this year, according to Miss Harris, college librarian.

The reason is believed to be due to term themes and outside reading assignments.

It's Up To You . . .

A variety of students attend McPherson College, as do a variety attend every college. People are made differently and students are certainly no exception.

This difference in people causes one thing to be best for one person and something else to be best for another. A plate full of spinach can be enough for someone, and two teaspoons can be enough for someone else.

In education some students need a great deal of one thing and others need more of something else. Instructors try to arrange their teaching to meet the requirements of the majority of students. But . . .

some students are not given the most of what they need. Ten pages of history may be all the one student can digest in one assignment, while three chapters may be the limit for someone else. So . . . the assignment is fifteen pages and the latter student gets without being challenged.

A number of students complain because they are not challenged as much as they feel that they should be. That does not remedy the situation any.

Education is up to you and if you're not being challenged inside the classroom, go outside and dig into something that will advance your education. Do it on your own.

The McPherson College Library isn't sitting over on the south side of the campus just to accommodate the freshmen when they are writing themes. Neither is it there to stack up historical newspapers, books or other reference books.

Books, yes, but the magazine section contains an underterminal amount of vital research information. It isn't standing at the door beckoning to you as you enter, but it's there, seek it out.

Student Ministers Speak . . . Was It Thanksgiving?

By Lyall Sherrard

We have recently survived another Thanksgiving. Most of us went home; we seemed to find ourselves caught up in a hustle of traveling, eating, helms, goodbye. Sometimes I feel we get too rushed to be really thankful.

To many Americans, Thanksgiving is merely a "food orgy." It is indeed a shame that food is the predominant symbol of the Holiday. If the Puritans had wanted only food, the New World would have been the last place to which they would have come.

Thanksgiving should be a period of reflection over the deep convictions and turbulent souls of those brave adventurers who forged ahead on a new frontier. The Pilgrims were willing to risk all in order to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences.

Are we? I often wonder how Christian it is to gorge ourselves when we are so acutely aware of our brothers' needs. How much of too much can we have and still be Christian? Thanksgiving should be a period of gratefulness, and this gratefulness should continue throughout the year.

Share Our Surplus

By Don Saunders

This year 53 million or more Chinese will die of starvation, while the United States has stockpiles of surplus food that could be sent to these people to keep them from starving.

Some people will argue, "Why feed our enemy?"

The Apostle Paul said, "If thine enemy hunger, feed him." In reality, however, Walter F. McConaughy, our representative to the U.N., says that the total mainland of China is in opposition to the government in control.

There are guerrilla forces in China at the present time attempting to overthrow the government. With this in mind, we know that the U.S. won't be feeding their enemies, but friends. Starving women, malnourished children, and work weary men would be fed.

In the U.S. it is hard to visualize the effects of an all-over famine. Babies die without a chance of survival. Children turn into shriveled little old men and women. The youth dies, and only a deathly silence awaiting the inevitable hovers over the land.

Asking to send food isn't like passing a tax or some other com-

Metzler, Mohler Attend Nat'l. Council Of Churches

Dr. Metzler and Dr. R. E. Mohler are now representing the Church Brethren at the National Council of Churches Assembly at Boston, Mass. Dr. Metzler and Dr. Metzler have been gone from the campus this week.

Dr. Burton Metzler traveled to the Quinter Kansas Church of the Brethren Harvest Thanksgiving service on Sunday, November 21st. A basket dinner and a service in the afternoon at which the ladies trio sang were part of the service.

Thinking With The President

THY KINGDOM COME, BUT NOT NOW

A few years ago Margaret Slattery wrote a book which caught up all who read it in surprise and shock. Yet the subject on which she wrote is so common that any one of us could have thought of her thesis.

From childhood she had been taught to pray, "Thy Kingdom come." She had prayed it with faith and hope.

As she grew older and entered into sociological studies she examined other parts of our American society. Here are a few of the things she found out.

Always on her doorstep the milkman had placed the amount of milk which her family would require. They had used it for drinking, for cooking, to help the taste of their coffee, and in other ways.

