He competed with state winners from eleven other states.

Although he did not win one of the three prizes awarded, the state WCTU president indicated, "Eddy did a fine job and received many high compliments on his oration."

Eddy traveled by plane from Wichita.

Deep Fryer Added To Cafeteria Kitchen

Fried chicken and french fries are now on the cafeteria menu, because of a new deep fat fryer which was delivered Sept. 28.

The fryer is a recent model which runs on gas, not electricity, but does have an electric thermostat keeping the temperature of the grease constant.

Byron Pauls is in charge of the fryer and fixes the chicken served on Sundays. Also french fried potatoes will appear more often on the menu. Mrs. Sliker is considering fried onion rings.

Maccollege To Start New Entrance Exam Schedule

McPherson College and 31 surrounding colleges will take part in a new college testing program in the fall of 1960.

This testing program will replace the freshman testing program which is held the opening week of school.

The tests will be made available to all high school seniors through their counselors. If incoming students have not taken the tests previously, they will be required to do so when they arrive.

McPherson has been chosen as a test center, and Nov. 7 a large number of students from the surrounding area will be here to take the tests.

The state coordinator of the program is Dr. Gerritz from Kansas State University. He has set up an advisory committee of which Dean Geisert is a member.

'Study Habits' Purpose Of Five Weeks Grades

The purpose of five week grades is to give the student more chance to recover from bad study habits in a particular course if he knows the results of his laxity early in the semester.

Dean Wayne F. Geisert said that this plan was in effect before he came and has been continued because the faculty has felt that it is wise to try to identify the students who are doing less than their best early in the semester.

At the five weeks, all professors hand in grades on all students. The registrar summarizes the grades that seem to be weak and presents this summary to the Personnel Committee for its use in counseling students.

At the nine weeks and again at the end of the semester, grades are given to the student.

CBYF Regional Cabinet Meeting Here Oct. 23-24

The executive committee this year includes Bob Dell, chairman; Valerie Miller, Juanita Fike, Bonnie Hodgden, Don Hollenbeck and Treva Brown.

The regional counselor is Paul Wagner and the regional youth director is Kenneth Holderred.

The meeting starts at 8:00 p.m., Friday, and will be over at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. The meeting is open to youth and to anyone else who is interested.

Warm Hands, Hearts Prove Beneficial In Disaster Areas

Dr. D. W. Bittinger

We here at the college are much pre-occupied in our own affairs. Warm hands and pulsating hearts are a part of these affairs.

Our interests, however, should not be cut off from other parts of the world.

Several hurricanes and typhoons have been swirling across our world. Some of them reached into our country, leaving loss of life and considerable devastation.

Anything that we have suffered, however, is minor in contrast with the typhoon, Vera, which recently whirled its way across part of Japan. The dead it left number, not hundreds, but thousands. Japanese cities and homes were torn and scattered, leaving 1,200,000 homeless.

Such suffering and despair staggers the imagination. Our small sufferings with our own hurricanes occupied more of our newspaper space than did this terrifying loss.

But there are interested people who want to help. Church World Service immediately cabled $15,000 to voluntary service workers in the area and got food and clothing underway.

The Church of the Brethren joined in this enterprise and together they are sending 100,000 pounds of goods at once. The NWA Aircraft people carried 17,000 pounds of this without charge into the devastated area.

Several church agencies are moving disaster units composed of volunteer workers into the area of suffering.

It would be good if this sort of helpful activity could receive wider publicity so that we all could better realize the warm-hearted feeling which the common people of the world have toward each other. This may be more important than military affairs, national elections, or moon rockets.

Warm heads and helpful hands should know no barriers.

Read and heed Spec ads.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

The 'Spirit' Takes Us Thru The Cafeteria Line

By JOHN W. DILLEY

Hello, this is the Spirit of all Things Good. Today I bring you as a public service a message of importance.

A popular place on campus seems to be the cafeteria, since most of the students attend the activities held there three times daily. Also it is the most talked about place on campus, besides Dotzour.

