Trustees Decide Upon Several Major Issues

Keeping the flat rate tuition system, increasing faculty salaries, authorizing the purchase of a new college farm, and matching scholarships were major items decided upon by the Board of Trustees at their annual three-day meeting last week.

The trustees decided not to change the method of charging tuition until it seems necessary to change the amount of the tuition. This means that the flat rate tuition remains the same.

Starting next September, the trustees granted salary increases. The purchase of a new college farm to be used for conducting demonstrations and experiments in farming operations as part of its rural life program was authorized by the trustees.

Last summer the college sold its farm, just south of the college, to Safeway Stores, Inc., on which the company plans to build a large super market. The trustees examined several farms.

The trustees authorized the college to match a scholarship of any church who selected one of its members for a scholarship up to $50 a semester. The trustee student regardless of his major.

The trustees also authorized the college to match a scholarship of a county in any state who would wish to select one student a year for a scholarship. However, this student must be planning to teach school.

Further studies of how to speed up the receipt of money for the building of Sharp Hall were discussed at length. It was voted that every avenue should be investigated, including the possibilities of costs of professional help.

The rebuilding of Sharp Hall is part of the ten-year development program started in a special session of the trustees in 1952. This ten-year plan will terminate in 1962 when the college will celebrate its 75th anniversary.

Many of the pressing needs of MacCollege such as a larger chapel and stage could be met in a new Sharp Hall.

The old college courts were removed last year and replaced by three new motel structures containing twelve apartments for married couples. There is a utility building separate from the three dormitories and large enough to care for the addition of three more dormitories for married couples.

The college has the trustees authorization to construct the dormitories when there are sufficient funds to do so.

Goals for the future include the new Sharp Hall, a cafeteria-student-union building, enlarged physical education plant.

A budget of $331,000 was accepted for the operating expenses of the college next year. Replacements on the faculty and expansions of the faculty were authorized. Names will be announced as contracts are signed. Numerous suggestions by the students for the improvement of the life of the college were placed before the trustees. Some of the suggestions required drastic changes to be made in the charter of McPherson College. The trustees felt that now was not the time to make any serious changes in the charter.

The trustees decided to follow the parking suggestions made by the Student Council. Changing the parking situation on campus will have to be done little by little each year because of the large expense involved.

Continued improvements in the watering and care of the campus were authorized.

The new organization for the Board of Trustees is Chairman, Paul Sargent from McPherson, and Vice-Chairman, Richard Keim from Idaho.

Secretary, Paul Sherry, and Treasurer, Gordon Yoder were re-elected.

Royal Yoder from the Monitor Community was elected to the Board of Trustees at large.

The trustees felt the college was on a good financial basis according to President D. W. Bittinger. They also felt there was good college spirit.

Bittinger Flies To Texas

President D. W. Bittinger will speak at the Methodist Youth Banquet at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

President Bittinger will be in Fallurias, Texas, March 6 and 7. He is flying there to speak to the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Fancher, Walters Win Local Oratory Contest

Kenneth Fancher, McPherson College sophomore, was chosen as top place orator on Sunday evening, Feb. 26, with his oration on alcohol, "Our Steps."

Second place in alcohol went to Theodore Katsounis, a junior from Greece; and third place went to Phil Bradley, sophomore from Wichita. Mr. Katsounis' oration was "A Social Problem" and Mr. Bradley's was "A Personality Problem."

Other contestants were Cliff Tuning, "A Glamorized Tragedy"; Rickie H o o d, "A Colorless Scourge"; and James DeVine, "A Ladder of Extremes."

At 6:15 last Sunday evening, seven students contested in peace oratory. Top orator was Joan Walters, a first semester freshman from Colorado. Her topic was "Enlist for Peace."

Trio To Appear As Added Feature

Tonight at 8 o'clock the College-Civic Orchestra will present a concert in the college chapel. The orchestra has been growing steadily for the past five years under the leadership of Prof. Paul Soltenberger.

