

One Week Left To Pre-enroll

Pre-enrollment for the next semester will last until May 1. Students who are coming back next year are asked to pre-enroll by that date.

Pre-enrollment materials can be picked up at the registrar's office. Students should then see their counselors. Tentative enrollment cards should be left with the counselors.

Students who are not returning here to college next year are asked to fill out blanks giving the registrar's office this information. It will be presumed that those not pre-enrolled will not be returning the following year.

Students Favor System Of Getting Grades

The general opinion of students on the idea of having major professors pass out the grade cards has been favorable although there are a few indifferent students and a few who are opposed.

Rick Hood stated that he thought by having the professors pass out the grade cards gave them a chance to talk to a student who was having trouble or not doing so well.

Other comments were to the effect that the new system operates more efficiently. As one student put it the new idea is "more systematic in getting the cards returned more easily and faster."

Annual Bloodmobile Visit Successful By Eleven Pints

Although exposure to measles prevented donations by 60 or 70 would-be Macollege donors, the Red Cross Bloodmobile visit went over its quota of 160 pints of blood Monday at the Church of the Brethren.

171 Total

The Bloodmobile received a total of 171 pints, largely because of the efforts made by the college students, local radio and newspaper, and ministers who solicited the donors.

People from the country and as far away as Marquette drove in to donate their blood.

Of the 182 volunteer donors that came to give their blood only 11 were rejected for reasons of health.

Second Largest Donation

The total number of pints of blood received Monday was the second largest since the program was started in August, 1948. The largest number of pints received was in 1953 when 177 pints were given.

In 1956 a total of 83 pints of blood was taken from 92 people.

In 1958 a total of 141 people came and 134 pints of blood were given.

Measles Prevent Students

Exposure to the measles prevented the volunteering of Macollege students who were in A Cappella or Band, or who lived on second and third floor of Dotzour or third floor of Fahnstock. Also anyone having personal associations with measles victims was rejected.

Free Meal Served

The Home Ec Club served a free meal to all people donating blood.

Plans are already underway for next year's Bloodmobile visit.

Mrs. Homer Brunk, chairman of the Macollege Bloodmobile visit, worked with Mrs. Naomi Rafaelesen, executive secretary of the McPherson County Red Cross, in making arrangements.

Pondering With The President . . .

Do Fence Me In

By Dr. D. W. Bittinger

Some time ago a song, "Don't Fence Me In," was highly popular. The theme of the song, as I recall it, was that restrictions are deadening. One must have freedoms or his personality is hampered.

Our campus is now fenced off over a major part of its area. We feel restricted and fenced in. We may be inclined to revive the song, "Don't Fence Me In."

But when fencing-in means progress, then it is good. That is what our fencing-in now involves. Being fenced away from the area where a new building is to arise means that it can arise sooner and that we ourselves can be better protected from any dangers attendant to construction. Fencing-in, in this case, is a way to progress.

Fencing-in in other areas of life also lead to progress. If I fence myself in to four disciplinary years of college education, the areas which then are opened to me are much wider than if I had not gone through the fencing-in process.

All of life is like this; discipline leads to growth.

Ground Rules Given For Game Of Pursuit

College men know it . . . history shows it . . . a Chinese sage wrote it. "Pursuit," said Hsi Lu Ying, a court poet of the T'ang dynasty, "is the natural condition of men and maidens."

Unfortunately, Hsi never got around to telling us who chases whom. And so The Great Game has been played down the ages, sometimes Adam sprinting after Eve, Eve occasionally turning the tables, no one knowing exactly who does what.

Because the ground rules have never really been settled, we picked the brains of the world's greatest theoreticians and have come up with a set of rules guaranteed to clarify, once and for all, the roles of a man and a woman in The Great Game.

1. The woman calls the tune. The Roman poet Ovid, said that a man should do her bidding, smile when she smiles, weep when she weeps.
2. The man pays the compliments. Ours has become a civilization in which the female flatters the male, plucking expertly on the chords of male vanity.

One thing there is a man should never tell a woman: how much sweeter is her kiss than those of any other. For the wrath of woman compared to another is as the wind in the desert.

3. Both appeal to the senses. Women know this instinctively, hence their perfumes, raspberry-scented lipsticks, tinkling bracelets. Men have had to learn it.

4. The man gives gifts. This appears to be a universally recognized custom. A Watutsi tribesman in Africa presents his fair lady with the teeth of a boar as a sign that he'd like to go steady.

But there is a ray of hope in this stacked deckmen. According to an Indian proverb, a maiden's heart is like a magnifying glass. "It enlarges the small and sees nothing of the large."

The moral: if you want to make a hit with your girl, give her a little gift for no reason at all rather than a big one for some obvious occasion. Or, as the Irish say, "Monday's rose smells sweeter than Sunday's bouquet."

5. The woman acts coy. This is an essential part of The Great Game, for man was meant to be the hunter and it's a pretty foolish feeling to be a hunter without any game to stalk.

