

Royalty Scatters Over U. S., World

By Shirley Rhoades

Pert, friendly Eula Mae Murray has been chosen as Homecoming Queen and will reign over the festivities on Oct. 16. Perhaps some have wondered about all the coeds who have previously been Queen.

Several of these ladies have been out of college for a number of years, so, since one knows they aren't in college, it might be interesting to know something about them.

Shirley McDaniel, Queen Anneliese Koch, and Allice Hanagarn Heidebrecht.

We have an ex-Queen still with us as well as an ex-attendant. Anneliese Koch of Germany reigned over last year's Homecoming, and Norann Royer Blough was Freshman attendant in '52, and is now a junior here.

1936 was the year of the dedication of the "new" football field, and Homecoming Queen was Lillian Peterson, who is now secretary to the editor of the Hutchinson News Herald.

The privilege of voting for Homecoming Queen and her attendants has not always been a free one. In 1936, the privilege was limited to those purchasing a Quadrangle.

Vera Heckman Larsen, or Mrs. Harold A. Larsen, Queen of '39, now resides in Cheney, Penn.

The former Kathleen Brubaker, now Mrs. Wilbur Linville, lives in Modesto, Calif. She reigned in '41. Beatrice, Neb., is the home of Mrs. Dwight Dell, known in her college days as Leota Beckner, Queen of '42.

Queen of 1943 was Marilyn Sandy, now Mrs. George Voth, Jr., who lives in Bloom, Kansas. Mrs. Voth was physical education instructor in 1947 and 1948 for McPherson.

Queen Anita Rogers, Courtney and Huffman and Baile

Here's Anneliese's Sister German Exchange Student Lives At President's Home

From Hochheim Main, Germany, near Frankfurt, Christa Koch came to America to live with the Bittinger family and to attend McPherson High School as a senior.

Her sister, Anneliese is in her senior year at McPherson College. On her journey here, Christa traveled through Kassel, Germany, and saw the Brethren center. After leaving there, she sailed from Bremerhaven on Aug. 14 with one other Brethren exchange student, Hanna Guderjohn, who came to live with Carolyn Ikenberry and her family in Virginia.

Besides Hanna and Christa, there were 146 other exchange students coming from various European countries. During their journey on the ship, the "Seven Seas," 75 per cent of the passengers became sea sick, including Christa.

Arriving in Quebec, Canada, on Aug. 24, Christa was fascinated by the many lights and the castle-like structures. From there, they went to Montreal, then on to New York by train, then to Baltimore. Because of language difficulties and not knowing anyone, Hanna and Christa were troubled about a five hour wait in Baltimore for

The Voths are in the grain business and have two boys, Kent and George.

Queen Anita Rogers reigned in 1951. Anita, now Mrs. Rex Courtney, is teaching commerce in the Barnard, Kans., high school; her husband is the coach at Barnard.

Lois Yoder Neher, Homecoming Queen in '49, class of '51, and husband, Gerald A. Neher, class of '52, are, at present, on their way to the Africa mission field where they will serve as agricultural missionaries.

Lois Yoder Neher. It is of interest to note that Fidelia Frantz, who is Lois Neher's mother, class of '25 was also Homecoming Queen.

Several other of the Queens down through McPherson's history have relation now in college.

Two sisters of the ex-royalty are with us. Miriam Keim, or Mrs. Ellis Albright of Nampa, Idaho, is a sister to Anne Keim, Freshman, also of Nampa.

'52 Queen, Rowena Merkey Wilson, who teaches school in Kansas City while her husband attends pre-med school, is a sister to Arlene Merkey, junior.

someone to come for them from New Windsor, Md. After five days in New Windsor, Christa left for Chicago, where she met Dr. Bittinger on Aug. 29.

After spending a night in Elgin, Christa was on the way to McPherson on the journey. Dr. Bittinger took her to historical places. Lincoln Memorial in Springfield, Ill., and Mark Twain's home in Hannibal, Mo. were visited.

On Sept. 1 Christa arrived in McPherson where, after three years, she saw her sister Anneliese.

She is happy in her new home and has many funny experiences in learning the correct usage of the language. She says that the movies and television are a great help to her.

Telephone Rings Again Players Repeat Drama Tonight

Lucille Fletcher's play, "Sorry, Wrong Number," came to life Wednesday evening as the Maccollege Players Club put on its first production of the season.

This performance will be repeated in the chapel tonight at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge. Una Yoder, Maccollege speech and dramatics instructor has been directing rehearsals daily since selection of the cast was made two weeks ago.

Irene Shull played the main character, that of Mrs. Stevenson. In the movie production of the play Barbara Stanwyck held the leading role of the nagging, nervous, and neurotic woman.

The sound effects, the persistent ringing of the telephone and the rumbling of the train added to the plot.

The train sound was authentic as Leon Albert went to the depot with his tape recorder and secured the actual rumbling of a locomotive. Spotlights added to the air of the mystery and suspense.

Comedy relief was added by the disinterested Sergeant Duffy, Forrest Kurschwitz, and the lunch room attendant, Billy Joe Hildreth.

The climax in comedy and tragedy scenes near the end of the play drew Mrs. Stevenson frantically to call the police.

Betty Holloway, a bored, sleepy telephone operator had a complete lack of enthusiasm in contrast to Mrs. Stevenson's pleas for immediate action.

The plot would have been incomplete without the gangsters, Dale Shenefelt's face appeared from under the brim of a hat as one villain. His accomplice and man with the knife was Joe Reeves.

