Classes are dismissed today for McPherson County's May Day celebration of All School's Day. The eighth grade graduates of the county are guests of honor during the day.

The crowning of the May queens and the May Fete were held last night and again this morning in Lakeside Park, and the parade on Main Street began at 11.

The early part of this week a carnival came to McPherson, and it has been running for several days now. The carnival is in town each year before and during the All-Schools Day.

This year more than $1,700 in parade prizes is being awarded, and a large group of entries were received. The floats were of a very colorful nature to coincide with the May Day theme, "Life's Rainbow."

A float from the college was built at the Bart White Motor Company building and was mounted on a trailer which was borrowed from the San-Or Construction Company.

The theme of the float, "At the End of the Rainbow," was in keeping with the overall theme of the day.

The colors green and white along with the basic rainbow colors were used for the float.

As established by the rules of the "Growl", the student handbook, the sophomore class makes the May Day float.

A sophomore girl rode on the float.

About 40 major floats were expected to be in this year's parade; 21 of these floats were from the county schools and the others from civic organizations and other groups.

Furnishing music for the parade were 19 bands which had been scheduled to appear.

The bands were those of Inman, Little River, the Bethany Blue Dozen, Lindsborg, Moundridge, Canton, Lehigh, Hillsboro, Marion, Marquette, Roxbury, Chase, Haven, Gossel, and McPherson College and from the city schools.

Drum majorette Kay Chaney and twirlers, Shirley Bowen and Carol Albee, will head the McPherson College Marching Band as they march in the May Day parade.

The marching band has been practicing with conductor, Prof. Donald R. Frederick the past week to be in shape for the full dress appearance. The 42-piece unit will play "Steel King March," and "High School Cadets."

May Fete previews were held on Thursday night in the Lakeside Park Bandshell at 6 a.m.

23 numbers were presented to a large group of towns people. The numbers included modern dances, interpretive dances, a tap tango, tap dances, a toe dance, a toe waltz, a march, and folk dancing besides the winding of the May Pole.

The May Fete royalty Miss Deanna Goering, queen; Ronald Harden, Prince Charming; and Miss Kay Nordstrom as maid of honor were presented.

The eight county High School Queens were also crowned. This group rode with Miss Goering and her court on a special float in the parade.

Several former McPherson College students, who are now teaching in the county grade schools, assisted in the making of some of the floats.

The Saddle Club members also rode in the parade. This club will have a rodeo show at 2 p.m. on Friday at the 4-H Club grounds.

Following the parade a program will be given on Main Street and will feature a variety of acts.

The Marquette High School Band will present a 30-minute program. During this time Irvin Wagner, a Macollege student who recently appeared on the Ted Mack TV show, will present an act.

Several professional numbers will be featured by a group from Kansas City.

May Day festivities for Macollege students will be climaxed by the Junior-Senior Banquet at 6:30 at the Warren Hotel.

Quad Party Rescheduled

Wednesday evening, May 16, at 7 p.m., is the rescheduled time for the distribution of Quads in the SUR by the yearbook staff.

Ed Switzer will be in charge of arrangements. Money received from this project will be added to the fund for sending Elsie Lucore to Europe-next year as an exchange student.

Burkholder Organizes For Recreation Workshop

"It was a great experience," says Dr. John Burkholder of his week at the Northland Rec Lab at Camp Ihduhapi, Loreta, Minn.

Dr. Burkholder's trip to this rec lab was sponsored by the Western Region of the Church of the Brethren. It is planned that he will be a leader in a recreation workshop to be held at Macollege next Christmas vacation.

The Northland Rec Lab at Camp Ihduhapi is not sponsored by any special organization. It has grown out of the interest of a group of people in Minnesota in getting together to train themselves in recreation leadership, and has been a rather spontaneous movement.

It has been going on more than 20 years and has fathered several other such recreation labs in other parts of the country.

The purpose of the Northland Rec Lab is to train leaders who can lead recreation in such places as churches, camps, and colleges. Those who attend it are people interested in recreation and craft leadership, such as ministers, religious life secretaries of churches, college students, 4-H workers, and extension workers.

The central discussion theme at the rec lab this year was "How Recreation and Crafts Can Produce 'Togetherness' or a 'Sense of Community' in a group of people." Several discussions on this topic were held during the week.

In addition, smaller interest group meetings were held on topics such as song leading, folk game leading, use of creative drama in recreation programs, and nature study.

