"Anne Frank" Dramatizes Story Of Nazi Wartime Oppression

Vacation To Begin Tuesday At 5 p.m.

Thanksgiving Vacation will begin at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 21. The vacation will end on Monday, Nov. 27, at 7:45 a.m.

All of the dorms will be left open for those students who do not plan to go home during the vacation.

The Student Center will close Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 10 p.m. and open Sunday, Nov. 26, at 2 p.m. for Thanksgiving vacation.

Dramatization of "The Diary of Anne Frank," a play based on the experience of two Jewish families during the war, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m., in Brown Auditorium. James P. Coulson, professor of drama and literature, is directing the production.

Taking place in a warehouse in occupied Holland, the play centers around two Jewish families as they hide from the Nazis. The families' attempt to live normal lives results in humor and tense excitement.

Anne Frank

Sharon Allen, sophomore from Wichita, will play the role of Anne, a 13 year old girl, who is quick in her movements, interested in everything, and mercurial in her emotions.

Terrell Phenice, senior from McPherson, will be portraying Mr. Frank, a gentle, cultured European in his middle years. Mrs. Frank, a young mother, gently bred and reserved, will be played by Kay Shever, sophomore from Correctionville, Iowa.

Sonja Sherry, sophomore from McPherson, will be portraying Margot Frank, Anne's sister, a beautiful, quiet, and shy girl of eighteen. Margarite Schliep, junior from Berlin, Germany, will play Miep, a Dutch girl of about 22. She has been stenographer and secretary in Mr. Frank's business.

Mr. Van Daan

Mike Begole, junior from McPherson, will characterize Mr. Van Daan, a portly man in his late forties. Kay Weber, junior from McPherson, will play the part of Mrs. Van Daan, a pretty women in her early forties. Edwin Mohler, junior from McPherson, will portray Peter Van Daan, a shy, awkward boy of sixteen.

Also in the cast are James Ockerman, freshman from Hollansburg, Ohio, playing Mr. Dussel, a man in his fifties, meticulous and finicky. Daryl Standafer, sophomore from Worthington, Minn., portrays Mr. Kraler, a Dutchman who is dependable and kind.

Technically Complex

This production will be the most technically complex play ever staged at McPherson College.

The set is constructed to show three main rooms; the central living area, Peter's room on one side, and Anne's room on the other side. Ceiling units will be used from which actual lamps will be suspended.

Special lighting and sound effects will be used to achieve the realistic wartime conditions. Over 40 different sound effects will have to be timed perfectly with the action of the play.

Numerous Props

The props are more numerous than ever before and prop changes occur frequently with little time between scenes.

Ronald A. Ruhser is stage manager for the play. Others on the back stage crew include; Gary Williams, Jerrold Wilson, James Weaver, Lee Marshall, Elois Nelson, Jan Zimmerman, Doris Schierling, Lee Harris, Roland Kiracofe, Kenneth Smucker, and Clarence Clark.

Goodrich And Hackett

This two act production is dramatized by Francis Goodrich and Albert Hackett. The story has won the Pulitzer Prize and also the Critics' Circle Award.

Donors Give 138 Pints To Red Cross Bloodmobile

Blood donors gave 138 pints of blood at the Red Cross Bloodmobile visit Monday at the Church of the Brethren. The majority of these donors were McPherson College students and faculty, although a group from a local insurance agency and others contributed.

Although some prospective donors from Fahnestock Hall were rejected because of exposure to measles and the amount was 22 pints below the quota, the Red Cross felt the college contribution was excellent.

Home Ec Club Served

Women of the McPherson College Home Economics Club under the direction of Litsa Germimbessidou, junior from Greece, Carol Williams, sophomore from Hardin, Missouri; Co-Chairmen and Miss Mildred Siek, professor of home economics; served the meal to the donors and the Red Cross personnel and volunteers.

Homemade cakes for the meal were baked and donated by women of the college hill.