Working behind the scenes running the telephone buzzer, the spotlight, and other sound effects were Ted Vance, Leon Albert, Max Parmley and Don Saunders.

Turning painter for the scenery was Leon Albert. The bed was arranged by Don Bowman, Marion McElwain and LaFaugh Hubbard, Evelyn Jarboe did the programs.

Following the production on Wednesday evening Una Yoder gave a party at her home for the cast and committee members.

Fike Becomes Reporter For Hutchinson Herald

Maccollege will be represented in the Hutchinson New-Herald this year. Duane Fike, freshman, in cooperation with the Public Relations Office, has taken on the responsibility of mailing certain news items concerning students from southwest Kansas to the News-Herald.

Every Sunday the News-Herald runs a column giving facts about college students. This information is rewritten from the various college newspapers. However, the home town of the college students is often not given in the college papers.

McDorothy Greve, society editor of the News-Herald, requested that some student supply this information about southwest Kansas students attending Maccollege.

Besides being a public service, this project gives the college some publicity.

The Hutchinson News-Herald on Sunday Oct. 3, gave Maccollege the two column write up on the "On And Off The Campus" section of their paper.

Admissions Officers Meet Oct. 29 At Bethel

A meeting of the Admissions Officers of colleges will be held at Bethel College, North Newton, Kas. Those attending from Mac are Pres. Desmond W. Bittinger, Glenn Swinger, director of Public Relations, and Max McAuley, alumni secretary.

Feature guest speaker at the meeting will be the Rev. Dean Frantz, former student at McPherson and pastor of the Mount Morris Church of the Brethren at Mount Morris, Ill.

Royer Will Show Slides At CBYF

At the Oct. 10 meeting of CBYF, Rita Elyon Royer will present her colored slides and talk about her experiences in the federal reformatory for women at Alderson, W. Va. Rita worked there while serving in BVA two years ago.

Following Rita's talk, a decision for the year's project will be made. Projects under consideration are the partial support of an industrial work camp, an abundant life caravan, or an exchange student from India.

CBYF meetings are held in the Church basement each Sunday evening at 6:30 unless otherwise announced. The cabinet extends a welcome to all those who would care to attend.

Sadie Hawkins Needs Sponsoring Organization

Sadie Hawkins' Day will not be observed on Macampus this year unless a sponsoring organization will sponsor the celebration can be found. The SCA, which has sponsored Sadie Hawkins Day in the past, is not willing to sponsor it this year.

The student body voted in favor of the Sadie Hawkins by only four votes. Students also voted on the "Girl ask boy" issue, it was voted down 55 to 230.

Eddie Frantz, Pres. of Student Council, called a meeting of the student body following the Sept. 28 chapel activities. A petition was read and voted on.

The discussion of Sadie Hawkins Day became quite complex and took the next period of the days schedule. Eddie called the meeting to a close after the students had voted on each issue.

Rec Council Camps Out Over Weekend

Members of the Recreation Council participated on a weekend retreat Oct. 2 and 3.

Leaving Maccollege campus last Saturday afternoon at 1:30, the campers drove to Bill Janssen's pasture, located about 16 miles west of Salina.

Saturday evening the group hiked to the top of a hill for singing and vesper. Sunday morning worship services were held close to the campsite.

Reflector ovens and tinfoil were used preparing the meals. Glorified weiners were baked on the reflector ovens for the evening meal. A complete meal for Sunday dinner was wrapped in tinfoil and baked on hot coals.

Games were played by the campers around a campfire Saturday night. Sunday morning a long hike was enjoyed by all who cared for the exercise.

At the recent student body election, Eula Mae Murray from Conway, Kans., was elected as McPherson College's 1954-55 reigning queen. She will be crowned at the homecoming game on Oct. 16.

Sophomore attendant to the queen is Rachel Brown, Hannibal, Mo. June McDaniel from Essex, Mo., is the freshman attendant.

Other nominees were: Junior—Marlene Moats, Eldora, Iowa; Evelyn Williams, Worthington, Minn.; Mary Elizabeth Swinger, Essex, Mo.; Sophomore—Kathy Albin, Grundy Center, Iowa; Darlene Treloar, Sumner, Iowa; Birdene Jamison, Quinter, Kan.; Freshmen—Marleen Landhuis, Harris, Iowa; Delaine Larson, Haxtun, Colo.; Ellen Willems, McPherson, Kans.

Plans for homecoming this year will be similar to the homecoming celebration last year. There will be no parade on Main Street.

This year the campus will be fully decorated. Many colleges and universities do this and the result gives the whole campus an air of celebration.

Twenty three organizations will decorate. Prizes have been boosted to 1st $30, 2nd $20, 3rd $10, and 5 honorable mentions.

Decorations must be finished by 11 a.m., Saturday Oct. 16, and judging will be at 11:30. Decorations must be able to stand the weather.

Tony Voshell, from local KNEC, will emcee a locker room inter-view 1:00 to 1:15. Coach Smith, along with the teams co-captains Bill Smith and Eddie Frantz, will be interviewed.

At 3 o'clock the Annual Alumni Tea will be held in the SUR. Dr. and Mrs. Wesley DeCoursey will act as host and hostess. Assisting them are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Willems, and Mrs. Max McAuley.

An open house will be held in the new stadium from 4 to 5 in the afternoon.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. with Mac meeting Kansas Wesleyan University. A 1950 McPherson College graduate, Vernon Nickolson, will direct the Genesee High School Band in numbers at half time.