Each camper had opportunity to work on and learn many crafts. Examples of the types of craft work offered are general leather work, leather carving, wax carving, copper enameling, silver work, stone polishing, wood decoration, puppet making, making simulated glass windows, making medallions, and crepe paper work.

There were several singing sessions every day which Dr. Burkholder described as "Wonderful." He said that he had never been in a camp which had better singing.

Each evening there was a party including party games and folk games and ending with a campfire worship service.

One of the main projects of the camp was the making of a notebook from the camp experiences and from the material presented by the camp resource leaders.

A copy of this notebook, containing 121 mimeographed pages, was given to each camper. These notebooks will be a valuable aid to the campers in the future as they lead recreation.

Dr. Burkholder said that this camp was different from other rec labs he had attended in that it offered such a large variety of different interests.

He also stated that a wide variety of church denominations was represented, and that the entire camp program had a solid Christian background and upheld the finest Christian ideals.

Macollege has been represented at the Camp Ihduhapi rec lab in previous years. Prof. S. M. Dell attended one year, and some years Rec Council members have attended.

Honor Thy Mother

By Donna Rhoades

Everyone knows that the second Sunday in May has been set aside as the day in which we honor our mothers, but have you ever wondered just how the observance of the day came into being?

Mothering Sunday, an old English custom, antedated the present observance of Mother's Day by many years. It was named from the custom of the faithful attending the mother church in which they had been baptized, on Mid-Lent Sunday, and offering gifts at the altar to the church, and also to their Mothers as tokens of their love and gratitude.

Mother's Day was first observed in the churches of Philadelphia on May 10, 1868, in response to a suggestion by Miss Anna Jarvis of that city. At this time everyone was asked to wear a white carnation.

Later on the custom of wearing a red carnation if the mother was still alive and a white one if she was no longer living developed.

In 1914 President Woodrow Wilson, following a resolution by Congress the preceding year commending Mother's Day observance, issued a proclamation designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day and directed that the national flag should be displayed on all public buildings on that day.

Observance of Mother's Day has spread to many countries. Among these are England, Sweden, China, Denmark, India, and Mexico.

Students Appear On TV

Members of the speech department of McPherson College appeared on the Helen Gard television program at Hutchinson on Thursday, May 3, at 3 p.m. with their instructor, Prof. Guy Hayes.

Ruth Kauffman gave excerpts of her oration on juvenile delinquency. Carl Hayes gave his review on "How to Be a Good Listener."

Don Ullom and Don Faules, senior debaters, and Prof. Hayes gave an interview style presentation on the origin and history of competitive debate at McPherson College. This was begun in the year 1920-1921 by Dr. Maurice A. Hess. McPherson College's debate record was then traced through the years to the present debate season successes.

Desegregation Affects Hiring Of Negro Teachers

The Supreme Court decision of May, 1954, ordering the desegregation in the schools has had an effect on the employment of Negro teachers in Kansas, reports the Governmental Research Center at the University of Kansas in the January issue of its bulletin, "Your Government."

In the past, Negro teachers in Kansas have been hired normally only for Negro schools. Since the Supreme Court decision, the desegregation of students in schools of first-class cities has resulted in the decline in the number of predominantly Negro schools and classrooms.

Four of the eleven cities which have taken steps to desegregate students, Atchison, Lawrence, Salina, and Wichita, have employed Negro teachers for schools other than those with a predominantly Negro enrollment.

Fort Scott and Parsons have made no decision on whether to integrate Negro teachers along with students, the Governmental Research Center reports. In both cities, the number of Negro teachers employed has declined as desegregation of students has progressed.

In Pittsburg, which closed one Negro school in 1950, there are now no Negro teachers and no plans for employing them in the school system.

Coffeyville and Leavenworth, at least for the present, plan to continue employing Negro teachers only in schools with a predominantly Negro enrollment. This policy may result in reduced employment for Negro teachers, points out the Research Center bulletin, as student integration reduces the enrollment in Negro schools in these cities.

School officials in Leavenworth state that they believe it will be impossible to assign Negro teachers to non-segregated schools soon, reports the bulletin. Leavenworth now maintains two Negro schools staffed by 14 Negro teachers, but some Negro students are beginning to attend other schools under plan of gradual integration.

Neither Kansas City nor Topeka has announced definite policies. The Kansas City Board of Education has stated that in implementing the decision of the Supreme Court it plans "to avoid any disruption of the professional life of career teachers."

However, school officials state that no plans have been made regarding assignment of Negro teachers to classrooms with a racially mixed or predominantly white enrollment.

They also state that the problem of integration of Negro teachers has not arisen.

