Production Will Be Staged In SUR On Nov. 22, 24, 25

Final dates for the Maccollege production, "See How They Run," have been set. The dates will be Nov. 22, 24, and 25.

The play will be presented in the Student Union Room, using horseshoe staging. Horseshoe staging is similar to arena theatre only the audience will sit on only three sides.

The advantages of this type of staging are as follows:

1. There is a sense of intimacy between the actors and audience.
2. Gestures and facial expressions can be more subtle.
3. Audience actually feels as if it is in the room with the actors. It tends to interest them more.

4. The play becomes more realistic.

5. The actors and furniture does not have to be all facing the front.

6. The make-up is more subtle. This type of staging was started with the Greeks. It has lately been revived and is now popular in Europe and the United States, with permanent theatres in Paris and the University of Washington.

Two hundred Maccollege students and town-people will be seated each night of the performance. Students will be admitted by their activity tickets. However, they must be validated for the night they wish to come.

Doghouse Has Existed Since Nearly Twelve Years Ago

The Doghouse was started approximately twelve years ago by the Student Council with the cooperation of the McPherson College faculty.

The purpose of the Doghouse was to provide a place for students and faculty to meet their friends and also a place for fellowship and snacking together. Later, Sunday night lunches were served.

The room decided upon was a room in the basement near the SUR. This room was used for conferences and sometimes it was used for classes. It is still the same room with many improvements.

When the Doghouse was first started there were no booths, refrigerator, or pop machines, like there are now. The booths were furnished by Harry Frantz, Class of '34, and installed by Prof. S. M. Dell. The present booths were made by professor Dell and his woodworking classes, and the material was donated by Harry Frantz.

The Doghouse got its name because the mascot of the school is a Bulldog and the doghouse is where he lives, so the name is very appropriate for McPherson College.

The Doghouse is operated through the Student Council by a student manager and his help. The student manager is picked by the Student Council. The employees and the student manager are paid for working in the Doghouse. Every year except one the finances for the Doghouse have been "in the black."

There is also a Doghouse Committee consisting of Dr. Bittinger, Dean Gesert, treasurer of Student Council and the student manager, which is the chairman of the council.

Doghouse manager this year is Dick Rienke. Those employed in the Dog House are Eileen Oltman, JoNelle Thoreen, Betty Oltman, Larry Sanders, and Diane Browning.

CBYF To Emphasize "Rural Problems" Nov. 9

The CBYF cabinet is planning a hayrack ride and wienier roast for Sunday, Nov. 9. All those planning to go should sign their names on one of the papers posted on the bulletin board in Sharp Hall or Doltour Hall.

The theme of the evening program will be "Rural Problems." There will be recreation and worship. A fee of 50 cents will be charged to cover cost of food and transportation. The CBYF invites everyone to attend.

The CBYF and the farmers loaning tractors and hayracks for the event will not be responsible for any accidents.

Ag Club Holds Party Tonight

D. R. (Doc) Jordan, president of the North Central Caller's Association and a director of the State Caller's Association, will appear tonight at the Ag Club Halloween party at 7:30 p.m. in the McPherson College gymnasium.

Folk games, music, and other entertainment including "Chaff" are on the agenda according to John Myers, chairman of the program committee. Cliff Tussing, senior, Baltimore, Md., will add to the entertainment with his guitar.

Mr. Jordan called for the Ag Club sponsored barn party last spring and via comment said, "I really enjoyed it and hope they enjoyed it as much as I did. They are a wonderful group to work with."

Apple cider and doughnuts are slated as refreshments for the evening and decorations for the building are being planned according to Doyle Royer, member of the refreshment committee.

Officers of the Ag Club are Terry Weddle, president, Doyle Royer, vice president, and Melvin Roberts, secretary-treasurer.

Results Of Tests Posted Today

The English Proficiency Test has been issued for this year and the results are expected to be posted by Friday noon according to Prof. Harley Stump, associate professor of English.

One hundred and one students took the test which proved to be more difficult than was anticipated. The papers are in the final process of checking now and general errors will be noted.

Where it is indicated, remedial work will be used to help the student do better. Names will be posted on the board in Sharp under the professor who will talk over the results with those that took the test.

Those that took the test should see the professor under which their name is listed. As was indicated, the quality of English left something to be desired but it is hoped that this can be remedied.

Recent Series Was Aimed On Christian Education Trends

"New Trends in Christian Education" was the central theme of a recent series of five meetings held at the Educational Building of the college church. Mrs. Gordon Yoder was the Dean of the School, the first of its kind in many years in the city of McPherson.