The freshman class will decorate the gateway. Sophomore class has the northeast part of the circle drive. Junior class will decorate directly across the circle drive from the sophomores. Seniors will decorate the Library. Prizes for the decorations will be announced at the homecoming game.

TV Appearances TV enters into this years homecoming activities. Queen Eula Mae and attendants Rachel and June will appear over Channel 12, KTVH on the Helen Gard Show. Co-captains Bill Smith and Eddie Frantz along with Coach Smith will also appear over the same show on Thurs. Oct. 14, at 3:00 p.m.

Queen's Banquet Queen Eula Mae will be crowned at the Queen's Banquet at 6:30 p.m., Friday Oct. 15. This will be in the church parlors with the church ladies preparing the dinner with students, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ronald Grosbach, serving the meal.

The Queen's table will be centered with a large "M", made of red velvet surrounded with white cut flowers centered by a gold colored crown.

A spot light, shining on a crown placed on a red back drop, will form a beautiful background for the Queen and her attendants.

Dinner will be served by candle light at tables decorated with floral arrangements, crown nut cups, and programs in the shape of a football.

Ellen Willems is the head of decorations. She is being helped by different students here on campus.

The M Club will have a 12:30 luncheon at the McCourt Hotel on Saturday Oct. 16.

There will be two socials following the game, one for the Alumni in the cafeteria and another for Mac and KWU students.

Mr. Max McAuley, Alumni Sec., Student Council, and The Social Committee are making the plans for this big homecoming weekend.

We Sing It

Do We Believe It?

Those of us who are attending Macollege and all who have gone here before us, yes even those who are planning to attend, are proud of McPherson College—what it stands for and what it is.

In expressing our loyalty to MC we sing with lusty, although not always true to pitch, voices the college song. Each person has his own way of singing the college song, usually a group never sing "our" and "dear" in the same place at the right time.

Pause a moment to think on the words of the college song. Those words you have sung so many times in so many different places.

"Although out on the broad Kansas Plain. Here not in vain are we." Not apologetic I hope for Kansas plains are wonderful, anyway as an Iowan I've been trying to convince myself.

"The student loves to dream—future days and years that'll seem the best for old M. C. We're dreaming for the best for M. C., but also that when we leave and Macollege continues to grow, that we will go out into the world with goals we began to formulate here in college and do our level best with Mac behind us.

We want to move forward; we also want the college to progress. We'll do something more constructive than just hope for M. C. and wish that we were back.

Passing over the first verse, which is our standby, and those occasional phrases which are not at the top in poetic beauty here and there, we reach the second and third verses.

"True soldiers" starts us off on verse number two joining into an army by the time the third verse is reached. Yes, that is our college song.

"O Sacred Truth," a beautiful thought for a song title; but is that college song which has served us well for all these generations still fulfilling our needs and its purpose?

Does the college song really express our hopes and thoughts? Have we progressed as a college and as a student body to the point where something could be added to our school songs—something which would say in a beautiful way what we really believe?

From The Box

Back into the depths of the Spectator mail box with its contents which bring both high and low moods. The mailbox has been holding a number of subscriptions to our journalistic attempt. Many of the subscription rates are accompanied by a little note which usually doesn't say those cold hard facts about the Spec, just a little touch of Irish blarney mixed with a comment on something we have done well.

After watching the hard efforts of Kathryn Kendall and Don Ullom as they typed, cut and stuck addresses on a sample copy for each student's parents, a reply in the form of two dollars from Merlin Shrock at Gretna, Iowa, was a very welcome sight.

Others have sent in subscription rates without any sample copy. The circulation department of this organization seems to be in full swing, the staff is doing startlingly well, considering prospects; and if the rusty part of this mechanism can be oiled into smooth running well—who knows, a record of some kind might be broken. Surely there is some record somewhere which is small enough that The Spec could break it.

Another item which popped up in the mailbox was the ACP, Associated Collegiate Press, membership enrollment blank. As has been the custom in the past, the Spectator joined, meaning that copies of this semester's Spectator will be criticized, judged, and ranked by the ACP judges.

Student Ministers Speak . . .

Expect The Best

By Maitin Ganby

Too often we expect the worst. It is no wonder we get it so often.

We are likely to get what we expect. If a person expects the best, he will naturally set forces to move which will produce the best. If he expects the worst, he is likely to set forces to moving which will produce the worst or will do nothing at all, a course of action which will cause the worst to happen.

Sometimes we feel that we have been defeated. Many times we are defeated. Many times we are defeated in something. Often we are defeated because we start the task with the wrong attitude. If we have an attitude of fear or doubt, we are likely to be defeated.

People who have expected great things out of life and have gone forth with faith, have achieved great things. Do not let your mind think of defeat. Think only of success. Don't go through life afraid that you will fail.

If we run up against a problem that we cannot solve, we have one to whom we can go. Christ can solve all our problems. Instead of worrying or doubting, try praying.

Expect the best out of life, and you will get it.

Speech Class Discusses Segregation, Dancing

Speech classes this past week conducted panel discussions and brought forth many interesting and revealing subjects.

The most far-reaching subject was the discussion of segregation in the schools. Many students were asked to express their opinions, and the members of the panels carefully analyzed all the facts.

There was one common point that stood out above all others. All men are created equal, and none is supreme over any man. If we are to be Christians, we cannot look down upon our fellowmen.

Discussion of dancing on the campus was very timely, and the views of the students were varied. Of the students interviewed those for and against were of an even number.

Students for dancing expressed the opinion that there could not be a better way to become acquainted with other students. Opposition to dancing was that it led to the practice of improper morals and that it was against the church policy. The members of the panel decided that since dancing was also against the school policy recreation would have to be confined to folk games.

