New Education Course Offered To Students

The Macollege education department announces a new course which will be given second semester to prospective education teachers. This is a methodology course which replaces the education seminar given in previous years.

This course is designed to give prospective teachers help in teaching methods in the classroom. There will be a special emphasis on audio-visual methods, and the course will help meet the requirements for the Kansas State Teachers certificate.

The course will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:40.

Pre-Enrolling Proceeds Until December 11

Students have been pre-enrolling this week for second semester classes.

This pre-enrollment is tentative, and may be changed during actual enrollment, Jan. 11-15.

The deadline for pre-enrollment is Dec. 11. Mrs. Alice B. Martin urges students to complete enrollment early, so materials may be ordered and classes planned.

Students pre-enroll by picking up the enrollment cards and class schedules at the registrar's office and filling them out with the help of their counselors.

Bloodmobile To Arrive On Macampus, December 4

The bloodmobile will be at the Church of the Brethren 10-3:15, Friday, Dec. 4.

Anyone who wishes to donate blood and has not signed a registration card may register with Mrs. Elsie Holmderred, secretary to the dean, or Mrs. Homer Brunk, college Red Cross representative.

Students under 21 years of age who wish to donate blood must have the written consent of their parents.

Each person's blood is kept separately so the Red Cross can type it. Each person will receive a notice of his blood type and RH factor.

Red Cross blood is never sold, but is given to those needing it. Doctors and hospitals charge for their services in giving transfusions, however.

Donors of blood are asked to be very careful of the food they eat the day of the donation. No fatty foods should be eaten the day of the donation.

A recommended meal is dry toast, jelly, crackers, fruits, fruit juices, vegetables, boiled or poached eggs, and black coffee. Students should eat breakfast before donating blood. People who are donating blood in the afternoon should be careful about what they eat.

A full meal will be served to all who donate blood. The meal will consist of a meat dish, vegetable, dessert, and a choice of beverages.

The Home Economics Club will prepare the meal and serve it.

Graduate Fellowships Are Now Available At Macollege

Are you interested in a graduate fellowship? Many fellowships of this kind are granted to students. Any junior or senior can find out about these fellowships from the dean of the college.

Some of the fellowships offered are Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, Danforth Fellowship, National Science Foundation Fellowship, General Electric Educational and Charitable Fellowship.

Social Science Research Foundation Fellowship, Rockefeller Brothers Theological Fellowship, Kent Fellowship, National Defense Graduate Fellowship.

In most cases a student would have to be nominated for one of these fellowships by his major professor or the liaison officer for the fellowship program on the campus, Dean Wayne F. Geisert. In most programs competition centers on academic achievement, with some emphasis on leadership qualities and contributions to school life.

Most fellowship programs have broad interests and cover many fields of graduate work.

Any student interested should not hesitate to contact his major professor or the dean. If a student feels he is qualified he should be encouraged to seek out fellowship opportunities.

For some of the fellowships the student is required to take the Graduate Record Examination. Applications for this test are available in the Dean's office. In most cases dates for nominations are in the fall or early winter.

When the fellowships are handled directly by universities and the graduate schools the student should make application directly to the school. This applies also to the National Defense Fellowship.

As well as applying directly to the university it is still helpful to contact the major professor or the dean for possible help in making your application at the university.

Beginning at 8:30 a.m., the day's program will consist of speeches by industrial leaders, plant tours of industries, and group discussions.

A dinner meeting that evening will conclude the workshop. Former finance minister of Hungary, Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi will be the guest speaker. Dr. Nyaradi is now the director of the Institute of International Studies at Bradley University.

Superstitions Say Legend Started With Adam, Eve

Today is Friday, the thirteenth, which by some freakish twist in time became to be regarded as a day which is unlucky. However, no one seems to have any evidence to prove who is guilty of starting such scandal. There are many tales, though.

In The Beginning

Some say it started with Adam and Eve, when the female part of the couple gave the male part the forbidden and he accepted it to please her. According to the reliable source of folklore, this was to have taken place on Friday.

