

McPHERSON COLLEGE FUTURE — Trustees of McPherson College were on campus last week end discussing the policies and projects to be undertaken for future years. Harvey Lehman, (standing) director of public relations, is giving one of the many reports about the condition of the college.

Trustees Grant Scholarships; Boost Hourly Tuitional Costs

College Trustees have decided to authorize five $1,000 scholarships at $250 per year to McPherson to be awarded by examination.

This was one of the decisions made by trustees at their two and one-half day session which adjourned Saturday noon, Feb. 27.

Another decision was that tuitional costs would have to increase to keep pace with rising costs of operation. Next year's tuition is set at $17.50 per semester hour.

Trustees have also agreed to expand the faculty by at least three members if satisfactory personnel can be found. These additions will be made in the fields of Psychology, Mathematics and Physics, and Languages.

A 75th year anniversary committee was set up to plan for the Diamond Jubilee of the college in 1962.

Plans were also made for the completion and furnishing of Jessie Brown Auditorium and Mohler Hall. Trustees discussed plans for dedicating these buildings in early fall.

Trustees authorized further strenuous efforts to secure quickly the remaining $150,000 share of the $700,000 now allocated by the college and by government loan for new construction.

Working Drawings
They authorized the preparation of working drawings for a Student-Union-Cafeteria and a girls' dormitory as an addition to the present Dotzour Hall and three additional apartments for married couples.

These will be submitted for construction bids as soon as the matching part of the finances is available.

Further studies with reference to additional parking, the present Sharp Hall, long-term extension and expansion of campus and plant were authorized.

A committee was designated to study operational procedures in a new cafeteria. They will consider the possibility or advisability of a board and room charge as opposed to a cafeteria arrangement. Next year's budget was set at approximately $470,000 as compared to a current budget of $414,000.

Faculty Re-hired

Trustees re-employed present faculty with increases in salary. These were adjusted to tenure, academic degree and other factors.

It was decided to plan ahead to be ready to care for Macollege's share of students who may be seeking Christian focused higher education at McPherson College.

Charter by-laws were amended to allow for a modified form of trustee representation which would better represent the constituency as it now is. Three trustees may be elected by the alumni; whereas one had been elected previously.

Emerson Chisholm, Roxbury, was elected to the Board of Trustees and to the Executive Committee of the Trustees.

The following officers were elected: Paul Sargent, President; Harold Mohler, Vice President; Paul Sherry, Secretary; Gordon Yoder, Treasurer.

Friday's Chapel To Be At College Church

A change in location of chapel is planned for Friday, March 11. College student will meet with Regional Conference youth at the Church of the Brethren.

Chapels next week will feature M. R. Zigler, a leader for the conference, as guest speaker.

"A. D. 2000" will be Mr. Zigler's topic on Tuesday, March 8. Addressing Regional Conference youth and Macollege students, Mr. Zigler will speak Friday, March 11, on "Peace-making Without Preaching."

Loan Approved By Government

A federal loan of $548,000 has been approved for McPherson College to construct several new buildings on the campus.

The college must put up $140,000 in cash before the loan funds can be made available. At present a little more than $60,000 is available in cash.

The Housing and Home Finance Administration approved the loan according to Senator Andrew Schoepel, who called from Washington, D. C., last week.

The project calls for an addition to the present Dotzour Hall, the women's dormitory; 12 new family units which would double the size of the present College Courts; and a new Student Union building including a cafeteria. The entire project is estimated to cost $696,000.

With the approval of the federal loan, the college can now make more specific plans concerning the new building program. The Board of Trustees discussed this program at its annual business meeting last week-end.

Start of construction will be delayed until the full $148,000 has been raised.

5 $1,000 Scholarships Are Made Available

Five new scholarships will be available to next year's freshmen at Macollege.

These scholarships are for $1,000, granted to five high school seniors, upon examination only. These examinations are to be given here at Macollege. They are reserved for students with highest academic standing.

Five new ones will be granted each year. The $200 scholarships that are now offered to high school seniors will still be offered in the future.

'Othello' To Be Given Next Friday, Saturday

The first Macollege performance of Shakespeare's "Othello" will be Friday evening, March 11 in the Community Building. It will be in conjunction with the Regional Youth Conference.

The second performance, also in the Community Building, will be Saturday evening, March 12. This performance will be primarily for local townspeople and high school students.

Many stage properties, fashioned from various odds and ends found in the properties room, have been constructed by Dean Hall and Don Hollenbeck.

Lesson From A Roommate

By Dr. D. W. Bittinger

Recently, I had a roommate for a short period of time from whom I learned much.

I was moved into this room when I was ill and under sedation. As I came out of the anesthesia I observed my roommate and saw that he, too, was a sick man. He was being fed through the veins, as I was, and he also had other medical paraphernalia about him. I remember one of his first remarks to me; it followed having some colored people perform certain services in the room. He said, "I do not like 'niggers.' I never go south, because every time I look over my shoulder one of them is looking at me. I think they have a right to live, but I don't want any of them around where I am."

