1960-61 school year will end with Alumni Day, class reunions, and the climax of Commencement Day on Sunday, May 28.

College Church Spring Festival will be held May 21 at 4:30 p.m. at Lakeside Park. This is a picnic for both the church and the college after which a worship service is held.

Alumni Day will be Saturday, May 27. Those classes having reunions are: The class of 1911 celebrating their 50th anniversary year, the class of 1921 celebrating their 40th anniversary reunion, the class of 1936 having their 25th anniversary reunion, and the class of 1951 celebrating their 10th anniversary year.

Alumni Banquet
An Alumni Banquet will be held at 6:30 in Convention Hall. Mrs. Leland Moore, Newton, will be the toastmistress. A member of the class of 1960 will present the class of 1961 to the Alumni Association, and the new class will be welcomed into the Association.

Senior Ladies' Trio will present music for the program and the anniversary classes of 1936 and 1910 will be given certificate awards for their 50th and 25th anniversaries. The banquet will be concluded by a talk by Dr. Bittinger.

Graduating seniors will receive honorary tickets to this banquet and may get them before May 22 at the Alumni Office. Food for the banquet will be served by the Monitor Community Church.

Fall Freshmen To Enroll During July

Freshman students for next fall will begin pre-enrolling at the tentative dates of July 15 and July 22. This pre-enrollment will be held on campus.

Students will be invited by letter to come to Mac Campus on a designated Saturday. Parents will also be invited.

One faculty counselor from each of the major divisions will be on hand to help students with their pre-enrolling. Dr. Wayne F. Geisler, Dean, and Wilber Mullen, director of admissions, will give personal counseling to answer questions for the freshman.

The purpose of the pre-enrolling is to counsel students in their course of study, to have students on campus, and to allow some of the freshmen to meet each other.

Last year about 50 per cent of the freshman class participated. This pre-enrollment is equivalent to the pre-enrollment that ended last week.

Correction

Oklahoma City Symphony will present the Oct. 28 program in the 1961-62 Cultural Series instead of the Toshiba Singing Angels, as was erroneously stated.

Cilli Wang, a pantomimist, has been added to the schedule for Feb. 24.

Commencement Day
Commencement Day will begin Sunday, May 28, at 10:45 a.m. with the Baccalaureate service to be held in Brown Auditorium. Dr. Bittinger will give the sermon, "A Burning Bush." Commencement exercises will take place in Brown Auditorium on May 28 at 7:30 p.m. John Anderson, Jr., Governor of Kansas, will address the group.

MacCollege was represented today in the May Day parade by the traditional sophomore float, one of 40 major floats.

The theme, "Our Pot of Gold," was symbolic of educational achievement. A rainbow extended the length of the float with two students representing freshmen standing at the front. The seniors who had attained the pot of gold stood on covered risers at the rear.

The float was judged with others in its class.

Sophomores working on the float committee were: Garth Wood, Panora, Iowa; Jerry Poff, Leacock, Pa.; Art Hoch, Dwight; Charlotte Erritt, Somers, Iowa; Ellen Crouse, Adel, Iowa; Dorothy Bert, Detroit; Gale Burkholder, Preston, Minn.

May Day is observed annually in Kansas in recognition of the county graduates of rural schools.

This year's celebration is highlighted by Centennial Day which will be observed Saturday, May 13. A Barbeque from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the business district will be the main feature of this day which honors the 100th anniversary of Kansas statehood.

New Addition Brings Changes To Dotzour

Changes will be made at Dotzour Hall due to the new addition being added.

A lounge on each floor will be provided for the girls. On first floor a small laundry room will be provided. On the other floors, typing rooms will help the girls in their studies.

Telephones will also be added in the new halls. As yet, plans are not definite for the addition of new telephone lines. Two rows of mail boxes will be added to the ones already in the front of the building.

The front entrance will still be the main exit for night time use and the end door will be used only in the daytime.

