College Offers Scholarships To Next Year's Freshmen

The competitive honor scholarship program is again being offered to members of the entering freshman class at Maccollege of 1963-64. This marks the fourth year of the program.

"We know that competitive scholarships have helped raise the academic standards here at Maccollege," says Guy Hayes, director of admissions. "Forty-one per cent of our current freshman class ranked in the upper quartile on the ACT scores."

Five competitive honor scholarships with a total value of $1000 each, three valued at $800 each, and three valued at $600 each are available to members of the entering freshman class.

The amount of the scholarship is spread over the four year college period. To qualify for the total maximum value of the scholarship, the student must maintain a "B" average each semester.

Tryouts for the scholarships will be held Thursday, March 7, at 1:30 p.m. and Saturday, March 16, at 8 a.m. The tryout procedure includes taking a series of tests and having a personal interview.

Students who have not previously taken the ACT tests will also take these. In case of extreme hardship or impossibility of attending the assigned tryout times, special arrangements can be made.

Basis for selection of scholarship winners will be high school grades, ACT scores, other tests and scholastic achievement, and the personal interview.

A limited number of music scholarships with a top value of $400 each are also available to entering freshmen.

Auditions for these scholarships will be held at the same time as

Peace Corps News

JFK Plans New Branch

A new "domestic" Peace Corps for the United States is now being planned by President John F. Kennedy. The new branch of the Peace Corps, still in the planning stages, has not been named yet.

A planning committee, headed by the President's brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, presently has no official status, but hopes to have 200 to 500 corpsmen at work by midsummer on several tasks.

Projects will consist of organizing community development in an Indian reservation, working as aides in mental hospitals, following migrant workers and helping them adjust to living conditions, helping Cuban refugees, teaching illiterates to read and write, and working on projects in both urban and rural areas.

Many of the members in the new project will be on loan from the Peace Corps, so that they will have had training.

The new program is expected to receive official status by an executive order and will be made permanent by legislation.

Rough plans for the new Corps were drawn up by Robert Kennedy and five Cabinet members plus Peace Corp Director Sargent Shriver.

Rascher to Make Guest Appearance With Ensemble

McPherson College's Wind Ensemble will present Sigurd Rascher, the "dean of today's classical saxophone players," on March 2. Sigurd Rascher has appeared in concerts in Australia, Holland, London, and Switzerland, as well as in concerts in the United States.

Mr. Rascher will be accompanied by the Wind Ensemble under the direction of Irvin Wagner, assistant professor in music, director of bands and orchestra.

The admission charge for this concert will be one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students.

Home Ec Club Topic To Be Family Relations

Four Maccollege international students will discuss family relations and customs at a Home Economics Club meeting next Tuesday night Feb. 12, at 6:45.

Application Due Friday For Study in Germany

Deadline for applications for a year of study in Marburg, Germany, is Friday, Feb. 15. Application blanks may be secured from Dean Wayne F. Geisert.

Students having certain personal and academic qualifications are invited to participate in this program. Among these is a knowledge of the German language to the level of the completion of the second college year.

Folk Trio Will Present Next Cultural Program

The trio specializes in folk songs of various countries.

All three members of the trio perform singly as well as in the group.

A Story of Two Frenchmen

General Charles de Gaulle's attitude toward the United States and Great Britain has been consistently attacked by reporters, news commentators and government officials in the past several weeks.

But to really understand why a man like de Gaulle acts the way he does, it is necessary to have a complete understanding of the personality and psychological processes of the Frenchmen.

This can best be done by paralleling the actions of General de Gaulle with the life and teachings of one of France's most illustrious outcasts, the notorious son of the Bastille, Monsieur Romone LeRoy Flurae.

From his pedestal of imperial glory at the head of room 227, Dr. Flurae has repeatedly preached the doctrine of puppet student government to the disillusioned natives assembled.