Universal Military Training was a very heated debate. The three girls against UMT stated that the people of the world must strive for a Christian world and not prepare to kill their fellow man.

The two boys in favor of UMT carefully considered the question and had the following replies. "We should be able to defend our nation, should attack come. It was proved in the last war that had we had an organized reserve many lives would have been saved."

The speech classes were conducted very informally and at the end of the discussions the questions were thrown open to the audience. Mrs. Ana Yoder is instructor of the Speech classes.

Peace Group Reorganizes

James Hershberger, freshman chairman of the peace group steering committee will present a suggested organizational plan for the peace group at the Sunday evening meeting in the chapel, Oct. 10.

The steering committee, consisting of Marlene Moats, Jean Bulard, Lucy Blough, James Hershberger, Dwight Olson and David Frazier, met with Dick Wareham, the peace group sponsor, at his home last Sunday afternoon.

After business was completed, the group was given a cook-out supper by the Warehams. Two discussion groups were conducted last week.

John Metzler Visits Here On Way To Switzerland

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Burton Metzler the weekend of Sept. 26 were his brother John and wife. They stopped here on their way to Geneva, Switzerland, where Mr. Metzler will be working for the World Council of Churches to help with the distribution of surplus foods which are being sent over from the United States.

Mr. Metzler may remain in Geneva for three years.

Hess Elected Class President

Dr. Maurice A. Hess was elected permanent president of his Ursinus College class at the 40th reunion in Pennsylvania, last spring.

Taking the Freshman English Exams with him, Dr. and Mrs. Hess and daughter, Pauline, left immediately after the English Exam on May 25.

On the trip east they stopped in Missouri and Indiana. Mrs. Hess and Pauline remained in Indiana to visit relatives, while Dr. Hess travelled on to the reunion.

Saturday, May 29, was reunion day. Seventeen classmates were present for this 40th reunion. Twenty-six attended the class luncheon.

In 1959, the 45th reunion will be held. Dr. Hess is planning this reunion.

While on his Alma Mater campus, Dr. Hess stayed one night in his old dorm.

June 5-8, the Annual Meeting of the Old Baptist Church was held in Noy Carliste, Ohio. The family attended this meeting, and Dr. Hess reports about 12,000 were present for the Sunday meeting.

On the return trip the Hesses visited in the homes of Dr. Hess's sisters in Lima, Ohio, and also in the homes of Mrs. Hess's brothers in Indiana. They attended the funeral of Mrs. Hess's sister-in-law in Indiana. Dr. Hess returned to McPherson on June 3.

This week which has a religious theme is observed by both the church and the college.

Thinking With The President

Underneath

Recently I had the pleasure and privilege of being present at the World Council of Churches meeting at Evanston, Ill.

It was interesting to be a part of a meeting in which the American and the English speaking representatives were not the majority. It was interesting, also, to listen to debate in which several languages were used and it was necessary to dial through headphones to understand.

One of the spectacular things about the World Council meeting was the great variety of clothing worn.

The Ecclesiastes came, each in the ecclesiastical regalia which characterized his office. The Archbishop of Canterbury appeared sometimes in flowing robes, with crimson collar and ecclesiastical cap. At other times he appeared with breeches and leggings, which characterized his office, and a formal top coat.

An Ecclesiast from Finland appeared with a kind of silk ruffled collar such as we see on pictures of Sir Walter Raleigh. With this he wore a high squared-off top hat and ruffled silken cuffs.

The Ecclesiastes from India wore flowing robes of crimson, or even of black, with wide sashes. Many of the dignitaries wore crosses on their chests or their backs, or medals enclosed in jeweled amulets.

The non-ecclesiastical dignitaries from the various countries appeared in their native garb. Many of the national garbs were very picturesque. Those from India were particularly beautiful.

Likewise, those from Ceylon and Burma, and elsewhere were catching. The Japanese outfits, particularly those of the women, were exceedingly dainty.

The young men and young ladies from Lebanon, Palestine, and Egypt caused many people to stop and take pictures.

As one looked over this great group of people who had come from all parts of the world, one noted the differences in their manner of speaking and in their manner of dress.

Back of Northwestern University was a narrow beach and a long pier. Here, in a secluded area, the World Council people were invited to come in the late afternoons for bathing. Admittance was by ticket and those who had the World Council badges were admitted free.

It was very hot part of the time at the World Council and even the ecclesiastical dignitaries shed their great robes and put on bathing suit to cool off. It was very interesting, indeed, to see these people with the differences, as far as clothing went, cast aside.

Underneath we were about the same. There was a little difference in skin shade, but that was about all. We swam the same way; we used the same strokes; we could float or we couldn't float depending not on which country we came from, but on our training.

World council members worked together remarkably well. They began with some differences which threatened to split the Council, but they ended with a remarkable accord. Perhaps it was because they discovered, in playing and swimming together, that underneath we are more alike than our words and our clothing sometimes seem to make us.

This was a good thing to learn.

Frantz Installs Harvey, Helman

Earl Frantz, public relations man for the college, has returned from a college promotion trip through Oklahoma.

Mr. Frantz visited both church and non-church communities to promote public relations for Macollege.

Two installation services have been conducted by Mr. Frantz recently.

One was the installation of Rev. George Harvey at the Church of the Brethren in Newton, Kans., on Sept. 26.

Rev. Harvey is taking several evening courses here on Macampus this semester.

On Oct. 3, he officiated at the installation of Dr. A. Blair Helman in the Wichita Church of the Brethren.