Thus Friday became an unlucky day, for the once pure couple broke God's commandment and were driven from the Garden of Eden. Also, the great flood in the Bible and the confusion at the Tower of Babel were to have been on Friday.

Primitive Tribes

In primitive tribes we find that Friday is, "no work day," on which offerings are sacrificed to the gods. If anyone worked on this day he could expect no good luck from the gods, but might expect bad luck.

It is rumored among the circles of superstitious that Jesus died on Friday to redeem mankind from this ill-omened day, thus the humble and grateful people spent and fast on this day by eating no meat.

Hangman's Day

In many countries, during early times and still today in some, Friday is "hangman's day," for this is the day for hanging criminals.

Among the Hindus and Scotch in modern times, it is considered good luck to marry on Friday. While from southern Germany comes the tale, which tries to give reason why Friday the thirteenth is bad luck.

Thirteenth Day

It seems that after the Norse and Teutons became Christians, they had no more use for their old goddess Freya and locked her away. However, she did manage to give her cat away to some witches, before imprisonment.

Now these witches met on their sabbath, Friday, in groups of twelve in the local cemetery. When the old gals received this cat, it made thirteen and was considered unlucky.

Tales of Friday, the thirteenth are many, but mostly fiction without much fact or real evidence.

Spec Publisher Makes Move

The McPherson Sentinel, publisher of The Spectator, recently held its open house. The Sentinel, formerly the Republican, was founded in 1887 and is now located in a new building at 301 South Main.

On a payroll of $150,000 annually are thirty employees and forty-two carrier boys who earn a total of $12,500 annually. The paper is a member of the Associated Press and receives stories from out of town via Kansas City, Mo., on a teletype.

The Sentinel prints the Macollege Bulletin, Groll, Catalog, and many things for the high school, Central College, and business firms in town.

The press is a flatbed press, which can print an eight page paper at one time and requires about two hours to print 5300 papers for circulation.

The paper is run through the press on a continuous roll which has about four miles of paper in it and weighs approximately 1/2 ton — 1200-1500 pounds.

There are nine departments in the Sentinel office. They are the business office, news office, stereotype, advertisement composition, linotype, teletypewriter, page layout, printing, and the mailing table.

Pondering With The President

One Boy, One Aspirin Bottle;
Result: $400,000 Of Medicine

Dr. D. W. Bittinger

Bob Hill, a twelve year old Negro boy from our American Southland, recently sailed up Albert Schweitzer's African river and was met by this great man on the river bank. As he stepped out of the canoe, Bob Hill looked with awe into the lined but saintly face of the man he admired.

It came about this way. Bob Hill, whose parents are located in American military service in Italy, read of Schweitzer's need for medicine in Africa and decided that the least he could do would be to send him a bottle of aspirin. He contacted the Italian air force to ask whether at some time when they were passing over Schweitzer's hospital in Africa, they might be able to drop this bottle of aspirin to Albert Schweitzer.

This caught the imagination of the Italian Air Force and they publicized Bob Hill's desire to send a bottle of aspirin to Albert Schweitzer. This straight forward boy-gesture caught the total Italian imagination. They decided to send more than one bottle of aspirin. They publicized their giving campaign. As a result, four and a half tons of medical supplies were gathered together by the Italian people and a gift of $400,000 in money was collected.

Bob Hill was then asked to take this to Albert Schweitzer, along with his own bottle of aspirin. He was dismissed from school responsibilities, made the trip to Africa, journeyed up Albert Schweitzer's river, and personally presented his bottle of aspirin, together with all the other things to the doctor.

Sometimes we feel we cannot do much. Bob Hill probably felt the same way. But one bottle of aspirin to a needy people was a beginning. And from it many blessings came.

Perhaps some of us feel that our total talents are equivalent to only one bottle of aspirin. But God can bless these talents to His own need and multiply them.

Importing Business Is Goal Of Student From Burma

The story began in 1945 in Rangoon, Burma, where Tin Maung U. is attending a Chinese School. Then WW II came to Burma bringing Japanese occupation, which resulted in Tin Maung U. having to discontinue school.