A group of college men assisted in unloading the equipment and setting up the ten bed unit in the church basement in the morning and in taking down and re-loading the equipment in the evening.

60 Students

About 60 students were involved in working in the canteen, in serving as hostesses and receptionists, and in helping with equipment Monday, in addition to the students who gave blood. Other students had helped earlier in the solicitation and in typing.

Blood collected in McPherson is processed at the Red Cross Regional Blood Center in Wichita and is available without cost to anyone who needs it.

On the schedule Monday were 84 students who were 18 to 21 and had a signed parents' consent card.

This week's paper has been the practice issue of next semester's editor-in-chief, Beverly Judge, and next semester's managing editor, Muriel Gibson.

How Do You Feel?

Grades Bring Various Emotions To Students

By Beverly Judge
Managing Editor

The release of nine week grades always brings on mixed emotions from the students of this campus.

While some are anxious to see how high their grade point averages will be, others are shaking in their boots because their poor study habits have caught up with them.

Regardless of the reaction, the center of attention for everyone at this point is whether the grades show failure or success.

Freshmen are especially concerned about the first nine week grades. In high school, they may have made straight A's, but here they are having trouble keeping a C average.

Regardless of what we seem to feel, grades are not the supreme and most sought after goal of the true student.

We have students on this campus who may have never made an A in college work but have shown themselves to be sincere scholars in their search for truth.

Our advice to freshman (and scared upperclassmen as well) is not to be too easily swayed by grades that are lower than ideal.

Fright causes a paralyzing affect that prevents any action towards improvement. Poor grades now probably indicate that the student is facing a difficulty that can be remedied through the correction of better study habits.

Vacation offers us an opportunity to relax from school work. We can come back ready for the second nine weeks during which we'll have a chance to pull our grades to a more satisfying level.

Red Cross Extends Thanks To Macollege

A thank you for McPherson College's participation in the Blood mobile visit Monday is extended by the McPherson County Chapter and the Regional Blood Center of the American Red Cross.

Over 100 McPherson College students donated blood. The Home Economics Club served the meal, and other students helped to make the Bloodmobile visit possible.

reports on each senior to a state or regional committee of educators composed of persons not under the influence of the participating colleges.

Would not the student report, combined with the faculty-administration report and a non-biased selection committee, tend to develop a strong leadership based on individual merit and diminish Jacksonian type of leadership grounded on who is known and what strings are pulled?

The above suggestions would involve a great deal of renovating, but if we are to continue supporting the American ideal of reward on the basis of merit and the Christian ideal of unselfishness, action of some sort is necessary.

Campus Needs Better SC Atmosphere

Dear Editor,

Some concern is being expressed on this campus concerning the function, purpose and use of the new Student Center.

It is certainly true that students and faculty are experiencing a period of adjustment to the new buildings on campus.

Old Sharp Hall no longer exists. The favorite spot of campus of the past, the Doghouse, will be unknown in future years. The closeness of the Arnold Hall cafeteria has been replaced by the beautiful, efficient, and spacious cafeteria in the Student Center.

Element Missing

With all of our improvements, which have come after many years of planning, there seems to be some element missing that would fulfill the purpose of the Student Center.

The possibility exists that when we become more accustomed to the "newness" of our surroundings, the purpose and function of the Student Center will be more explicit.

But our concern at the present should be how we can im-

Pondering With The President

Briefings

By D. W. Bittinger

Representatives from education, the ministry, and the mass news media: newspapers, television, radio; are being briefed across the United States by the State Department. Such a briefing took place recently in Kansas City. Top level men from the State Department were present.

Several representatives from McPherson were asked to come. The "hard line" taken by the State Department representatives was about as follows:

1. We must be prepared to fight with the best possible striking power.
2. We must have the will to use this power when the time comes.
3. Under this umbrella of force we must be willing to talk and negotiate in order to postpone or avoid war if possible.

It was unfortunate that in all of the discussions by State Department people no attention was given to the United Nations. Similarly no attention was given to the church or the churches' message. This seems to say something about our State Department and also something about the church and its concept of its role in the world.

