High School Seniors Receive $1000 Honor Scholarships

Competitive honor scholarships have been awarded to 11 high school seniors. Five $1,000, three $800, and three $600 scholarships were awarded and accepted.

Recipients of the $1000 scholarships are Mike Brown, Wichita; Charlotte Fillmore, Nampa, Idaho; Elaine Flory, Clarence, Iowa; Don Merryman, Shickley, Neb.; and Philip Miller, Adel, Iowa.

Mike Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown, Wichita, attends Southeast High School and is interested in science. Charlotte Fillmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde K. Fillmore, attends Nampa High School and plans to teach mathematics.

Elaine Flory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Flory, Clarence, Iowa, attends Tipton High School and plans to enter elementary education.

Don Merryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Merryman, Shickley, Neb., attends Shickley High School and is interested in chemistry.

Phil Miller, son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Miller, Adel, Iowa, attends Adel Community High School and plans to teach mathematics.

They will receive $250 each year for four years. Four are members of the Church of the Brethren, and one belongs to the Methodist church.

$800 Scholarships

Three high school seniors received $800 scholarships. Larry Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bowman, Quinter, attends Quinter High School and is interested in chemistry. Vida Sue Werner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Werner, Winona, attends Winona High School and is planning to teach.

Gayle Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wood, Panora, Iowa, attends Panora High School. She was an exchange student to Germany last year.

They will receive $200 each year for four years. One is a member of the Methodist Church and two belong to the Church of the Brethren.

$600 Scholarship

Six hundred dollar scholarships were awarded to three seniors.

Twelve Seniors Will Attend Seminars

Twelve MacCollege seniors plan to attend seminars to receive graduate training. Eight of these students will begin their study this fall. The majority of these seniors will attend Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago, Ill.

Those students who will attend seminary are Raymond Hull, English; James Merrifield, sociology; Richard Frazier, mathematics; Richard Landrum, history.

Pat Morris, Charles Cupp, Glen Faus, Dave Hykes, Paul Stern, Harvey Hess, Bob Dell, and Martin Helmer, philosophy and religion.

This is one of the largest groups of Mac graduates to enter seminars.

Three Receive Aid To Begin Graduate Work

Three MacCollege seniors have received financial honors for their future graduate work.

John Brand, McPherson, has been awarded a $2,800 year teaching assistantship at Purdue University. John will be doing his graduate work in the field of chemistry.

James Freed, senior from Homestead, Okla., has been granted a fellowship in physiology by the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Benefits received in this $1500 honor include tuition, general fees, and all medical benefits. No services are required for this fellowship.

Jim majored in biology at MacCollege and will study physiology at the university. Following graduate work he plans to teach physiology in college.

William Winter, Wichita, will work as a teaching assistant or research assistant on a graduate assistantship of $1,900 for nine months received from the Department of Zoology, Kansas University, Lawrence.

He will do his graduate work in the field of mammal genetics.

Check Your Calendars; Avoid Last Minute Rush

By Carolyn Trapp

Check your calendars—Only six weeks until the end of this school year. Before long nothing will remain of this year except memories and grades.

Have you done all that is possible to make this a profitable year? If your answer is "yes," then keep up the good work during these few remaining weeks of school.

However, if you, like me, must answer "no" then now is the time to get busy. It is not too late to improve our grades and enjoy to the fullest the remaining weeks on Macampus.

If we keep up with daily assignments and finish term projects early in the semester, the futile, frustrated feeling of doing assignments at the last minute can be avoided. Then we will have more time for the end-of-the-year activities.

I am sure that all of us complain from time to time about the studying we are required to do and about Macollege in general. However, we should remember that the ultimate purpose of college is to acquire a college education. We should all strive to receive the greatest possible benefit from our time spent at Mac.

Let's all get busy and make the remainder of this year profitable and enjoyable!

Dater Refutes Letter From Realists

Dear Editor,

After reading the letter from the students—"who object to the present dating habits," I was surprised, to say the least, that they had signed it, "Some realists." A bit of thought on this, however, made me realize that any students who would write a letter of this nature would naturally sign it in an even more ambiguous manner. This is one of the most unrealistic criticisms of Macollege dating that I can conceive. By saying that the "present participants" are deplorable, lewd, and each one an exhibitionist degrades every dater to a point of almost being without morals of any kind.

I have yet to see a girl standing on the curb waiting for her caller. I am wondering if the writers of this letter feel that this is the only way for a girl to get taken out? Then, too, the only time I have seen a guy call for his girl and not come in for her was when it had been arranged before hand to have him stop for her to give her a lift downtown, or a ride somewhere in the afternoon. This is done to save time, and to have the girl waiting and ready does this.