I remember thinking, "This man is ill. His body seems to be struggling against rather serious difficulties. Yet he also is ill in spirit. I hope he can be cured from both of these illnesses."

As the days stretched on, we had numerous conversations. Sometimes these conversations occurred in the middle of the night when neither of us could sleep. One night, after the nurses had tried for a long time to re-set an entrance into his veins, they called a very charming special nurse who in a matter of a few seconds effected this procedure and relieved him of a long period of severe pain.

He said to this nurse, "I cannot quite figure you out. Would you tell me what you are?"

She said, with some pride, "I am half Indian, my mother was a full-blooded Indian."

He said, "Your are the most beautiful girl I have ever seen and you did that more skillfully than any doctor or anybody else has ever done it for me. I hope you will be the one to do it each time."

Another day, after he had been in considerable pain all day, one of the colored nurses very gently rolled him from side to side, massaged his body, and talked cheerfully to him. This happened several times.

After she was gone, he said to me, "It seems to me that the colored people are more happy than anybody else. Their smiles are brighter and I have been noticing that they seem really to want to make you comfortable. Their touch is gentle."

There were members of other national groups and other racial groups who worked with us. He talked to all of these people. One morning after the nurses had worked with him diligently until about 3:00 a.m., he said to me before he finally turned to go to sleep, "You know, it seems to me it makes no difference what race you belong to, or what nation you come from; the important thing is how you look at life and how sincerely you try to be helpful."

I was glad to be awake at 3:00 that morning to hear him say this. I felt that my roommate was getting well!

The end came suddenly for my roommate. That very same morning the nurses and the doctors hurried around his bed, but his spirit took flight.

I was glad that before it did make its venture into the great unknown, he could go out feeling that racial and national groupings had little to do with the important things; that in the spirit, and in the spirit world, such things as language, color, national background are of little importance.

Loving, gentle, serving hands had done this for him.

Jesus had quite a bit to say about this kind of hands.

Cafeteria Line In Reverse

I went to eat in the cafeteria one day. When the whistle blew the line started moving — backwards. I got disgusted and went home!

This is the way Mrs. Brunk, Macollege English professor, described her recent encounter with the cafeteria line.

Ask almost any student for his opinion on the cafeteria line and about the first peeve he will mention will be those "people" who hold places for others and the others who come crowding into the line when the whistle blows.

The "steadies" waiting near the trays do much to hold up and slow down the line: The one girl who holds places for her six girl friends who have class and cannot be there until later to eat with her helps the line move — backwards!

Is the personality so one sided or the clique so disgustingly tight knit that one cannot speak to or eat with a new acquaintance or an unfamiliar student?

A special cafeteria committee of the student council is working on ideas and suggestions for speeding up the line. With the cooperation of the cafeteria employees some definite improvements have already been made.

Changing the position of the ice cream counter has helped eliminate the bottle-neck at the turn in the serving line.

It may not seem to have helped much, but we have been finishing serving fifteen minutes earlier one cafeteria employee commented. When someone has to consult several of his friends and almost tastes something before he orders it the cooperation is lost and the line slowed down again, commented Professor Dell, Dean of Men.

One student suggestion was made in regard to the cash register. This student recommended that the meal ticket be figured up and given to the student at the end of the line. He would pay for his meal at another register as he left the cafeteria.

Another group of students suggested lowering the temperature in the cafeteria and playing soft music. They thought that this would tend to discourage griping and perhaps speed up the line.

Whole caravans of students eat down town regularly. Many others do not eat in the cafeteria because they have 1:15 classes and because they do not want to be habitually late because of time wasted standing in the cafeteria line.

What will happen when Regional Youth Conference arrives and more than twice as many

Are Campus Organizations Doing Their Part?

By Dennis Hubbard

Much has been written and broadcasted lately about payola and disc jockeys, and their eternal fight against racketeering. These stories are always written up in big scandalous ways, in big names, and such that students would not think it might be possible on their own campus.

To the students and guests that attended the M Club Carnival last Friday night, they could have wondered who fixed the door prize of the diamond ring that is supposed to be given away to a different person each year.

Dennis Dirksen, last year's winner and still reigning champion, again walked out of the gym with another diamond ring. Who rigged the jar?

Seriously, no one rigged the jar, and it was a "million and one chance" that he received the ring again this year.

It is interests such as these that make a carnival, circus or such event on campus a success. Why don't more of the campus organizations get behind their groups and support a contest or promote evenings entertainment such as the M Club has done?

It is not just necessarily the idea of going to the activity to clean up on prizes, but the idea of fellowship, skill and sportsmanship, win or loose.

An activity such as this on campus or in town that is run by the student and/or townfolks, creates much more interest than the same type of organization brought in commercially.

The contestants know for what reason the proceeds will be used, and that it will not be blown the next day on something insignificant, but instead used for and on the campus.

So much of the time when a hired circus or carnival is brought into town, they are sloppy, unsanitary and are explicitly out to get the money, by hook or by crook.

So, why don't the various organizations on campus get behind their groups and promote entertainment such as the carnival for the students to enjoy? Everyone will profit in the long run.

will be eating in the cafeteria? Will the crowd be with us still and will they be instructing their friends and guests in the "fine art of crowding?"

