

1959 March Of Dimes Will Aid More Health Workers

The March of Dimes opens its 1959 campaign with the theme its winning battle over polio will lead "Toward Greater Victories."

The 1959 "Greater Victories" drive will also seek funds for a greatly enlarged research program devoted to virus diseases and disorders of the central nervous system in general as well as polio, arthritis and birth defects.

Hospitals, health clinics, laboratories and school health units are in urgent need today of additional trained minds and hands, and there is every indication this need is growing.

Yet the doctors, professional nurses, physical and occupational therapists, medical social workers and research scientists do not exist in large enough numbers.

During 21 years the National Foundation has made possible the education of more than 7,000 new health workers.

It has allotted more than $31,000,000 of March of dimes funds to help university students and post-graduate students to obtain professional status.

Yes, the March of Dimes is needed more than ever with the momentum of one job well done, we hope, with the public's support, that it will move on TOWARD GREATER VICTORIES.

Exercise Your Privilege; If You Are Eligible Vote!

The Spectator urges all eligible Maccollege students to register in order to take advantage of their voting privileges in the coming elections. If a student is from out of state he should write back to his home county and request an absentee ballot.

If the student is from Kansas he may obtain a state ballot at the local polls in McPherson and it will be sent to their home county.

The Ohio University Post tells how many Ohio students are being deprived of their right to vote in local and national elections.

Students not on campus all year vote in their home counties. But many students who live in the university town all year and have no other home are not allowed to vote unless they plan to live there after graduation.

Even married students, owning homes and having several children in school are excluded from voting under current interpretation of Ohio law.

The Post editorially urges the state to revise voting laws concerning students.

Cheerleaders Extend 'Thanks'

The Maccollege cheerleaders wish to thank each and every one of the students and visitors who displayed such vigorous pep at the annual homecoming game last Saturday night.

Many complimentary remarks were made to the cheerleaders on the "excited school spirit" of the fans that eventful night.

Congratulations to you-the students, and let's keep it up.

An ant finds kingdoms in a foot of ground. — Stephen Vincent Benet.

Spectator Extends Thanks To McGuire

The Spectator wishes to express thanks to one of the unseen heroes of the Spec staff, Roger McGuire, who has been setting type for the Spectator for the past three years.

Mr. McGuire plans to leave McPherson next month. He will be working for a firm in California. He presently is a member of the McPherson Daily Republican Staff.

The Spectator extends thanks for the million little courtesies he has shown and wishes him success in his new job.

Pondering With The President

Where My Money Goes

By Dr. D. W. Bittinger

A folder came to my desk recently which shows that we have 305,449 churches in America. This is a lot of churches. I felt good.

This folder revealed that we spent three and one-half billion dollars for churches and church schools. I was glad that we are willing to put this much money into the future of our children.

Then I should have stopped reading.

But I didn't. And I read that we also have 443,057 outlets for alcohol in the United States. This surpasses the churches by quite a few thousand. I read, further, that we spend 10½ billion dollars for alcohol. This is three times as much as we spend for churches and church schools.

I wonder if we value alcohol more than we value the teaching of our children.

Imbibing in alcohol is an indication, the psychologists tell us, of lack of self discipline. It is an effort to flee from the realities of adult life and to return to childhood and infantilism. Alcoholics have not grown up.

These statistics could indicate that we are an infantile people.

Friends University To Host Bulldogs In Tomorrow's Game

Friends University will be the target of invasion for the McPherson Bulldogs as they travel to Wichita tomorrow evening to meet "The Fighting Quakers" on Fred Hoyt Field at 7:45 p.m.

Although the Quaker's record fails to boast a win, they certainly won't be a pushover. Conference leader, Baker, sneaked by the Quakers with only two touchdowns a couple of weeks ago, 14-7.

The Bulldogs will again play in a homecoming atmosphere as the Quakers are busy in homecoming activities.

George Hutchens, Friends University head football coach, is in his second season at Friends. A graduate of F. U., Hutchens played football there also.

The Quakers have been victorious only three times over the Bulldogs in the previous 16 games. 1931 was the last time the Bulldogs fell before a Friends team.

Sixteen lettermen form the nucleus of the Quaker squad. The No. 1 quarterback is Larry Richardson, a six-foot two-inch, 175 pounder. Richardson is a rugged runner who passes well.

The Bulldogs trounced the Quakers 32-0 in last year's game. McPherson capitalized on costly mistakes of the Quakers and turned fumbles into touchdowns.

Since 1952 the Quakers have only been able to tally 38 points while the Bulldogs racked up 278. The Bulldogs blanketed them in the last two meetings on the gridiron.

Firm Sponsors Basketball Game

The All-American Red Heads, world's champion professional girls basketball team will play an exhibition game at Convention Hall next Monday night, Oct. 27, at 8:30 o'clock.

Benny & Carl's city league men's basketball team, who will be sponsoring the appearance of the girls, will be playing them.

Among their repertoire of entertainment, the Red Heads feature fancy passing, clever ball handling, deceptive plays, amusing routines as well as good basketball.

During halftime, the Red Heads will present a show of trick shooting, ball spinning, and many other outstanding tricks.

The All-American Red Heads professional team was originated and organized in 1936 by "Ole" Olson, coach-owner and feature star of the world famous "Olson's Terrible Swedes."

The Red Heads play out of Caraway, Ark.

Bulldogs Down Coyotes 19-0 To Take Over Second Place

Freshman halfback, Tom Richards threw two touch down passes Saturday night as the Mac Bulldogs downed Kansas Wesleyan 19-0 to take over second place in the Kansas Conference standings.

In the first quarter of play the southpaw halfback rolled out to the left and passed eight yards to Stucky in the end zone for the first touchdown. In the fourth quarter Richards again rolled out to the left to hit the veteran end, Ed Deik for an 18 yard touchdown pass.

