Why Not Think It Over?

By Dr. Raymond L. Flory

During the past several weeks I have had occasion to have a "fresh" exposure to the purposes and the program of the Peace Corps. In the main, it proposes to use the very best Americans—in ability and training and commitment—to do many of the things that people on both sides of the iron curtain have been championing for years.

College students who have not yet "lost themselves" in some vocational direction will do well to keep this opportunity in mind. You will need to be above average in your ability, in excellent health, and proficient in some skill which the host country desires.

In addition, you will need some proficiency in language and a knowledge not only of American institutions, but also of the area or the country where you plan to work. And certainly you will need to be adaptable enough to absorb the "culture shock" which may accompany your living in a very different social setting.

The financial remuneration is not large, but there are many in-service and post-service benefits. But most important of all, you will be betting a part of your life on better world understanding in what is probably the best opportunity available to Americans at this time.

Why not think it over?

Letters To The Editor

Student Rejects 'Coffee Shoppe' Atmosphere

Dear Editor,

It is gratifying to discover that McPherson College has decided to abandon the "simple life." No longer do we attempt to follow the example of one who wore the clothes of a carpenter.

Now the college is to begin emulating those who frequent the coffee shoppe. To this end, the students are to be required to practice one night a week by wearing clothing appropriate to the coffee shoppe.

Holy Land

The choice of the coffee shoppe as the new Holy Land is a wise one. At first glance it would appear that the night club would supply a more powerful god.

But choice of the night club god might have aggravated the money god, and this would mean no more golden calves to place at the campus entrance—the price of polished granite being what it is.

However, it would be nice if we could choose the night club, since, undoubtedly, it is a higher prestige symbol than the coffee shoppe.

Maybe some day we can patch the quarrel between our local money god and the night club god, as our forefathers did with the feud between the money god and the coffee shoppe god.

Then McPherson College will be able to train its students to function at the highest levels of society.

Inconsistencies In Worship

However, assuming that we must be content with the coffee shoppe god, there are still a few inconsistencies in our worship that should be cleared up immediately. The picture hanging in Room 125 Mohler of the carpenter with the beard is very much out of date.

The clothing just does not come up to the standards set by the new look at McPherson. Probably, Brooks Brothers would supply a more suitable image of god if we would write them and agree to display their name in the picture.

Outmoded Translations

Another thing the college must do in paying homage to the success god (here before referred to as the coffee shoppe god) is to replace all the outmoded translations of the Bible with the translations of the Old Testament by Emily Post and of the New Test-

Reaction Given To Macampus Flag Symbolism

Dear Editor,

Most Americans feel a deep respect and personal concern for the image of their heritage as represented by a colorful symbol called a flag.

When people are so busy and preoccupied by their own problems that they forget the "little" things, then it is time they stop and realize what is happening.

What is your reaction to an American flag in the dark of night? What symbolism! Has the dawn of leadership and a freedom-loving people been engulfed and darkened because they no longer care?

The American flag on McPherson campus was not taken down before dark Monday night, Oct. 16, 1961.

ament by Dale Carnegie.

This change of books should be very easy to accomplish since it will be paid for by the students.

Despite the few inconsistencies, the College Administration is to be congratulated for the subtlety with which the carpenter was ushered out.

This has been done so well that with no protest or rebellion most of his worshippers have been dutifully wearing the uniform of the coffee shoppe.

College To Be Visited By Peace Corps Agent

A Field Representative of the United States Peace Corps, Ray W. Focht, is tentatively scheduled to spend Tuesday, Nov. 14, on Macampus.

During his visit, Focht will speak to interested groups concerning the United States Peace Corps, its objectives, and its procedures. He will also talk with students who are interested in work in the Peace Corps.

President Kennedy originated the Peace Corps when he made the following statement to Congress on March, 1: "I recommend . . . the establishment of a permanent Peace Corps—a pool of trained American men and women sent overseas . . . to help foreign countries meet their urgent needs for skilled manpower."

New Dimension

A new dimension is added to mutual assistance programs through the Peace Corps. Other United States programs will provide military aid, technical assistance, and capital to other nations.

Peace Corps Volunteers will go only where they are wanted and needed. They will work closely with people and will sometimes provide on-the-job training so the people can carry on after the

A Room Of Your Own

By D. W. Bittinger

Recently, I heard an outstanding educator address a group of college presidents and school administrators. We expected her to speak about the future of education and how we should upgrade our educational offerings.

Instead, she told us that under the pressures which fall upon college students in this day it is important that we help them to find "a room of their own". By this she meant a quiet time during the day when the student would sit down and face himself; think, pray, let God speak to him, capture from God and from his universe some peace of mind.

She said that if she did not do this each day she could not carry on at the pace she is forced to live. In this quiet room of her own she shuts other things out, thinks of herself and her Creator.

