College Grants Brooks Leave for Ph.D. Work

William D. Brooks, associate professor of speech and debate coach, has been granted a one-year leave of absence from the McPherson College Faculty, according to Wayne F. Geisert, dean.

Brooks was granted the leave to enable him to work toward a Ph.D. in speech under a $7200 fellowship at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. His major area of study will be in the field of experimental methodology.

A native of Kansas, Brooks came to McPherson in the fall of 1961 after seven years on the faculty at Garden City Junior College. Prior to his tenure there he had coached the Haven High School debate squad to three state

Maccollege Votes Next Friday Under Revised Election System

Maccollege students will cast their votes next Friday in an election which will determine who will represent them on the Student Council, Student Court, and as cheerleaders for the 1963-64 school year.

This year's election will be the first to be conducted under an amendment to the constitution recently ratified by the student body As of Wednesday morning, thirteen students had taken out petitions to run for the eight "at large" seats on the Student Council.

Campaigning for all offices will commence at sunrise on Monday and will continue until the voting ceases at 5 p.m. Friday. Balloting will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the conference room located in the basement of the Student Union.

In the Friday morning assembly, speeches will be delivered on behalf of the candidates for

Roger Emmert

Student Body President and Treasurer. The presidential candidates will also have an opportunity to address the student body.

Three junior men will battle for the Presidency of the Student Body in this year's election.

Roger Emmert from Redfield, Iowa, is a mathematics major and is currently Treasurer of the Student Body. He is also manager of the college bookstore and a member of M-Club.

John Harrison is a speech major from Beloit. Harrison has lettered in football for three years, is a member of M-Club, vice-president of the Student Kansas State Teachers Association, and has debated three years.

Steve Mohler of Warrensburg, Mo., is a biology major. He has participated in football, basketball, and track, is a member of M-Club, and has served on the Student Court.

Two sophomores have filed petitions for Student Body Treasurer. Sandra Hoover of Plattsburg, Mo., and William Grove of Redfield, Iowa, will be campaigning for that position.

Both the President and the Treasurer are elected by a simple majority vote. If a run-off is necessary, it will be held Tuesday, April 2.

As of Wednesday morning, the thirteen students who are running for the Student Council "at large" include: Rodney Peterson,

Steve Mohler

Allen Miller, Terry Tietjens, Larry Kitzel, Junior Hendricks, Kenneth Ullom, Beverly Indge, Chris van de Velde, David Anders, Merlin Dresher, Earl Safer, Bruce Holderreed, and Ronald Groul.

The recent amendment still permits each class to elect two representatives.

Those who have filed petitions to represent the sophomore class are Dick Welch and Charles Horner. Running for the junior seats are Vida Sue Werner, Leah Standauer, and John Miller.

Five students have filed petitions to run as senior class representatives to the Student Council. They include: Dennis Wallace, Lois Fruth, James Weaver, Daryl Standauer, and Max Warner.

Class representatives and "at large" candidates will be elected

Representatives to Recruit Seniors for Employment

A representative from the U. S. Food and Drug Administration will be on campus March 24 to recruit seniors who will qualify as chemists and inspectors. The representative will also be interested in talking with juniors.

To qualify as chemists, one must have 30 hours of chemistry, and inspectors must have 30 hours of science.

The representative is authorized to give federal service examinations so one does not need to go to a center to take the exam.

A representative from Hallmark Cards will be on campus March 29 to talk to students interested in a management career program. Application blanks are available at the Placement Bureau and should be turned in before interviews are held with the representative.

From April 3 to 5, a representative from the Bethany Brethren Hospital, Chicago, Ill., will visit the campus to interview anyone interested in medicine.

This includes those interested in hospital administration.

Those interested in teaching under the auspices of the Bureau of Indian Affairs will be able to talk with a representative from the Bureau on April 23.

On May 20, a representative from Bakersfield, Calif., will visit the campus to interview prospective teachers.

championships. While at Garden City he was elected national president of Phi Rho Pi, the national junior college debate fraternity. He also edited The Persuader, the publication of that organization.

Since coming to Maccollege, three of Brooks' articles have been selected for publication. Two have appeared in the Kansas Speech Journal and one in The Forensic, the quarterly publication of Pi Kappa Delta.

