High School Students Invade Campus Box Social To Aid World Universities

Friday, March 11, is the day for the Box Social sponsored by the SCA, this project is to help support World University Service.

Faculty members are opening their homes to girls who wish to prepare supper and wrap them in boxes.

Fellows will bid on the boxes and each will eat with the girl who prepared the box he buys. The highest bidder gets a free box.

Entertainment in the form of a Fabnestock band under the direction of Elwyn Taylor, Prof. Paul Sollenberger and his violin, a humorous reading by Bob Barker, and the Faculty Operetta, under the direction of Prof. Donald Frederick, are planned.

All students and faculty members are invited to attend, according to the committee.

It is estimated that one half of the money sent in to World University Service will be used to provide free meals for needy students in other countries.

The German World University Service states that of the 100,000 students now enrolled in German universities, 40,000 are in real need, having less money available for board and lodging than the amount considered a basic minimum.

Planning committee for the box social includes Nancy Keim, Patsy Schechter, Ronald Sams, Bob Barker, and Mary Lou Stucky.

Blood Donors Number 150

One hundred-fifty donors have been signed up to donate blood to the American Red Cross on March 7 when the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at MacCollege.

Donors have been given a diet to follow on the day they give blood. They are to not eat fatty foods for four hours before donation. The recommended meal consists of dry toast, jelly, crackers, fruits, fruit juices, vegetables, boiled or poached eggs and black coffee.

Those giving blood must be between 18 and 60 years old. Persons between 18 and 21 must have their parents' signed consent.

A meal will be served to persons giving blood after they give it. Hostesses for this meal are to be Evelyn Jarboe, Rita Evans, Rachel Brown, Kay Chaney, Evelyn Williams, Mardell Guehrer, Bee Grone and Ginny Russell.

Ladies on college hill are to donate cakes as part of this meal, and some of the ladies are helping to serve this meal.

Donors will be given orange juice and sugar just before giving blood.

The meal afterwards will consist of chicken and noodles, french bread, coffee, tea or milk, and cake for dessert.

Lohan To Address English Conference For Profs, Majors

Kansas Association of Teachers of English will meet in Hutchinson, Kans., for a conference on March 12.

Assistant professor of education and supervisor of the teaching of English at the University of California, Dr. Walter Lohan, will be the featured speaker at the annual spring conference.

Problems of speech and written language and listening will be the subject of Dr. Lohan's talk in the morning session, and problems of reading and literature will be his topic for the afternoon.

Known as author of several textbooks and numerous articles on methods of teaching English, he has also written a textbook used in Kansas high schools, "Appreciation in Literature."

He has recently completed a research study of sensitivity and creativity among adolescents and has begun a study of language development in young children.

Plans are being made to allow all English majors to attend the meetings.

Bethany To Give Drama Production

"Joan of Lorraine" will be presented by the Bethany College Dramatics Group tonight and tomorrow night, March 4 and 5. The production was written by Maxwell Anderson. Kermit Mowbray, a junior, will play the part of Gardner.

This production was produced on Broadway in 1946. Ingrid Bergman played in the title role. There is little scenery or costuming since this is a play within a play, in which the actors are rehearsing for a play about Joan of Arc. There is a cast of 24 players. Tom Rea is the director of dramatics at Bethany College.

Piano Prof To Present Pre-College Recital

A group of pre-college students from the studio of Miss Anne Krebziel, associate professor of piano, will be presented in a recital in the Chapel, Sunday afternoon, March 6, at 3:30 p.m.

The following students will appear on the program: Jolietta Selhuber, Bernice Zenger, Sandra Stucky, Kathy Stucky, Kathy Schrag, Pamela Kaufman, Nola Christensen, Kay Wedel, Aileen Waitner, Monte Zenger, Karolyn Loewen, Diana Johnson, Shirley Lecky, Kenneth Goering, and Judy Stucky.

The public is invited to attend.

Ullom Leads Peace Orators

Don Ullom, junior from Wiley, Colo., came through in top place in the peace oratorical contest held Sunday evening during CBYF hour. Don ranked in second place in last year's peace oratory.

"The Arms Race" was the title of his oration. He will attend the State Contest in Winfield on March 11. Don won $7.50 for first prize. Second prize winner was Lyall Sherred from Denver, Colo., a freshman. He won five dollars.

Don Saunders from Minneapolis, Kans., was third in the contest. $2.50 was his prize money. Anne Keim from Nampa, Idaho, was awarded fourth place. Anne will attend the State Contest in Winfield. She will participate in the women's division. Anne is a freshman.

Another freshman, Dave Frazier, Greene, Iowa, placed fifth.