Following the concert a committee headed by Donna Davidson will provide a reception for both the audience and the orchestra members in the SUR.

An added feature of tonight's program is the appearance of the College Ladies Trio. Numbers to be included on tonight's program are as follows: Rasmunde Overture by Schubert; Minuetto from Schubert's Symphony No. 5; Pavane from American Symphony No. 2; and Morton Gould; and the Lullaby from Gayne Ballet by Khachatryan.

Trumpeter's Lullaby by Anderson; Selections from Bizet's CARMEN; and Two Sketches for Orchestra by Grundman, will also be given by the orchestra.

Six years ago, McPherson College had no orchestra. The present orchestra of thirty-nine members had its beginning five years ago when a string ensemble of five players was organized by Professor Soltenberger.

Under his leadership, each year has seen an increase in interest, in size, and in musicianship of the orchestra. New cellos, basses, and violas were purchased and new players were recruited for expanding the organization.

Selected string players have performed as a string ensemble on the last three Commencement programs. The orchestra has functioned twice as an opera orchestra in the productions of THE BARTHELEME TRIE and in THE MIKADO, and has appeared twice at Regional Conference, assisting in the vesper musicale.

The present membership includes 16 players from the city of McPherson, including two college faculty members and one college faculty wife, as well as students from Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa, Texas, North Dakota, and Nebraska.

Of the total membership, 10 players are majors in Music Education, with a good cross section of majors from many other departments of the college.

The orchestra steering committee includes Mrs. Lillian Clemens, a member from McPherson city, and Joan Ford and Irvin Wagner, student members.

Players Borrow Fire Equipment

"Ring Around Elizabeth" will be presented next Friday at 8 in the City Auditorium. The set was put in place the first of this week by Billy Jo Hildreth, Dale DeLauter, and Dale Shenefelt.

A complete new set has been designed and painted by Ken Fancher and Billy Jo Hildreth.

Neva Shenefelt is rehearsal prompter, and JoAnn Silver will work on makeup.

The first full dress rehearsal will be Monday evening.

The local fire station has provided a boiler and some fire-fighting equipment which will be used in the play.

Did Elizabeth lose her memory or did she pretend to teach her family some much needed lessons? Elizabeth's 18-year-old daughter, played by Norma Goering, stops and asks, "Andy Blayne states, 'You never looked at your mother as if she were a woman. All you know of her is what she has done for you.' Andy is played by Dean Reynolds."

When Elizabeth who is played by Pat Heifer, has amnesia and becomes the wife of her daughter, her family gets a new perspective on family living.

Lois De Lauter plays the part of Elizabeth's 16-year-old daughter. She states, "I guess we don't seem like much unless you have known us since childhood. You get in the habit of thinking people out to love you, no matter how you act, just because they always have."

650 Attend Booster Banquet

Approximately 650 people gathered in the Community Building for dinner and at least 100 more attended the program of music by the A Cappella Choir at the annual McPherson College Booster Banquet last Saturday night.

The choir, dressed in robes for the first group of songs, and in suits and formal for the rest of the numbers, presented a variety program for the listeners.

Walters Win Oratory Contest

Betty Holderread, a senior from Ripley, Okla., received second place with her peace oration, "World Upside Down." Third place went to Norris Harms, a sophomore from Haxton, Colo., with his oration, "The Preservation of Man-kind."

Other contestants were Don Jones, "Promoting Peace"; Roy Stern, "Witness for Peace"; Kelly Day, "Promulgating Peace"; and Richard Frazier, "The Evils of War."

First prize in peace orations was $7.50, second prize was $5.00, and third prize was $2.50. Highest man and woman contestant will go to the state contest at Lindsborg on Saturday, March 4.

Top ranking person in alcohol oratory, Kenneth Fancher, will go to the state contest at Wichita on Wednesday, March 7. This is the ninth year for the alcohol oratory contests which are sponsored by the WCTU.