In addition, he was one of five college speech instructors selected to present a paper at the convention of the Speech Association of America held in Cleveland, Ohio, last December.

Brooks received his A.B. degrees at Southwestern College, Winfield in 1950, and his M.A. at the University of Colorado in 1960. He will begin his work at Ohio University in September.

Commenting on the coming school year, Brooks remarked, "It will be the first time in 18 years that I won't begin work on a new debate question—it may drive me crazy!"

Those attending the party should meet at 6:30 p.m. in front of Dotzour.

Students Try For Scholarships

The music and academic scholarship tryouts held on Macampus were attended by 65 high school students.

The tryouts were held on March 7 and 16. Fourteen students tried out for the music scholarships and 51 tried out for the competitive honor scholarships.

At least 16 more students who were unable to attend the assigned try-out times, plan to compete in the near future.

It is hoped that an announcement regarding winners can be made before Easter vacation or immediately following.

Presidential Hopefuls Declare Campaign Policies

Emmert Platform

Through my experience on Student Council this year and my thinking on the matter of student government on our campus, I have formulated three meanings for the presidency of the Student Council which have led to my decision to run for this office.

First of all, I consider this office to be a tremendous challenge. Recently, this year's council and the student body passed an amendment to the student body constitution which creates a student government organization with great possibilities.

To me this is a challenge to prove that one of the "puppets" on this year's council can head a council which operates with maximum efficiency in light of the powers delegated to it. With respect to this subject of power, I believe that a closer definition of what the council can and cannot do must be made so that a better basis for action can be made.

The Council presidency is a challenge to lead a council which can work with the administration and influence decisions which affect the student body. Personally, I would take a positive stand on the issues of a walk-in bookstore and a student operated snack bar separate from the food service. I also would like to see a council which would influence the strengthening of some of the departments of the college which have been allowed to grow weak.

Secondly, I look upon the Student Council presidency as being a lot of work. This work begins with the rewriting of the Growl in the summer followed by the organization of council work in the fall and busy schedule of president during the year.

The latter includes a large number of meetings and a lot of preparation and research that needs to be done on regular items of business.

Third and finally, this office would be to me a job that I would really enjoy. My office of Treasurer this year has meant a lot of work but I have never regretted my choice to campaign for it. I realize that the Student Council presidency would be more difficult and involve more work, but I am willing to put forth the time and energy necessary to fully carry out the duties involved.

Pottery On Exhibition In Friendship Hall

Department Plans Display, Open House

An open house will be held in the Home Economics Department Thursday, March 28, from 3 to 5 p.m. to highlight Home Economics Week in Kansas. All MacCollege students and faculty are invited to attend.

Charts, bulletin boards and other projects from various classes will be on display for the open house. A tea will be served by the Foods and Meal Planning Class.

Tuesday, March 26, the Home Economics Chapter plans to attend a style show at Bethel College, Newton.

Dona Hutchison, junior from Thomas, Okla., has been selected by the local chapter as a candidate for the State Chapter officer of either vice chairman or secretary.

partment at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., he is able to help many people gain high standards by which they can judge pottery as well as other art forms.

Not only is he interested in his own success as a teacher and potter, but as a member of the newly formed Ceramic Design division of the American Ceramic Society he is willing to offer his service to a wider area.

The Martz exhibit shows great variety of shape, color, and size. However, there is an underlying theme of good craftsmanship. Experimentation highlights his work—he not only varies visual design but decorative technique, clay, and glaze.

One of the extraordinary glaze techniques he uses is a method employing terra sigillata, apparent on two bright yellow and orange pots. This material is a slip or clay-like glaze dating back to the Etruscan and Greek periods.

Although not as brilliant in hue as the terra sigillata pieces, a stoneware picture with a greenish brown glaze attracts the eye as a piece inspired by nature and exhibiting the plastic quality so characteristic of clay before

Next Week's Election Calls For More Aggressive Battle

Next Monday morning as the candidates hit the floor after a restless night, the campaigning for MacCollege student offices will get underway.

No one loves a campaign more than I, yet it seems that we as candidates and voters are not taking full advantage of the practical political experiences which should be obtained from such an activity.

