The Quinter High School band, directed by Charles Royer '51, will perform at halftime. Football teams of 1932 and 1947 will be honored.

A coffee hour for students and alumni in the Dog House and cafeteria after the game will bring the homecoming activities to a close.

Bulldogs Bite C of E Presbies In 40-7 Victory

Macollege Shows Strength Throughout Entire Game

Commanding all the way, the McPherson Bulldogs soundly whipped the College of Emporia Presbies to the tune of 40-7. Approximately 2,000 fans watched the game played on Oct. 11 at the Mac stadium.

Much of the credit of the fine game turned in by the Bulldogs goes to the fine blocking and good ball handling of the team.

Leading in the McPherson scoring was Stucky who ran around end three times for as many touchdowns. Guiot, Jeffries, and Keim accounted for the other three TD's. The other four points came from the toe of Delk who made good four conversions.

With nine and a half minutes remaining in the first period, Guiot scored on a play set up by the recovery of a fumble by Jerry McPherson on the Presbies' 31-yard line. Delk kicked the extra point.

Jeffries rang up six more points still in the first quarter on an aggression beginning on the MC 41-yard line. Delk again kicked the conversion.

With only 1:35 gone in the second period Stucky broke around right end for nine yards and a TD. Delk made good for a third time the conversion.

Stucky tallied his second touchdown and McPherson's fourth with 4:46 remaining in the second quarter. Delk failed on the conversion-try.

At the half time the Bulldogs had a 27-0 commanding lead which looked good to the McPherson fans.

The C. of E. team got its first break late in the third quarter when they recovered a McPherson fumble after a fourth down punt by themselves. Coleman scored on a two yard plunge for the Presbies only TD. Baker kicked the extra point to make the score 27-7.

McPherson rallied again in the fourth period when Keim went over on a plunge after Widrig set up the touchdown with a 22-yard dash. Delk added the extra point.

Stucky scored the final touchdown of the game with 11:04 remaining on an end run for 21 yards. Delk missed the conversion.

Guiot was the work horse averaging 4.7 yards on each of his 16 runs. Stucky carried 14 times averaging 3.7 and Jeffries nine times for seven yards per carry. Keim averaged six yards for seven times.

Pondering With The President . . .

When Can We Build It?

By Dr. D. W. Bittinger
The first thing which should be said in a brief article of this kind, is to give hearty thanks and congratulations to McPherson College and McPherson community for the splendid way in which the Development Campaign for $150,000 went far beyond its goal.

This is due to the splendid cooperation and enthusiastic work of many people in the community, including the people of the college.

When we had our Victory Dinner and discovered that the amount was $173,000 plus, instead of $150,000, we, indeed, felt deeply moved. This seemed to indicate that McPherson College stands in high regard among its own immediate family fellowship and within the community where it seeks to live and serve.

The faculty subscribed nearly $20,000, the students nearly $10,000. This is beyond the anticipation of all of us and gives us occasion to say thank you and congratulations to each other.

The question immediately follows: when, now, will Sharp Hall be built? Unless one stops to think about it, it would seem like we should start at once. These words, therefore, of explanation are necessary.

In the campaign some cash was given. Some pledges were made to be paid beginning the first of October. This will mean that more cash will be coming in.

This entire fund-raising effort was organized by a fund raising company which has certain techniques and knowledges concerning fund raising, and can, therefore, organize such a campaign well.

The expenses of such a fund raising firm, however, are rather high and, actually, the amount of cash which has accrued up to the present is not quite sufficient to finance the total expense of the fund raising campaign.

This means that cash to begin to build Sharp Hall is not yet in hand. This is not a note of discouragement; it is simply a statement of fact. Cash will now begin to accumulate each month and each quarter.

It is the decision and intent of the college and its duly constituted authorities that as soon as sufficient cash is in hand to justify the beginning of Sharp Hall, it will be begun. It is hoped that the cash will come in quickly.

Those of you who read this can help the building of Sharp Hall by paying your pledges promptly, or even more rapidly than you intended.

It is likely not the intent that we shall wait until sufficient money is on hand to pay for the entire building, but it is necessary to wait until sufficient money is on hand to justify borrowing some in order to complete the building.

What, then, shall we do in the meantime? It is now that we can begin to sharpen and complete the plans for the building.

Three or four years ago plans were circulated among faculty people and students. Many suggestions were made and plans were drawn and redrawn until a building as it could have been constituted at that time was in its first draft on the drawing boards.

During several years naturally other factors come into the picture, and it is now time to circulate plans and accumulate suggestions from students and faculty concerning the building and to bring the present plans up-to-date in the light of these suggestions.

This, therefore, is to invite suggestions from students and from faculty. We are building, not only for our own time, but for our future. Those who are in the college will have their children utilizing and enjoying Sharp Hall.

We welcome your suggestions, as we plan for these future generations and for ourselves.