Then, one day she was with a girl who had never tasted milk. When she got a glass and sipped it, she thought it was a divine fluid. She needed the milk more than Margaret did, but even in America she had never had opportunity to taste it because she could not afford to get it.

Margaret realized that if the Kingdom came, milk might be distributed more evenly. In fact, Margaret might have to go without milk for a few days in order that someone else who had never had milk might have it. So after that when she prayed, "Thy Kingdom come," she added under her breath, "but not now."

Margaret had always lived in a comfortable home. In the winter it was warm. There were electric sweepers to keep it clean. The beds were comfortable.

Then she visited a home where there was no bed at all. The children slept on the floor; the covers were tattered and scarce. There was no central heating; sometimes there was no coal for any heating. Margaret had always prayed, "Thy Kingdom come." She realized now that if the Kingdom came she might have to lessen some of the advantages of her home in order that someone else might achieve a few lacking advantages. When next she prayed, "Thy Kingdom come," she added under her breath, "but not now."

She discovered that the average yearly income for the Negro in 1939 was $364. For his white brother it was $566. That had increased so that the average yearly income for a Negro in 1950 was $1295. For his white brother it was $2400, or in each case it was at least twice as advantageous financially to be white rather than colored.

She got to thinking about the Kingdom and felt that perhaps if it came some of the finances which flowed almost automatically to the white might flow also to the colored. This might lessen the amount which flowed to the white in order that the colored might have more. She prayed again about the Kingdom, but added, after "Thy Kingdom come," "But not now."

When we think world-wide, even greater inequalities exist. As we think of the refugees in Palestine or the hungry in many parts of the world, we must realize that if the Kingdom came our surplus and excess would be distributed among all of God's children.

At Thanksgiving time and Christmas time it is good to pray, "Thy Kingdom come." And if we are really Christian we should erase even from our subconscious minds the addendum, "but not now."

The prayer should be, "Thy Kingdom come—NOW!"

Sooby Serves In Germany, Praises College, Home Church

Donna Sooby, graduate of 1954, writing to her pastor, Archie Patrick at Garden City, Kas., refers to his influence upon her and tells also of the influence of McPherson College.

Donna writes: "I want to thank you, Reverend Patrick, for the Christian-fellowship you provided during my years at home. The example you set before me has done much to mold my thinking in the right paths."

"Secondly, I want to thank you for your support to McPherson College. The devotion and sacrifice of the professors who have spent many years of their lives in unpaid service lays upon the student the responsibility of making his service worthwhile."

"I can say without a doubt that had I been without either of the above mentioned items I wouldn't be here to enjoy this work in Europe."

"Thirdly, I want to thank you for the support of the Brethren Service program in Europe. Without the money, clothing, food, and prayer of the church people in America it would be impossible for us to work here.

"The material equipment you send to us provides the physical support we need, but the knowledge that you are behind us and are praying for us gives us the emotional security we must have."

"Our work here sounds a little more exciting and glamorous than yours, but if it were not for the home churches and the individuals in the churches there would be no Brethren Service Work in Europe or missions in Africa, or hospitals in Puerto Rico, or schools for Indian children in our own land."

Yours sincerely,
Donna Sooby

Osage Church Holds Anniversary Homecoming

A 75th Anniversary and homecoming service was held by the Osage Church of the Brethren in Southeastern Kansas. This is a rural church near McCune. The services were held on Nov. 28. Present minister of the Osage congregation is Francis L. Shenfelt.

Many non-local members attended the services and the basket dinner along with many others who had been connected with the church in some way.

Those McPherson College students in attendance were Dale and Neva Shenfelt, Marian McElwain, Vera Mohler, Theodore Kaitsonius, Phyllis Nagel, and Ruth Davidson.

A houseparty was in session when the Wise family who reside in Fernald, Iowa entertained five students of MacCollege including Bob and Mary Lou Wise. Other guests were Ed Frantz and Anita McSpadden, both visiting in Iowa for the first time, and Anne Keim.