However after the Japanese withdrew troops from Burma, Tin Maung U. went back to the Chinese school and later studied at a Burmese school where he studied English, acquiring the English name of Edward Khaw.

Upon finishing high school, Edward studied at the University of Rangoon for a year in business courses, so he could help his father in importing and manufacturing business in Burma.

In Jan. 1958, Edward came to the United States for an education in business courses. He attended UCLA for three semesters before coming to McPherson.

What Ed likes most about the United States are the movies, friendly people, school life, and dancing. As Edward says concerning school life, "It is more active with more activities."

Eddy's brother, Henry Khaw, is attending Purdue University and majoring in chemical engineering.

After finishing school in the U. S., Eddy plans to return to Burma to assist his father in business.

Unknown Vessels Approach
Good Ship 'Macollege'

By Faye Brunner

Ahoy maties! All has not been forgotten on the good ship "Macollege!" It has been a good voyage for most of us. That the journey is a fourth over does not seem possible.

Generally the trip has been fine. Oh, the first mate saw two or three low test grades swimming off the port side, but a determined sailor soon made them disappear.

One of the galley boys said he heard one of the ship's games was lost, but most of the crew got over that. The man up in the crow's nest said he saw a storm brewing up forward, but he couldn't tell what it was. He's going to report later.

Avast there! The report is in. He said he saw close to 480 grade cards coming in at full sail. With the wind in our direction they'll be here next week!

"Mac's" maties are prepared. Each of you know how you have worked this past nine weeks. If you personally haven't realized that you were slacking on your work, you will know doubt be shocked at your grades.

It is often hard, too, for our new sailors to realize the difference between shore duty in the high school and work on the high seas. Buckle up! you have a fourth more of voyage to right your wrongs, or to keep up the good work!

In Memoriam

(To my Grandmother who would have had her 90th birthday)

Today I feel like being a child again — though I know quite well I am a man.

For not too long ago a small, fine woman risked her life to save my name.

As if a dream had come to me I saw her face again, its kind blue eyes showered warmth on me as I replied:

Thank you Grandma, thank you for now and then, how I wish to have you back again.

I wish to kiss those lovely cheeks of pink and give you flowers as you gave hours.

My memory is full of you forever and a day, no days dream can be complete unless I am certain it's ours.

C of E Has Perfect Record; Wins KCAC Football Title

College of Emporia clinched the Kansas Conference football championship by trouncing Ottawa U. 28-9 last Saturday night at Ottawa. The Presbies generally stuck to power plays on the ground in grinding out 308 yards to Ottawa's 68.

Addleman, Bailey, and Ware scored on short runs for C. of E. The fourth TD came on an Ortiz to Ware 27 yard pass. Ottawa scored on a series of five passes in the fourth quarter.

Kansas Wesleyan took a 14-12 decision from the Bethel Graymaroons at Newton last Saturday night. This was the ninth straight loss for Bethel this season. KW scored on a recovered fumble and a 75 yard run.

The Sterling Warriors won their first game of the season when they blasted the Friends of Wichita 49-32 in a game played last Saturday night at Sterling. Richardson of Friends passed for 278 yards in this game, but the Quakers were outtrashed 252 yards to 100 yards.

McPherson, after playing Bethany even the first half, rallied for four TDs in the second half to defeat the Swedes 28-14 in a game played last Friday night at Lindsborg.

Tom Richards scored on runs of 5 and 10 yards. Bryce Heinz scored on a 10 yards run, and Byron Hayes scored on a short plunge for McPherson. Bethany scored first just before the half ended on an intercepted pass and again on an 80 yard kick off return with just 20 seconds left in the game.

Baker went outside the conference to William Jewell at Liberty, Missouri, and was defeated 35-7.

Southwestern, showing that they may be very strong next year, defeated Central of Fayette, Mo., 82-6 in a game played last Saturday afternoon at Winfield.

There is only one conference game left for the Kansas Conference. This game will be played tonight when Ottawa goes to Baker. This game will decide second place in the conference. Ottawa should be a slight favorite; anything may happen.