A rhythmic interpretation of Christian Education was presented in three parts on Sunday evening, Sept. 28. Part one consisted of a Verse Choir directed by Bob Dell, sophomore from McPherson. They delivered "The Creation" by J. Weldon Johnson.

Tenor soloist, Nelson Stump, son of Harley Stump, assistant professor of English and literature, sang the "Lord's Prayer," while a group of high school youth interpreted it in rhythm.

A "family orchestra" also had its birth at this service, under the direction of Donald Frederick, professor of voice, director of choral organization, and director of bands. It is hoped that in future years this group will unite parents and children into a standing group and that they can perform occasionally in the church.

One hundred were in attendance at the teachers appreciation dinner on Oct. 2. Mary Ann Robinson, a Presbyterian from McPherson, who recently returned from an International Christian Education Convention in Tokyo, Japan, was

Pondering With The President

Have You Ever Been Lost?

By Dr. D. W. Bittinger

One has a panicky feeling when he is lost, especially if he cannot read the street signs, or ask questions in the language of the country. This happened to us several times this summer in Europe.

But a worst "lostness" is when one has a sense of being all alone in the midst of a crowd of his own fellows. One does not know how to escape from this kind of lostness. It is hard to read the signs, or speak the language which liberates from this lostness.

There are some students on every campus, including McPherson campus, who have this sense of being lost. They are surrounded by several hundred young people of their own ages. But they do not feel that they belong; that they really know anyone; that they have a y heart-to-heart friends.

You can read the loneliness in the eyes of this "lost" boy or girl.

Perhaps all of us are thoughtless at this point. We may not be conscious of these people; consequently, are not seeking to help anyone who has this sense of lostness to find any street signs which will help him into friendship.

Can you be helpful at this point?

Disrespect For Dormitories Tends To Show Immaturity

College society is very interesting. It consists of many different people and ideas and situations. Sometimes these ideas of people conflict with each other and hinder their getting along with each other.

Members of the college family must get along just as members of any family. It is evident that disrespect for a house can cause much trouble in a family and much unhappiness.

In the same way disrespect for a home can cause trouble, disrespect for the dormitory can cause trouble in the college family. All of us want to get along and be a peaceful family.

However, those who write on the walls and leave trash and bottles in the halls must be exceptions. It takes little effort to sweep up dirt into a pan and dump it in a can.

But, more often than not, dirt is swept from the rooms into the broom closet and left on the floor. Apple fights are fun but why leave the cores on the hall floor?

Young people must have a little fun and horsplay but when they leave the evidence for the janitor to clean up it shows their immaturity and their unwillingness to conform to the normal.

Let's all grow up a little and show the respect for our dorm homes that they deserve. In this way we can make the dorms better places to live during our years in college. — a student.

As the March of Dimes moves forward Toward Greater Victories, its first new targets are two of the greatest crippers of all—arthritis and birth defects (congenital malformations).

The average man is proof that the average woman can take a joke.

Critical Commentary Given On Higher Education By Prof

Dr. George Williams in his new and critical commentary on higher education in America, "Some Of My Best Friends Are Professors", warns that there is only one way to be a good professor, but there are at least seven ways to be a very bad one.

These suggestions should be weighed perhaps by the students who have just completed their first week of practice teaching.

The first bad professor is the stupid professor. He is a rule-follower, because rule-following simplifies life for him.

The second professor, the smug professor, is the one who is convinced that he is most clever and most knowing and has proved to himself that he is a pretty smart fellow. He must be a pretty smart fellow after all to have gotten where he is.

Less common is the third type, the arrogant one. He is never arrogant to those above, but always arrogant to his students.

as well as to faculty members who are his inferiors.

He is rude and has forgotten what Emerson knew — that the secret of education lies in respecting the pupil.

The fourth type of bad professor is the one who just does not care about people. He likes science and scholarship, books and libraries. He enjoys talking about what he knows, but he has no understanding of the points of view of his students.

Dr. Williams describes several other types of "bad" professors. The final type of bad professor whom Dr. Williams excoriates teaches in a supremely business-like way. To this professor the students are so many items to be processed, so many completed jobs to be turned out according to schedule.

If Dr. Williams is severe on some of the professional types in his book, he reminds us all, in his title, that "Some Of My Best Friends Are Professors."