The Topeka Board of Education, anticipating a Supreme Court decision on segregation in the spring of 1953, failed to re-employ six Negro teachers in the belief that the community would not want Negro teachers for white children.

The six teachers were re-installed when the court postponed its decision. Recently the Board of Education took steps toward the adoption of the policy that neither race nor religion be considered

Pondering With The President Each One Help One

Dr. Frank Laubach, world known teacher of languages, tells of how he spent his early years as a missionary in one of the islands of the Pacific seeking to learn the language so that he could speak the message of the Bible to the people of the island.

For many years he labored without much success. One evening as he sat on a hillside reviewing his failure and feeling very dejected, it came to him that the Bible, if it could be read and understood by the people, would speak its own message more effectively than he or anyone else, could speak it.

Accordingly, he set for himself the great task of making the Bible known to the peoples of every land in their own tongues. He seemed to have a genius for this, and within an incredibly short time he was able to find a means of translating the basic part of the Bible into any native language.

He was invited to all parts of the world and covered almost every area on the face of the earth. After he had set into basic motion the local language he had with the people, indicating that "each one should teach one."

Perhaps this second part of his message was as important as the first, for anyone who could read even one verse taught that verse to someone else, and he taught it to someone else, and thus it spread across the land.

Much good has followed in the wake of Dr. Laubach's great effort.

I have been thinking of this in connection with the Christians college. Only one-sixth of those who go to college go to Christian colleges.

Yet statistics indicate that out of this one-sixth comes more than half of the essential leadership of our world. If the Christian college were not to continue, the leadership which may be able to save us from destruction and despair will be lacking.

Sometimes we who go to Christian colleges hesitate to speak of them with enthusiasm, or to invite our friends to come, because we think they are small and do not have all the facilities that larger universities have.

I think we should not feel this way, because out of the small Christian college, which lays a basic foundation of Christian character and helps to generate an appreciation for other people, comes the foundation upon which later specializations can be built.

As you go to your communities, or to your work this summer why not "each one bring one" along back?

This would be rendering a great service to the tomorrows which are to come, because you, or the one you bring with you, might be the leader which some church, or some community, or even the whole world, is needing.

Fresh-Soph. Picnic To Be Held At Kanopolis

The freshman - sophomore class picnic will be next Saturday, May 19, at Kanopolis, Kan.

Two committees are making plans for the picnic. The food committee consists of chairman Ruth Kauffman, Dwayne Jeffries, June Forsyth, and Gary Carlson.

Chairman of the recreation committee is Betty Holloway. Others on the recreation committee are Pat Schechter, Norris Harms, Ed Emmert, Shirley Bowen, Linda Royer, Jay Strom, and Don Jones.

Plans are being made so that there will be enough cars for everyone to have a ride to Kanopolis. The committees urge students who do not have rides to sign one of the charts on the bulletin boards.

Clara Zunkel Writes Letter From Girls' Refugee Camp

Editor's Note: Clara Zunkel, former Macollege student from Denver, Colo., has written the following letter to the editor concerning her work as a BVSer in Europe.

While attending McPherson for two years, Clara was a cheerleader and was a member of CBYF, Chapel Choir, and SCA. Clara plans to return to McPherson after finishing her term in BVSe.

She is now working at the Westermink girls' refugee camp, where she replaced Lorene Clark, who is also a former Mac student and a former Spectator editor.

When I arrived in Westermink girls' refugee camp for the first time, we in the car almost did not see the camp, because it was dusk, and the camp is a huddle of barracks back from the highway.

We were greeted with "Guten Tag," smiles, and happy squeals of delight by Fraulein Parker and Lorene Clark respectively. Lorene is a former Mac student also serving in Europe, and I was to follow her steps on the project. My first full day in Westermink was spent getting introduced to people, places, and activities around the camp as Lorene went around to make her goodbyes.

Out of the total number of refugees fleeing legally from the East Zone each week, about one-fourth are single, unaccompanied young people under 25 years of age.

All refugees are first processed in Berlin and are then sent to camps in West Germany to await placement by the West German government. They spend from two to five weeks in Berlin and the same amount of time in a West German camp. Westermink is a camp for girls, and there are usually about 200 girls here. They come to the West Zone to join families already here, to join fiancés, to escape from Communism, to get better jobs or education, or just for adventure. The latter are very few.

My work is centered in Haus fur Alle, a sort of recreation center where the girls can come to play games, read, do handwork, watch TV, or attend any of the various evening programs of music, drama, films, singing, etc.