Perhaps the authors of this report on dating conduct should have talked to some of the daters for their reactions, or at least observed some of the fellows in action when they call for their dates. Most of the fellows sign the girls out, help with wraps, open the door, and offer their arm to show that chivalry is not yet dead. Why was this research overlooked when the "code" was being investigated?

I fail to see the connection between dorm gossip and dating

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"WELL, I LOVE YOU BECAUSE YOU'RE SWEET, BECAUSE YOU'RE KIND, BECAUSE YOU'RE CONSIDERATE, BECAUSE YOU'VE WRITTEN THE ONLY TERM PAPERS I'VE EVER MANAGED TO GET AN 'A' ON."

Student Objects To Mural

Dear Editor,

One might wonder how it is that upon our college campus a sacred cow finds such green pasture as the walls of Friendship Hall. How or why it hangs against the wall, clawing perniciously to the space provided for it and glaring with contumacy at anyone within its vicinity is beyond habits. I, too, feel that if a person tells every secret it must not have been very special. I do not, however, think this is an indication of a lower moral code on our college campus.

I do not own a car so I do not think I am being dated so my girl can use my car. I wonder if the realists considered that perhaps students date because they like each other's company, because they feel affection for this special member of the other sex, or because of one of the oldest reasons—they learn to love this special one.

Perhaps the realistic people are objecting to conduct that they cannot share, but would like to illustrate by their reference to "the eager..." and the "present participants."

One interpretation of the picture has something to do with college students meeting the Christ. The correlation between Macollege and Christ is at times rather unclear, but the artist probably means well. If he does, it is the only "well" part of the Artistic Effort. An inebriate's version of "Guernica" would be more coherent than this eyesore.

Perhaps my artistic taste is in an immature stage of development, but I feel that this picture does not merit the position of honor that it now holds.

This Spec Is Practice Issue

This issue of the Spectator is the practice issue of the present managing editor and campus editor.

Carolyn Trapp, sophomore from Wichita, assumed the position of editor-in-chief this week, and Beverly Judge, freshman from Marshalltown, Iowa, worked as managing editor and campus editor this week.

Each managing editor is allowed one practice issue before assuming full responsibilities of editor-in-chief. Marilyn Rhinehart, sophomore from Brooklyn, Iowa, will resume her duties as regular editor-in-chief next week.

Pondering With The President

Students And Purposes

By D. W. Bittinger

Recently, in the same issue of a newspaper which I read in Pennsylvania, I noted three indications of student motivation.

1. Students in an eastern country were marching in protest against injustices in government. They wanted independence for their country and they were willing to be beaten over the heads, or shot at, in order that the rights of self-government, free speech, freedom of religion, freedom of press might be realized. The students stood at the front of this movement for the dignity of the individual in their country.

2. Negro groups in Mississippi were organizing to establish in that state the right of a pigmented citizen to enter a library and read the things which have been accumulated through the centuries for our growth and education. Some students were arrested; others marched in protest to the jail, to indicate their willingness to suffer with those who had been arrested. They also were beaten over the heads and tear-gassed.

3. A group of white students, numbering thousands, assembled at a beach at Fort Lauderdale to drink beer and revel on an unlighted beach. The police tried to break up this unwholesome spectacle; the students pelted them with beer cans. Their right to carouse in the dark seemed important to them.

On what issues should a thoughtful student take his stand? Where should he make his voice heard in days like these?

Students Take Field Trips To Gain Practical Knowledge

Several MacCollege students and faculty members are taking field trips as a part of the curriculum of their courses. These trips are for the purpose of giving students practical knowledge in their classroom studies.

Miss Doris Coppock, instructor of the methods of teaching team sports class, accompanied 11 members of the class on a trip to Wichita, Wednesday, April 5. They attended a pre-session of the AAHPER Convention there. Students in the general physics class taught by Prof. George Arnold, visited the local power station, Thursday afternoon, April 6.

Thirteen organic chemistry students visited the Frontier Chemical Company in Wichita, Friday, April 7. The students were accompanied by Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, instructor.

Sociology Department Sociology Department took two field trips last week. The social problems class visited the Wichita Recreation Commission April 11. Students observed the arts and craft center, visited a community center, and discussed the recreation program with Mr. Pat Haggarty, director of the program.

The rural sociology and psychology class visited the Amish community at Yoder April 10. Ten students took the tour and interviewed Bishop Keim, head of the colony, on the customs and living conditions of the Amish.

Dr. K. C. Bechtel, and the urban Sociology is visiting Chicago.

During their stay students are living at the YMCA hotel. Transportation was by car. Drivers were: Martin Helmer, Hudson Sadd, Phil Lowe, and Dick Landrum.