Chaff Goes To Chapel... Sweet Slumber

By Faus, Foley, and Harris

An important hole in the road of education is sleeping through chapel. It happens this way: it is Friday, a day like any other day, a chapel session like any other chapel session, except YOU ARE THERE.

The organ has finally been drowned out by the murmur of conversation, the curtains open, revealing a quaint little man with a grey mustache, peering over the top of the rostrum.

He clears his throat, waves a ream of paper, and says, "Will you please give your attention to a few important announcements. They are as follow:

"There will be an important meeting of the SNEA, The Slightly Neurotic Educators of America, immediately following chapel in the business office, to find out what happened to last year's dues.

"Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Tubb announce the engagement of their daughter, Ima Tubb, to Mr. Doug Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Graves.

"Next Monday night the Student Ministers' Group will meet in the Community Building Auditorium to hear Dr. Evan Jellik speak on "Why Ministers Shouldn't Marry Barmaids." Professor Dale Brown will introduce the speaker and wake the audience when it is time to go home.

"Mr. and Mrs. Ply Wood of Greenwood, Minn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Wood, to Mr. Rex Carrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Carrs of Wheeling, West. Va. Rex is at present a sophomore at McPherson College majoring in auto-mechanics and first aid.

"All girls wishing to have dates this weekend please meet at midnight tonight in room 410 Dotzour.

"ALL boys desiring dates this weekend write your name on a $10 bill, address it to CMAFF, and put it in the Spectator mailbox.

"Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horn announce that their daughter, Ooga Horn, is interested in becoming engaged. All boys who are interested please meet at the back of chapel after chapel today.

"The Faculty Social Committee wishes to announce that since Lotta Drive and Earnest Ree Stence have had three dates in a row, they are now going steady until further notice. This decision upholds an earlier pronouncement of the Dotzour Dorm Council.

"The members of the Student Court are asked to meet at 9:30 this evening for an investigation of room 410, Dotzour."

"The following people have been chosen to be co-captains of the intramural hula-hooping teams. Will they please meet after chapel in the broom closet under the chapel. Ruth Less and Will Cheat, Sally Forth and Harry Armpitt, Rannie Hertz and Russel Kattle, Marion Kind and Nat Available, Wanda Flirt and Thurston Long."

"The coming of T. F. M. S. L. is rapidly drawing near. Be sure you are prepared for it. Remember, T.F.M.S.L. spelled backwards is L.S.M.F.T."

So what was chapel like today? It was a chapel like any other chapel, filled with those events which warp and deteriorate our minds, and YOU WERE THERE.

Ottawa Plays Host To Bulldogs As Mac Seeks Fourth Win

McPherson College Bulldogs will travel to Ottawa tomorrow night as they face the Ottawa University Braves in a KCAC game beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Braves were victorious in last week's play, defeating Bethany. The Braves will enter tomorrow's game with a 2-1-1 record.

The two teams were evenly matched in last year's contest with McPherson edging the Braves 13-12. The Bulldogs came from behind in the last quarter to win their homecoming game.

Since the series began with Ottawa, McPherson has won 12 games and lost 14.

Ottawa finished fifth in the KACA standings last season with a 3-3 record.

Iowa Hopes Are High In Big Ten Competition

Iowa's victory over Northwestern left the Hawkeyes in undisputed possession of the Big Ten lead. The championship could be decided two weeks from tomorrow when Iowa and Ohio State meet.

In Big Ten action last week Iowa held off a strong Northwestern team 26-20. Illinois blanked Michigan State 16-0 while Michigan tripped Minnesota 20-19.

A strong Wisconsin outfit held Ohio State to a 7-7 deadlock. The Boilermakers of Purdue knocked off Notre Dame 29-22. Indiana registered a win by defeating Miami, Ohio, 12-7.

Baker Continues To Lead KCAC

The Wildcats of Baker University continue to lead the KCAC race by defeating Bethel 41-20 last Saturday.

McPherson maintained its second place position by crushing Friends 54-27. Friends remains in the league cellar.

The three way tie for third position which prevailed last week was broken as Kansas Wesleyan defeated College of Emporia 27-21.

Ottawa's 19-14 win over Bethany gave Kansas Wesleyan undisputed possession of third place.

Chamber Of Commerce Sponsor Contest

Interested in fifty dollars? Fifty dollars is waiting for the best ideas of Christmas decorations on Main Street of McPherson for the 1959 season. The Chamber of Commerce is asking all people with ideas to prepare them for the contest.

The deadline for submitting designs is Dec. 1, this year. These designs may be in pencil sketches, water colors, or even small models. An area of five or six feet below the lights will be available for the designs.