Canine Quips

Along with other important events in a freshman's schedule is the annual Sunday School breakfast for all fresh held in President and Mrs. Bittingers' home. Sunday morning about 78 students gathered for such an occasion. Following the schedule which the organizing committee of five - Jim Hershberger, Lu Wise, Sara Ann Coffman, Don Holdreid, and Ed Butler - had planned another successful breakfast was held. Creamed chicken poured over hot biscuits, and cocoa was served at 8. A large hollowed watermelon shaped as a basket held colorful mixed fruits for the guests. Recreation, singing, and a discussion led by Dr. Bittinger took place after the meal.

Dew not only falls in the form of drizzle rain on Oct. 4 and Friday, but dews are due on Macampus now - dues for clubs, classes, and church pledges.

A housewarming for Larry and Nancy (Dayton) Brooks was the inspiration for an informal get-together last Saturday evening in Nickerson on campus. The chicken dinner was enjoyed by the 21 guests and the honorees before a hayrack ride. After the hayrack homestead ice cream and cake was served.

Later in the evening entertainment and singing was enjoyed. Some of the friends at the party were Dale DeLaster and Lois Slinette, Don Goodfellow and Eula Mae Murray, Galen Slifer and Peggy Hoefel, Norman Long and Birdene Jamison, Dwight and Norman Blough, Gary Jones and Marlene Landhuysen, Max and Phyllis Evelyn Williams, Ron Albert and Kathy Albin, Leland Lengel, Richard Carney, Connie Brooks, Marilyn Spohn and Carol Watkins.

Bob Wise, Ron Sams, Ed Frantz, Tommy Taylor, and Don Moeller were some of the fellows who traveled to Manhattan Saturday for the afternoon game of Kansas State.

Ed Wolf's fiancée, Marlene Simpson, was here Friday evening for the Baker game. The attended the game in Manhattan, Saturday afternoon. Marlene was an overnight guest of the Jamison girls in Dotzour.

Taking the place of human oxen and dragging the plow through the ground in front of the girls' team are none other than Max Royer and Gene Myers. Gene Snyder, Chuck Petty and Ted Kaitzounis are also working over the ground under the supervision of Mr. Lee Kendall. Someday instead of just plain dirt there will be shrubbery and grass to beautify the modern dorm.

Liz Keim and Galen Stucky chose a change of scenery last Thursday night when they journeyed to Wichita to view the Ice Follies.

If anyone really wants to see the modern creation of art, look up some of the students who are in the Design and Illustration Art classes. Some of the illustrations are the "most." Donna Berry and Eva Navarro are especially creative in this work.

Ginny Russell and Kenny Brown went to Wichita the weekend of Oct. 2 and 3. Ginny visited her aunt, and Ken was at home.

Lois Knackstedt, Gerry Goering and Virginia Reist were some of the girls who came in to see the game with Baker last Friday night. The three attended school here last year and are now teaching school just outside McPherson.

Watermelon has been a popular thing to eat around Mac. They have literally been lying around, such as in Falmestock Hall and the park. Doris Miller, Don Colberg, and Ron Miller have been a few of the fellows who have had so many of them.

Keith Allison, 1953 graduate from MacCollege, will go to Germany in November to attend choir school. Keith is now serving in the Armed Forces in France.

DOTZOUR DAZE
New residents in the hall are Mary Ellen Waters and Rowena Fincke from Kline.

A certain girl washes and irons dollar bills these days. Things were never like this before!

Sometimes a girl manages to have two dates at one time and the problem is which one to go on. The event has taken place in Dotzour in the previous week.

Birthday galore! Jane Dine was feted last week by the entire third floor. Milk nickels were served, and the group sang.

Sunday evening Betty Holdreid was honored at a party attended by the whole group from second floor. Her birthday was celebrated with cake and ice cream. She was presented with a light blue Catalina sweater.

Friday, just before dinner some clever and sneaky elves interchanged all the drawers around on first floor. Quite a confusion was caused by the deed.

Karl Balder has preached at Castleton, Kans., the past two Sundays. Both Sundays Karl was a dinner guest at the Merle Hinkel residence at Canton.

A couple of car loads of girls are going to attend the game in Emporia tomorrow. Mary Lou Wise is driving a car and with her will be Liz Keim, Ginny Russell, Anita McSpadden, Jeanne Shively, Nancy Andrews, Norma Goering, and Anne Keim.

Kay Chaney from Haxtun, Colo., arrived on campus late last night. She is visiting Don Ullom. Martha Switzer is her hostess in Dotzour Hall while she is here.

McAuleys Entertain
A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max McAuley following the MacCollege and Baker football game.

There were 15 guests present. The evening was spent visiting and enjoying delicious refreshments.

Who Is Wiser— Profs Or Musicians?

By Roger Flick
When two MacCollege profs put their heads together to capture an intruder on first floor Harnly, they began to happen. To the intruder? No, to the Profs.

A college education seems to greatly help some animals, although one sometimes is forced to wonder about college freshmen.

The intruder, which looked up with innocent eyes and big ears, did not seem to frighten Sarah May Vancil as she sat grading papers while he stood in the middle of her class room.

The thing which did amaze Miss Vancil was how the intruder got the chocolate off the device, which was fixed to capture him. This was devised by a college Prof. with a Doctorate degree, but apparently the intruder was the wiser of the two in this case.

Miss Vancil hopes that her pet, who has taken up pent house residence in her office will not disturb her students.