We have a quiet room at the Student Center. We hope this will be used for meditation and thought and helpful conversations. It is not necessary, however, to be in this quiet room, or any specific place to have this "room of your own."

Discover it and take it with you through life. Meet yourself and God in it. In the midst of storm it is possible to find peace.

Quarter horses and basketball are two of Ralph's main interests. He has lettered in basketball and track at MacCollege. In track he ran the 440 and the mile relay.

Ralph's extra curricular activities include M Club, SNEA, and intramurals.

Provisional Letter

During his freshman year, he received a provisional letter in football. However, he has not played since because of a knee injury which resulted in an operation during his sophomore year.

While in high school, Ralph participated in basketball, softball and baseball and lettered in all three sports.

Doug, a business major, plans to be a business accountant following graduation from college. Basketball and intramurals are included in Doug's main interests.

As co-trainers, Ralph and Doug are responsible for wrapping the players' ankles before practice, taking care of all equipment, and doing numerous other jobs.

Bethany Spoils Homecoming For Bulldogs By 7-0 Win

Bethany College spoiled McPherson College's homecoming last Saturday evening by scoring a lone touchdown late in the fourth quarter to win the conference game 7-0.

Over 3,000 fans watched the Swedes score on a 71-yard dash to leave McPherson's record with two wins and three losses. Bethany now has a record of two wins, two losses, and one tie. McPherson threatened to score twice in the first half. Early in the game the Bulldogs made five consecutive first downs to reach the Bethany 13-yard line, but lost the ball on downs.

Harrison Recovers

During the second quarter John Harrison, quarterback, recovered a Bethany fumble; but the Swedes gained possession of the ball when the Bulldogs failed to gain enough yardage for a first down.

In the last quarter, Dave Priddy recovered the ball when Bethany's attempted field goal kick was blocked, and returned it to Mac's 38-yard line. However, this drive ended on Bethany's 29-yard strip.

Keyte Scores

With 5:56 minutes left to play, Dick Keyte scored Bethany's touchdown when he carried the ball through the left side of the line and raced the 71 yards. Bill Mansker kicked the extra point to complete the only scoring of the game.

Coach Sid Smith remarked, "The Bulldogs played a fine defensive game with the exception of three plays. Calvin Unruh was Mac's top ground gainer with 62 yards, averaging 4.4 yards on 14 carries.

"Dennis Wallace and Duane Sword looked good defensively and offensively as tackles, and Silas O'Neal played well as a guard. Garth Wood handled all the offensive work as center."

Wesselowski Averaged 5.5 Tim Wesselowski played offensive fullback and gained 55 yards on ten carries for a 5.5 average. Tom Richards carried three times for 25 yards or 8.3 yards per carry.

Silas O'Neal and Gary Metsker tied for eight tackles each. Keith Miller had eight tackles. David Priddy and Donavon Koehn had six tackles each, and Larry Crumrine had five tackles.

Art Hoch passed twice for 10 and 15 yards, and Charles Wiggins passed once for 13 yards.

Three Attend Home Ec Meet At Topeka

Two students and Mildred Siek, professor of home economics, attended the Kansas Home Economics College Club Workshop Saturday, Oct. 14, at Washburn University of Topeka.

"A Workshop in a Nutshell" was the theme of the workshop.

An address entitled "Morals, Ethics, and Ideas of College Students" was given by Dr. Merlon French.

Following the address, the workshop broke up into discussion groups to discuss how improvements could be made in the local college clubs.

On exhibit were scrapbooks and program booklets of various college clubs. These exhibits were judged, and trophies were awarded.

After the afternoon business meeting, the workshop was entertained at a tea in the Governor's Mansion.

October Exhibit Features Art From Waldorf School

Macollege obtained the present art exhibit in Friendship Hall through the American Branch of the Rudolf Steiner Arts Foundation. It will be on display until the end of October.

This exhibit represents a relatively new kind of teaching.

Steiner Is Founder

The late Rudolf Steiner, Ph. D., was the founder of the first Waldorf School at Stuttgart, Germany, in 1919.

These schools use art as a basis for most of their teaching, by teaching art and science at the same time. In all grades students make notebooks related to the subject matter. They use these notebooks as textbooks in the lower grades.

Subjects with much imagery such as fairy tales, myths, sagas, testaments, biography, and history are studied. Their tools are color, black and white, clay and handwork.

Geometry In 6th Grade

Sixth graders begin learning geometry through projective drawing through which they learn the principles.

The seventy Waldorf Private Schools in Europe, the Americas, New Zealand, Australia, and

South Africa teach two foreign languages from the first grade through the twelfth grade.

Physics And Geometry
Physics and geometry are taught in the sixth grade, and they teach through calculus without separating the gifted student from the average student.

This can be accomplished through the use of the faculties of imagination and questioning which are usually allowed to lie dormant.

McPherson College will receive two similar displays during the course of this school year.