In the second quarter of play Deik raced 29 yards on a screen pass to set up the other Bulldog touchdown. Stucky then went back to throw to Deik again, but saw light and ran 18 yards to score the third Mac six pointer.

Once again the Bulldog's defense proved effective to hold the Coyotes to only 90 yards of rushing while the Bulldog's offense rushed for 179 yards. The Bulldogs also showed a good passing attack with a total of 88 yards in passing.

The Coyotes, boasting a strong passing attack, completed only once for short yardage. The Bulldogs intercepted and knocked down several of the Coyote's attempts.

The Bulldogs led the offensive game getting 14 first downs to the Coyotes six. The thing which hurt the Coyotes most was the loss of the ball five times by fumbles.

The Bulldogs also scored a fourth touchdown on a pass from Stucky to Richards, but it was called back due to a 15 yard holding penalty. The Bulldogs again scored high in the penalty department with a total of 55 yards.

Baker Leads; Bulldogs Second

As a result of last week's games, the McPherson Bulldogs take over undisputed second place by their 19-0 win over Kansas Wesleyan.

Baker remains in the number one position by defeating the Bethany Swedes 14-0.

In the other conference game Bethel downed Friends 21-7.

Non-conference action saw College of Emporia soundly whip Sterling 41-14 in C of E's homecoming. Missouri Valley proved too much for the Ottawa Braves who were trounced 34-13.

Stucky Receives Honor In Scoring 12 Of Mac's Points

For scoring two of the three touchdowns made in the McPherson-Kansas Wesleyan game Friday night, Ken Stucky has been chosen as this week's "Athlete of the Week."

Ken, who is from Moundridge, Kas., is a senior this year, with plenty of experience in football, basketball, and other sports. Ken's intended vocation is teaching or coaching; probably a combination of both.

For his first touchdown, Ken received a pass and ran it over. On his second touchdown, he scored by a fake pass and then running it over.

For the past three years, Ken has been a great advantage to the Maccollege Bulldogs. With his good defensive playing as well as his offensive playing he is important to the success of the team.

Sunrise Is Viewed By Devotional Class

Dale Brown, director of religious life, accompanied his devotional life class on an early morning excursion to Coronado Heights for a sunrise service and cook-out on Oct. 21.

Devotional life is a study of the principles and practices of prayer and worship, and the discovery of the available power which God seeks to bestow.

Members of the class are Sarah Harnly, Elise Holderread, Terrell Phenice, Harold Connell, Ethan Gramm, Don Mummert, and Jim Merrifield.

to continue his education at graduate school. At present he is minister at the Kastleton Church 15 miles northwest of McPherson. His wife, Jo, works at the Kirby Petroleum Co.

Yoders

Norman Yoder is a senior and is at the present taking his block of student teaching at Galva. He is an industrial arts major from International Falls, Minn.

Completed in 1955

The college courts were completed by 1955. The housing accommodations consist of three buildings, each having four apartments and a separate utility building for the use of occupants of the buildings.

One of the buildings consists of four apartments, each having two bedrooms, a living room and dining area, kitchen and bathroom. The other two buildings of four apartments each have one bedroom.

Over Sixty Are Busy With Duties Of Student Teaching

Over sixty McPherson College students began their block of student teaching Monday, Oct. 20. School systems in which these students will be teaching include McPherson, Canton, Galva, Hillsboro, Little River, Moundridge, Windom and Sunflower.

Twelve students will be student teaching in the McPherson elementary schools. Those teaching at Washington Grade school are Shirley Williams, Delores Peek, Mary Beth Tolle, Mary Swinger, and Mildred McCrea.

Teaching at Lincoln Grade School are Ellen Kurtz, Betty Wenger and Juanita Zeller. Wickersham Grade School student teachers are Hazel Miles, Jane Clouse and Margaret Grotfelty.

Special students from McPherson taking student teaching are Ella Kotler, Iona Guse, Marchilda Toews, Vera Osborne, Louise Stucky and Herb Overton. These students will also be teaching on the elementary level.

Twenty-seven students will be teaching in the McPherson High School. They are Bernice Bernstorff, Richard Bittinger, Kathryn Burkholder, Howard Kathryn Donald Cotton, Jerry Dundas, Carl Ediger, Gene Elliott, Bob Erisman, Shirley Groth and Noel Grove.

Two students teaching in Canton are Rick Hood and Jerry McPherson. Teaching in Galva are Charles and Donna Beach, Elma Holmes and Norman Yoder.

Rachel Goering is teaching in Hillsboro and Claire Kahler is teaching in Little River. Those in Moundridge are Kermit Daum, Edmund Delk, Earl Guioit, Kenneth Stucky and Don Widrig.

Gary Rogers and Gene Wenger are teaching in Windom. Student teaching will continue through Dec. 19.

Students Work On Projects

"A folding blackboard is an unusual project near completion in the Industrial Arts Department," says S. M. Dell, professor of arts and crafts education.

Dimensions of the black board are 30 inches by eight feet including the 30 inch by two foot wings.

The idea for the board was picked up in Germany by Professor Dell.

"Advanced preparation of study material for churches and Sunday school classes is one of the features made possible by this type of board," Professor Dell said.

Another project under way will combine the talents of the Rural Life Department welders with those of students studying ceramic tile according to Professor Dell. Welders will make metal brackets designed to hold ceramic tile molds.

Professor Dell mentioned that students are able to make numerous designs with the tile, which is a new skill to the college Arts and Crafts Department, and many of the students are using it to make Christmas presents.

"Helping people to be creative, and to prepare for the future and retirement is one of our main objectives," Professor Dell said.