And Flurae, like Charles de Gaulle, has consistently demonstrated his stubbornness at the negotiation table, many times refusing to concede preferential grade agreements to Limey laggards and underdeveloped brains.

His obsession for erecting higher and higher external grade barriers has brought him into conflict with the proletariat and parallels dramatically with de Gaulle's reactionary attitude toward Great Britain.

As is the case with General de Gaulle, Dr. Flurae has consistently hampered Numerous Attempts Toward Orchestration, e.i. the juke box, and has thereby created a serious split in the western alliance by preventing complete harmonization.

The fact that General de Gaulle paid absolutely no heed to President Kennedy's urgent request should come as no surprise to those who are beginning to understand the psychological reactions of a Frenchman.

After all, everyone knows that Monsieur Flurae hasn't taken a Democrat seriously for years.

Several times I have been asked why Dr. Flurae stands so firmly on the status quo and refuses to rock the boat.

After considerable research, I have discovered the answer. Apparently the great desire to keep the great ship Mac from being rocked by winds of typhoon progressives, stems from an inherent susceptibility to seasickness.

At any rate, I do hope that the news from across the North Atlantic will seem more significant to you from now on, knowing that the policies and actions of General Charles de Gaulle run parallel with the life and teachings of Romone LeRoy Flurae. WMB.

Oriental Student Spins Tale of Western Campus

By Fook-Lim Tham

If approached by one from the underdeveloped East, Surprise him I would with the tale of the East-and-West. The bustling campus would undoubtedly spark the first tale; Such romantic grandeur so scintillates A son of the Pearl of the Orient would stare with starry eyes; Furnished with choicest menagerie of the wild equatorial belt

And with such inertial intellectualism so embalmed, A Confucious would fear to marvel. The high-ups, brain and brawn, ceaselessly fathom the mysterious East In top secrecy, they maneuver. With or without conclusion, an aborigine could not tell, Though many a prejudice they did reveal. Yet with guiding hand many kindly hearts foster; This a vagabond would not fail to retell. The last and best tale is yet to tell: The cafeteria so conveniently in existence With such delicacy—an epicure of the East would not resist. On a beautiful Thursday evening The gentlemen and ladies parade in the glamorous galaxy A most cultured Orient scarcely would dream a thousand times.

Former Monk Centers Talk On Value of Self-discipline

By Jay Cannon

An informal discussion, sponsored by the Church Vocation Fellowship, was held Tuesday in the Quiet Room of the Student Union with the Reverend A. J. Chandonnet, former Catholic Monk.

The title of the Rev. Chandonnet's talk was "Monastic Disciplines; Cause and Effects." Much of the discussion was centered around self-discipline and how it can be a valuable asset in strengthening the Protestant Church.

In his preparation for a life in a monastery, Rev. Chandonnet told of many occasions in which he had to substitute different foods and articles in place of those which he liked best.

Substitution was just one means which Rev. Chandonnet used to bring his body under subjection. He added that the self-discipline which he had learned was one of the most valuable characteristics in shaping his later Christian life.

When Rev. Chandonnet was asked how the modern day church would benefit from this type of discipline, he stated that the modern Christian church would have to start emphasizing self-discipline of the individual church member.

Rev. Chandonnet added many interesting and personal experiences during the informal discussion.

Attending the discussion was the Rev. R. L. Quackenbush, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, five faculty members and approximately thirty students.

Mac to Be Site Of Y Conference

"Students—Involved in Love and Power," will be the theme of the Kansas District YMCA-YWCA Spring Conference to be held Feb. 22-23 in McPherson.

The main speaker will deal with the problem of love and power in the world. Interest groups will be formed to deal with overseas, workcamps, community service projects, overseas seminars, and involvement in the American political process.

The conference will begin with registration from 7 to 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 22, and will close with the evening meal on Saturday. A registration fee of $4.50 will be charged.

Faculty Plans Monthly Socials

The faculty will meet Friday, Feb. 15, in the social rooms of the College Church at 6:15 p.m. The meal will be pot-luck.