Shull Enters Contest In Oratory At Winfield

Irene Shull, winner of the local Alcohol Oratorical Contest, will compete today in the State Contest. The competition will be held at Winfield in the Christian Church. Irene's oration is entitled "Invitation to Death."

The orations given at the State Contest are recorded as each contestant presents his speech. Irene represented McPherson College last year at the State Contest. She was given a placing of second. Irene is a sophomore this year.

In addition to her oratorical work, Irene has appeared in two plays this year. She played the role of Mrs. Stevenson in "Sorry, Wrong Number." Irene assumed the part of a Negro maid, who was the mother of Bret, in "Deep Are the Roots."

Metzler Speaks Tuesday; SCA Sponsors Movie

"Good and Evil" will be the topic of a talk to be given in chapel on March 8 by Dr. Burton Metzler. A movie describing the World University Service will be shown Friday, March 11, in connection with the box social being held that evening to raise funds for the World University Service.

Chairman of the March 8 chapel is Art Benson, and George Eisele will preside at the Friday morning chapel.

Mac Trustees Discuss Timely Issues In Annual Session

Plans for building Sharp Hall, selling the college farm, increasing the income of faculty members, and renaming or dividing up the building sum were among the problems discussed by the McPherson College Board of Trustees at their annual meeting.

The building of Sharp Hall was authorized as soon as three-fourths of the estimated $400,000 needed is assembled. Plans for the new administrative building in general were accepted although modifications will be made. The final location and plans are still in the process of being worked on.

Whether or not Sharp Hall would be Sharp Hall without a steeple (What about Jezebel?) was tossed back and forth. Whether Sharp Hall should follow the architectural pattern of old Sharp and Harnly by going apart was the modern lines of Detsour was contemplated while studying the drawing of proposed Sharp.

Students interested in seeing the present drawing of the future administrative building are directed to the downstairs east room of the library.

The rebuilding of Sharp Hall is part of the ten-year development program started in a special session of the trustees in 1952. This ten-year plan will terminate in 1962 when the college will celebrate its 75th anniversary.

Goals which have been achieved in the plan are the new girls' dormitory, renovation of Arnold Hall as a boys' dormitory, maintenance and storeroom building in the rebuilt stadium.

Goals for the future other than new Sharp Hall include a cafeteria-student-union building and an enlarged physical education plant. Members of the MacCollege faculty were re-hired at slightly improved salaries.

Authorization was given to build apartment housing for married couples. Hopes are that this project can be carried out this summer. Tentative plans are for the motel type buildings of cement blocks to face Lehmer Street. These units will be adequately sur-

Faust Leads Conference On 'Called To Be . . .'

1955 Church of the Brethren Youth Conference for the Western Region began on Macampus yesterday afternoon with registration of young people and leaders from all of the western states. Conference will continue through Sunday, March 6, and more guests will be registered by that time. Dr. Floyd Faust, main speaker, addressed students and guests during the chapel hour this morning and will speak at several other conference sessions.

In connection with the general theme, daily themes are "Called to Be . . . lieve," "Called to Be . . . Children of God," and "Called to Be . . . Witnesses," for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, respectively.

Dr. Faust, pastor of the Broadstreet Christian Church in Columbus, Ohio, will also speak in the chapel at 2 p.m. today and 10 a.m. tomorrow, at the youth conference banquet tomorrow evening at 6:30 p.m., and during the church hour Sunday.

Dale Blough recently worked in Greece as an agricultural assistant and will speak and show slides during conference sessions. Mr. Blough will appear at 3 p.m. today and 2 p.m. tomorrow. Both sessions will be in the college chapel.

Ed Crill, National Director of Youth of the Church of the Brethren will lead discussions among the young people and the youth counselors of the region.

Dale Brown is pastor of the Stover Memorial Church in Des Moines, Iowa; he directed a Bible Hour this morning and will lead another Bible discussion tomorrow at 8:30 a.m.

Norman Long, regional youth president and MacCollege junior from Worthington, Minnesota, will be chairman at the business sessions today and tomorrow. Election of new regional cabinet members will be conducted during these sessions.

Preceding banquet time tomorrow evening, Glenn Swinger, adult advisor for regional youth activities will direct a tour of the campus. Mr. Swinger also serves as assistant to the President and Director of Public Relations at MacCollege. He regularly meets with regional cabinet members and counsels the youth work in general.

To conclude the tour, Mr. Swinger will direct the group to the home of President and Mrs. D. W. Bittinger for a tea from 4:15-5:15 p.m.

"Fit for Freedom," is the address to be given by Dr. Faust at the banquet to be held at the 4-H building of McPherson.

The "Carpenters of the Yoke," newly organized industrial work camp, will be consecrated at the banquet tomorrow evening.

Consecration of the new regional cabinet will be held preceding Sunday School, Sunday, March 6. Conference will conclude with dinner in the church social rooms following morning worship.