6. Kisses must be well timed. The greatest authority is saved for last. He's a taxi driver who you may know, and who has probably witnessed more kissing in his rear-view mirror than a Hollywood censor sees in a lifetime of wide-screen exposure.

"Most kisses," he reports, "begin at the thirty-five cent mark. That's after the girl has a chance to get settled in her seat and the guy works up the necessary move. For those who don't know when to kiss a girl - a tip: she's ready

University of Kansas campus police couldn't understand how cars were getting into a parking lot, past a toll gate, without specially issued cards. The cards had to be inserted into the gate to make it rise.

Yet drivers without the cards were parking there, said DAILY KANSAN.

Then a little boy was seen putting something in the gate and gleefully watching startled drivers edge into the lot. His "ticket?" A piece of popcorn box.

"I saw people putting cards in, "explained the six-year-old, "so I tried my own."

Police have reset the toll gate so popcorn boxes don't work there anymore.

-C-O-C-

Men of America will be well-fed, except they'll be eating hamburgers and mashed potatoes until their wives learn to cook something else.

So predicts Western Reserve University's RESERVE TRIBUNE after polling 50 coeds on cooking proficiency. All 50 said they could make hamburgers, 47 agreed to mashed potatoes, 45 claimed homemade coffee and chocolate cake.

Twenty were confident they were good cooks, the rest admitting to "fair" or "poor." Two-thirds of the "fair-poor" plan to improve their cooking before marriage, while the others deem such unnecessary.

Only half feel it's really important to know how to cook before marriage, so they'll be practicing on their own families. This is especially true since all but seven intend to do their cooking. Four of these think they'll have their own cooks, while the other three hope to "eat out."

Chaff Bids ...

Farewell, Circle Drive

By Faus, Foley, and Harris
A note of sadness has descended upon McPherson College, for the air, the earth, the very elements of college life have been torn and mutilated by the relentless march of progress.

Our scenic Circle Drive with its tall cedars marching like valiant knights around the flagpole; with its firm sod which has felt the tread of the primeval buffalo, the noble redman, and the dedicated scholar; with its stately white gateway framing the towered citadel of Truth, old Sharp Hall — the asphalt, the trees, the leaves of grass — this is our Circle Drive, a vault of memory pressed down, shaken together, and filled to overflowing.

But now ravenous bulldozers have torn the tender fingers of the trees from the good black earth, relentless jackhammers have crumbled the base of the flagpole into pitiful fragments, and that slender sentinel of the sunset is no more.

Soon even the last staunch remnants: the circled asphalt and the lonely gateway will be utterly devastated by the cruel machine, the callous workman, and the calculating contractor.

But alas, our time of weeping must be brief. The clarion call of the future sounds in the sad recesses of our souls, calling us to retain the best of the past, and to march out with courage into the future's dawning.

So it is only fitting that from the smitten cedars of Circle Drive, we students should shape treasured souvenirs; tokens to cherish through our fruitful after-years, to remind us of the golden days of our search for knowledge.

Therefore, Chaff, as another public service, in order to perpetuate the past, support the sloppiness of sentimentality, make constructive use of the filthy debris that now impedes the constructor's work, and mainly to pay our tuition has manufactured souvenirs from the waste and now offers them for the student to buy.

Yes, you too can be a member of the smart new modern set, a person of distinction, a student with snob appeal, if you own one of these beautiful souvenirs, lovingly shaped by skillful craftsmen from the most select and seasoned Cedars of Circle Drive.

Yes, you too can be one of the lucky students who wear with pride a Chaff Cedar Sweatshirt.

Indeed, you cannot consider yourself a member of the smart set unless you own a Chaff Cedar Sweatshirt, hand carved from solid cedar. Have you ever considered the virtues of a wooden sweatshirt?

"Tulip Tournament" Blooms In Blue Room

"Tulip Tournament" is the sports theme for the annual WAA Banquet which will be held this Saturday night, April 25, at 6:30 in the Blue Room of the Warren Hotel.

There will be a short program following dinner. The annual event will be a formal occasion with only WAA members, who have been active for two seasons and their dates attending.

Tests by leading independent laboratories prove that Chaff Cedar Sweatshirts are the most wrinkle-resistant on the market; they are garments that laugh at laundry bills.

They said it couldn't be done ... couldn't be done ... couldn't be done ... But Chaff with voluminous research has done it. We have produced the first completely sanforized sweatshirt on the market.

Seven New York doctors say, "No fabric rash with Chaff Cedar Sweatshirts."

Chaff Cedar Sweatshirts come in four cunningly designed sizes; small, medium, large, and maternity.

Get your order for a Chaff Cedar Sweatshirt in now by merely writing your name and size on a $20 bill and slipping it under the door of room 410 Dotzour. Within two weeks you too will have a cedar chest.

Mr. Cline Finds Robbers, Big Cats—All Part Of Life

J. Keith Cline, superintendent of buildings and associate superintendent of grounds, has had a variety of experiences prior to coming to Macollege. He has done such things ranging from helping bank robbers out of the snow to driving big cats.