During these years, MacCollege has participated every year and had three state winners. Two of these are still on McPherson College campus. Norman Long, a senior and president of the Student Council, was a state contestant winner during his freshman year.

Last year, Irene Shull, a MacCollege junior from Colo., Iowa, was a senior and participated in the National Alcohol Oratory Contest at Long Beach, Calif. Her transportation was provided by the WCTU.

Colleges entering the state alcohol contest this year are Fort Hays, Bethel, Central, Hesston, Taber, Southwestern, Sterling, and McPherson with the possibility of more.

Alcohol orations are 1,200 - 1,800 words in length. If a school has at least five contestants, $25 is given by the WCTU to be distributed among the contestants. With three or four contestants, $15 is given. State prizes are $35, $25, and $15. Two national prizes are $150 and $100. National contest this year will be held at Atlanta, Georgia, on Sept. 24, 1956.

Women's Christian Temperance Union sends materials to local libraries for the use of contestants in securing the necessary facts and figures.

Spots Before Your Eyes?

An unusual number of blood donors seemed to have near fainting spells on Wednesday last week. Perhaps this was due to the donors not eating any breakfast.

Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, however, suggests another explanation for this, although he says it is less likely. It is that the unusual number of sunspots on the sun at the present time may have had some effect on the donors.

Dr. DeCoursey and several students were seen examining the sun through smoked glass in order to see these sunspots on its surface. Through a smoked glass they appear as tiny black dots on the sun.

They usually occur in pairs or in groups in two bands across the sun's surface. They move from left to right across the face of the sun because that is the way the sun rotates on its axis. The period of a complete rotation of the sun is about 25 days.

Sun spots are storms in the sun's incandescent gaseous atmosphere similar to our own cyclonic storms; however, they are on a very much larger scale and are probably caused by entirely different processes.

The gases of the sunspots are cooler or at a lower temperature than the rest of the sun's surface; therefore, they appear black against the white hot background even though they are still red hot.

Sunspots are sometimes referred to as magnetic storms and are of tremendous power. During the time the sunspots remain on the sun, which may be a month or more, particularly the kind and increased amounts of radiation will come from the sun and affect our earth.

A common result is more radio static and poor radio reception. The aurora borealis or northern lights may be more brilliant during this time.

Studies have been made to try to determine the relationship between sunspot activity and our weather. Tree rings have been studied and correlated with sunspot activity.

Sunspots usually occur in cycles which average about eleven years. However, the last time large numbers of sunspots were observed was in 1949, so the sunspots occurring now seem to be out of cycle.

Although much has been discovered about sunspots, their cause and the reason for their appearance on only certain parts of the sun's surface have yet to be determined.

First Spectator Faced Many Financial Difficulties

By Roger Fick

H. Roy Phillippi, a 1918 graduate of McPherson College and a pastor in the Dublin, Ohio, Congregational Church, was one of the founders of the Spectator and stated two lessons which he learned in organizing the Spec.

He wrote, first, "Never take anything for granted until you have checked and double checked and anticipated every reason why it may fail."

Secondly, "Be so altruistic and have a cause that is so humanitarian that if it faces failure you can call on others and they will respond with similar loyalty."

Today's paper is volume 40, number 21. Volume 1, number 1 copy of the Spec was edited September 1917.

When the project of a weekly college paper was launched, there were many problems to face the new staff. Many details had to be worked out before the paper could be considered.

Some of these problems or challenges were: where to get the money, how to fix advertising rates, what to make subscription rates, and other similar problems.

The first semester the Spec did satisfactorily in finances, however by the end of the first semester the yearly subscription funds had been exhausted and the advertising fee income was not sufficient to keep the paper from going into the red.

At this time the president of the student council was approached in regard to adopting the Spec as one of the council's projects. This plan did not gain any resources for the Spec.

Workshop Group To Study Religious Life Activities

On Monday morning, March 4, at 7:30 in the room south of chapel in Sharp Hall, the Religious Life Workshop group will meet.