Other conference teams to play tomorrow are Missouri Valley at College of Emporia, and Kansas Wesleyan at Southwestern.

In the latest figures available, not final, Rusty Addleman of C. of E. leads the conference in rushing by averaging 105 yards a game. In passing, Larry Richardson of Friends leads with an average of about 150 yards per game. Richardson has completed 60 of 119 attempted passes.

Richard Heidebrecht, McPherson quarterback, is fourth in the conference in passing, averaging 82 yards per game. He has completed 25 of 56 attempts. In pass receiving, Tom Richards of Mac is fifth in the conference with 13 catches averaging 30 yards a game.

Bulldogs Baffle Bethany Under Freezing Conditions

McPherson College fans endured below freezing temperatures Friday to watch the Bulldogs victoriously invade Swede territory to beat Bethany 28-14. This game closed the season for both teams.

Threatening
McPherson threatened the Bethany goal several times in the first half but failed to score. Only once in the first half did Bethany pose any serious threat to the McPherson goal and that was after recovering a McPherson fumble on the McPherson 30 - yard line.
With a few seconds remaining in the first half Bethany intercepted a McPherson pass on the McPherson 35 and ran it the distance for the touchdown. The try for the point was successful.

Mac Scores
Early in the third period the Bulldogs started a drive on the Swede's 43-yard line which resulted in McPherson's first score. A Hayes to Heinz pass put the Bulldogs on the Bethany 10 and from there Richards went around the right end to score. Lewis kicked the point.

Later in the same period McPherson started another drive which resulted in another Bulldog score. Heinz took the ball on the Bethany 25-yard line and ran the distance for the score. Lewis again kicked the point.

Two TD's
The Bulldogs scored twice more in the last period. The first time Richards received a pitch-out which was good for 20 yards and the score. The second time McPherson blocked a Bethany kick on the Bethany five and again scored.

Lewis made both kicks good for the points.

Last Points
With 15 seconds remaining in the game the Bulldogs kicked off and Bethany took the ball on their own 10-yard line and ran it all the way for a touchdown. The try for the point was good making the final score McPherson 28, Bethany 14.

The Spirit Shows Students College Spectator Set-Up

By John Dille

Hello! 'Tis the Spirit of Good speaking once again and here to relate a story which has been compiled after a certain amount of research in our publisher's office.

Solve Puzzle

'Tis Tuesday past noon in the Spectator office and the stories are all in, as the editors begin to work on the jigsaw puzzle by typing up a slug sheet (list of all stories and space they will take up).

The editors get out their big black India Ink pens and the censoring begins. (The exact amount of this activity is not available.) as they proceed to rearrange and cut out parts of stories that are not in order or unnecessary.

Set Dummy

After hours of cutting and juggling, our heroes come up with a solution, a dummy (blueprint for lay-out of paper). As zero hour draws nigh our editors take their handiwork and themselves to the publisher's office at 301 S. Main.

Here we meet Mr. McGuire, the teletype operator, who types the stories on a perforated tape in code, which is then eaten by the linotype machine. This machine then produces type suitable for printing on the press later.

Meanwhile back at the stereotype department the ads, which are made by pouring hot liquid lead into molds, for our sponsors are put into existence. The ad man then places them in a page form.

From here the iron-framed forms go to the page-layout department so it may gain a few ounds as the stories are put in place. From the finished form proof copies of our paper are made and proof-read for errors, which receive correction.

Five - four - three - two - one - zero hour is here and the stories go to press, which prints them automatically on a continuous roll of paper, which is cut and folded by a machine at the end of the process by the press.

From here they are stacked and rushed to MacCollege for noon delivery on Friday. You now have a sample of the finished product — The Spectator!

Ex-Senator Benton Advises Youth To Be Their Own Boss

If you're contemplating a business career, a former U. S. Senator has some advice for you. Writing in the May Reader's Digest, William Benton, former Senator from Connecticut and publisher of Encyclopedia Britannica, urges: "Young Man, Be Your Own Boss!"