During an afternoon of pleasure and reading, some interesting material was covered such as the following jokes.

Some girls are afraid of mice. Other girls have ugly legs.

A wedding ring is like a tourniquet, it stops circulation.

And then there was the coed who soaked her strapless evening gown in coffee so it would stay up all night.

The course of true love never runs up a big light bulb.

Nit: Do you believe in Buddha?
Wit: Of course, but I think oleomargarine is just as good.

Daffy definitions.

Carrier girl: One who prefers plots and plans to pots and pans.

Gold-digger: A girl who breaks dates by going out with them.

Heaven: Farewell address.

Hug: Energy gone to waist.

Nylons: Sheer today and gone tomorrow.

Tinkling bells, greenery, Christmas trees, and a gay spirit of the Christmas season will soon be upon us.

There is much to be accomplished in the next two weeks. Our college family should find the season one in which we come closer together, for Christmas is a family season.

Freshman themes are in! Dr. Hess's announcement "First draft of your 2000 word theme, plus revised outline, and bibliography are due Nov. 23 and 24," pronounced the fate of all fresh the weekend before Thanksgiving vacation. As a result the library was filled to the utmost with English students in every corner of the building.

The relief of getting the term paper in before the vacation started, lifted a load from the minds of the students. Vacation could now be vacation without English to fret over.

So coke machines are turning in to slot machines! Norris Harms was delighted with the fact while attending the recent debate tourney at Bethel College in Newton. A five cent coin put the machine, produced a full bottle of coke and then returned your nickel. Harms bubbled when he discovered that previously other nickels were left in the coin return. The unique nickels were used to finish music for fellow Mac debaters at dinner.

Wednesday, the last lap, before vacation, the whistle did not blow. That was also the time which the profs chose to give test.

Mrs. Richard McDaniel and Mrs. Ed Sifford were guests of their daughters June and Marian in their spacious home at Dotzour Hall. The girls didn't believe the dorm could be so quiet.

JoAnn Silver spent her vacation working and buying clothes. According to Jo, "a shopping spree always helps pass the time."

The scales on second floor of Dotzour have really had a workout now that vacation is over. Many of the gals are checking on the pounds they added over the holiday goodies.

Students of our sister college, LaVerne, spent the night on campus, Sunday, Nov. 21. Daniel Long the advisor was the guest of Mrs. and Mrs. Dick Wareham, wife and Mrs. Mohler, were hosts to Esther Williams. The rest of the girls, four in number, were entertained by girls in Dotzour. Mary Alice Smith, Bev Hall, Nancy Keim, Marian McElwain, Evelyn Jarboe, Clara Zunkel, Ruth Strickler and Carol Trostle, housed the homes. Beds were pushed together, shower caps lent, and a general display of making the guests feel at home was extended to the tired travelers.

Among the group was Miss Raylene Harmon, editor of the Campus Times. Speech editor, Irene Shull, and Raylene talked late into the night about "their" respective papers.

Kenny Brown goes out of business. In his business transactions he has purchased approximately $200 worth of food. His profits netted him 96 cents.

Don Saunders and Bob Bowers gave a volley ball victory and Thanksgiving party Tuesday, November 23. It was held in Don Saunders and Bob Spitzer's rooms. Cake and various beverages were served. Plans to last into the wee hours of the morning. All who were still awake went to breakfast at Baker's Cafe at 4:30.

Fahnestock boys are wondering what Norris Harms and Lyle Sherred do to keep so much racket going after hours.

Both men's dorms concealed activity as the freshmen worked on their term papers for Dr. Hess.

Kenny Evans was ordained at the Buckeye Church, which is his pastorate, by Dr. Bittinger, Sunday. Dean Cotton and Esther Ikenberry were also present for the service.

The lights in the Chemistry room have been going out. So the freshmen who are usually in the dark are always in the dark now.

One of the fluorescent bulbs in Miss Vanell's room decided to take a vacation also while she was giving a test.