The program will feature Mrs. Wesley DeCoursey, instructor in design, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Blickenstaff, instructor in art.

...thinking support from many citizens. And you can't blame college graduates for looking approvingly upon a government that offers a couple of years of work in foreign parts prior to the dull routine of jobs, housework, child-raising and mortgages.

But American taxpayers right now have more of these "we can reform the world" projects than they can comfortably carry. If the Peace Corps continues to exist, five years from now it will be ten times larger and 30 times more expensive than it is today.

And its presently-questionable value will be reduced because of the bureaucratic tendency to develop make-work projects to keep a constantly-expanding staff busy.

Lord Reveals Skill In Puppet Handling

By Darlene Blickenstaff

Remarkably skillful manipulation of over 100 puppets by David Lord of Lord's International supplied a highly enjoyable evening of entertainment Wednesday, Jan. 30, for the fourth event on the 1962-63 Cultural Series calendar.

The artistic versatility of the puppeteer allowed him to present a wide variety of numbers ranging from the dramatization of the profound opera, Faust, of Charles Gounod, to a lighter, lyrical underwater fantasy set to the music, Lotus Land, by Cyril Scott.

David Lord proved himself to be a most gracious and unusually capable showman through his charming and witty introduction and explanatory statements, his falsetto singing, and through his knowledge of various cultures and languages portrayed by various numbers including the Jewish hora dance and the British Changing of the Guard.

The technical mastery displayed was, in itself, a remarkable aspect of the evening which progressed rapidly and smoothly despite the fact that introductions, lighting, music and set changes were handled entirely by Mr. Lord, himself.

Audience enthusiasm demonstrated the general delight in experiencing the illusion of human drama in its varied aspects—comic and tragic—created by the puppets which proved to a high form of adult entertainment.

Student Council Appoints Ullom To Fill Vacancy

By Roger Emmert

The main item of business at the Jan. 31 meeting of the Student Council was the approval of a recommendation brought by the Board of Publications.

This recommendation was for the appointment of Ken Ullom as assistant business manager of the Spectator. Ken will fill the position recently vacated by Jim Bosserman.

Other topics for discussion were the pin ball machine, recently installed by the Student Union Board and the possibility of a chapel program in which students could be given a chance to express their opinions on subjects of importance to them.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

TELL ME DAWSON, WHAT KIND OF AN ASSIGNMENT WOULD I HAVE TO GIVE THAT WOULD ENCOURAGE YOU TO DROP THIS COURSE?

Editorial Labels Peace Corps 'Silly Political Boondoggling'

Editor's note: The following article is an abridgment of an editorial written by Rex Karney, editor of the Rockford, Ill., Morning Star. It does not necessarily reflect the views of the Spectator staff.

The Peace Corps is the most over-rated, over-publicized, and over-sold travel club in the world. It's about as silly a bit of political boondoggling as any American politician has ever devised, and this covers a lot of territory.

That youth would rally for service in the Corps was to be expected. Youth is fascinated by the dream of adventure which the Peace Corps promises its members.

Peace Corps members serve the cause of socialism because in too many cases their effort is devoted to government agricultural projects, government construction of houses, roads, dams, and other government operation of various enterprises.

Peace Corps members are employed by the so-called "underdeveloped countries" in precise the same manner as a socialistic government would employ its labor force.

... What the underdeveloped nations of the world need is not socialism, but large doses of competitive enterprise, based on individual initiative and private property.

It is a sad truth that today we have the leadership of the greatest, capitalist nation in the world in the hands of those who think socialism is just the right medicine for other nations who suffer from economic and social ailments.

Americans prospered and grew strong on System A, and so our leaders prescribe System B for our neighbors. It is this sort of thing that makes some of us wonder what our leaders have in mind for us.

What most countries of Asia,

Africa, and Latin America need is intense land cultivation, mass production factories, stores, plantations, banks and business know-how.