Fame Not Answer

In his article of that title, Benton asserts that too many young men drift into big corporation jobs for the wrong reason. Big business has fame and prestige; it requires little effort to be a small cog in a big wheel; and it's easy to find a safe corner where there are few risks.

"I have found young men everywhere displaying a degree of timidity that would have lost this country to the Indians not so many decades ago," he says.

Small Businesses Grow

He points out that it was not big business, but small independent businesses that built this country's wealth. If growth is to continue, such competitive business must also continue to grow. Most people agree that men who have started businesses of their own are the most successful. The risks are greater, but so are the rewards.

Mac Education Heads Attending Meeting

Dean Wayne F. Geisert, Dr. Merlin Frantz, and Prof. Dayton Rothrock are at Sterling College today along with representatives from Bethany College and Kansas Wesleyan.

This meeting is to discuss problems relating to teacher education.

Chapel Address To Be Given By Rev. Coppock

Chapel on Tuesday, Nov. 17, will consist of an address by X. L. Coppock, a retired minister in the Church of the Brethren. He has recently been serving at the church in Lincoln, Neb. Rev. Coppock is the father of Prof. Doris Coppock.

Cosmetics Caught Men Then; Same As They Do Today

The cosmetic industry is not new, but as might be expected, the pretty and not so pretty damsels of ancient time held great esteem for the marvels of cosmetics. In fact, they spared no beautifying tactics to ensnare their favorite romances.

The slight, trim chics of today are only carrying on "powder and paint" traditions.

Egypt had beauty parlors almost 4000 years ago. They had a crude but effective procedure for the art of face lifting. When the middle-aged lady of the day noticed a teetotal sag in her countenance, the remedy was swift.

The not so dainty beautician merely stuffed her cheeks with padding to take up the slack.

If wrinkles happened to ruin an otherwise pretty face a kind of gum was painted on the face to hide the evidence of age.

Gals were painting their fingernails and toenails way back in 3000 B.C. A feminine mummy on exhibit at the British Museum in London silently testifies to this fact. Seems Miss Mummy painted her digits a dark, deep modern red.

Women were so practiced applying artificial beauty that they many times snared unsuspecting males to the altar. It seems that after the wedding, and after the beauty treatments were removed, many a man found himself married to little less than a monster.

It became a serious topic, as is to be judged by a bill which was introduced in an English parliament in 1770.

The bill read as follows: "That all women, of whatever age, rank, degree or profession, whether maidens, maids, or widows, who shall from and after such an act impose upon or betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects, by the scents, paints, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish hair, iron stays, hoops, high heeled shoes, bolstered hoops, shall incur the penalty of the law in force against witchcraft and like misdemeanors, and that the marriage upon conviction shall be null and void."

Instructors Attend

Comic Opera Program

Doris Coppock, instructor in music, and Anne Krehbiel, professor of piano, attended a comic opera program presented at Bethany College in Lindsborg, Oct. 31.

Two operas were performed by Bethany College students: "The Old Maid and the Thief" by Gian Carlo Menotti, and "Jumping Frog" by Lukas Foss based on the Mark Twain yarn about the celebrated jumping frog from Calaveras County.

Mac Girl Knows Agony Of War

Eva Maria Bellardi a MacCollege student, made her first appearance in this world in a small German town near Glogau.

During the tragic year of 1945 she, her three brothers, sister, and mother fled from the Communists to Hamburg. Her father, who had been taken prisoner in the war, later joined them in Hamburg.

Two years later the family moved to West Berlin, where they lived to the present. In West Berlin her father is pastor of the Evangelical Church and works in a Nurses' Organization sponsored by the church.

Eva Maria came to McPherson on Saturday, Sept. 23, and found the people much more open, friendly, helpful, and informal than in the fatherland.

Last summer Eva Maria worked, along with twenty other youth, in a Brethren Work Camp under direction of Gordon Fishburn, '54 formerly of Lawrence.

Her favorite American foods are corn, hamburger, and ice cream.