According to the architect's reports, the work on the Dotzour addition was 40 per cent completed at the close of the month of April. This means that the overall accomplishments are a little ahead of schedule.

Approximately 1/4 of the interior partition work has been finished and at least 1-3 of the exterior construction has been carried through.

Work in the next few weeks will continue along the lines of brick laying and partition making. Window installment may also begin if progress allows.

Classes Convene Sept. 14

Next year enrollment will begin Monday, Sept. 11 and last through Wednesday, Sept. 13. Classes will convene on Sept. 14 at 7:45 a.m.

Laughing Stock Of Campus? Spectator's First Editor Recalls Fate Of McColpa

Forty-four years ago the first edition of the Spectator was published at McPherson College. Although no copy of it can be found, the loss was no tragedy to that staff of 1917. "It was the laughing stock of the campus," recalls one of its writers.

Prior to the Spectator, the McColpa, meaning McPherson College Paper, was published in 1915-16.

According to Lester Kimmel, present editor of the Wichita Eagle and editor of the McColpa, the faculty rebuked the staff "a few times about content, but generally was tolerable and cooperative."

The student council voted for a weekly after a year of monthly publication. When the weekly appeared, the staff decided to change the name of the paper.

Kimmel recalled, "The change was based on student talk that McColpa meant nothing — it had to be interpreted to people. After mulling over several names, we selected Spectator, because of our attraction to the famous original of that name, I assume. (The Spectator was an 18th century newspaper in England.)"

"Looking back I have regretted the change. But we did it in the exuberance of youth and doubtlessly derived some benefit from the experience of making our own decisions."

When the project of a weekly college paper was launched, there were many problems to face the new staff. Many details had to be worked out before the paper could be considered.

The first semester the Spec did satisfactory in finances; however, by the end of the first semester the yearly subscription funds had been exhausted and the advertising fee income was not sufficient to keep the paper from going into the red.

At this time Galen Jones, who was associate editor of the Spectator, was also president of the student council. He approached the council in regard to adopting the Spec as one of the council's projects. This plan did not gain any resources for the Spec.

As a last resort, the business staff campaigned the businessmen of the city and sold subscriptions to anyone who had a dollar and placed all transactions on a cash basis.

A sum of $20 to the good was held by the treasurer at the end of the Spectator's first year.

Kimmel added, "Although it would have been more prudent to save the surplus as a nest egg, we used it to stage a picnic on the Smoky Hill as a self-appointed reward for our efforts."

"As if to rebuke our prodigality, a heavy rain broke up the picnic. Soaked and miserable in a hayrack, most of us flagged down a U. P. train from Salina to McPherson, leaving one lone man and his girl to do penance for us."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Student Says Spec Makes Mistakes?!

Dear Editor,

What gives with all the Boo-boos in Macollege's only news-source, The Spectator? Sometimes when reading some interesting article it becomes obvious to the reader that some of the facts are a bit confused. For a recent example I will illustrate with the article about Mike Begole which appeared in the May 5 issue.

Question 1. Is he a junior or a sophomore at McPherson College?

Question 2. If he was born on December 7, 1941, just how in the world did he get to be 2 years old in 1942? Was it American Cheerios or Japanese tea? Please explain!

A Student

(Editor's Note: This letter was reprinted exactly as I received it) Dear Student,

Mistakes make their way into print past even the most careful editors and proofreaders, and I have very admittedly had more than my share of "Boo-boos".

To answer your first question, Mike is a sophomore as listed in the Student Directory. His classification given beneath the picture is erroneous.

For your second question I suggest you observe the little punctuation marks called periods. Mike's birth date is not even given. The article states: "Mike was born in the Philippines while his father was working there for

Your Name Is Not Really On Your Birth Certificate

By Marilyn Rhinehart

What's your name? Don't bother checking your birth certificate, for a name is more than the tag tacked on to the alphabetical remnants inherited from one's ancestors. A name goes far beyond mere classification and into subjective realm of inter-personal relationships and attitudes.