They need real engineers, farmers, doctors, teachers, and production experts—and not a bunch of youngsters whose good intentions are a poor substitute for experience.

A good many of the nations to whom U. S. Peace Corps members have been assigned have chased other foreigners out. They have expelled European businessmen, bankers and technicians. They have expropriated foreign properties and divided the spoils.

Many of these young governments lack the talent to operate the facilities they acquired. Are our well-publicized young Peace Corpsmen the answer to their problem?

As a colorful, romantic, and seemingly-altruistic program the Peace Corps may have attracted

Cagers to Face Leading Team

Two tough opponents face the Bulldogs in this next week's conference action. Tomorrow night McPherson plays the leading team in the conference, C of E, at Emporia. Then on Tuesday, Feb. 12, Bethany takes on the Bulldogs at McPherson.

College of Emporia has put on a mid-season spurt to vault into the conference lead. The Presbys have been defeating all comers of late and have won nine straight games.

McPherson has met C of E once this year, at Mac, and defeated the Presbys 68-61. The Bulldogs were led by Deryl Elmore with 20 points. Smallwood and Tubbs each had 18 points for Emporia.

Bethany has had its ups and downs all season. Currently the Swedes seem to be on an upward swing, winning their last two games. At times they show the form that made them the pre-season pick to win the conference and at other times they look like a high school team.

In two previous meetings, Bethany has been victorious in both games. Bethany first defeated the Bulldogs in the Moundridge tournament 74-65 in overtime, and also won in league play at Bethany 74-60.

Macampus Bowlers Form New Intramural League

Maccollege bowlers formed an intramural bowling league last Tuesday and began action the same day.

Made up of eight men's and eight women's teams, the league has four members to a team.

As a result of the first week's competition, the Hi-Lows, Kingpins, Fireballs, and Pros are on top of the men's division with each team winning two lines and losing one.

The Hi-Lows was the high team for three lines with 1971 pins. They were followed by the Kingpins with 1836 pins and the Lucky Four with 1723 pins.

The same three teams were the leaders for one line with the Hi-Lows having 712 pins, the Kingpins 633, and the Lucky Four, 605.

Larry Wachtman was the high individual for three lines with 546 pins. Bill Klein followed with 532, and Larry Bierworth had 499.

Wachtman also came up with the high individual honors for one line with 227 pins. Klein and Bierworth followed with 187 and 182 respectively.

The Hi-Low team is made up of Larry Wachtman, Phil Wachtman, Bill Klein, and Robert Williams. Members of the Kingpins are Larry Gillis, Ron Grout, Richard Nelson, and Larry Bowman. Bob Crabb, Allan Vance, Dennis Weimer, and Willy Loewen are on the Lucky Four Team.

In the women's division, the Hissmitts, Miskaboobles, Curvetts, and Spares came out on top with each winning two and losing one line.

Hissmitts was the high team for three games with 1389 pins, followed by the Miskaboobles with 1271 and the Gutter Girls with 1243.

The Hissmitts also had the high line with 494 pins. The Miskaboobles and Gutter Girls had 473 and 437 respectively.

Judy Knelson came up with the high series with 375 pins. Jeannette Weddle had 374 and Harriet Swinger, 345.

Jeannette Weddle bowled the high individual game with 156 pins. She was followed by Harriet Swinger with 146 and Ruth Irwin with 132.

The Hissmitt team is made up of Delores James, Judy Knelson, Bonnie Robison, and Jeannette Weddle.

Marcia Yoder, Lena Miyasaki, Leah Stauffer, and Nancy Miller are the Miskaboobles. Members of the Gutter Girls are Judy Atwater, Sue Warrick, Judy Hoover, and Chris Rodas.

Mac Women Retaliate With Win over Sterling

Seeking revenge for the only loss inflicted on them this year, the Maccollege women's basketball team toppled Sterling last Saturday on the Sterling court.