Meals will be served in the college cafeteria, meal tickets having been sold at registration time. Breakfasts will be served in the Doghouse each morning.

Recreational Council of MacCollege will conduct recreation in the college gym following several evening sessions.

In charge of music is Betty Holderread, junior, who is appointing song leaders and pianists for the sessions.

The conference has been planned by members of the regional youth cabinet, all students at MacCollege.

Guest Editorial

Conference Is Here!

By Norman Long, Regional Youth President

Wow! What a weekend! What would it be like if there were this many students enrolled here at Mac this semester?

This sudden deluge of humanity you've noticed this weekend is no accident. It has been carefully planned by a group of young people called the Regional Cabinet of the Western Region of the Church of the Brethren, more commonly referred to by its members as "cabinet."

This gathering together of the masses is no mad scheme on our part to break the monotonous routine of weekly school life. Rather it is a sincere attempt to inspire Brethren young people with a feeling of unity and fellowship. We want each person who attends the conference this weekend to be inspired by contact with fellow Christians.

We want this to happen not only for those high school students who come in here from surrounding areas but for you college students who are reading this editorial. This is your conference as much as anybody else's.

Our group, the regional cabinet, of which I am a member, is primarily responsible each year for planning this weekend conference. Believe me, it's a job getting together a program that will capture the attention of 400 young people for a whole weekend. This is our biggest and most time-consuming project of the year.

If we're wise, we begin planning for it as soon as we come to school in September. And from Christmas till March it takes up the greater portion of every meeting we have. We meet once each week for about an hour and a half.

Our cabinet is in itself a committee of seven appointed to procure an outside speaker, if desired, contact other speakers and discuss leaders; decide on a theme, plan recreation, secure lodging and meals, clear a million and a half dollars, and promote the conference. It is "our baby." But we love it. After all, we are doing it all on a volunteer basis. Nobody told us to do it; we volunteered.

You see, we as a regional cabinet are elected for two-year terms and have agreed to be placed on the ballot. We are five young people, a youth worker, and an adult counselor whose duty it is to coordinate district activities and to plan and promote regional activities.

This region by the way consists of parts of 14 states and 15 districts, and 1,800 young people who are on our mailing lists. Imagine what it would be like if we had 1,800 here this weekend!

We do this work only because we see its worth with a dynamic Christian faith and action. Pray with us that great things may happen this weekend.

Cooperation Makes Harmony, Success

Cooperation helps make the world go round and also leads to better understandings which builds for a more peaceful atmosphere in all respects.

Roommates cooperate in order to create harmonious living. Cooperation is a large building block in any organization, from the small family clear through large corporations, Congress and the United Nations.

Cooperation begins between people and branches out to function between groups. Classes on Matampus cooperate, joining together in preparing meals, sponsoring projects, taking field trips and having parties.

One of the avenues which is open to more cooperation but for the time being is somewhat narrow, is that between Central College and McPherson College. To date combining activities between the two student groups is limited to girls' basketball contests and an occasional get-together of the student ministers.

Possibilities are almost unlimited for development of exchange between the college in the center of town and that out on the hill. Organizations other than the athletic-minded girls and the theological-minded students have interests in common which would provide for group activity.

Voices Speak Loudly

By Irene Shull

Voices are as multitudinous as the rainer person of authority. It is people which possess and produce them.

Childhood memories always bring back the stern commanding voice which belongs to a teacher or other person of authority. It is coupled with the scared, shaky voice of a child on his way to developing a feeling of inferiority or with the rebellious retort of a child standing on his own feet, at least vocally.

Voices are stereotyped. There is the smooth radio announcer, the suave one of the movie star and the dynamic one of the evangelistic preacher.

Also existing is that "stupid" voice reserved for answering (with stupid answers) the questions of intelligent professors which muddle and confuse the workings of a student's brain and voice box.

Not belonging anywhere in this parade of human larynx productions, but being thrown in as a refresher, is the hated voice of the alarm clock in the morning.

Women have a field in voice which is distinctly their own and includes screeches, screams and vocal explosions of disgust which, being high pitched, carry very capably and sooth one's nerves like nicking one's finger on the food grater.

All too infrequently there exists a soft, musical soothing voice which drifts into one's hearing like a cool wisp of wind on a hot Kansas day.

Voices, portray one's emotions, hopes, dreams and give encouragement. There is even the voice of the mob as it cries for destruction or calls encouragement and the voice of victory of the cheering crowd at an American sport.

No nation will pick it up and translate it into terms of their own mental understanding and comprehension.

Authors write down information in books in the hope that somebody else will discover the books and learn from them. If I am to receive the knowledge for which I pay when I go to college, I must myself, reach for it and appropriate it. If I do not get increased knowledge in college the main fault is likely my own.