Recommendations concerning the study of the McPherson College Christian activities will be discussed.

Members of this smaller group consist of the student body elected SCA officers who are Don Colberg, Ed Butler, Marilyn Metsker, and Rita Evans. SCA officers are elected each spring by the entire student body.

Other representatives in this smaller group are Dale Shenfelt, student Ministers; Lyle Neher, Peace Group; and Gene Myers, CBYE. Two faculty members appointed by Dr. D. W. Bittinger are Dick Warham, religious life leader on campus, and Raymond L. Flory, professor of history.

"Vets". Ready For Different Capacity

Ten years ago last Tuesday, it was announced in the Spectator, that the "College Vets" were ready for use.

Following World War II, there was a great increase in the enrollment in the colleges and universities across the nation. McPherson College, like so many other schools, was faced with a housing problem for veterans and their families.

In the summer of 1946, construction began on five buildings, each being 100 ft. x 20 ft. with two and one bedroom apartments.

The materials for the buildings were purchased from the Surplus Division of the United States Army.

Each apartment included a kitchen, bath, living room, and one or two bedrooms.

At the time the college purchased these buildings, they also purchased surplus furniture with which to partially furnish each apartment. The apartments had a stove, a refrigerator, beds, a chest of drawers, an occasional rocker, a sofa bed, a gas heater, and several chairs.

After a number of years of use this furniture was discarded, and each couple furnished their own home.

With the rise of population on the Macampus and the lack of dormitory space for male students, the college was faced with another housing problem.

In the summer of 1951 seven apartments were converted to accommodate male residents and these apartments were used this way until the completion of Dolzour Hall in 1953, when Arnold Hall became a men's dormitory.

Upon the finishing of the new College Courts, the old courts were sold to a local businessman who has had them transferred to the west side of the city of McPherson. The new owner has converted the barracks-type buildings into chicken house on a large chicken broiler farm. Out of the five units, two large buildings have been constructed and will soon be in use.

Bake Sale Starts Tomorrow In City

Tomorrow morning the Peace Group will hold a bake sale at McDonald's store down town, to raise money for the project that they are sharing with CBYE this year.

The breads, pastries, and goods to be sold will be made this afternoon in the basement of the college church. Anyone interested is invited to help.

Noyes Gives Interpretation Of Pulitzer Prize Winner

"Teahouse of the August Moon," the Pulitzer prize winning play by John Patrick, was the choice of Mrs. Frances Noyes for a dramatic interpretative reading Monday afternoon at 4 in the SUR.

Mrs. Noyes was a member of the McPherson College faculty in 1949. Presently she teaches English and journalism at McPherson High School.

The setting of the humorous play is in Okinawa during the occupation by the American soldiers just following the war. It won the Pulitzer prize in 1954.

Eighty-two Gave

Eighty-two pints of blood was given to the American Red Cross by volunteer blood donors, Wednesday, Feb. 22. The Red Cross Bloodmobile comes to Macollege campus annually.

A total of 103 had volunteered, but because of rejections for several reasons not all of them could give.

After the giving of their blood, a free meal was served to the donors under the co-chairmanship of Marlene Jamison and Irene Shull. Students who had not volunteered to give blood served the meal which consisted of chicken noodles as the main dish.

French bread and relish were served with cake as the dessert. The donors had a choice of coke, coffee or milk as the beverage.

Throughout the day, Mary Alice Smith and Betty Arnett served orange juice and candy to the donors.

The Red Cross furnished the clerical workers this year.

Several students took part in soliciting donors. Elsie Lucore and Kay Chaney, co-chairman of the event, Collette Kline and Dotzour Hall. Gene Snyder solicited donors from Arnold Hall and Elwyn Taylor from Fahnestock Hall.

Jan Van Asselt received donors from College Courts and Irvin Wagner solicited from College Hill.