When you can't sleep at night, there could be several reasons. But it wasn't difficult to detect what kept some of the College Courts couples awake one night. A skunk decided to spend the night under their apartments. No doubt the skunk slept alright!

Campaign Begins For College Church

A Pennsylvania Dutch Dinner was prepared and served by a group of church ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. D. W. Bittinger, to 33 filling solicitors for the proposed Education Building of the McPherson Church of the Brethren.

The 6:30 dinner consisted of Pennsylvania Dutch dishes, including fresh butter, homemade bread, poultard, potato filling, pepper cabbage, and cherry custard pie which was served in the old Dutch manner where each person cuts the amount of pie he desires.

This "kick-off" dinner for the solicitors was served on Tuesday evening, Nov. 23.

Following the meal Miss Martha Switzer played two Merimbs solos. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Nadine Correll, both from MacCollege.

Solicitors for the proposed Education Building of the Church of the Brethren were given a "pep" talk by Dr. R. E. Mohler, who helped with the plans of the building of the present church building.

Wilbur Yoder, chairman of the campaign committee reported that the 33 solicitors turned in $4,723 on Nov. 23 and that the goal of $25,000 is to be reached by Dec. 31, 1955.

The group was shown a sound film on the subject of church expansion.

A total of $17,739 was reported at the meeting of the solicitors Tuesday evening Nov. 30.

The final report of the solicitors will be Friday evening Dec. 3.

BSCM'ers Travel, Study, Return

By Ruth Strickler
Did you remember your pillow? Hurry, we're late! Goodbye! With these and many more exclamations, Betty Holloway, Esther Merkey, Dee Bowman, Ruth Strickler, and Prof. Dick Wareham climbed into the college car on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 23, to begin their journey to the annual Brethren Student Christian Movement Conference.

Later the same evening Beverly Barr, Mary Alice Smith, Martha Switzer, and Edwin Switzer started east in the latter's car.

The travelers had a relatively new experience—rain! The first car drove in rain, snow, or both all the way from St. Louis into Elizabethtown. Esther and Betty ate Thanksgiving dinner with Vera Ebersole Blough's parents.

The other carload ate lunchmeat sandwiches in the car for their Thanksgiving dinner. They had stopped the night before in Dayton to pick up another passenger. Highlights of the trip were the Pennsylvania mountains and the turnpike.

The BSCM conference, which was attended by 100 young people from the six Brethren Colleges, Brethren Seminary, and by a few Brethren students from nearby universities, centered around the subject of evangelism. In presenting the Why of Evangelism, Ed Ziegler, who is head of the evangelism department of the brotherhood, pointed out that this word from which most people used to shy away is now coming into more respect.

Evangelism is something bigger and more glorious than just seeing how many "spiritual scalps one can hang at his belt," stressed Ed Ziegler.

Guy West, pastor at York, Pa., in presenting the How of Evangelism, showed us that there needs to be a feeling of love and fellowship along with concern for our fellow men.

The buzz sessions led by the religious life directors from each campus were a favorite of many conference-goers. Stimulating discussions based on the problems presented by Ed Ziegler and Guy West stretched the thinking of the 12 to 15 participants in each group.

A study of the Book of Revelation, to read it and what it means for us—was made very interesting by Nevin Zuck, pastor of the Elizabethtown, Church of the Brethren. The worship programs, planned by Ralph McFadden of Manchester were outstanding in their inspiration.

It was not all study, though. When Brethren youth get together there is always plenty of fun and laughter. The singing of hymns, anthems, camp songs, and Christmas carols was under the enthusiastic direction of Clyde Bolinger of the Manchester music department. The conference choir sang at church Sunday morning.

Relays, get-acquainted games, and folk games ended the day with a bang, except for those who wanted to get better acquainted until the closing hour of 11:30. Mary Alice Smith had charge of recreation one evening. As you may guess, no one got very much sleep.

O, yes, the food! You will probably hear the Mac students who went talking about it for weeks. On Friday evening we were served a turkey dinner by candle light.