More exactly, your name is your reputation—your personality as seen by others. Bill is not just "Bill"; he is the Bill with red hair, sparkling wit, and interest in aviation. When his name is mentioned it brings an image of these things to the person who knows him.

The actual meaning of one's name can, therefore, often be distorted by a person's impression upon others.

The name Mary may mean a sweet, kind girl to one, and to another, Mary is a loud, dominating, "Bloody Mary" type of person, depending upon the associations each of them has had with particular "Mary" personalities.

Whether your birth certificate says "Johnny" or "John Fitzgerald, Jr.," really makes no difference, for your name is not what you are called, but what you are.

the Marsman Gold Mining Company. On December 7, 1941, his family moved to Manila, but the Japanese were already there."

Thank you for calling these questions to our attention. We can appreciate the fact that you do read the Spectator, and also that we have a monopoly as "Macollege's only news-source."

The Spec Staff does make a real effort to keep the paper free from errors, but the process through which the stories go is conducive to mistakes.

After a reporter receives the information from the news source and writes the story, it goes to the copy editor, on to the teletype setter, and from there to the linotypist and into the paper. Through all of these processes you can see where mistakes could easily be made in any one of them.

I am sure that you, too, will admit that it is easy to make mistakes. Perhaps you should check the dictionary for your spelling of Japanese.

Erroneously yours,
The Editor

Age of Anxiety
"The Anatomy of Angst," Time, March 31, 1961. Why is this called the "age of anxiety" and why are Americans, though bountifully blessed, the most anxious of people? Pondering With The President

Kansas

By D. W. Bittinger

Our college song begins:

"Although out on broad Kansas plain Here not in vain are we."

The song carries the implication that there is a possibility that living in Kansas could shade in the direction of "living in vain". Broadcasts concerning tornadoes, floods, scorching heat, and miles of wind add to the general impression held in other parts of the world that living in Kansas requires extra ability and fortitude.

Kansas is now entering her second century of white-man occupation. We behave as if we believed that 1861 was the beginning of Kansas. It was not, for other civilizations lived here thousands of years before the white man intruded upon them. These Indians fought rather viciously to keep Kansas; living here, for them, was important.

Kansas has produced strong men and women, John Brown furthered a movement toward the freedom of the individual which is still being fought by little children in school yards, by college youth in libraries, and by others at polling booths. Carrie Nation started a battle for freedom from alcoholism which will need to be started again.

Kansas has pioneered a lot of important things. It should pioneer a lot more. Those who live on Kansas plains should refuse to live in vain during its second century.

Nutrition Class Experiments With Rats

Four white rats have been an experimental project of the nutrition class for four weeks.

Each rat has been given a separate diet, which consists of protein deficiency, calcium deficiency, careless diet, and normal control diet.

A protein deficiency diet has resulted in very little growth, tendency to bite, rough fur, and restlessness.

Mr. Scamper Rat, who has the calcium deficiency diet, has less vitality, is ill-tempered, and has faulty bone structure.

Mr. Kare-Free Rat's careless diet might typify a Macollege student. This rat now has rough hair, retarded growth, dull eyes, and is restless.

Wire cages house the rats which are kept in the Home Economics Department. The rats were acquired at three weeks of age and are now seven weeks old.

Members of the nutrition class working on this experiment are Margaret Cook, Sonja Sherif, Ina Stump, Jan Tobias, and Bonnie Webb.

Sollenberger Earns Master's

Paul V. Sollenberger, assistant professor of music theory and string instruments, will receive a Master of Music Degree at Wichita University, Wichita, in August.

An oral examination has already been completed. Sollenberger met with five professors, three from the Music Department and two from the English Department. This recitation period lasted for one hour at which time the professors discussed Mr. Sollenberger's thesis with him.

"A Proposed Plan for Teaching Music Theory at McPherson College" is the title of his thesis.