During a bad blizzard in Colorado some years ago, Mr. Cline and a friend were having trouble getting through the snow. Another car with a few men and a girl was also having trouble and so they took turns helping each other.

The woman who was in the other car was in the back seat and had something covered with a blanket but at the time Mr. Cline and his friend thought nothing of it. They later found out that the woman had a machine gun under the blanket.

When they finally got to town Mr. Cline and his friend tried to talk the people in the other car into staying for awhile because of the storm. They said that they wanted to move on and so refused.

During the time that the two parties had been helping each other out of the snow, one of the other men lost his cap. An old woman advised the man to go into the store and buy himself another cap but he said that he couldn't afford it so she gave him a dollar to buy a cap with.

Aided Robbers

The next morning the people of the town found out that the car load of people that they had helped had robbed the bank of Manitou, Colo., of a large sum of money. This naturally caused a lot of excitement in the little town.

The little town where all of the excitement occurred was McClave, Colo. The small eastern Colorado town was where Mr. and Mrs. Cline lived prior to moving to McPherson and Macollege.

Former Mechanic

Mr. Cline was originally a mechanic but had to give up mechanic work because the gas fumes bothered him. It was during his time as a mechanic that he had the run in with the bank robbers.

Mr. Cline worked for the county for about seven years driving big caterpillars and other such equipment. He was also in charge of a WPA gang for about a year and a half during the depression years.

Students Dine In French Style

Mrs. D. W. Bittinger, Instructor in Foreign languages, entertained ten members of the French class at her home on April 17. Mrs. Bittinger greeted the guests in French and they responded in French.

The group viewed pictures of interesting places in France. Shirley Turner and Mrs. Donna Slimon told stories of French books they had read. The students aided Mrs. Bittinger in preparing the French meal.

Members of the class attended the dinner were Carolyn Cotton, John Dilley, Harvey Hess, Lynda Igel, Elizabeth Pittman, Shirley Reynolds, Mrs. Donna Slimon, Ellen Stryker, Shirley Turner, and Karen York.

The menu consisted of assorted hors-d'oeuvres, cheese fandue (eaten by dipping small pieces of bread into a hot bubbling cheese mixture), apple and cabbage salads, delta tea, and chilled raspberry dessert.

Just prior to coming to McPherson Mr. Cline was custodian of the high school in McClave.

Bikes

About four years ago eight bicycles were left at the school for the summer. Mr. Cline thought that the bikes had been left by students for good so he took his pick and fixed it up to ride.

When school resumed the following fall, Mr. Cline discovered that the bike he had fixed up belonged to Ed Switzer, Ed told Mr. Cline that if he could get more use out of the bike than he was getting, he could have it.

Mr. Cline has been riding the bike ever since. Mr. Cline says that he rides the bike "to save my feet." He has a lot of ground to cover in keeping the buildings, including the courts, in good shape.

Mr. Cline arrived in McPherson during the summer of 1946. At that time he was in charge of both the grounds and build-

Vaniman Room Gets New Look

Redecorating the second floor bedroom at Vaniman Hall is the interior design class project for this semester.

In preparation for the project each girl in the class chooses her own color scheme, floor plan, job list, and budget for the room. The class then voted for the best plan.

The class chose a color scheme of green and pink, green predominantly, and were given $75 to spend on the room. The general theme of the room is modified period.

Arlene Rolfs is the chairman of the project.

She is being assisted by four committees chosen to work on different parts of the project.

The committee on the bed-spread and drapes is composed of Zoann Ewing, Lila Cook, and Ellen Williams.

Veneta Howell, Karen Yoder, and Emilie Rowland are in charge of the wallpaper and woodwork.

The floor is being refinished by Helen Williams and Elizabeth Pittman.

Jo Ann Negley, Carol Duncan, and Ellen Stryker are refinishing the furniture.

Mrs. Wesley DeCoursey is the teacher of the interior and design class.

Since that time the responsibilities have been divided into two different departments.

Christians! Beware Of Self-Righteousness

By Watson

Surely, it is the duty of all Christians to try to be righteous, but there is also a sin connected with this virtue.

SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS is hypocritical. Self-righteousness is pharisaical. Self-righteousness is elevating one's self to a point above other people, thinking one is better than other people, and judging other people.

A person cannot be a self-righteous Christian. He must be either one or the other.

Where does one person get the right to judge another person? Where does one group of people get the right of saying that they are closer to God than anyone else?

Is it Christian for a person to brag about his religion to the point that it becomes obnoxious to others?

We cannot convert people to Christianity by telling them that we are better than they are.

No doubt, certain people do believe that they are "called of God," but in reality, they are keeping people out of the Church by their self-righteous attitude.

We are each called to do our Christian duty; some of us are called to be ministers, but many more of us are not.

Let us beware, if we feel as though God has called us to do a duty, that we do it in His name, and for His sake, not in our name, and for our own sakes.

No matter what we feel is our Christian duty, we should strive to carry it out without a self-righteous attitude.

It is good for people to try to do their Christian duty, as long as they do it in a Christian way.