At college I pay also for maturation and growth. Of course I will get some maturation and growth if I do not go to college, but it will not be of the same quality and in the same direction that I am paying out good money to achieve by coming to college. Yet, it is possible for me to be in college and to grow in the wrong direction. I can grow here into a radical, into an anti-social being, into a victim of habits and irrational de-

Ponder With The President

Going to college is expensive. It costs me or my parents or someone a goodly sum of money.

Do I get what I pay for?

1. We would assume that we pay for an increase of education, for an addendum to our already existing knowledge. It is right that this should come first, for this is the real purpose of having a college and of having a program of higher education.

But, interestingly enough, no one can put knowledge into my head fully formed and neatly packaged. Even the best teachers can only present it in the hope that some minds will pick it up and translate it into terms of their own mental understanding and comprehension.

Authors write down information in books in the hope that somebody else will discover the books and learn from them. If I am to receive the knowledge for which I pay when I go to college, I must myself, reach for it and appropriate it. If I do not get increased knowledge in college the main fault is likely my own.

At college I pay also for maturation and growth. Of course I will get some maturation and growth if I do not go to college, but it will not be of the same quality and in the same direction that I am paying out good money to achieve by coming to college. Yet, it is possible for me to be in college and to grow in the wrong direction. I can grow here into a radical, into an anti-social being, into a victim of habits and irrational desires, into an undesirable person. The wish of the institution, however, is that I can grow more easily here into Christian vocation and Christian commitment that I can almost anywhere else.

2. At college I pay, also, in order that I might broaden my friendship. My friends will be my valued achievements in college. They should last through the years and stand by me when I need encouragement. I should come back to them and find strengthening as long as I live.

But no one can make friends for me. I can only do it for myself. If I have no friends, the fault is probably my own.

3. At college I also pay for increasing the possibilities for a right, serviceable, and remunerative future. I should acquire something that will help me live a satisfactory life and work happily in a satisfying job. If I am not moving in this direction, again the reason for it is probably lying within myself.

It may be that I have not achieved any of the three things mentioned above. It may be that I have chosen my courses wrongly, or that I am not working at them.

4. When I come to college I ought to discover a more purposeful future. I should discover something to which I can commit my life. Am I finding this? If I am not, then I am not getting the thing for which I pay.

Am I getting out of college the things for which I pay? What I get out of college is, in a major way, up to me.

Education Students Hear Authority On Children

A number of McPherson College education students heard the guest speaker for the McPherson City Teachers' Association meeting, Dr. Mary Gleason, Monday evening. Dr. Gleason is the head of the Health Center at Phillipsburg. The meeting was held at the Intermediate School in the auditorium at 8 p.m. on Feb. 28. The general public was invited to attend the meeting.

Dr. Gleason, who is a physician and surgeon, spoke on the topic "How to Sleep on a Windy Night." The talk was illustrated with films.

Dr. Gleason is known throughout the country for her work with exceptional children.

Student Re-enters Mac

Mary Jo Snyder enrolled in McPherson College courses for the second semester last week. Mary Jo took her freshman studies here and transferred to Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau last semester.

She has contracted to teach all subjects in the lower room of a two-room school, Union Five, near Lyons next year. Her courses here are in preparation for elementary school teaching.

Mary Jo is living with her parents across from the campus on Gordon. Her father, Paul, is teaching at Mitchell, after having taken courses at Mac college last year.

There is no lovelier way to thank God for your sight, than by giving a helping hand to someone in the dark.

Zellers Tell Adventures To Return March 9

Pastor and Mrs. Harry K. Zeller are to return to McPherson March 9.

The Zellers flew from Idlewild Airport on January 11 to London in a DC 7 and arrived in London on Jan. 12. From London they flew to Paris and on to Rome. In Rome they met Jake Dick, retiring European Director of BSC. The Zellers visited famous churches, museums, the forums and the colosseum. They also visited with Gina Munda, former Mac college student from Italy, and her fiancé, and also Don Murray, of the Naples BSC unit.

They drove to the Italian Riviera and visited the tower of Pisa. Florence and Venice are two Italian cities the Zellers visited before traveling to Austria.

They drove to Klagenfurt, Austria where they met two workers in the world council unit, John Krepis and Ken Schaeffer. Ken is a former student at McPherson and a member of the December 1953 BVS Unit.

Jan. 17 found the Zellers in Graz to meet Dwight Horner, American official for that area. Their last entry into their log finds the Zellers in Vienna enjoying that city.

Girls To Construct Hospital Favors

Making tray favors for St. Patrick's Day to be used in the city hospital will be the main business of the Tuesday, March 8, meeting of the Home Economics Club.

