For the past month, Mr. Smiley has been participating in sit-ins in the South. It is about the sit-ins that he will speak in chapel.

Mr. Smiley was born in Lorraine, Texas, and educated in McMurry College, Southwestern University, University of Arizona, and Redlands University. Before joining the FOR staff Mr. Smiley was a minister. He has travelled and lectured in 13 countries in Europe, plus Mexico, Canada, and The United States.

Mr. Smiley will hold a conference Monday afternoon with members of the FOR and other interested persons. Following the conference, there will be personal interviews. Monday evening the FOR and CVF will feature Mr. Smiley as guest speaker at this combined meeting to be held in the Bittinger Basement at 7 p.m.

In a scene from "The Rainmaker", which will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the new Brown Auditorium at 8:15 p.m., File and the Rainmaker argue over Lizzie. The three Macollege students in the play are from left to right, Glen Faus, Irma Wymore, and Bill Winter.

First Production In Brown Given Friday, Saturday

McPherson College Players will present their first major production of the year on Nov. 18 and 19 under the direction of James P. Coulson, professor of drama and literature. "The Rainmaker," written by N. Richard Nash, will be presented at Brown Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Cast for this production includes Irma Wymore, a junior from Beatrice, Nebraska, who will play Lizzie Curry.

Noah Curry will be played by Raymond Hull, a senior from McPherson. Edwin Mohler, sophomore from McPherson, will portray Jim Curry.

H. C. Curry, father of Lizzie, Noah, and Jim, will be played by Ken Holderread, a senior from Cushing, Oklahoma.

Glen Faus, senior from Mannheim, Pa., will play Bill Starbuck who is the rainmaker.

Also in the cast are Bill Winter, a senior from Wichita, who plays File. Terrell Phenice, a junior from Welsch, La., will portray Sheriff Thomas.

Backstage crew of "The Rainmaker" is headed by Dick Reinke, stage manager. The property crew consists of Elois Nelson, Marilyn Hanley, and Mary Tucker.

Mike Begole and Bob Dell make up the light crew, Veneta Howell is in charge of costumes, and George Snyder is the house manager.

First Play in Brown

This is the first play to be presented in Brown Auditorium and will initiate the new facilities for special productions. Numerous scenery flats have been constructed recently for this show.

"The Rainmaker" setting is the most complex that has ever been attempted at Macollege. The stage is divided into three areas, each area representing a setting of the play.

Instead of the conventional lowering of the curtain between scenes, changes are denoted by the dimming of the lights in one area and the raising of the lights in another.

Broadway Comedy

"The Rainmaker" is a comedy with both humor and a beautiful poignant element. It has been a successful play on Broadway and was made into a movie. Kathryn Hepburn and Burt Lancaster starred in the movie version of Nash's play.

Setting of the play is the West during a serious drought. H. C. Curry and his two sons are more concerned about finding a husband for Lizzie than they are about the effects of the drought on their cattle. Lizzie's plainness complicates their futile search for a husband.

Suddenly, the rainmaker appears and promises rain for a fee of $100. He also uses his magic to convince Lizzie that she has real beauty. The rainmaker is successful in bringing rain to the Curry ranch and love to Lizzie.

Tickets At Door

Tickets may be purchased at the door on Friday and Saturday nights. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Macollege students may use their activity tickets for admission. There will be no reserved seats.

Pre-enrollment Deadline Is Friday, Dec. 9

Pre-enrollment deadline for next semester is December 9. The sheet of courses offered and the pre-enrollment card can be picked up at the Registrar's Office. Pre-enrollment cards are to be filled out and left with the counselors.

Professor Coulson Directs Macollege Productions

Directing this year's first major production of the McPherson College Players is James Peter Coulson, a native of Tucson, Ariz. Professor Coulson has been on the Macollege faculty since 1958.

Professor Coulson's acting experience began at an early age under qualified coaches and he has acted in over 30 major productions. After graduating from the university of Arizona with a Bachelor of Fine Arts, he served in the Army.

Stationed in Germany While in the Army Professor

Prof. J. P. Coulson

Coulson directed the theater group and was assigned to special services for theater work. Stationed in Germany, he searched to understand world theater by attending as many theater productions as possible. Besides seeing many plays in Germany, he attended plays in Belgium, England, France and Italy.

Professor Coulson returned to the University of Arizona on a scholarship to earn his Master of Arts degree. Both his BFA and MA degrees were in drama.

The summer before coming to Macollege he was employed as stage manager at the National Shakespeare Festival at the Globe Theater in San Diego, Cal. Last summer Professor Coulson was guest director for the Community Theater in Tucson, Ariz.

Professor Coulson is a licensed lay reader of the Episcopal Church. He is a member of the American Education Theater Association.

To Begin Doctorate

Future plans of Professor Coulson include beginning his doctorate degree at the University of Iowa this summer.

Since Macollege has a new auditorium, it is Professor Coulson's desire to build the drama program, so it may be of service to the college and community.