Support SPECTATOR advertisers. They support the SPECTATOR.

Bulldogs End '59-'60 Season Fourth In KCAC Race With 16-9 Overall Record

The McPherson College Bulldogs of Coach Sid Smith copped fourth place in the tough 1959-1960 KCAC cage race. The Canines finished with a conference record of 11 wins and 7 losses and had 16 wins against 9 setbacks overall.

The Bulldogs opened the cage season with a resounding 74 to 55 victory over Tabor.

After losing to the Bethany Swedes in the opening round of the Moundridge Tourney, Mac came back to again thump Tabor 67 to 52 and win third place in the tourney.

The next outing found Mac opening conference play at Southwestern. Playing perhaps one of their best games of the season, the Bulldogs rocked the Mound-builders to the tune of 81 to 54. The Bulldogs then hit an early season slump and dropped their next three conference starts against Sterling, Ottawa, and College of Emporia.

Mac then snapped back and defeated Midland College of Nebraska 65 to 61 in the opening game of the Holiday Tourney. A powerful Hastings team hit the Bulldogs 76 to 61 to shove the Mac thick of the conference race.

In the next three outings, the Bulldogs met the three top KCAC powers, Ottawa, C. of E., and Bethany. The Bulldogs were handily downed by a sizzling Ottawa club, 101 to 68. Mac came back again and nipped C. of E. 64 to 63 to keep their flag hopes aglow. The Canines then traveled to Bethany for another showdown with the league-leading Swedes. The Bulldogs stayed close during most of the game, but were finally dropped 74 to 59.

These losses to Ottawa and Bethany put a damper on the Bulldogs chances for a conference crown. The Bulldogs closed out the season with a 100 to 81 routing of Friends, a 91 to 83 loss to Baker, a 108 to 86 avenging team into the consolation bracket, however. The Bulldogs again came roaring back and avenged an earlier loss by cracking the Swedes from Bethany 84 to 71 to capture third place in the Holiday Tourney.

The Canines kept the winning streak alive this time. They again nipped the Swedes 53 to 52, walloped Friends University 105-82, and whipped Baker 94 to 84 before tasting defeat at the hands of the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes, 82 to 64.

The Bulldogs then staged another four-game winning streak. They took Bethel 67 to 65, Southwestern 77 to 69, Sterling 90 to 68 and Tabor 89 to 78.

The Bulldogs stood 7 and 4 in conference play at this point in the season and still were in the

Ground Breaking Year Ago For Mohler, Brown Buildings

The first anniversary of groundbreaking for Mohler and Jessie Brown is Monday, March 7. The town has thus come to take a look at the past year of progress and change on the Macollege Campus.

The story begins on the chilly day of March 7, 1959, in a location near old circle drive in front of Sharp Hall where there are gathered together some 400 people, mostly high school conference guests, come to participate in groundbreaking.

After a dedication service, which included numbers by the Brass Quintet and short speeches by two or three speakers the shovel bit into the black earth west of circle drive.

First Shovels of Earth

The first six shovels full of earth were dug by Dr. D. W. Bittinger, president of Macollege; Irwin Wagner, Regional CBYF president; Carl Harris, president of student council; A. W. Bremyer, mayor of McPherson; M. Clare Miller, chairman of fund drive; and Ernest Wall, ex-president of the Board of trustees.

The day ended and time passed until early April is at last here. Activity began as the general contractors started moving equipment in and setting up posts to fence off the building area, blocking circle drive forever.

Trees Come Down

With the fence up the workmen uprooted the aged trees of circle drive and cut them into firewood. Clearing the trees was finished and the scooping out of the foundation for Jessie Brown Auditorium began near April's end.

Day by day, despite rain, flood, and mud, the hole became deeper until by the end of school it was nearly completed.

School days were over now, save for the summer students, but the work continued through the hot summer days as the columns for Mohler Hall rose skyward and the new band room was cemented — walls and roof.

September came bringing both old and new students to see the changes that had taken place during the summer, the new pipe tunnel north of Sharp and the white columns of Mohler Hall.

Framework of Steel

During the first two months of school, the new buildings progressed and slowly took form with the framework of steel being put for the auditorium. Then the day when the first bricks for the wall to the east were laid came.

Cold weather came in November and December, but nevertheless, progress continued as the floors of Mohler were poured and the east wall of Jessie Brown was completed while the other three walls were begun and steel supports for the roof swung in place. Soon history was made with the second floor and roof of Mohler Hall being raised in the first weeks of 1960.

What In Future

A year of progress has been from March 7, 1959 to March 7, 1960. What is to come to Macampus in the next few years?

The answer is the completion of Brown Auditorium, which it is hoped will be ready for use in the latter part of 1960, and the completion of Mohler Hall Administration and classroom building.

Soon to be started will be a new wing to Dotzour Hall, which will house seventy-two women students, and a new student union-cafeteria building to be constructed south of Brown Auditorium between Dotzour and the library.

Last year, for the first time in history, personal income paid Americans averaged a billion dollars or more a day.