A showcase display is being set up to promote interest in the Home Economics Club's State Convention to be held March 25-26 in Hutchinson, at the Baker Hotel.

A short business meeting will be conducted by the president, Marjell Johnson, prior to making the favors, and following the evening's activities refreshments will be served by the committee.

Ruth Strickler, Ana Rosa Rodriguez, and Nona Maust are on the committee for the Tuesday meeting.

Fellows Design Badges For Conference Guests

Under the supervision of Gene Myers, Gary Williams' room was turned into a printing and cutting plant this week as some Arnold Hall fellows were fixing identification cards for the Regional Youth Conference guests.

Bob Bower drew the different designs of the states, and Gary Williams printed the designs on colored construction paper with his post card duplicator.

Delbert Hayes, Dick and Bob Spitzer, Phil Pulliam, Max Royer, Don Saunders, and Dale Shenefelt cut out the designs.

Gromer To Address Annual Booster Banquet

McPherson College's annual Booster Banquet is to be held on March 25 at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Building in McPherson.

The speaker for the banquet will be Julian Gromer, who is one of America's skilled professional photographers. Mr. Gromer will speak and show one of his films.

The meal will be served in buffet dinner style this year over a period of a couple hours instead of the usual banquet style. Mrs. Raymond Flory is in charge of the meal.

The program will be given in the auditorium side of the building after the serving in the gymnasium side.

Mr. Gromer is one of the two honorary members of the famous Chicago Cinema Club. He received the Photographic Society of America's Grand Award for "Best Commercial Film of the Year" for "Keys to Adventure." His most recent honor is the same award given for "The Cheechako Story."

Television, a number of games, a piano, and a radio are at the disposal of all students of Mac college in the SUR.

McAuley Receives Vacancy Notices

Vacancy notice letters received by the Placement Bureau already total 58, having come into the college from all over the state of Kansas and from other states including Oregon, Illinois and California. U. S. government positions which are open are scattered all over the world.

A large number of superintendents have been visiting the Placement Bureau each day, according to Max McAuley, who also says that there are limited number of available teachers. He predicts a greater teacher shortage over the U. S. as a whole.

Gossip, Folly Create Settings For Players' Presentations

"Needlework" and "A Woman's Privilege," two one-act comedies directed by John Thomas and Jo Ann Silver were presented by the McPherson College Players' Club Tuesday and Wednesday evening in the college auditorium.

Mrs. Wilbur Yoder, instructor of the advanced play production class of which the student directors are members, supervised the productions.

"Needlework," a scene in the yarn department of the Carlson and Kew, Store, portrayed the rapid fabrication of gossip when nosy women let their tongues click as fast as their knitting needles.

The plot was helped along by hard-of-hearing Gramma Penny, played by Edith Kessler, who made up for herself these parts she did not hear correctly.

Members of the knitting circle were: Lucy Blough as Mrs. Brown; Dee Bowman as Lilymae Buckner; Ruth Ann Davidson as Mrs. Staples, who almost never left her spying spot at the window; Nancy Keim as Miss Harkness; and Neva Shenefelt as Mrs. Willoby.

Marilyn Metsker as Miss Kew was the department store clerk;

Darlene Treloar played Gracia Hale; Sara Ann Coffman was Effie McGill; and Beverly Hall acted the role of Judy Flannigan.

Gene Myers played the role of the nervous Mr. Wardle.

Duane Fike as Henry Millikan in "A Woman's Privilege" quarreled with his wife, Barbara King, in a marital crisis which was brought about with the assistance of the maid and Mrs. Millikan's psychiatrist, Dr. Shaw, played by Ed Switzer.

Barbara Gooden acted the role of the maid who spoke with a Lancastrian accent.

Players' Club members assisting with production were Dale Shenefelt, Joe Reeves, and Billy Joe Hildreth on staging and Peggy Hofer as prompter.

Members of the casts presented their student directors with a gift during the final performance on Wednesday evening.

Tryouts for the spring three-act production "Stage Door," to be given following Easter vacation, were held following the Wednesday evening presentation of the one-act comedies.

Canine Tales

Rushing to and fro by the milling throng of students and visitors denotes the busy Macampus as the Regional Youth Conference progresses.

Suitcases hurriedly torn through to find clothes for an early meeting are no cinch and endeavor to find out how all the activities sound so colorful all the time. Mac collegians were eager to see the members of their families and have enjoyed the visits with them.

The youth will start returning to their homes Sunday after dinner. A sharp swell was noticed in the lunch lines as the eager newcomers were anxious to sample the much talked about meatloaf famous in the M. C. cafeteria.

The Doghouse was the meeting place for many a small group either just to gab or to catch a quick bite. Donuts and bottled milk and orange juice, and coffee were served.