Some of the talk one may hear concerning the cafeteria is, "This soup is only three years old," "Boy, this line is slow" "They must wait for the chicken to be ordered before it is killed," and many other such statements.

Let us look at the reason for the slow chow line. Many times it is the fault of students, not the cafeteria, although occasionally they may be a little slow because of an accident of some type.

Students hold up the line when they ignore the menu board and wait until they reach the steam-line to decide what they want.

As for the food. There is no spoiled or almost spoiled food served in our cafeteria. (You will have to go to the city garbage collectors for that.) Once in a while something may get a little extra brown, but that adds to the flavor.

Then there are those who complain about the left-overs which are offered. The left-overs in the cafeteria are always good food and most students eat left-overs at home. So, what is the difference?

Also if any student feels that the cafeteria should serve something which it does not offer, Mrs. Slifer would be glad to hear any suggestions.

Next time you feel like griping about the cafeteria, stop and think about the thousands of people in the world whose only cafeteria is somebody else's garbage can. Then, thank God for the wonderful cafeteria we have.

Simple Little Words Make Big Hard Accomplishments

By Faye Brunner

Co-operation is a simple word or a very hard word, depending on whether you are a college student or a first grader. Coming to the conclusion that we are all college students on this campus, we will pretend that co-operation is a simple word.

It is strange that such a simple word can be such a hard state to arrive at. Sure it sounds easy, all we have to do is co-operate and we have co-operation. We forget each individual's selfish wants; we throw out the importance of including everyone; or we just do as WE please.

I believe that it is especially on a college campus that we should learn the meaning of co-operation to our daily lives and experiences.

In one area let us just see how much co-operation is necessary for success. The football team is made up of eleven players. Suppose for an instant that each of the eleven wants to carry the ball at the same time. Of course you know what happens—the ball is lost and so is the play.

The cheerleaders need the support of the pep club, and the pep club needs the leadership of the cheerleaders, but what happens when they want their own ways over the proper wording of a particular chant? What happens? Dis-satisfaction, hurt feelings, lack of spirit, and no noise are quite evident.

Let us examine ourselves for just one little minute. Are we really co-operating for our team, whether it is life, athletics, or studies? What can we do to help get that simple word a part of our campus?

Trava Brown, Emilie Rowland, and Esther Bollinger led the group in singing, crafts, and recreation.

Faculty Wives On Campus

Several wives of faculty members are employed by McPherson College.

A Cappella Tries New Sound In Singing

The McPherson College A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Professor Donald Frederick, made its first public appearance Oct. 4 in the Church of the Brethren. The choir, divided into a loft choir and two balcony choirs, sang "Cherubic Hymn" by Rachmaninoff and "Sing Ye To The Lord" by De Lamarier.

The choir division is an experiment being tried by Professor Frederick to increase the singing effects of the choir.

The choir also plans to do numbers Oct. 24 at the homecoming alumni program, and Oct. 25 at the Church of the Brethren, a vesper musicale.

Bulldogs To Play Afternoon Game KWU Homecoming

The Macollege Bulldogs will clash with the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes. Two queens will be honored. Before the game a Wesleyan co-ed, chosen by the football team, will be crowned Homecoming Queen. During halftime the Homecoming Queen will crown a Band Queen. She is also named by the football team, from candidates selected by the area bands.

Kansas Wesleyan runs from the wing-T. They have been using that formation to capitalize on their strong backfield. All of their last year's starting backfield returned this year.

Kansas Wesleyan's line is inexperienced, but they have made a good showing for themselves so far this year.

Some of their outstanding linemen are John Snyder, at tackle; Richard Smith, at end; and Maynard Kline, at guard.

The Coyotes' backfield contains Chuck Culley and Jerry Smith at halfbacks and John Hoffman at quarterback.

Kansas Wesleyan has one win, one loss, one tie for a conference record this year. They lost to Ottawa, defeated Friends, and tied the powerful Bethany Swedes.