Point three above is hopeful. Discussion is always appropriate, but both the United Nations and the church are now irrelevant when discussion is honestly and sincerely entered into.

This meeting as well as our newspaper comments day by day reveal that international relations are still in their "frontier days." World development indicates that we need to cross beyond this frontier quickly. Education, the church, the mass media should help in this direction.

prove the atmosphere now. What element is missing that we students may provide to make a climate of congeniality or "togetherness" among more students of our campus.

Advantage

We have too many students who do not take advantage of the Student Center during their spare time. No one should stay in the dormitory rather than join in the fun at the Student Center because he does not feel comfortable or at ease at the place where ALL students should find companionship and fun.

Even the name suggests that this should be a center for student activities.

I'm sure that any constructive suggestions for improving the atmosphere of the Student Center could be aired through this column and would be appreciated by students and the administration.

Student Asks Reason For Closed Buildings

Dear Editor,

While I was showing our new buildings to some friends and an alumna of the college, we were amazed to find the buildings locked.

What are we, a bunch of juveniles? We are supposed to be good Christian men and women. It is appalling to think that we must be locked out of these buildings which were built for our use and enjoyment.

I think an arrangement should be made so that we could show the buildings which display the culture and arts of our school to our friends.

Questions Arise Concerning Who's Who

Dear Editor,

There are many McPherson College administration and staff qualities that may ruin the respect of Macollege students.

We realize the humanity of the faculty and administration, but we should not let this hold back improvement in selection of Macollege's Who's Who.

We notice that students are chosen on the basis of qualities of leadership, scholarship, and promise of future usefulness to society and business. Are not these criteria quite nebulous and open to wide interpretation?

Do we not also find, in addition to cases of true merit, adroitness in playing politics by having correct contacts and positions in proper organizations, accident of birth and marriage playing a role in the selection of Macollege's Who's Who?

If there is to be a more valid selection in future years, would it not be better to have students write a brief summary of ways they have been of service to the college?

Such a paper could refresh the minds of the faculty and administration as they send their

Bulldogs Finish Season With 20-0 KCAC Victory

Football action ended for McPherson College when the Bulldogs defeated the Sterling Warriors 20-0 in a Kansas Conference Victory, Friday night at the College Stadium.

This game left the Bulldogs with a final conference standing of 3-6 while Sterling has a 1-8 record.

34-Yard Pass TD
Mac scored the first touchdown within the first three minutes of play after two first downs and a 34-yard pass from Don Kuhlman, quarterback, to Galen Huffman. Keith Miller kicked the extra point.

Mac recovered a Sterling fumble, but failed to make enough yardage for a first down. During the second quarter Kuhlman passed again, this time to Gary Metsker, who ran 56 yards to score the second Mac TD.

61-Yard March
The final touchdown was scored when Mac took over the ball in the third quarter of its own 39 yard line. Tim Wesselowski dashed 17 yards, Kuhlman passed to Hoch for 7 yards, and Wesselowski made 11 yards to regain yardage lost on a penalty.

Tom Richards dashed around left end for two yards to score and Keith Miller kicked the extra point.

Intercepted Pass
Neither team scored in the final quarter. Mac did intercept a pass to return the ball to Mac's 48-yard line.

As a team, the Bulldogs averaged 3.5 yards on each of the 50 plays, while the Warriors made 2.6 yards on 36 ground plays.

Ed Johnson led the Bulldogs tackles with eight, while Silas O'Neal followed with seven and Art Hoch had five.

Coach Smith stated "Ed Johnson, freshman guard, played the best defensive game on the field, while Tim Wesselowski, fullback, played a good offensive game of hard running and blocking."

Friendship Hall Exhibits Thailand, Carey Displays

Exhibits in Friendship Hall this month include a photographic display of "Sites and Monuments of Thailand" and a pottery exhibit by J. Sheldon Carey.