An "informal banquet among the trees of Camp Swatara" took place Saturday afternoon and evening. Such things as scraping (with a razor) shaving cream from blown-up balloons held in people's mouths and making costumes from newspapers kept the group busy until it was time to head back to E-town.

A consecration and communion service and morning worship at the E-town church on Sunday morning brought the conference to a close. With a bit of reluctance we climbed back into our cars, not wanting to leave the spot where we had had such a wonderful time but knowing that we must face the reality that there was work waiting for us back at Mac.

Edwin Switzer of Haxton, Colorado, was elected by the McPherson group to be their representative on the B.S.C.M. cabinet for the coming year. The conference will be held at Bridgewater, Virginia.

Bethany Presents Orchestra Concert

Der Freischutz by C. N. Von Weber, Four Norwegian Dances by Edward Greig, and Symphony No. 5 in E Minor by Anton Dvorak are the numbers the orchestra will play.

Dean Has Requirements For Medical Colleges

Dean Berkebile has received a book listing all the admission requirements for 1955 for any of the medical colleges in America. Dean Berkebile stated that this book is very helpful, for it supplies all the needed information, and adds that anyone interested should drop in at his office.

Bulldogs Tangle With Swedes First

McPherson Bulldogs will meet the Bethany Swedes in the second game of the Fourth Annual Central Kansas Collegiate Tournament in the high school gymnasium in Moundridge Wednesday, December 8.

Twice-winner of this tournament, McPherson is out to take the trophy for the third time. A third win will give the Bulldogs permanent possession of the trophy. Bethany took the trophy home after the first tournament in 1951.

Only four lettermen are one the McPherson squad this year. Since McPherson has not played any games so far this season, the strength of the team will be shown for the first time against the Swedes in the tournament.

Special student season tickets may be purchased only at McPherson College Business Office and must be secured before noon Dec. 7. The student season ticket is $1.25. Single adult admission tickets are one dollar.

Coach Sid Smith announced the results of the Tuesday drawings on Wednesday morning. Taber College, Hillsboro, meets Bethel College from Newton in the first game of the tournament at 7:30.

McPherson will play about 9 o'clock as the second game is scheduled to begin 20 minutes after the close of the first game.

Bethany's new coach, Dale Bloss, was an assistant cage coach at Colorado State College last year. Bethany played its opening game with Sterling Wednesday, Dec. 1.

The losers of the first round will play at 7:30 Thursday night. Winners of the first round will meet in the championship struggle at approximately 9 o'clock to determine the possessor of the trophy for this year.

Reserved season tickets may be secured only from Supt. M. E. Greer, Moundridge High School, Moundridge. No reserved seats will be sold after noon Dec. 7.

Taber's coach, Vernon R. Wiebe, is in his third year with the Bluejays.

Official tournament band is the Taber College Pep Band. Colleges rotate each year in providing the official tournament band.

Tournament officials are Vance Carlson, McPherson, and Jack Horner, Junction City.

Taber College is the only non-Kansas Conference school in the tournament.

Bethel College meets Southwestern of Winfield tonight in its opening game for the season. Bethel did not lose as much strength by graduation as McPherson did and is predicted to be a greater threat in the Kansas Conference this year.

This tournament has been well-attended by McPherson fans in previous years, and the cheerleaders are planning for a big turnout again this time.

Gribble Addresses First Aid Class

Gilbert Gribble, Regional Director of First Aid for the American Red Cross spoke to the First Aid class Tuesday Nov. 23.

Mr. Gribble spoke on "New Trends in Teaching First Aid." Prof. Dick Wareham, teaches the First Aid course at Macollege.

Frosh Makes Panel On Campus Life

Artistically inclined Ken Fancher, Macollege freshman from Rocky Ford, Colo. has made a panel of three pictures depicting a bulldog, a gridiron, one as a student, and one as a basketball player.

This panel will be hung in the doghouse soon.