All suggestions will be carefully considered and as fully as possible the building will be made to conform to the wishes of all of us.

Cowden Landrace swine farm, the American Royal Livestock show.

They will attend Sunday morning church services at Cherokee Hills Brethren Mission church.

Those taking the trip will be Kenneth Harris, Kenton Harris, Ed Butler, Ed Switzer, Lee Dadiaman, Ronald Bowman, Billy Joe Hildreth, Curtis Broadwater, Wayne Bert, Doyle Royer, Terry Weddle, John Myers, and Charles Ebbert.

The tour will be conducted by Kurtz Ebbert, fieldman for the Consumer's Cooperative Association. Kurtz, an alumnus of Macollege, is a brother of Charles Ebbert who is president of the McPherson College Agricultural Club.

Geisert Returns To Mac After Studying, Teaching

Would you like to try to out-talk a state champion in debate? If you think you are able, make an appointment with Dr. Wayne Geisert, dean of McPherson College.

Dean Geisert was not only a state champion debator several times while he was attending Macollege during 1940-44, but he was also the treasurer and president of two of his classes, business manager of the "Spectator," treasurer of the Student Council, and president of the Student Council.

After graduation from Mac in 1944, Geisert entered the Navy. During his two years in the service, he was an education officer and did a considerable amount of traveling in the Pacific.

The following two years he taught social science, speech, and dramatics at Hamilton High School, Hamilton, Kas., and then two years at Kendall College, Evanston, Ill. While in Illinois he attended Northwestern where he received his doctor of philosophy degree in 1951.

The next six years the dean was at Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind., as the head of the economics and business department.

Dean Geisert has spent many summers in graduate work. In the summer of 1955 he studied the management and construction of the Peoples Gas Corporation, Chicago, Ill., on a fellowship granted by the Foundation of Economics.

Four Geiserts attended Macollege — the dean's two brothers, his sister, and himself. Mrs. Wayne Geisert also graduated from Mac.

Don't Read It . . . A Neat Trick, That Sputnik

By Norris and Carl

Fellow Americans, beware! Our scientific heritage is in danger. In fact, you are in danger. The Russian satellite, Sputnik, beeps ominously over head.

Since the launching of the satellite, confusion and terror have reigned among the people of America. Everyone got worried because we had lost the moon race to Russia.

Our great national leaders, however, remained cool, calm, and collected. After due deliberation they presented the official U. S. policy toward the satellite. Please notice the precise, calculated coordination in these reports made by various leaders.

Official U. S. Policy

From President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters came this report. "Congratulations to the Russians on their great scientific achievement. We are all just one big happy family here on earth, and there wasn't any race after all."

Senator Symington (D-Mo.) promptly backed up Eisenhower's statement, saying, "I demand a Senate investigation of everybody. There is absolutely no reason for the stupid Russians beating us in the satellite race. This gives them a tremendous advantage in the world arms race."

Vice - President Nixon agreed, saying, "The Russians aren't any stronger than they were before they launched Sputnik. The United States is still stronger than the communist world."

He went on to say, "This Russian satellite may be a good thing. It should scare all the taxpayers enough that they will want more defense spending and won't clamor for a tax cut. That means more money for us to spend. Hooray for Sputnik."

In the U. S. News and World Report for Oct. 18, 1957, is this report: "Dr. Homer E. Newell, Jr., scientific coordinator of the Navy's project Vanguard, said on a TV show recently, 'We've already built a satellite and it's been in operation for two weeks. It's operating perfectly in a vacuum temperature chamber.'"

A group of American scientists issued a statement saying, "The Russian satellite is primitive and isn't giving them much information. When better satellites are built, America will build them. Just give us time."

Alfred E. Neuman, in a recent press release remarked, "What, me worry?"

Now, we leave the realm of politics and delve into the basic nature of the satellite itself.

First we quote local playboy, Duane Fike as saying, "The satellite is nothing more than a mere metal chicken crate full of baby chicks going peep, peep, peep. By standing out in the open and looking up, one may

Fashions For The Future

By Faus and Foley

Swami Faus and Swamier Foley have gazed into their crystal ball, and have come up with these predictions for the years to come.

The first thing we see — EEEEE! What is this horrible monster awaiting us in the future? Oh, it's only our reflection in our crystal ball.

Looking deeper, we see many amazing things. Men will be wearing swept - wing hats, torsion-level shoes, and smoking high-compression cigars.

The ladies will be wearing fender skirts and on their heads radiation proof hub caps, and will follow the trend toward better designed trunks.

Baby bottles will be replaced by fuel - injection units, and baby carriages will feature automatic change indicators.

Blue jeans for the active youngster will be retreadable, feature advanced rear end styling, and have improved knee-joint suspension.

These are the fashions for the future, so folks, don't throw away your old automobile parts, some lady may be wearing them someday.