Entries may be mailed to the Chamber office at 118 North Ash, McPherson.

Bulldogs Wallop Quakers To Remain In Second Place

The McPherson College Bulldogs scored eight touchdowns and six extra points to wallop the Quakers of Friends University 54 to 27 in a Kansas Conference game.

With two minutes remaining in the game, the tempers of several of the boys were aroused which resulted in a fist fight. The referees were unable to control the players so the game was called.

The Bulldogs hit quick to score two touchdowns in the first five minutes of play. They scored one on a pass from Stucky to Don Elliott and another on a run by Ragland. The Quakers also scored on a 85 yard kickoff return early in the first quarter.

The highlight of the second quarter was the play of the senior end, Ed Delk. Delk scored two touchdowns, one on a 30 yard pass play which resulted in a spectacular catch, and another one on a 23 yard pass interception runback.

The star of the third quarter was another senior, Gene Elliott. He also scored two touchdowns, one on a pass from Stucky and another one on a run around right end for six yards. Elliott also caught a pass for an extra point.

Most of the scoring done by the Quakers was done against the second and third units of the Bulldogs. The second unit of the Bulldogs showed some fire by running some very fine plays called by the quarterbacks Sams and Heidebrecht.

Five men were involved in scoring the eight touchdowns which made up the 54 points. Delk, Don Elliott, and Gene Elliott each scored two, while Ragland and Richards scored one each. Gordon Lewis kicked four of the extra points and passed two, one to Gene Elliott and one to Heidebrecht.

The Bulldogs had a total of 176 yards rushing while the Quakers had 97 yards. The Bulldogs had 188 yards passing to Friend's 129 yards. The Quakers lost the ball five times by fumbles which helped to set up several of the Bulldogs touchdowns.

Mac Student Is Licensed Pilot

If you see a plane buzzing the tops of the buildings of McPherson College, do not become alarmed. It may be one of the college's own students.

We have a female pilot on our campus this year. Miss Edith Martin from Canton, Kas., is a licensed pilot.

Miss Martin first became interested in flying when her employer in Canton purchased a private plane. He urged everyone of his employees to learn to pilot the plane. He offered to pay for the lessons for those who wished to learn.

Miss Martin and two other employees became interested and took the flying lessons. Miss Mar-

B-Squad Boasts A Record Of 3-1

"Training for the future," are the words used by George Keim, assistant coach, to describe the Maccollege B-football squad. The team consists mostly of freshmen and also sophomores and juniors who do not play in the varsity games.

"Principally, the B-squad is used as a means of training players for the A team and is designed to observe the boys under pressure," Mr. Keim stated.

Four games have been played to date with a total of three wins and one loss. McPherson capped two over Wesleyan. The loss was a yield to Sterling which, however, was successfully atoned last Monday with a 14-6 win.

tin was the only woman who took them.

Miss Martin took lessons at the McPherson Airport. Her instructor was a postman when not instructing flying lessons. She received her license in 1956.

Miss Martin says that she would rather fly than do almost anything else. Landing is her greatest pleasure. It took longer to learn how to land, and it gives her a lot of satisfaction when she lands her plane.

Miss Martin flies for pleasure as well as business.

She works in Canton where she lives. She drives to school each morning. She is enrolled as a freshman this year.

Athlete Of The Week

Delk Receives Recognition For Fine All-Around Play

For playing a tough defensive and offensive game in the McPherson-Friends tilt, Edmund Delk, better known as "Ed," has been selected as "Athlete of the Week."

Ed, a senior now student-teaching at Moundridge, Kas., stands 6' 1" high and weighs 170 pounds.

Ed, who is one of the best pass receivers in the conference, was elected to the All-Conference second team last year. He is a rugged defensive end and a player that is a good competitor all of the way.

Ed not only is a good end, but is one of the stalwarts of the Bulldog basketball team.

Ed and his wife, Sharon, live in McPherson.

Three Play In Concert Given By Navy Band

Three college students played with the Navy Band during one of the concerts given. Gary Stelling and Irvin Wagner played trombone, and Danny Olmsted played the sousaphone. The number they played was "National Emblem."

Name Omitted

Noel Grove was unintentionally omitted from last week's story of the "See How They Run" play cast.

Noel is laying the role of the Reverend Lionel Toop, husband of Penelope Toop. Lionel is a mellow sort of man trying to play referee between his wife and an obviously-attracted old-maid.