First Mac Graduate From Italy Announces Marriage Next Spring
The engagement of Gina Munda, Carrara, Italy, to Li. Erardo Giovannini has been announced.

Gina was the first Italian ever to graduate from McPherson College; she was a member of the class of 1950. Since that time, she has been working at the American Embassy in Rome.

Giovannini is a lieutenant in the Army in Rome. The couple plan to be married in the spring.

Notes On Music
"The Voice of Jesus", an eight part sacred choral manuscript written by Professor Donald L. Frederick has recently been published in Chicago by the Clayton F. Summy Publishing Co.

This composition is the third one by Prof. Frederick that will be coming out within the next month. McPherson College Ladies Quartet, consisting of LaFaugh Hubbard, 1st soprano; Kathleen Albin, 2nd soprano; Evelyn Williams 1st alto, and Donna Berry, 2nd alto will be going to Garden City, Kans. to sing for a District Meeting there.

McPherson College band under the direction of Prof. Frederick performed for the first time this year during the half time of the McPherson vs. Baker game.

Homecoming halftime ceremonies will be performed by the Geneseo High School Band directed by Vernon Nicholson, alumnus of McPherson College.

Plans for a Vesper Musicale on Sunday afternoon of Regional Conference are being formed. The orchestra under the direction of Professor Paul Sollenberger and the combined choirs will be featured in the service.

Band Takes To Their Feet Musicians Start Marching

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching," but this time the McPherson College Marching Band takes to its feet.

Flashing white shoes show the steady rhythm; and flying red neckties defy even the most daring of opponents as the band gives the school its musical support.

After days of toiling preparation, band members felt the efforts of their struggles with corners and letter formation by nursing blistered heels and rubbing aching muscles in his chest.

Before a public appearance could be made, members of the band made hurried visits to the McPherson shopping centers. Guys wrangled over the largest sizes of white shoes in town, and the girls rushed for the brightest Yee neck ties to be found.

To complete the planned uniforms, each band member made sure that a pair of dark slacks or trousers and a long-sleeved white shirt hung "ready for quick action" in his closet.

At the appointed time and place on Friday evening, Oct. 1, every member found his correct place on the band stand. Girls wondered why they had not thought of the clasps as the wind whipped their ties into their faces.

After the playing and marching were over, each band member went away knowing that he had helped portray the school spirit in some small way, as one band member stated.

The who are in the marching band, directed by Prof. Donald R. Frederick are: piccolo, Connie Brooks; flutes, Donna Saylor, Carol Trostle, Joyce Gletfotly, Lorraine Grone; clarinets, Carol Hfntz, Bideyan Jamison, Rita Royer, Marvin Landhaus, Mary Alice Smith, and Ruth Davidson.

Alto clarinet is Margaret Hoefel, alto saxophones, Shirley Hamilton, Phyllis Grimm, Nona Maust, Mary Swinger; tenor saxophones, Ruth Grossnickle, Don Ullom; baritone saxophone, Nancy Trostle.

Leon Albert plays the oboe; Don Simpson, Dale Correll, Dale Shenefelt, and Shirley Knackstedt, cornets; Doris Coppock, Vera Mohler, and Elsie Lucore, French horns; Forrest Kuschwitz, and Joe Reeves, baritones.

Those who are Don Goodfellow, Kenneth F a n c h e r, Harriette Grove, Leo Landhuys, Bill Mollhaugen, and Lucille Hobson. Those playing the basses are Gary Williams, Richard Carney, and Dean Reynolds.

Daniel Dadsman, John Strickler, Nancy Erisman, and Martha Switzer are in charge of the percussion.

At present, Phyllis Grim is acting drum major instead of playing her alto saxophone.

Mac Has Pro Shutterbugs

Some of the people on Macampus are not well known by their names, but rather by the service which they perform. Such is the case of amateur photographers on the campus.

Gary introduced himself into the photographic field during the eighth grade in school. He started out by purchasing a $20 roll film, folding camera which lasted him until his junior year in high school.

While attending high school he took pictures of student activities, football and basketball games, group pictures for the annual.

During his sophomore year, he entered three photographs in the National High School Photographic Association's photo contest. They all placed in the state, and one went to the national contest where it placed in the honorable mention group.

His senior year he purchased a 4 x 5 press camera, which he still has. Also in his senior year he took advertisement photos for the school annual. Spare time in those four years was taken up by his taking portrait pictures of children, families, etc., in private homes.

Gary brought his equipment to college, where he established a darkroom. He has been on the Spec. staff as the photographer for the entirety of his college life. He met Phil Fullam about the first of last year, when the boys moved into Arnold Hall.

Phil started working with photography in the freshman year of high school. He used mostly school equipment for taking pictures, developing and finishing them. As a native Kansan, Phil attended high schools in Buhler and Chase.

Another project which was recently completed was making of photo post cards of the Macampus; they are now on sale in the college bookstore.

A technical name of this firm is the McPherson Gletfoty Photo Service, but they are better known as Williams and Fullam or vice versa. They handle the retail sale of film, cameras, flashbulbs, and the development and finishing of roll films. They will also make prints of negatives.

Portrait taking is an important service that is rendered to students upon request. Seniors use these portraits when applying for positions.

Pictures of student activities are posted in Arnold, along with an order sheet for the students who want to secure some particular photo. Many of the photos taken will be used in the Quad.

Canines Meet C of E In This Week's Tussle

The McPherson Bulldogs, primed and ready to go after last week's win over Baker at Bulldog field, will meet the highly touted College of Emporia team in Emporia Saturday.