Students, Citizens Donate To Bloodmobile Today

The Red Cross Bloodmobile is at the Church of the Brethren today. It is scheduled to stay until after 2:15 this afternoon, and a quota of blood donations from the college and community is set for 160 pints.

Macollege men helped set up the equipment when the bloodmobile arrived at 7:30 a.m. Donations began at 9 this morning.

A full meal is being served to all donors by the girls of Mac's Home Economics Club. Before the donation the donors are served orange juice and candy.

Bruce Kline, dean of Central College has been in charge of recruitment of donors from Central College.

Ten Bed Operation

The Red Cross Bloodmobile being used today is a 10-bed operation. From 7-9 people donate blood every 15 minutes.

A doctor is on duty at all times, and a number of local registered nurses are also on duty.

The medical history of each donor is required before the donation. The donor's temperature, blood pressure, and hemoglobin test are also taken before the donation.

Cards will be mailed to donors in about a week telling them of their blood type and RH factor.

Home Ec. Girls Serve Meal Huntington Chicken is the main dish of the Home Ec Club meal. Also included in the meal are carrots, celery, dill pickles, and French bread.

Bids Open For Construction Of New College Buildings

Bids are now open to construction companies for the two new buildings costing $700,000 which are to be added to Macollege's campus.

The board of trustees of the college have set Thursday, Dec. 1, as the deadline for the bids on the new student union building and the additional wing to Dotzour Hall.

Bids will be opened at 1:30 p.m. in the new Brown Auditorium.

The trustees have received approval of a loan from the federal government for $550,000 to aid in financing the two new buildings. The college in return had to raise $150,000 to be eligible to receive the government loan.

If the bids are acceptable to the board of trustees the contract will be signed with the contractor and work will be started as soon afterwards as possible, possibly soon after the first of the year.

The student union building will include the college cafeteria, recreation facilities, student organization offices, a snack bar, lounges and a music listening room. It will be located between Dotzour Hall and Beghly Library and will face the north.

It will be 142x82 feet in size, and will contain 23,000 square feet of floor space.

The wing to Dotzour Hall which will house 72 women students, will be to the north end of the present building and angle off to the northwest.

It will be a three-story structure and will be of the same construction as the remainder of the dormitory. It will be 111x38 feet in size and will contain 16,200 square feet of floor space.

Do Americans Really Know What Thanksgiving Means?

By LARRY ELLIOTT

Thanksgiving Day will soon be here and we as Americans will be celebrating the first holiday instituted on our continent.

Some 389 years ago this day was set aside in the Plymouth Colony by Governor Bradford as a time for being thankful and showing gratitude to Almighty God for the bounties received in this land of hardship and struggle.

Each year our President issues a proclamation, commanding that a certain day be set apart on which we, the people of the United States should give thanks for the blessings that we have received. It is this custom, more than any other which stamps America as a Christian nation.

Our Pilgrim fathers never dreamed of the convenience we take for granted today—but they were deeply thankful for their free country and God's guiding hand.

If they could be thankful for the bare necessities of life, we have so much to be thankful for. And while being thankful, let us not forget to think of those patient, persistent, and hard-headed colonists who braved the unbroken land of this continent to establish a land of freedom for their children, their children's children and you and me.

We have strayed somewhat from the significance given the day and are inclined to think only of the joyous reunions and the delight of a well-laden table.

While we are enjoying the traditional dinner of turkey, dressing, pumpkin pie and all the trimmings this Thanksgiving Day, we should remember that about one-half of the world's population goes to bed hungry every night.

It is altogether fitting that Thanksgiving should be one of the happiest days of the year, but let us not forget what Thanksgiving really stands for and get into the spirit of Thanksgiving.

Begin this Thanksgiving Day with an extra moment of silent thanks for everything that God has provided you.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HI, COACH!—THE DEAN WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT THIS BUSINESS OF YOU SETTING UP YOUR OWN ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS!"

Letters To The Editor

Student Continues Dotzour Debate

Dear Editor,

I am constrained and goaded by the farcical absurdity of the letter included in the previous issue of the Spec. A more careful apology for a crucial campus problem—that the physical attention shown between the sexes should not be abandoned, but should be evicted from the premises of Dotzour Hall and reside, instead, in a more secluded place.

Sincerity of intent is not to be considered; it is that conformity to "the laws of nature and cupid," in the animal world, at least, (with notable exception of dogs) generally does not assume the exhibitionist and vulgar character displayed here.

In view of the facts that many have cars and all have feet, only highly inclement weather offers an excuse for refusal to repair elsewhere for the purpose of exchanging pre-good night affection.

Nor will the rejoinder, "you needn't look," be an acceptable answer. Half opened eyes—even my myopic optics—refuse to evade a spectacle obvious as the one in question.

It is equally lame to insist that there is no place to go. McPherson is provided with miles and miles of sidewalks (some of which are not brilliantly lit) as well as two, fine parks.