Mrs. Rudy Royer from Dallas Center, Iowa, arrived last Saturday to spend a week with her daughter Rita Ellen. They went shopping in Hutchinson for wedding materials. Mrs. Royer is helping her daughter plan and prepare for her approaching marriage.

Guests of Mrs. Alice Martin last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Newton Martin of Modesto, Calif. Newton is a brother-in-law of Mr. Martin.

Donna Shrook and Ginny Reist, who are teaching at Ellsworth, spent the weekend with friends in the dorm. Lois Knackstedt also joined the gang last weekend.

Glenda Brown came from her home in Hannibal, Mo., to spend last weekend with her sister, Rachel.

Joan McRoberts and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kipp went to Topeka last Saturday to make teaching plans for the future.

Doris Critton entertained several visitors last Sunday. Her cousins JoAnn Critton from Girard, Kans., and Sara Critton from Wichita were here. Shirley Lewis from Girard also joined the group.

Dale Shenefelt and a car load of girls traveled to McCune for the day last Sunday. Ruth Davidson, Marian McElwain, Vera Moeller, and Neva Shenefelt made up the gang.

Don Henderred took his roommate, Don Butler, home as a guest last weekend, while his sister Betty invited Bev Barr along for the trip to Cushing, Okla.

The K. U. basketball game with Oklahoma A. and M. was the feature which attracted George Casebeer and Bob Barker to journey to Stillwater, Okla. last Friday and Saturday.

Another big game got top billing on the list of a number of McPherson fellows and gals. Traveling to Manhattan to see the K. State-Colorado U. game last weekend was Keith Coffman, Merle Rolfs, Dale Grose, Wilbur Davidson, Ron Sims, Tom Taylor, Ed Frantz, and Don Hoch, M. C. '54. Also Marlin Sittner, Jeanne Shiveley, Melvin Behnke, and Bea Grose. Don Moeller and Ed Wolf

Kiwanis Sells Tickets

To Yearly Pancake Feed

"All you want for fifty cents," has been repeated time after time on Macampus this week, as Guy Hayes and helpers have been selling tickets to the annual Pancake Feed to be held at the Community Building tomorrow, March 5.

The feed is a Kiwanis project to support work with underprivileged boys and girls, and will be held from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. Anyone may enter three times on one ticket.

Vern Scott entertained several friends for the weekend at his home in Warrensburg, Mo. Verlin Kolman, Royce Roesch, and Dale Correll went to Missouri with him.

Dwayne Jefferies went to his home in Ringwood, Okla. last weekend and returned Sunday evening with his arms full of articles brought from home.

Ana Rosa Rodriguez, Minnie Monk, and Israel Zayas spent a big day in Hutchinson last Sunday with Ana Rosa's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Moyer. They attended a meeting in the sports arena. The Moyers brought the students back to school.

Jack Fruehauf from Hudson, Kans. and Vera Flandermeyer were on campus last weekend to see Lenore Flandermeyer.

A birthday dinner surprised Harriette Grove Sunday. Her girlfriends pulled a fast one on her when they drove to Lindsay to the Chuck Wagon for the birthday celebration.

The goods included Dorothy Blough, Betty Holloway, Phyllis Nagel, Barb King, Carol Hintz, Pat Schechter, Charlene Reynolds, and the honoree.

The Reno County McPherson Alumni attended a very successful dinner which was held at the Ranch House in Hutchinson. Max McAuley performed the duties as Master of Ceremonies for the sixty-six people attending. Dr. Bittinger, president of the college, gave the evening address. The McPherson Mens Quintette sang during the evening for the group. The "alums" showed a lot of interest and future meetings are being planned.

Bittinger Speaks At Dedication

Dr. D. W. Bittinger gave the address at the dedication of Sunflower School Sunday.

The school is five miles south-east of Galva. It is a five-teacher school. Sunflower School will replace five rural one-teacher schools. The building was completed in December.

The consolidation of schools is a recent trend in Kansas.

Ruben Krehbiel, a 1954 graduate of McPherson College, is the principal of Sunflower School.

Three members of the Principles of Elementary Education Class, Donna Ford, Joan McRoberts, Mrs. Keith Kipp and Miss Sarah May Vancil, instructor of the class, attended.

Teams Expound On Timely Debate Question

Bulldogs Win Four At Nebraska Meet

Three wins out of five rounds of debate, at the Nebraska University Annual Debate Tournament, held on the Nebraska University campus Feb. 25 and 26, were the results for second year debaters Donald Ullom and Don Faules, both juniors.

the Nebraska University Campus. At the Economy tournament held here on the Macampus earlier in the school year, Ullom and Faules won two out of four rounds and the ladies' team won three out of four.