C. of E., who has their entire team back from last year's conference champion squad, will be mighty rough. They are a seasoned ball club with hard running backs and a tough line.

So far this year, C & E has walked off with all their games by wide margins. Last week they met Bethany and came away the victors by the score of 56-0.

McPherson, who is underclassmen this year because of inexperience, has shown more spark than anyone expected. C. of E., who is highly favored in the conference this year, might well find a battle on their hands Saturday.

The game, which is the first Saturday game of the season, begins at 2:00 in Emporia. Many McPherson fans are expected to attend.

As far as material, Emporia is loaded. Their backs again this year are Cline, Harkey, and Washington, with two of the best tackles in the conference in Snyder, who was all conference last year, and Donnhauer.

As usual, there are no predictions as to the outcome of the game, but there is considerable sentiment around Mac campus that the Bulldogs might prove worthy foes for the mighty men from Emporia. McPherson's passing attack has sharpened up, and the running offense is looking much improved every week. We'll be looking with interest to Emporia, where one of the important games of the season may be played, on Saturday.

Mac Plays Volleyball

By Terry Throeen

Intramural volleyball is quite interesting as well as a bulwark of fellowship in the Mac family.

As in everything there is a type of drawback in these volleyball games, girls, that is from the boys' side of view. On the other hand, the ladies have some complaints against the men, the main one being that the men crowd, and don't give the girls a chance.

Among the things to remember are: a lady gets a second chance if she doesn't serve the ball over the net the first time; other players on the same side as a girl serving can help the ball over when she serves; a girl can hit the ball twice in succession. Another thing to remember is that a few of these dainty females are rather muscular. This can be proved when they bounce the ball off the ceiling or when it sails over the outside line at the rear of the court.

Men are not supposed to hit the net when they spike the ball; if they do, it goes to the opposing team. Gym shoes are to be worn on the playing floor, otherwise stocking feet.

Sprained fingers, stepped-on feet, collisions, shorts and wholly stockings are among some of the interesting sidelights on the subject.

Things not to be laughed at are some of the odd forms used while the games are in session. Just add a little of all these things together and the result is enjoyment by many people.

Mrs. Willems Called Home By Illness

Mrs. Alvin Willems received word on Friday morning Oct. 1, that her father, Mr. P. A. Keller, of Dallas Center, Iowa, had suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Willems had planned to leave for Iowa on Tuesday. Monday morning she was called to come home immediately, and the family left for Iowa within an hour.

Stadium Opens To Visitors

Openhouse for the new stadium will be on the afternoon of October 16. Openhouse hours are from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. The openhouse is for townspeople, friends of the college, and the alumni to see what the stadium is like on the inside.

Among the interesting points to see are the following: a large concession stand complete with an electric range; dressing rooms and showers for the visiting team and one for the officials; the box office; and the pressbox, large enough to seat the broadcasters for important games.

MacCollege had one of the first lighted athletic fields in the conference, and with the completion of the new stadium and lighting system, it is now one of the finest fields in the conference.

Fresh Orientation Divides Into Discussion Groups

Freshman orientation class which meets twice a week for the first nine weeks has been divided into nine small groups. These small groups will meet five times during the nine weeks of orientation. These groups met on Sept. 29, Oct. 6 and are scheduled to meet on Oct. 8, Oct. 13 and Oct. 20. Fifteen members of the faculty will be teaching in these groups.

Dean James M. Berkebile stated that having the class divided into small groups makes discussion easier. These classes will give the students a chance to iron out any problems they are having concerning college.

Students will also have the opportunity to become better acquainted with faculty members under whom they may never have a class.

"College, Classroom, Campus and You" by Max Leach and Orval Fibbeck is the text to be used in these classes. This book was written to help answer problems of college students.

Orientation class is held to help give the students a philosophy for life, to help students make a successful adjustment to college life and also to help give them a philosophy they can use after college.

Girls Will Cook-Out

Cooking outdoors will be participated in by members of the Home Economics Club Tuesday, Oct. 12, when their first meeting for the year will be held.

Chairman of the Foods Committee for the cook-out is Alberta Grosbach. The group will assemble in front of Harnly Hall at 5:15 p.m. for a short hike to the picnic spot.

A short business meeting is planned and programs for the year will be handed out by Anita McSpaddan, program chairman.

McPherson County Gives Nation's Top To CROP

The Christian Rural Overseas Program in McPherson County has had a very successful drive for funds this year. The final count has not been made, but the total is close to $35,000.

McPherson County gave more money than any other county in the United States this year.

The National Chairman of CROP is John Metzler, the brother of Dr. Burton Metzler.

John will sail for Europe in Oct. He will be the European Director for the Surplus Relief Commodities.

Mr. Paul Sargent, who is in Europe, is the McPherson County treasurer of CROP, a college trustee, and a member of the Executive Committee.

Miss Sarah May Vanell, associate professor of English, is secretary of CROP; and Mr. Walter Goering, of Moundridge, is chairman of the organization.

McPherson County's CROP drive was held jointly with the Mennonite Central Committee.

Willems, Dell Attend Four-State Conference

Prof. Alvin Willems of the Rural Life Department and Prof. S. M. Dell of the Industrial Arts Department attended a four-state Industrial Arts conference at Pittsburg, Kans. Friday and Saturday. The conference, which includes Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas, was held at Pittsburg, Kans., which is close to the four corners of the states.

Attending the conference were teachers from the Industrial Arts departments of the high schools and colleges in the four state area.

There were demonstrations and lectures on different phases of how to operate equipment, and instruct students in the industrial arts department.