Anne Kruse, sophomore from Little River, led the Mac sextet with 26 points as they rolled to a 44-36 victory.

Erritt scored eight points, followed by Vanderau with four, Karen Andes with three, and Penny, Priddy, and Hutchison with one each.

Gine Coleman was high scorer for Sterling with 19 points.

Braves Scalp Bulldogs 73-58

Maccollege took its third consecutive loss last Tuesday night by falling before a strong Ottawa team 73-58.

The Bulldogs were far off their usual game as they hit only 37 per cent from the field, well below their average. Ottawa, by contrast, scored on 51 per cent of their shots.

McPherson scoring was led by Art Hoch and LeRoy Weddle who tallied 12 points each. Tom Kinder was high man for Ottawa with 20.

From The Locker Room

These last two losses have sent the Bulldogs' conference hopes reeling, yet the Bulldogs will be a factor in the outcome of the race.

Mac has yet to face C of E and Bethany. One, C of E, presently leads the league, while the other, Bethany, still has hopes of catching the leader.

Both of the last two defeats of Mac were bitter to take. A slow start hampered the Bulldogs and put them far behind at the beginning of each game.

Desperate rallies fell short each time. In the game against Southwestern, the rally was cut short by the men in the black and white shirts, and that is all that needs to be said about that.

Still, the Bulldogs must be given credit, only a hard-nosed and determined team could have even made the games close after trailing by such large margins early in the games.

Also, my hat is off to the Bulldogs in defeat as well as in victory. Even though nobody likes to lose, the Bulldogs take it like men.

After seven straight right predictions, the crystal ball finally missed this last week. This week's games make it tough to pick a winner, but here goes.

Don't ask me why I do it, but I give Mac a victory over both C of E and Bethany.

Granted C of E leads the conference, and that Bethany has already beaten Mac twice, but the Bulldogs just might get spirit enough to upset both teams.

Two Losses Spoil Hopes As Bulldogs Drop to Sixth

Mac's hope for winning the KCAC crown this season were dampened last week as the Bulldogs dropped two important conference contests. Mac's cagers now hold down sixth place in the tight KCAC race.

Southwestern handed McPherson a bitter defeat 94-81 at Winfield, Tuesday, Jan. 29. The loss stopped the Mac win streak at five games and dropped the Bulldogs league record to 6-5.

Don Turner led the Moundbuilder scorers with 14 field goals and 9 free throws, for a total of 37 points. Deryl Elmore had 4 field goals and 11 free throws for 19 points for McPherson.

Southwestern started the game strong and led by as much as 16 points early in the first half. McPherson rallied to cut the halftime score to 48-45 in favor of Southwestern.

The Bulldogs rallied in the second half but were hurt by fouls, which Southwestern turned into points. The final Builder margin of 13 points was gained only in the closing moments of the game.

John Tegeler and Marion Enke also had 16 and 15 points respectively for Mac.

Sterling College handed McPherson its sixth loss in conference action and its second straight loss by defeating Mac at Sterling 82-78.

The Warriors featured a three-pronged attack with Becker scoring 23 points, Crawford 22 points and Boeken scoring 21 points. John Tegeler tallied 25 points for McPherson and Marion Enke also had 20 points.

Sterling led the entire game and at the start threatened to run away with the game, building up an early 17-7 lead. Their fast start could be credited to McPherson's slow start.

The Bulldogs did not find the shooting range until the second half. In the second half McPherson hit 62 per cent of its shots from the field, but did not score enough points to win.

Sterling rebounded and shot amazingly in the first half to build up a sizeable lead. The last part of the game the Warriors stalled, waiting either for foul shots or for easy set-ups.

Marion Enke fouled out of the game late in the last half for Mac after playing a fine game.

Wichita Debaters Capture First Place in Invitational

Larry Bradshaw and Keith Williamson of Wichita University overpowered the field of 42 teams to capture the first place trophy at the McPherson Invitational Debate Tournament held here last Saturday.