With my small knowledge of the German language, I spend much of my time in the "Bastelstube" or handwork room, because not so much conversation is required when people are making things; but as my German gets better, I shall spend more time in conversation asking about their life in the past and telling them a bit about my life in the USA.

Some of my other duties include visiting two or three times a week in the "Krankenstation," or hospital; assisting once or twice a week in the "Spendenkammer," where material aid clothes are given to the girls needing them; taking my turn two or three mornings a week to be in charge of the girls who clean Haus fur Alle; and taking my turn operating TV on the evenings when we have it for the girls.

Sometimes I am very busy, and other times there is hardly anything to do. Since the schedule is not rigid, each day is a little different.

Pulford, Wolf Win Second In Playoff

McPherson College doubles team Thursday, May 3, duplicated the singles precedent set the day before in the Western Division tennis tournament of the KCAC playoffs.

The Bulldogs Number One team of Huston Pulford and Ed Wolf overcame all opposition except the one that counted, to take second in the doubles playoffs.

Herb Benson and Gib Dyck of Bethany showed sharp play as they defeated Pulford and Wolf 6-8, 6-1, and 6-4. Benson defeated Pulford the day before to capture the singles crown for the Western Division.

Dyck lost to Pulford in the semi-finals of the singles meet. In the first round of play, Bethany defeated the McPherson team of Royer and Eisele, and Pulford-Wolf defeated the Wesleyan team of Walker-Mills.

In the semi-finals, the Bethany team won over the Kansas Wesleyan team of Shuberg and Lindsey, and McPherson defeated Penner and Harms of Bethel.

Benson-Dyck, Bethany, defeated Royer-Eisele, McPherson, 6-1, 6-1. Shuberg-Lindsley, Wesleyan, defeated Brandt-Stucky, Bethel, 6-0, 6-3.

Penner-Harms, Bethel, defeated Swanson-Newcomer, Bethany, 6-1, 6-4.

Sports News By George!

Last Saturday, May 5, was one of the biggest days in recent sports history. Records fell like rain, as athletes all over the United States extended themselves.

Mickey Mantle hit two homers as the Yankees turned back the Athletics 5-2 at New York. This gave Mickey nine homers for the season, and put him two weeks ahead of Babe Ruth's schedule when Babe set his all-time record of 60 homers in one season.

Dave Sime broke a world track record as he zipped over the 220-yard low hurdles in 22.2. This eclipses the former mark of 22.3, set by Harrison Dillard in a meet at Salt Lake City in 1947.

Dave led the Duke Blue Devils to a 71½ - 59 victory in a dual meet with North Carolina. He scored 19 points all by himself; winning the 100-yard dash in 9.4, the 200 in 20.3, and placing second in the broad jump and third in the discus.

For the first time in the United States, someone ran the mile in less than four minutes. It was considerably less than four minutes and two runners broke through the barrier in one race. John Landy pushed his fellow countryman, Jim Bailley, to a 3:58.6 victory, himself coming in second in 3:58.7.

Parry O'Brien set an unofficial outdoor record in the shot put, heaving the 16-lb. iron ball 61 feet, one inch in a meet at Salt Lake City.

Needles romped home before any other horse to run off with the 1956 Kentucky Derby honors, and $123,450. He is the first Derby winner ever with a name that begins with "N", and the first Florida colt to take top honors in the Kentucky classic.

And, as if all this were not enough for one day, a baseball player stole four bases in one "at bat." Olympic College (Wash.) first baseman Don Jacobs reached first on an error by the Skagit Valley Junior College team. He stole

Students Watch Relays Of High School Athletes

Several McPherson College students went to Little River High School Monday afternoon to watch the annual Little River Relays. It was a very cold afternoon, with a wind that penetrated the athletes' parkas and threatened to hold down the performances.

However, 19 schools participated, and the competition proved strong enough to break nine records.

Alan Brown of Windom, who broke two records and won three events on the Macollege field April 25, lost a very close 100 yard dash to R. Robinson of Wilson High. Brown is a slow starter and Robinson gets off fast; however, Alan missed catching Robinson at the tape by less than a foot.

Robinson set a new record in the 100, running it in 10.4. Brown came back to win the 220 yard dash, but Robinson pushed him, and he had to break the record in that event to win. The new mark is 22.4.

second, but a team-mate on the bench thought the batter had fouled off the pitch and yelled "No, No!"

Jacobs calmly strolled back to first while the Skagit pitcher held the ball and stared. Then Don stole second, third, and home on successive pitches — and was credited with four steals in the official record book.