The Bulldogs starting lineup should be nearly the same as it has been.

Festivities for Kansas Wesleyan's Homecoming and Band Day will start at 1:15 Saturday with a parade.

At 2:30 p.m. in Glenn Martin stadium the McPherson Bulldogs will clash with the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes.

Two queens will be honored. Before the game a Wesleyan co-ed, chosen by the football team, will be crowned Homecoming Queen. During halftime the Homecoming Queen will crown a Band Queen. She is also named by the football team, from candidates selected by the area bands.

Also between halves the visiting bands will gather in one formation and play together. A total of fourteen bands is expected to participate.

Homecoming plans and arrangements are made each year by members of the Student Council.

Major Games . . .

Macollege Registrar Enjoys Free Lance Writing Hobby

"Free lance writing has always been my favorite pastime," said Mrs. Martin, when asked about her hobby.

Mrs. Martin, Macollege registrar, became especially enthused about her writing when an article she wrote for the Ohio Architect magazine was published in the Sept. 1959 issue.

This article, entitled "Architects Spark New Breath for Downtown Toledo," describes a new 4-block pedestrian mall in Toledo, Ohio. Plans for the mall were made and carried out by the architectural firms in Toledo.

Mrs. Martin became interested in the mall when she was visiting her son this past August. He is an architectural partner of the Schauder-Martin firm.

Mrs. Martin describes the mall as being interesting and beautiful, and she reports that while she was there thousands of other curious spectators were roaming the mall, observing the new experiment.

Nettleton Sees Germany; School Starts In October

Macollege's exchange student to Germany, Jim Nettleton, is now living and working in a boys' refugee camp, Sandbostel, which is located approximately half way between Hamburg and Bremen.

The camp itself is permanent, but the 500 or more refugee boys are transient. During the ten days that a group which is flown out of Boflin, stays in Sandbostel, the boys are screened for spies, criminals, and others who are not really refugees.

Jim worked in the camp library at first, but began work with the boys in the barracks on Oct. 5.

Before he went to Sandbostel, Jim's first real contact with the German people, after he spent a few days in Kassel, was in the little village of Meinbrexlin, which is near Goettingen.

Jim will be going to a teacher's college in Goettingen when it begins the last of October.

In Meinbrexlin, Jim was with a German youth, doing practice teaching in a school in which the classes were much like those of an American rural school. Sessions were held only in the morning, however, but six days a week.

Jim was in Meinbrexlin during their sportsfest, the big day of the village year, celebrated with decorations, parades, games, contests, and dancing.

Catching eels, cleaning, smoking, and eating them was one of Jim's new experiences while in Meinbrexlin.

Language is a problem, Jim writes. "It is hard to catch the gist of what someone is telling me, translate it, think up the answer, at the same time learn new words, think the subject through, and plan my diplomacy."

Jim has sent his greetings to all Mac students. He writes that he would appreciate letters from Mac students.

His address at present is J. W. Nettleton, Jugendlager, Sandbostel-Bremervorde, Germany.

Hess Continues Composing Music At Macollege Campus

Harvey Hess, a junior music major at Macollege, states that he continued composing last summer and has made more plans for his work this fall.

This summer he wrote a new composition to the setting of the 8th Psalm. His major achievement, however, was the change he made in his style of writing.

Previously Harvey concentrated on music clarity, working with only one mode or scale. Now he is using several modes in his compositions as a basis of producing new rhythmic variety.

One of his aims this fall is to complete compositions he has started for an lp record. Some of these works will be taped on the campus by a group of interested musicians, and the remainder of the works will be performed at the State University of Iowa. Mr. Hess wants the record made for family and friend reunions. Other plans he has for this fall are composing a set of nocturnes and writing a setting of the "Song of the Bow" from 2nd Kings.

Last year Mr. Hess wrote the music for the queen's banquet and the Christmas program.