Debaters Hit New Low

McPherson College was represented in the Lincoln Nebr., debate tournament on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 24, 25 by two teams. These were Don Faules and Tom Ullom; and Glenna Hawbaker and Joan Walters.

Because of the many schools and the stiff competition, each school was allowed only two teams. Ullom and Faules won two of five debates. These were over Colorado University and Iowa Teachers. Irene Shull represented McPherson College in oratory. She was also the judge from McPherson for the debates.

McAuleys Plan Trip To Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Max McAuley are to be the directors of an international workshop in Europe this summer. The location of the workshop has not been determined yet, but it will be in either Austria or Germany.

Max McAuley was a member of the Macollege faculty from 1933 to 1955, serving in the position of alumni secretary. Now both Max and his wife, Marilee, are teaching in the McPherson city school system.

The McAuleys will sail from Montreal on June 8. After completing their work, they will leave Europe to return to the United States on August 19.

While in Europe they plan to visit Ron Clemenson and Dean and Esther Cotton, who recently graduated from Macollege.

Pondering With The President Macollege Needs New Sharp Hall

In his report to the trustees, the president of the College summarized a number of pressing needs. Among these were:

1. A larger chapel.
2. An auditorium and stage adequate to present plays, concerts, and operas.
3. Soundproof practice rooms for choirs, ensembles, band, orchestra.
4. Storage and library space for vocal groups.
5. A Little Theatre or dramatics room.
6. Better facilities for a curriculum of business and commerce.
7. More space for the education curriculum and staff.
8. Increased office space for faculty and administrative personnel.
9. More space for our museum.
10. Additional dining room space.
11. An expanded rural life and farm area, and a demonstration farm.
12. A student building, or student center.
13. A sprinkler, or watering system, for the lawns.

Staff

1. An additional teacher in the field of education.
2. An additional teacher in the field of English.
3. Replacements for teaching staff.
4. Eventual teaching additions in:

- Religious Life
- Science
- Mathematics
- Music
- Economics and Business
- 5. Possible additional grounds personnel.

In discussing these needs it was realized that most of those listed under plant could be met by the construction of an adequate Sharp Hall. Either the space would be provided in the new Sharp Hall, or space provided there would make possible opening up certain other areas in buildings now constructed.

This throws extreme importance upon the building of the new Sharp Hall.

In the days of old, attempts were made to get individuals over the entire area, to subscribe the cost of a brick or a stone when a new building was needed.

Some students have suggested that we need the building so badly that we might speed its construction.

tion by allowing students to help. Students might wish to subscribe for the construction of one window, or one building block, or one blackboard.

The trustees authorized investigating in every possible way including the use of professional help to get the additional monies necessary to get Sharp Hall underway soon.

It would certainly be excellent if students who are now in college could have the privilege of meeting in, and enjoying, new Sharp Hall.

Council Adopts Semester Budget

Student Council has adopted the budget for second semester. The money for financing the budget was procured through the activity fees charged in the tuition.

Incoming money second semester exceeds the money being spent by the council. This was the case in the first semester of the 1955-1956 year. The expenses for the second semester are as follows:

Flies To Germany
Lorene Gayer, who graduated from McPherson College 1 a s t spring, left McPherson Wednesday night to join her husband who is stationed with the armed services in Germany. She flew from Hutchinson to Germany by way of Kansas City and New York. The Gayers will be located 100 miles from Dean and Esther Cotton, also MacCollege graduates.

Miniature airplanes with the words, "We are up in the air over our engagement," was the motif used to announce the engagement of Bonnie Smith to 1st Lt. Jon Powell Wednesday morning, Feb. 29. Excited tones of glee were heard echoing through the halls on third floor as the girls discovered the announcements on their doors.

Girls Lose First In Two Seasons

Monday night saw an upset victory, pulled in favor of Sterling College's women's varsity over Mac's previously unbeaten cagers by a close 37-34 score. This was the first defeat in two years of hoop activity for the McPhersonites.