Ironically, this is the same Wichita team that clashed with Kansas State Teachers of Emporia in a demonstration debate before the student body last Friday.

Taking second place honors was another team from Wichita University. Bob Hunt and Bob Glenn won the runner-up trophy with a four win, one loss record.

A team from Hutchinson and one from Midland College of Fremont, Neb., tied for third place in the tournament which was at-

Berkebile Interviews Kansans For African Teaching Program

Ghana and Western Nigeria are recruiting secondary school teachers from Kansas Colleges.

Dr. James Berkebile, director of the Teachers - for - West-Africa - Program, is spending this week interviewing prospective teachers from Sterling, Bethany, McPherson, Kansas Wesleyan, University of Wichita, Friends, Southwestern, College of Emporia, Emporia State Teachers College, and Washburn University.

In this morning's chapel program, Dr. Berkebile spoke on "Teaching Overseas." Dr. Berkebile discussed the needs of West Africa and described the Teachers - for - West - Africa - Program as a way to meet the needs.

"College graduates who are slightly restless, have a sense of curiosity about other places, other things, and other people, and who feel a sense of mission to contribute to the problems of the world are the type of people we are recruiting for our program," commented Dr. Berkebile.

"People should not think they can solve world problems or turn the world upside down, but should lay brick by brick in constructing a building that goes on generation after generation."

Dr. Berkebile, professor of chemistry at Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pa., was formerly associated with McPherson College for fourteen years as head of the Chemistry Department and as academic dean.

Elizabethtown College, under a grant from the Hershey Chocolate Corporation, will select a limited number of applicants for teaching positions in secondary schools of Ghana and Western Nigeria, West Africa.

The corporation feels that since these are the areas from which they acquire the most chocolate they can show their appreciation to the people through this educational program and better the relations between the people of Africa and the United States.

The first consideration was to bring students to the United States, but the corporation believed that even though other organizations were doing this, students could become oriented to this culture and not be happy to return to their own country.

Although the Peace Corp program is broader, both organizations are similar in various aspects. However, the Teachers-for-West-Africa-Program has the advantage of meeting the needs through a privately sponsored organization rather than carrying the image of the government with it.

Some countries want to be independent and not be allied with any group. Since the Hershey Chocolate Corporation did not want to carry the image of American business, it chose Elizabethtown College, as an organization basically humanitarian in nature, to recruit teachers.

"The Pennsylvania Dutch people are using this program as an avenue for service," Dr. Berkebile stated. "While helping schools in Africa to obtain the services of American secondary teachers, they are—at the same time—assisting qualified American teachers wishing to serve in Africa to find suitable positions."

The program assumes functions of screening, a two-week orientation, transportation and related matters, and advice and assistance in the field. The organization also makes it possible for the teacher to be in the program at no expense to the West African school except for paying the salary.

Special recruitment is given for secondary teachers in science, mathematics, and industrial arts, but teachers are also needed in English, business administration, and French. A teaching degree is not a prerequisite as the British system considers only the number of hours one has in his specific field.

Teachers prepare African students to pass the Cambridge Exams, which are still used in the British system. Passing these exams is a symbol of the student's success in secondary education.

While in Kansas, Dr. Berkebile has been visiting placement bureaus and the heads of science and mathematics departments of colleges in the area.

tended by 18 colleges and universities from four states.

The tournament featured three rounds of pre-scheduled debating followed by two rounds of power-matching in the afternoon. Bradshaw and Williamson was the only team to emerge from the five rounds with a spotless record, five wins and no losses.

Only three of the participating teams failed to win a single round.

Director of the tournament was William D. Brooks, associate professor of speech and debate coach. Serving as assistant tournament director was Jerald Wray, senior from McPherson and Macollege's first speech major.

Student committees and Speech I students carried out other duties of this year's tournament.