Students going are: Dick Sitts, Marilyn Correll, Eugene Jahn, Sandra Walby, Bonnie Sadd, Mary Owen, Donald Mummet, Larry McPherson, Judy Nigh, Joe Looker.

Diane Browning, Treva Brown, LaVena Murrey, Myrna Landrum, and Dr. Bechtel, sponsor.

A field trip to the Hutchinson News on April 20 is planned by the editing class and others interested in journalism. Students will see the editorial staff of the morning edition of the News in action.

Observed will be copy preparation, headlining, makeup, and the mechanical processes of newspaper publication.

Nation Will Observe Annual Library Week, April 16-22

"For a richer, fuller life—Read!" is the theme for the fourth annual National Library Week which will be celebrated next week, April 16-22.

Special emphasis will be given to reading for American youth, to the importance of school libraries as a major factor in the total educational process and to increase participation of reading by people in industry.

Program

Through a wide-range of national and local events, National Library Week provides a dramatic focus for year round community reading development activity and attracts wide public attention to library services.

This program also increases awareness of libraries as a major community resource and builds support for their expansion; fosters reading activities in homes, schools, clubs, business, and industry; and inspires more people to more thoughtful reading.

"A better-read, better-informed America" is the goal which is aimed to emphasize that only a lifetime of continuing self-education through reading can prepare Americans for responsible citizenship with better understandings of themselves and today's complex world.

Sponsor

National Library Week is sponsored by the National Book Committee, Inc., an independent non-profit citizens' group, in cooperation with the American Library Association and with the active participation of more than fifty national organizations of all kinds.

Since its inception in 1938, this citizens' movement in behalf of reading development and the extension of library services has drawn growing, enthusiastic response from prominent leaders, representing an increasingly broader cross-section of American life.

This program is organized nationally by a steering committee of prominent leaders who plan and direct all activities. This committee furnishes basic material to state Library Week Committees which coordinate the work of local community committees and librarians.

Hoover, Rolfs

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Hoover, Denver Colo., announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Jane, to Melvin G. Rolfs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Rolfs, Lorraine.

Melvin will teach and will coach at Marquette next year and Patricia will transfer to Bethany college.

Professor Irvin Wagner Has Wide Musical Background

Irvin Wagner, assistant professor of music, has obtained a wide education in the field of music and has participated in numerous musical events.

Born in Kansas, Wagner lived in the state of Washington until he moved to McPherson in 1950. While attending McPherson High School, he was active in vocal and instrumental music and was all-conference tackle in football. He was also a member of the National Honor Society.

Mac Student

While a freshman at McPherson College, he was one of the 2,000 who auditioned for the Ted Mac Amateur Hour. Chosen as one of the final 12, Wagner played trombone and spoons in a novelty act on the TV program.

Following summer he represented McPherson College in a camping program. This was when he met Jo Ann Bielefeldt, a nursing student at the state University of Iowa. After corresponding for three years, they were married in 1959 when they graduated from college.

While a student at McPherson College, Professor Wagner was a member of a vocal and instrumental quartet and quintette. When a senior, he assisted Donald Frederick with the bands, and he was in charge of and directed the first stage band on Macampus.

After Professor Wagner was graduated from McPherson College in 1959, he enrolled in the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

His activities there included playing first trombone in the Eastman Philharmonia, under the direction of Dr. Howard Hanson, an outstanding contemporary composer.

Wagner also played in the summer edition of the Eastman Wind Ensemble, which records for Mercury Records; and in a show orchestra, under the direction of Rayburn Wright, the chief arranger at Radio City Music Hall, New York City.

After receiving his master degree in August, 1960, he joined the McPherson college faculty where he now teaches music history, instrumental methods, and gives approximately 25 private lessons.

He also gives instrumental lessons to 15 pre-college students. Last January, he was guest soloist for the Revenna, Nebr., high school band, which is under the direction of Dwight Oltman, a '58 graduate of McPherson College.

Professor Wagner plans to attend Eastman this summer and acquire a doctorate degree in the future.

Toughest Driver in Town!

Careful Percy McFidget—who would believe that he's harder on his car than anybody in town? Why, he never goes over 35 or takes a trip over 10 miles!

Actually this kind of driving is very hard on a car engine because the engine seldom gets "warmed up" sufficiently. The oil tends to be sluggish. Sludge forms in the crankcase. The way is open for dangerous wear and corrosion.

But there's something you can do about this, to protect your motor. If you have to do a lot of start-and-stop driving at low speeds, as most of us do, use Trop-Artic® Motor Oil. It flows fast... resists sludge formation... helps your car run better, longer. Get Trop-Artic Motor Oil at any station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.