While succumbing to a larger and red hot offensive battery the Mac women displayed a timely passing effort as the offensive unit coordinated together and came close to overhauling the high scoring Sterling crew.

Arlene Merkey and Ev Mollhaugen both collected 8 counters apiece while Marlene Landhuis topped scoring with 18 points.

The defensive crew had a particularly rough evening as Sterling's post woman, Groth, scored 18 points.

Bittering To Fill Pulpit

For Sunday evening, the film, "The Miracle of Love," will be shown.

Did You "Break The Fast?"

If any student on the McPherson College campus has ever wondered why he felt tired and run-down by the middle of the day and went without his breakfast, he should stop wondering.

College students, those who should be setting the example for others now, and in the future, are lax on one of the most important functions for good health—that of eating breakfast. Breakfast means just what it says, "to break the fast."

Americans are a group of the most prosperous people in the world. But they have a reputation for spending more money for food and getting less nutritional value than any other comparable group of people in the world.

Of the total requirements for one dietetically breakfast should provide one-fourth of them. Most people begin their day without breakfast and many of those who do, just grab a bite and run.

Poor diets are a cause of chronic fatigue, shifting aches and pains, digestive disturbances, and ill temper; all of which cut down on efficiency and lower the resistance to infection. The sense of well-being and the joy of being actively alive are destroyed.

When a bloodmobile comes to this campus and must turn down twenty-one of the only one hundred and three who did volunteer to give, something is drastically wrong. Then, when those in charge say that even those who did give were almost too run down physically to give, the situation becomes more drastic.

A great many of those who were turned away were lacking in iron in the blood. Iron is necessary in the hemoglobin of the blood to carry oxygen. Oxygen is vital to life. Should not college students, or anyone, be concerned that they do their part in having good healthy bodies?

People who eat plenty are not necessarily nutritionally well-fed. During selective service calling for soldiers during World War II, a high percentage of the first million called were rejected as unfit, mostly because of continued poor nutrition.

Although it is not expected that every person should know the last calorie or "to the last gram" of protein just how much of what he needs each day, there are certain basic requirements which should be followed.

Among these requirements are at least one pint of milk, or the equivalent in milk products, each day. One serving of meat, fish, poultry, or cheese should be eaten each day. Vegetables, important for vitamins, should be eaten at least twice a day, one of them a green or yellow vegetable, best fresh.

Potatoes should be eaten once each day. Although an egg a day is not a must, one should be eaten three or four times a week. At least three tablespoons of butter or margarine are needed. If cereal is not eaten, then whole-grain or fortified bread should be eaten.

Important for Vitamin C is citrus fruits or juices or tomatoes. To top off the list, one other fresh or vitamin fruit should be eaten each day.

Doubtless, the preceding facts are elemental to many of the readers. Most people will not even glance at, or take notice, of anything that smells of breakfast or nutritional requirements.

Vital facts should not be shunned. Are the college students of today going to help the world by leading in basic necessities, or are they going to move in the same old pattern and let the health of a prosperous nation flow in its downward course?

Hutch Alumni Meet Held

Dr. Flory, Irvin Wagner, Dwight Oltman, Eula Mae Murray and Paul Wagoner will attend an alumni meeting in the Graber Grade School Auditorium in Hutchinson for alumni from the surrounding area.

Approximately 75-80 people are expected to attend the affair. A reception will be held previous to the dinner at 7:30. This will enable those who attend to visit and see old friends. This idea is being tried this year for the first time.

Two Coaches Resign At Macollege

Keim To Return To Meat Packing

McPherson College's assistant coach, George Keim announced his resignation during the annual trustee meeting last week.

George graduated from Macollege in 1954. He is one of the finest athletes ever to come from McPherson College. He played tackle in football.

In his freshman year, he made All-Conference honorable mention. In his sophomore, junior, and senior years he made the all-Conference first team. In his junior year he also made the Little All-American honorable mention, and in his senior year he made Little All-American.

