Ten Juniors Play For Mac

Ten members of the MacCollege Football squad this year are juniors. Here is what Coach Sid Smith has to say about them.

DONALD COTTON — Don is a McPherson High product. A good, hard-working boy who will see service at both center and guard. He is a returning letterman. Don weighed in at 185 and stands six foot.

GENE ELLIOTT — A junior from McPherson. Gene never played any football in high school and has been out two years in college. He shows promise of developing into a good running back. Gene has a fine spirit, works hard and will give the other squad members some competition before the year is over.

WAYNE GROSSNICKLE — Wayne is a 6'2" lad who hails from Laurens, Iowa. He is expected to hold down a tackle spot during the season. He has had two years of experience and is a letterman. Wayne weighs 190.

RICK HOOD — A junior from Cabool, Missouri, he is starting his third year as a squad member. Rick developed quite rapidly the latter part of last season and is one of the better blockers on the Bulldog squad. Rick is a letterman who will see a lot of service at the guard spot.

JERRY MCPHERSON — A junior from McClouth, Kansas, Jerry played his first year at end. Last year he was shifted to tackle where he played so well that he was given the post for keeps. Jerry is a good all around athlete. He weighs 190 pounds and is 6'3" tall. We expect him to take pretty good care of the right side of the forward wall this year.

TOM RAGLAND — Tom is one of the fastest men on the Bulldog squad. He is a fleet right-half and likes to carry the mail. Tom will also see some action as a defensive end. He is 5'8" tall, weighs 160 pounds and comes from Lawrence, Kansas. Tom has been plagued with injuries, but this year good fortune has been with him and he seems to be going strong.

LARRY SAMS — A junior from Simpson High School is playing quarter-back. Larry is a good ball handler and a better than average passer. He weighs 140 pounds and is 5'6" tall. What he lacks in size he makes up for in drive.

KENNETH STUCKY — Kenny is from Moundridge, and he will have the job of directing the Bulldogs on the field. As quarter-back, he will be passing, kicking and running, each of which he does well. He is a good defensive boy as well as offensive.

DON WIDRIG — He is a shifty half-back from Beloit, Kansas, who will be out for the left half post. Don was hampered all last year with a knee injury which

Bulldogs Show Strength; Lose Game To Doane, 19-18

In a non-conference game with Doane College, Nebr., the host team outlasted McPherson's Bulldogs 19-18 on Friday, Sept. 20.

A 10-yard pass for a touchdown in the last three minutes of the game allowed Doane to score the victory.

The game was one that was played on a fairly even basis throughout, although the Bulldogs held a slight advantage in most of the categories with the exception of scoring.

McPherson's TD's were scored by Ragland, Jeffries, and Stucky. Josnoch, Lehl, and Swanson scored TD's while Kochler made good the conversion for Doane.

Due to an injury obtained in practice earlier in the week, Ed Delk saw only limited action in the game.

Scoring in the first, third, and fourth quarters, the Bulldogs were unable to make any of their conversion attempts good.

An extra-point made by the home team after their second TD accounted for the winning margin.

McPherson's TD's were scored by Ragland, Jeffries, and Stucky. Josnoch, Lehl, and Swanson scored TD's while Kochler made good the conversion for Doane.

Due to an injury obtained in practice earlier in the week, Ed Delk saw only limited action in the game.

Pondering With The President . . .

What About My Roommate?

By D. W. Bittinger
After three weeks of school it is good to stop and ask ourselves some questions.

If we are started right, we will like college; we will probably like most of our professors; we will like our courses; we will like each other; we will like even our roommates.

What about your roommate? Does he go to bed too late? Is he noisy? Does he take his share of caring for the room? Does he get up too early? Does he snore? Do you wish you could toss him out the window, and change him for another?

If you don't like your roommate, if he has all of these things the matter with him, part of the fault may be yours. Does he like you? Liking is a sort of mutual thing.

Now what about your courses? Are they fun? Are they too hard? Are they opening up new avenues of thought for you? Are you reading only what you must, or even less than what you must, instead of reading extra?

What about your money? Are you spending more than you thought you would, more perhaps than you should?

What about your time? Does time hang heavy on your hands? Or, are you so busy that you do not have time to do the things you would like to do?

Making these adjustments to your roommate, to your studies, to your professors, adjustments with reference to money and time, all of these are your responsibilities.

Your teachers and counselors want to help you, but nothing really happens in your progress and in your education unless it happens to you, and whether it happens to you depends more upon you than anyone else. Let us each make this our greatest year.

Books For You— New Books In Mac Library Cover Varied Phases In Art

Many new books have been added to the library during the summer. Among these are books on various phases of art.

Design for Artists and Craftsmen by Louis Wolchonok tells how to create your own designs and motifs. People, objects in nature, landscapes and manmade objects all can be used to build new designs.

The Amateur Painter's Handbook by Frederic Taubes is aimed at helping the intelligent amateur to improve his oil painting. Charts and photographs aid the presentation of fundamentals and fine details.

How to Make Pottery and Ceramic Sculpture by Julia Hamlin Duncan is the first of the Art for Beginners Series. This book tells how to make 20 objects, progressing from the easiest to the most difficult. The projects require a minimum of tools and do not need a potter's wheel.

Enjoying Modern Art by Sarah Newmeyer traces the development of modern art from the French Revolution to the present. Included in the story are biographies of the artists, as well as comments on their work.

Modern Painters by Lionello Venturi discusses the work, personalities, and backgrounds of eight painters: Goya, Constable, David, Ingres, Delacroix, Corot, Daumier, and Courbet.

Tintoretto: Paintings and Drawing edited by Hans Tietze is a scholarly analysis of the Italian artist's style, illustrated by many black and white plates and a few colored ones.

American Painting by Virgil Barker relates the history of painting in the United States from the seventeenth century to the present. All regions and all painters, such as folk artists, sign painters, and designers of prints, are included.

In The History of Impressionism, John Rewald uses little-known documents to characterize the impressionist painters and to tell of exhibitions of their paintings. Many reproductions illustrate the story.

Medieval American Art by Pal Kelenen has been revised to form one volume containing all the material found in the original as well as including the discoveries made since 1942. The works of the Indians before Columbus came are discussed in terms of their value in art history.