Besides taking part in debate here at McPherson College, Faules debated in two tournaments while studying at Colorado State College of Education the first semester of this school year.

Symphonette To Present Formal Concert Soon

The McPherson College Symphonette, composed of 24 Macampus musicians, will present a formal concert Friday, March 18, in the chapel.

Among the numbers on the program will be "The Finale from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony."

"The Little Symphony" is a newly organized group resulting from the string ensemble which was organized last year and is under the direction of Prof. Paul Sollenberger.

Mac Holds Practice With Other Schools

Two rounds of practice debate were held on Macampus Tuesday evening. Schools taking part in the debate were Bethany College of Lindsborg, Bethel College of North Newton, Hutchinson Junior College of Hutchinson, and McPherson College, who acted as host for the meeting.

Don Faules and Don Ullom came out with two victories.

Bob Burge and Eugene Elrod won one debate and no decision was given on the second.

The girls' team, Mary Lou Wise and Anne Keim, lost both of their rounds. Don Saunders and his colleague, Dave Frazier, also lost both decisions.

Each college helped in the judging of the debates. Some of the Maccollege professors who judged were Miss Della Lehman, Miss Sarah May Vancil, Dr. John Burkholder, and Dr. Kenneth Bechtel.

Former Student Visits

Mrs. John Ward and son Martin spent the week visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Martin, at Redlands.

Mrs. Ward is the former Bonnie Martin. Her husband is working toward his master's degree at Oklahoma A and M in Stillwater, Okla.

Guest To Lead CBYF

Wanda Will, a returned BVser and sister of Mrs. Dick Wareham, will speak to the CBYF on Sunday evening at 6:30 in the church basement.

Wanda has been heading the student exchange program in Germany. She visited those students who were to come to the United States and counseled with those who had returned after a year in the states.

Before Wanda's return to the states, she visited with the other BVsers in Europe.

Everyone is invited to attend CBYF meetings.

Baker Bumps Bulldogs In Basketball Finale; Canines Place Seventh

McPherson's Bulldogs almost, but not quite, knocked off Baker's Wildcats last Friday in the final tussle of the 1955 Basketball season. In a glimpse of what the season was like, this game proved to be quite appropriate. Mac ground out a 33-28 halftime lead and then rolled back during the final 20 minutes of the game. The result was a 70-61 win for Baker.

Ed Wolf hit 8 out of 11 shots the first half to escort the Bulldogs to their lead and a fancy 51 percent shooting average. In the meantime, Swede Malm was blanketing Bill Smith, and it was nearly impossible to get the ball in to him.

Then, in the second half, Connie Braun hit three quick corner shots and a brace of free throws to shoot Baker into its lead which it never relinquished.

The game was the 12th defeat in conference play compared to two victories for McPherson and left them lodged in seventh place for the season.

The past season constituted a rebuilding season for the Canines as they lost all but one starter from last year. It also marks the first time in five years they have been out of the first division.

Players Receive Stage Prop Gifts

MacCollege's Dramatics Department has received some donations of stage properties for its prop room.

The People's State Bank has donated doors, booths, and some office furniture. Mrs. Wilbur Yoder, instructor in speech and dramatics, said that the booths will be good for telephone booths in future plays.

Strouss Store has donated some window dressing displays of flowers and large plants. This is the second gifts of displays from Strouss. The large magnolias used in "Deep Are the Roots" were part of the previous donation.

Henry Peck, local contractor, is donating doors and other materials for stage sets.

Other recent acquisitions of the department include a large mirror and a footstool donated by Mrs. Yoder.

Foods Class Visits Mill

Foods class of the MacCollege Home Economics Department toured the Wall-Rogalsky Flour Mill on Feb. 24.

The five-rivets class saw, among other things, how the wheat was ground several times, how it was sacked for market, and how it was stored.

Lehman Attends Rally Of State Democrats

Miss Della Lehman attended the annual Democratic Rally Feb. 18 and 19 in Topeka at the Jayhawk Hotel.

Friday evening Miss Lehman attended the George Washington Day Dinner.

Sunday evening she spoke at the Church of the Brethren in Emporia.

Miss Lehman met Mrs. Mennen G. Williams, wife of the governor of Michigan, at the Woodrow Wilson dinner on Saturday.

At the Saturday evening meeting Governor Williams was the featured speaker. He emphasized the need of increased educational opportunities particularly for the underprivileged.

Miss Lehman feels that people should be interested in politics, because in a democracy the responsibility for a good government rests on the shoulders of the citizens.

Coeds Enter Playday, Take Two Trophies

MacCollege girls returned from the playday at Marymount College at Salina on Feb. 26 with two trophies. Trophies were won for basketball and ping pong.