The photographic exhibit was extended as a supplement to "The Exhibition of the Arts of Thailand" as an attempt to give the American public an idea of the architectural context of the objects.

Assembled By Bowie
Assembled by Theodore Bowie of Indiana University, the descriptive notes were supplied by M. C. Subhadradis Diskul of the National Museum of Bangkok.

This traveling exhibition, on loan from the Fine Arts Department of Indiana University, is sponsored by the state-wide Project for Extending the Study of Foreign Areas in Indiana Undergraduate Education.

Purpose of the exhibition is to depict outstanding examples of the architecture and art of Thailand and to demonstrate the culture of the Thai people.

Carey From New York
J. Sheldon Carey, born in Bath, New York, received his B. S. degree from Alfred, the New York State College of Ceramics.

Further graduate work was done at Teachers College, Columbia University, after which he received a grant for developing a rotating wheel on which pottery could be thrown from above.

Professor Of Ceramic Art
As a professor of ceramic art at the University of Kansas, he teaches nearly 100 students each semester.

Carey's work has been shown throughout the United States in such exhibitions as the California World's Fair and the Syracuse National and International.

In the Second International Ceramic Exhibition held in Ostend, Belgium, in 1959, one of his pots traveled through Denmark, Spain, Belgium, Germany, England and finished its tour in Washington, D. C.

Presented Award
In 1958, Carey was presented with an award in the 20th International Ceramic Show at the Syracuse Museum.

He has written for publications such as "Ceramics Monthly" and the "American Ceramic Society Bulletin."

In 1960, a half-hour video tape made by Carey was shown in New York City, Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles, and St. Louis.

Crafts On Display In Friendship Hall

A collection of crafts from different countries is on display in Friendship Hall. The display is part of a personal collection owned by S. M. Dell, professor of industrial arts education.

The carvings and other articles come from Japan, India, Bali, Hawaii, Kenya, Nigeria, Germany, Honduras, Canada, and the United States.

The collection was started by Professor Dell about five years ago when he returned from a trip to Europe.

Sunday morning's sermon by Harold Z. Bomberger, pastor, will be "Thanks—Then Giving."

Services for Sunday, Nov. 26, will include the morning sermon, "Jesus Christ the Light of the World." This sermon title coincides with the theme of the meeting of the World Council of Churches being held in New Delhi, India, Nov. 18 to Dec. 6.

Sunday evening services on Nov. 26 will be a Women's Fellowship play entitled "Ever Since April."

The cast of the play will be Mary and Paul Wagoner and Rebecca and Dayton Rothrock.

Cabbage Accepts Post In Liberia With IVS

Lynn D. Cabbage, a '61 graduate in biology from McPherson College, has accepted a post overseas on a technical assistance team in Liberia under International Voluntary Services, Inc.

Cabbage, from Prairie City, Iowa, left on Nov. 5 for a two-year position on an education team which is teaching in rural and village schools. He will be acting as a construction aide in building schools.

45 American Teachers
The total program of which Cabbage is a part will eventually utilize 45 American teachers and construction men. The program is designed to expand educational opportunity and raise the educational standards of eastern-Liberia by providing schools and trained teachers.

Cabbage spent about six weeks in training with Brethren Volunteer Service, at New Windsor, Md., while awaiting departure. His work overseas with IVS serves as an alternative to military service.

IVS is a nonprofit organization that recruits and sends teams of young Americans overseas to work with rural people. Personnel are chosen on the basis of character, experience and technical training; they must have skills useful in solving the problems of the people with whom they work.

Point Four.
Teams work in community development, education and agriculture under IVS contracts with the U.S. Point Four organization, the Agency for International Development (formerly the International Cooperation Administration).

IVS has sent more than 200 volunteers abroad in nine countries since it was established in 1953. The helpful and friendly relationships established with people of the host countries, from simple village people and their leaders to national officials, have been most encouraging.

IVS experience in technical assistance abroad proved to be of great value in establishing the Peace Corps.