Also there were exhibits of the newest equipment available.

A lot of people who have nothing wrong with them forget to let their faces know about it.

Mac B's Whip Bethany B Squad

McPherson's B squad came through again last Monday by spanking Bethany's B's by a score of 26-0. Coach George Kiem reported that the game was a hard fought battle all the way with the Mac boys playing some good ball.

Touchdowns for the Bulldogs were scored by Petty, Button, Frazier, and Carpenter. Extra points were scored by Jim Snyder, and Casebeer.

Mac's defense was strong throughout the game with Bethany penetrating McPherson's forward wall to the McPherson 5 yard line twice, where McPherson dug in and held for four plays.

Quarterbacking the bulldogs' offense were Giel and Oltman. They were backed up in the Backfield by some hard driving by backs Casebeer, Petty, and Newton. All carried well.

On defense the outstanding work was done by Jim Snyder, Barker and Sink.

The boys played good ball throughout the game and the boys showed promise which might gain them a spot on the Varsity roster.

Law Tests Scheduled Four Times This Year

The Law School Admission Test, prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, features objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired information. It cannot be crammed for.

The Graduate Record Examinations, also required of applicants for admission to a number of graduate law schools, will be administered at examination centers throughout the country four times in the coming year, Educational Testing Service has announced.

This fall candidates may take the GRE on Saturday Nov. 20. In 1955, test dates are Jan. 27, April 30, and July 9.

Bulldogs Maul Baker; First Win Of Season

The rough and ready McPherson Bulldogs found themselves for the first time Friday night and came out in their true form as they clipped the Baker team by a score of 38-20.

McPherson showed much improvement even over last week's game with Bethel at Newton.

McPherson's offense was clicking and their defense was like a brick wall. The Bulldogs showed much improvement which was evident in the scoring:

The men from McPherson knocked the Wildcats back on their heels by moving the ball from their own 31 all the way to the Baker 9 and then moving on to score.

The try for point was good and Mac led 7-0.

Mac kicked off and Baker returned to the 28. After a series of plays they were forced to kick, and Mac took over. After another beautiful running, Mac came out with second and six on their own 26.

There was a fumble on the play and Baker recovered. They drove to the Mac 3 where the forward wall of the Bulldogs withstood the attack for three plays, but on the fourth, Baker scored. The extra point was good, and the score stood 7-7.

Bethel kicked off and Mac returned to the 33. The second play from scrimmage was a pass which was intercepted by a Baker back who drove all the way to score.

Again the extra point was good and the score stood 14-7.

Baker kicked off, and the Bulldogs came out fighting by returning the kick all the way to the Baker 11, with Wolf doing some beautiful running. On the first play from scrimmage, Mac fumbled.

Baker took over on their own 10-yard line, but on their first play from scrimmage they fumbled and again the Bulldogs had the ball deep in Baker territory.

On the third play from scrimmage, Jeffries drove across for Mac and the score stood 14-13 in favor of Baker.

The try for the extra point was good and the half ended with the score standing 14-14.

The mighty Bulldogs came out at the half and put on a real show for the fans at Bulldog field. Sams, breaking through his line had everyone on the field and the stands wondering where the ball was.

He raced all the way to pay dirt and McPherson led 20-14. After that Mac couldn't be held down, and they scored twice before Baker knew what hit them.

One of the longer plays of the evening occurred when a long pass was completed to Bill Smith. From there, Goering smashed across for the TD. The score stood 23-14 in favor of McPherson.

The McPherson second squad then entered the game and looked very good for the remainder of the evening.

Rolls drove 31 yards in the fourth quarter to make Mac's final tally of the evening, and the score stood 38-14 in favor of McPherson.

With 6:32 minutes remaining in the game, Bender drove across to score for the Wildcats and the score stood 38-20 as the game ended.

Mac Students Work In Oregon In Pea Canneries

Over fifty MacCollege students worked in the pea-processing season in canneries at Milton-Freewater and Pendleton, Ore., this summer. This was the fourth year that MacCollege students have worked in the Pacific Northwest.

Due mainly to a pre-season freeze and subsequent cool weather, the pea harvest was termed by many as being very poor in comparison with other years. As a result, work in the canneries was spasmodic and cut down considerably.

Many students went on trips during several mid-season lulls. Some went to the Pacific coast, some to Canada and Idaho, as well as to other minor excursions. They also indulged in such pastimes as swimming, badminton, camping out, chess and picnics. Some MacCollege men arrived as early as June 1 and did clean-up work on the plants.

At Milton-Freewater most of the men stacked boxes of canned peas in the warehouse on a piece-work basis. The girls, as at Pendleton worked on processing machines.

Several men were also employed on the vinery, in the harvest fields.

At Pendleton, most of the men worked in the cold room, where boxes of frozen peas were stored until they were "loaded out" into boxcars to be shipped to the East. The cold room is a frigid compartment which has a low temperature of 10 degrees below zero up to a balmy high of 7 degrees above.

Other men at Pendleton worked in the engine room, on machines and on the Amerio line. Several girls also worked in a pea-testing laboratory.

Main living accommodations were cabins provided by the companies at both canneries, with cooking and washing facilities. Ed Martin, now general manager and personnel hiring agent, comes to Macampus every year in April to solicit workers for summer work. The season ordinarily lasts six or more weeks, depending on the orders that the company receives and the size of the harvest.

The man who brags about sitting on top of the world might do well to remember that it turns over every twenty-four hours.

Nothing makes the younger generation seem so bad as having lost your membership in it.