Three colleges were represented in this playday. They were Kansas Wesleyan and Marymount, both of Salina, and McPherson College. The playday was sponsored by Marymount College under the direction of their physical education instructor, Miss Malone, and their Athletic Club.

Eleven girls represented MacCollege at this tournament, including Evelyn Jarboe, Marlene Moats, Darlene Treloar, Liz Swinger, Harriette Grove, Joyce Miller, Dee Bowman, Mary Alice Smith, Marleen Landhuis, Marilyn Metsker and Ariene Merkey.

Coach Doris Coppock could not attend all of the play day as she was at the Salina High School judging a 4-H contest. Marilyn Metsker took over coaching duties in her absence. This is the third year for this playday. Registration began at 8:30 a.m. after which a welcome program was given by members of the Marymount Athletic Club. Two tap dance numbers by members of the modern dance class, a folk dance by a Puerto Rican student, and a Charleston dance were part of the program.

Each school competed in volleyball, shuffleboard, basketball and ping pong.

Marymount won the first basketball game over Kansas Wesleyan 31-19. McPherson then won over Marymount 56-44 thus winning the basketball trophy. High scorer for the game was Della Dwyers of Marymount with 30 points and Evelyn Jarboe with 24 points was second high.

Marymount College took first place in the shuffleboard contest. McPherson's entry in shuffleboard was Mary Alice Smith.

In the first volleyball game Marymount was victorious over McPherson 44 - 36. Marymount cinched the volleyball trophy by defeating Kansas Wesleyan 42-39. Evelyn Jarboe took top honors in ping pong to bring home an individual trophy. Harriette Grove, McPherson's other entry, was defeated in the first round of play.

Lunch was served in the college dining hall. Entertainment in the form of a solo by a Marymount student and a song from the Athletic Club were part of the luncheon program.

After lunch a tour of the building was made. Girls were taken through the Home Ec., art, and science departments of the school.

The girls arrived back at MacCollege at 6:45 p.m.

Girls Renovate Chemistry Office

Paint remover, sandpaper, filter, stain, and varnish, all applied liberally with elbow grease, have resulted in a metamorphosis of the chemistry office furniture.

Rachel Brown, Birdene Jamison, Peggy Courtney, Esther Cotton, Marlene Jamison, and Irene Shull, members of the class of interior design, with the instruction and help of Mrs. Wesley DeCoursey, are the responsible "elves at work."

Using the furniture which has been there for years, the girls took off the old finish with remover, then after sanding and filling holes and cracks and polishing down repeatedly, applied a stain, which lightened the wood considerably to a blond mahogany hue. Two coats of seal completed the refinishing.

Three-hour labs, sandwiched into schedules on Thursday nights and Saturdays, were necessary during the month of operation. Using bottles of hand lotion, repeated shampooing to get rid of that "sawdust look," and sore muscles were a part of the activities brought about by the lab periods.

Equipment from the Industrial Arts department and masculine help from the chemistry assistants were utilized. Some of the sessions were brightened momentarily by cookies or orange juice, provided by Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, who will work there, and his two children, Tommy and Rita DeCoursey.

Further plans for the office include rearranging of furniture and the adding of draperies.

Intramurals Close; Jarboe Comes Through

In the last round of the girls' basketball intramurals Evelyn Jarboe's team emerged victorious.

Monday night Jarboe's won over Swinger's 21-8. Evelyn's was high scorer with 12 points.

Gooden's were victorious over Merkey 17-16 for the closest game of the evening.

The last game of the night was not played. Treloar forfeited to Metsker.

Saunders Chairs Panel

Don Saunders was guest speaker and chairman at a panel on World Brotherhood for the Eastern Star in Abilene Feb. 26 at 8 in the evening. Mr. Earl Endicott, Director of the Eisenhower Museum, was to be guest speaker and chairman.

Mr. Endicott was called to Wichita for a business meeting and could not attend.

The panel was composed of teachers and social workers. Don asked the questions and summarized at the end.

After the meeting, the Matron gave a party for Don in Junction City at Camp Forsythe. A five piece band entertained the guests while they ate.

Faculty Members Attend Hutchinson Alumni Dinner

Attending a dinner session at the Ranch House in Hutchinson on Saturday, Feb. 26 were about 65 alumni from Hutchinson and the surrounding area.

Male Quintet from MacCollege sang following the dinner.

Della Lehman Instructs In Oral Interpretation

Bible reading, poetry interpretation, reading of drama selections, and lecture recitals are part of the projects of the Literary Interpretation Class offered this semester.

The purpose of the course, offered alternate years, is to work out a repertoire of selections for each student to be able to give in churches, schools, or other groups, stated Miss Della Lehman, instructor.

A series of invitation recitals will be given later in the semester in the SUR in connection with the course.