Oh yes, we have many posters, label labels, and several speeches on Friday morning, but this is normally the extent of our campus campaigning. I would suggest that this year both candidates and voters pursue a more active public persuasion policy.

Why not schedule time in the various dorms after 10 p.m. for the three presidential hopefuls? At these meetings they could discuss the issues involved in the election and be questioned by residents of the dorm in an informal atmosphere.

Not only would this facilitate a clearer understanding of the issues and candidates, but it would give these fellows an opportunity to be in Dotzour Hall after hours—something they haven't done since early last May.

Public debates in the basement or lobby of the Student Union and spontaneous and planned political rallies would also help step up interest and clarify issues which should be of concern to every intelligent voter.

But there are also things that an active student body can do to make this campaign as educational as Dr. Florae's 1:15 Republican catechism class.

If you are really interested in what's at stake, you should be able to decide before the speeches on Friday whom you want to see elected. Once you've made your decision, get off your tail and work for him.

Try to convince your roommate. Talk it over with friends you meet on the sidewalk and the students you sit with at meal-time. You might even mention it to your date as you sit on display before the 15 foot windows of the SU snack bar.

Student elections can offer a wealth of educational opportunities for voters who are willing to actively work for their candidate and candidates who will aggressively seek the office. WMB

Mohler Platform

I, Steve Mohler, a candidate for Student Council President, in order that my fellow students know what my policies and purposes are in respect to the above mentioned office, list some of my hopes and aspirations concerning the future of McPherson College. I will do all in my power to live up to these goals if I am elected.

1. That steps be taken to remedy the ambiguities, inconsistencies, and unrealities existing in some of the rules and regulations governing the activities of the student body.

2. That an effort be made to adapt the system, under which the Student Court operates, so that it enables the Court to be more effective in fulfilling its purpose.

3. That there be mutual purpose, trust, and understanding between the Student Council and the student body and that to insure that this situation does exist the following provisions be made:

- a. that there be a suggestion box available at all times for the suggestions of the student body and that these suggestions be considered individually by a special committee of the Student Council in order to determine if they warrant the consideration of the whole Student Council.
- b. that the business and decisions of the Student Council continue to be publicized.
- c. that periodic questionnaires be constructed and given to the student body for the purpose of determining student sentiment.

4. That regardless of the outcome of this election, all of my resources and energies will be directed towards making next year a continuance of the social, educational, and spiritual progress of McPherson College.

the firing, in the flip of the clay at the bottom of the handle and the spontaneous grace of the spout.

This exhibit will be in Friendship Hall through the month of March. During April, J. Sheldon Carey from Kansas University will exhibit his work.

Mr. Martz's work is for sale and is being handled by Mrs. Cara Lou Ellwood, ceramics instructor.

Harrison Platform

The following are ideas which I feel should be adopted to strengthen the position of the Student Council.

1. The Student Council should understand what powers it may use in both governing the student body and bringing about better cooperation between the Student Council and Administration.

2. The Student Council should assume the responsibility of developing student initiative and creativity to the utmost. It should attack any attempts to suppress intellectual curiosity.

3. The Student Council should challenge decisions from the Administration which it feels have been given without sufficient reason.

4. The Student Council should consider all its meetings open to the students, and should provide the opportunity for students with divergent views to express their opinions.

5. The Student Council should expect periodic reports from administrative committees which must confer on issues brought up in the Council. This is to keep such matters from becoming lost in administrative red tape.

The following are ideas and attitudes which I feel next year's Council should give ample consideration.

1. Library hours should be extended to include Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon.

2. An intercultural exchange should be established among the colleges of south-central Kansas.

3. More chapel periods should be kept open for students to present ideas through the theater arts and lecture.

4. Students should strive for maturity by accepting the rules set down by the college, but should be encouraged to intelligently challenge those with which they are in disagreement.

5. A walk-in student bookstore should be established on the campus.

6. Student organizations should work to strengthen themselves by setting up strong programs in the spring of the year aimed at encouraging mass participation. They should then continue to work toward the implementation of new ideas through the fall support of the Council.

There seems to be a rumor going around that many of the schools of the Kansas Conference are being closely observed in their gifts and helps to athletes at the schools.