Canines Finish Rebuilding Year

Riddled from graduation losses, the '54 McPherson football team wound up with an unimpressive three wins against six losses for the season. This was the first losing team in five years here at McPherson. But, this was not as bad a year as it seems. The team wound up with 2,730 yards in nine games for a 304 yards average per game, while opponents gained 2,618 for a 291 yards average.

The team graded off 16 passes from its opponents, while our foes, in turn, garnered 13 of the sometimes erratic passes of our flingers. The canines made 125 first downs over the long haul, while opponents made 91.

Bersuch, Goering, Smith Make Second All-Conference Team

Three Macollege Bulldogs placed on the 1954 second team of the All-Kansas Conference Athletic Champions. Bill Smith, McPherson end, Steve Bersuch, lineman, and Bill Goering, back, were chosen by the coaches of the Kansas Conference in their annual selection.

Honorable mention honors also went to Macollege, as end Ed Frantz, lineman Bob Wise and center Don Moeller were chosen.

Chosen by unanimous decision of the coaches was College of Emporia's fabulous Lem Harkey, leading scoring champion in the league with 103 points, and top in the nation in small college ground gaining. Six C. of E. players were named on the first team All-Conference.

Last year the Bulldogs placed five men on the first team: George Kelm, Wayne Blickenstaff, Steve Bersuch, Don Moeller and Gene Smith. The selection is made annually by the coaches of the Kansas Conference and is sponsored by the Topeka Daily Capital. Lem Harkey, the 200 lb. brown bomber from C. of E. has now been selected four times for the all-star team.

MCAC Sees Agriculture Slides

Vern Bathurst, from the Soil Conservation service for McPherson County, showed slides to MCAC members Tuesday Nov. 23.

Mr. Bathurst's slides were on control of erosion, use of grass waterways, terracing and retention dams.

He also had pictures on results from different types and amounts of fertilizer application on crops in this district.

About 25 MCAC members attended the meeting.

Smith, Keim Attend Coaching Demonstration

Coach Sid Smith and George Keim attended a meeting of the coaches of this district Friday and Saturday, Nov. 26-27, at Kansas University, Lawrence, Kas.

Coach Fog Allen and his assistant Dick Harp used the K.U. squad as demonstrators of different offense and defensive drills. Also the so-called pressure defense of Kansas University's was demonstrated.

An idealist is one who on noticing that a rose smells better than a cabbage, concludes that it will also make a better soup.—H. L. Menck-en

Large Squad Practices At Season's Beginning

Tuesday afternoon Coach Sid Smith cut his varsity basketball squad to 20 men and began an intensive conditioning and scrimmaging session in an effort to get them ready for the Moundridge Tournament beginning next Wednesday night.

Thirty-five men reported out for the early scrimmages. This is the largest number of men to try out in recent years.

Numbered among the early recruits are four lettermen from last year. These are: Ed Frantz, senior double monogram winner; Ronnie Sams, slender speed merchant; Bill Smith; regular center of last year; and Bob Wise, stocky junior guard.

Running on one of the early season first fives were these four plus Ed Wolf, a smooth ball handling sophomore.

The squad is also bolstered by the addition of some good freshman talent. Those who are given the best chance to advance within the top ten are Jim Hershberger, Ed Sink, "Peaches" Andrews, and Ronald Anderson.

The biggest deficit on this year's crew is its notable lack of height. The tallest man on the squad is freshman Ed Sink, a six-foot center. Next in line are Ed Frantz, Bill Smith, and Bob Briner, all listed at six-two.

With big men on nearly every other conference team, it seems that a lot of ball-hawking will have to take the place of the lack of height.

With five teams in the conference returning their starting lineups and another, Kansas Wesleyan, the defending titlist, bringing back three of its five starters, Coach Smith is not too optimistic about things.

Bringing out the crying towel, Smith stated that his squad would have to be "long on determination and short on mistakes this year." He is having some difficulty at getting the men inaugurated to his difficult fast break and fast moving screen plays which are typical of his system.

All in all, one must concede that the squad is potentially loaded and that if it gets away to a good start should develop into a consistent winner.