Sollenberger believes that instead of teaching the traditional harmonic approach to freshman students, a better way is to teach the historical study of melodic line.

In the summer of 1958 Mr. Sollenberger began working toward his master's degree. He has been attending the University every summer since then.

A teaching career began when Mr. Sollenberger was a senior at Macollege. While a senior, he taught part-time.

Williams Begins Career With Dick Tracy Camera

"Stand still and smile." "Hold it, just one more." You have probably heard these words or words of similar nature coming from Gary Williams, Macollege junior from Enders, Neb., whose hobby and future vocation is photography.

Gary's hobby began 14 years ago, when he began taking pictures on a little Dick Tracy camera. He became interested in learning more about the field of photography when he started having trouble with the pictures from his first camera.

He took a tour of a local studio in Imperial, Neb., became enthusiastic, and decided to buy some equipment to develop his own pictures. He bought equipment through the studio and took it to his uncle's home because he was afraid to tell his parents of his new investment.

Secret Discovered
Gary's parents soon discovered the secret equipment, but Gary was already in business. While he was in grade school, Gary started developing film for his friends and other students. One of his comments about his youthful ventures was "I ruined more film by using my upstairs bedroom for my darkroom."

During his high school years at Imperial, Gary's interest and his equipment grew until he took most of the activity pictures for his high school yearbook. He also continued his own private business with the public and gained experience by working in an Imperial studio during his junior year.

Upon graduating from high school, Gary enrolled in Macollege in the fall of 1953. During the first two years of college Gary took pictures for the Spectator, Quadrangle, and individuals.

Worked At Elgin
After completing his sophomore year, Gary heard of an opening in the Visual Education Department in the General Offices of the Church of the Brethren in Elgin, Ill.

He started working in the summer of 1955 as a secretary-technician for the department and did specific work in the dark room, in sound recordings, and in film previewing.

In the fall of 1957, after working two years in Elgin, Gary entered Brethren Volunteer Service and was assigned to Europe.

His first job was to work on rebuilding the Karlschule in Vienna, Austria. Later, he was re-assigned and worked in a Children's Clinic at Hessich-Lichtenau, Germany, and then moved to Kassel, Germany, where he took care of the publicity and interpretation of the Brethren Service Program in Europe, the student exchange program and summer workcamps.

Tour In Europe
While in Europe, Gary took a tour with a group which included

Bomberger Becomes President Of Council
Rev. Harold Z. Bomberger, pastor of the McPherson Church of the Brethren, was elected president of the Kansas Council of Churches for 1961-62.

Lois Fager, Macollege's exchange student to Germany in 1957-58, and visited Holland, Belgium, France, and Luxembourg. He also visited Switzerland and England before coming back to the United States in 1959.

After working in a studio as a darkroom assistant and in a theater as a film projectionist in Ogalla, Neb., for a year, Gary returned to Mac last fall.

Gary has built up his camera equipment from his little Dick Tracy camera of 14 years ago, until he now has about $1500 worth of photography equipment.

When asked about his plans for the future, Gary said, "I have hopes of going into photography full time upon graduation and managing my own studio."

English Classes Compose Anthology

"Here Not In Vain Are We," an anthology of different types of poetry with a few brief prose selections, has been composed by the Written Communication classes, III, IV, V, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Jaderborg, instructor in English.

All work is original with each student contributing at least one selection.

This fourth volume differs from the previous editions in that they contained only sonnets. A guest page has been included which features selections by Mike Begole, sophomore, McPherson; Judy Cupp, junior, Union City, Ind.; Harvey Hess, senior, Waterloo, Iowa; and the late Fred Huesman.

Over 100 copies were distributed to freshmen and those signing up with Mrs. Jaderborg. The fee charged was used to pay for printing and materials.

Prof. Harley Stump, assistant professor of English, who began the project three years ago, printed the cover.

Now is the time for all good men to come to.