I guess even when the small colleges win a few games somebody has to cry foul play and give everybody in the conference a bad name.

I hope that who ever raised the squabble in this conference realizes that it hurts the league more than it helps by cleaning up maybe one place.

It has been mentioned that the work patrol at Maccollege should be dropped. This work patrol, which provides workers at jobs around the college, is a definite benefit to McPherson College.

It helps not only the athlete, but others who might not be able to attend college because of money problems.

It would be a shame, because of someone's whim, for this chance to attend college to be taken away from future students as well as present ones.

Write your comments down on this and send them to the Sports Editor of the Spec and air your views.

Vacation Starts April 5

Easter vacation begins at 5 p.m. April 5 and ends 7:45 a.m., April 16. A double cut will be reported for all students who are absent from their last class before vacation and the first class following vacation.

King and Queen of the M Club Carnival will be chosen at the cost of one cent per vote.

Brethren Summer Service Program Offers Varied Opportunities to College Students

Unlimited opportunities are available to students this summer to gain great experiences in the Brethren Volunteer Summer Service Program.

Summer service places the volunteer into life itself and rounds out experiences which will later be encountered in life.

It also acts as a means by which the person can test different areas of life that they may later make their vocation.

Three main "Earn and Serve" projects will be held this summer.

One is at the Elgin State Hospital in Elgin, Ill. The Elgin State program is one in which the individual works as an attendant in wards, changes beds, gives baths, and in general, helps to alleviate the physical discomforts of the patients.

Most of this is done while the regular workers take their vacation. Therefore, participants will be changing from time to time, and will be doing various kinds of work.

The program is a group living experience while working on a salary basis in a state hospital for the mentally ill. Each unit member is expected to have at least one year of college.

Housing for the unit will be in Brethren Fellowship House and other housing quarters. Unit members share in the household duties of cleaning, meal preparations, dishwashing, in cooperation with the young people who are regular residents.

It is a group living experience in which the entire group plans together all meetings, socials, discussions, and recreation. Unit activities include speakers, classes with hospital staff, picnics, formal discussion, and other programs.

Gross wage is listed as $230 per month, but the individual normally receives five checks totaling $575 for the summer. Social Security, income tax, and other items are deducted as in all wage earning jobs.

Each member pays board and room amounting to approximately $15 per week, and the unit fee of $30. The latter amount is to cover leadership expenses and operating costs.

The program operates from mid-June until the last of August.

The second project is at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md.

Normal control patients at NIH have the opportunity to carry out work assignments in labs, occupational therapy, recreation, animal production, and many other interesting divisions of NIH.

These opportunities should be of interest to students who major in pre-med, physiology, psychology, physics, chemistry, home ec, and similar fields.

While at NIH the volunteer is given room, board, laundry, medical care, a maintenance allowance of $4 per day, bus fare to and from Bethesda, Md., and opportunity for unit living.

The third project is located at the Norristown State Hospital for the mentally ill in Norristown, Pa., northwest of Philadelphia. The project will run for the 12-week period from June 16 to Sept. 7.

Preference will be given to students with two or more years of college, with special interest and skills in mental health and other fields. The unit will need 10 to 15 persons.

'Courage to Speak' Important In America, States Hrdlicka

"The courage to speak up is the most important quality of the American way," according to Richard F. Hrdlicka, native of Czechoslovakia and Newton lawyer, who spoke March 18, at the Church of the Brethren.

Hrdlicka, speaking on "What It Means to Be an American," stressed the fact that the present power struggle is a "struggle for survival of free men."

He suggested that America shall keep her freedom only if each and every American individual "live up to the American tradition."

This tradition is the inalienable rights of every American individual forming the basis of our government, according to Hrdlicka.

"This basis is the distinctive cornerstone of the American way," Hrdlicka summed up his lecture with the following creed.

"I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon—if I can. I seek opportunity—not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me.

"I want to take the calculated risk: to dream and to build, to fail and succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenge of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia.

"I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cover before my master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for my self, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done.

"All this is what it means to be an American."—Dean Alfange.

After the lecture, Hrdlicka answered questions about the reasons Communism took over in Czechoslovakia.

The lecture was sponsored by the McPherson branch of the Association of American University Women as a public service project.