For the past two years he has been Macollege's assistant coach; coaching the B basketball team, serving as line coach in football, and helping coach track. He has also directed the intra-mural program for these two years.

However, George was reared in the meat-packing business. This summer he is going back home to Nampa, Idaho, to start work as assistant superintendent of the H. H. Keim Co., packers of Best Ever meat products.

His wife, Joan, will graduate from McPherson College this spring with a degree in elementary education. The Keims have two girls, Becky, 4, and Kathryn, 2 months.

Sports News By George!

Snoqualmie Pass, Wash., the largest ski area in the west, is drawing crowds of 8,500 skiers every weekend.

Carol Heiss finally upset Tenley Albright in figure skating, after being second to her nine times. Carol scored an almost perfect 5.9 to win the world championship at Garmisch.

Willie Hoppe held one or more major billiards titles each year from 1906 until his retirement in 1952. Now he's back, at 69, to challenge the present champion, Otto Reissel.

Wareham To Join Bruderhauf Colony

Prof. J. Richard "Dick" Wareham is leaving Macollege to join the Bruderhauf communities which are communal living societies located at Rifton, New York. The name of the community to which Professor Wareham is going is called Woodcrest.

Professor Wareham and his family will leave here June first, going to South Bend, Ind., to visit relatives for two weeks and traveling on to Martinsburg, Pa., to visit relatives there for three weeks, before entering the community.

They will stay in Woodcrest 6 months to a year and then possibly will go to Puumera, Paraguay, where three communities are located.

According to Professor Wareham his purpose in living there from the standpoint of the communities are to visit the society of brothers, a group of christian people experimenting in international community living.

This group is international in nature and center their emphasis of life upon the will of God and live in a practical way the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount.

Complete dedication of members gives a new outlook on the Christian faith. Their achievements appear in many forms dealing with such things as family living, simple living, God-centered living, educational methods and procedures, human relations, study and practice and the realization of the love of Christ in one's fellow men.

Professor Wareham graduated from Ripon College in 1945 and received an A. B. degree and received his B. D. from Bethany Biblical Seminary in 1948.

He has served Macollege for 8 years. The first six as director of physical education and as assistant coach. For the last two years, he has been the director of the Religious Life.

While he was coach, he trained the football team, coached the baseball team and was coach of tennis and golf. He also coached the "B" team basketball.

Last summer he supervised and coached the Ban Johnson baseball in McPherson.

He spent two summers directing camps and has served as a local youth director.

He and his wife are Danforth associates on McPherson College Campus. These associates are to build better faculty and student relationships and enter students for scholarships in the field of religion.

Professor Warsham has served as National Regional representative on the recreation committee for the Church of the Brethren.

His wife, Cossette Will Wareham, graduated from Manchester College in 1951 and was active in music. She had the lead in an opera and sang in choirs. She now sings the soprano part in the church choir at the Church of the Brethren.

They have three children, Scottie, 4, Wanda Sue, 2 1/2, and Kirk, 10 months.

Santee Barred For Life

Wes Santee, America's fastest miller, has been barred from the track for life by the Amateur Athletic Union. He is accused of taking more expense money on his various trips than he needed.

The amount in question is about $1500, and it was taken on seven instances.

His attorney, in effect, admits the charges are true, and entertains no hope of beating them. The court suit which Wes and his lawyer are cooking up deals with side issues, such as whether the AAU had the right to bar Wes, and whether the U. S. doesn't need Wes too badly in the coming Olympics.

Here is a kid who had everything coming his way. He is the fastest man America has produced in track's glamour event. He was America's main hope in that event in the coming Melbourne Olympics, which will draw such runners as John Landy and who knows what all from behind the Iron Curtain.

Now, very suddenly, it's all over for life. He can be reinstated in other sports, but never again in track.

Only one committeeman stood up for Wes in the 14-1 vote to suspend him. This was Lou Wilkie, last year's AAU president. He said, "There were violations, all right. But he's only a young boy. I was thinking of him 20 years from now."