Lest a furor arise over this suggestion on the grounds that "worse things will happen off-campus" may I hasten to assure you that little would happen off campus that does not generally occur on campus. Little is more offensive to guests, more odious to uninvolved residents, and more disappointing to the faculty than the nightly presented tableau at Dotzour.

Moreover, if they fail to see that a genuine affront is being presented to those mentioned above, surely the offenders must realize that they are incurring for themselves general disfavor.

Having been on three dates during WPA Week, I can not, in a certain sense, be tagged a "wishful watcher." It is my sincere hope that I have stated my proposal with exactitude and with a constructive attitude.

Student Asks For More Use Of College Song

Dear Editor, or to Whom It May Concern,

During my college years at Mac I have heard the alma mater song one time. (That was in a chapel program.) All during football season, the fight song was played, but never the alma mater song. I'm all in favor of the fight song. It builds enthusiasm and morale, but does not command respect as does the alma mater song.

Once a person has graduated, the alma mater song means the more to him, but if those who have graduated recently didn't hear the song anymore than I have, they wouldn't recognize it. Perhaps before long we'll have an opportunity to hear and learn our alma mater song.

Pondering With The President

Do We Want Brilliant Or Just Average Children?

By D. W. BITTINGER

The United States Office of Education has undertaken special research concerning "giftedness" among children. Two University of Chicago psychologists have just completed the study for the government. Their findings were surprising.

1. Parents do not want "quiz" kids, or children with unusually high I.Q.'s. They prefer instead that their progeny grow up emotionally stable, with sound moral characters, and the social skills which bring them acceptance in the community. Parents feel that an unusually high I.Q. often gets in the way of these goals.

2. Teachers desire students with high I.Q.'s, but in general react negatively to "creative" students. They react negatively to students who come up with 'off-beat' or original answers; they prefer instead the usual, or "right" answers.

3. Students themselves fall into the patterns which are expected of them by their parents and teachers. Even students with high I.Q.'s, therefore do not exercise greatly their creative talents. As a result the gifted student may become psychologically twisted and ill-adjusted in society.

These studies are helpful. Further studies as to how each student might develop his fullest abilities for the sake of society and for his own sake, need to be made. The findings of such studies need to be incorporated into our educational system and into our family living.

Bittinger's Writings In New Books

Two writings of Dr. D. W. Bittinger, president of McPherson College, appeared in two new books recently.

Dr. Bittinger was invited to write a sermon, representing the Church of the Brethren, which would be included in a book by the organization of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

In the second writing, Dr. Bittinger contributed to a volume of stories of Brethren leaders named Brethren Trail Blazers. Dr. Bittinger produced the story of the life of James Quinter. Biographies of past and present Brethren leaders are included in the book.

Ottawa Downs Baker 14-8; Wins Crown

The Ottawa Braves won the Kansas Conference football crown last weekend in a last ditch struggle with Baker 14-8 with a crowd of over 5,000 watching the two unbeaten teams play.

Each team scored touchdowns on spectacular plays. Ottawa's Herb Sutton, who leads small colleges in yardage, gained 46 yards in the second quarter to score a touchdown and 77 yards in the third for another.

Caught Pass
Jim Paramore, Baker's leading ground gainer, who battled with Sutton, caught a pass from Norman Cobb in the third period and scored on a 54 yard play.

In the fourth period, Ottawa fumbled on a pass from center and the ball rolled over the goal line and Baker tallied two points on a safety.

Southwestern scored three times in the second period of their homecoming game with College of Emporia and went on to defeat the Presbyteries 28-14 in another KCAC game last weekend.

Covers 79 Yards

Bethel's two touchdowns came on a 2 yard plunge by Jim Penner and a 20 yard blocked kick return by Maurice Ediger.

half and scored three touchdowns and a field goal. Milt Tenopir, a 195 pound junior quarterback furnished most of the punch that won the game for the Warriors.

Blocked Punt

The first Sterling touchdown came after Sterling blocked a McPherson punt for a 12 yard loss for the Bulldogs. On the second play Tenopir plunged over from the one yard line to score.

A little later in the third quarter Sterling drove to the McPherson 21 yard line and on the next play Tenopir kicked a field goal to put Sterling into a 9-0 lead.

Early in the fourth period the Warriors started another long drive that went 56 yards to the McPherson one yard line from where Tenopir plunged over.

Sterling's fourth score for the evening came when McPherson passed and Tenopir intercepted and ran 33 yards. Tenopir scored all 22 of Sterling's points on three touchdowns, one extra point, and a field goal.

McPherson put together several drives but they all stalled and the Bulldogs never got inside the 20 yard line.

Bulldogs Lead Rushing

Even though the Bulldogs came out on the short end they rolled up 206 yards rushing while holding Sterling to 77 yards. McPherson attempted 17 passes and completed only five and Sterling attempted 22 and completed seven.

The final game of the season marked the last football game for three Mac Seniors—Ivan Prochaska, Melvin Rolfs, and Garth Werner.
